"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "Tod Cock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Hall; "Santa Claus Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Lulu Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently published. Also,

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. . . . The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The Deeper bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine:

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Madrid," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been sadly "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "The Lady of Lowrie," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hayseny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will send cheer from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to get them. I enclose $1.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS and they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. P. PEVARE.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL!

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physic clans as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sedative and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. . For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular contents of the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every manner of the family circle, it endeavors itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep himself informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connexion with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is believed, afford a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide the public with a supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its marked features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no commendation. Of his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shaw), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest exercise of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past with corrupt and selfish party leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those principles of economy and service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal rights to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Questions are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. Its Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—SHORT COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people more, of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the intelligence of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and fearless course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and is constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The high place of its long-ago attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it elevation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and satisfactory means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand page pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness also essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages it represents: such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Ausrbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of the home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $8.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in command of the whole situation.*

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, that we have never met with a single instance of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are loud in its praise, the operations of which are in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substance of statesmanship, honesty, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to apply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At the dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are largely reduced; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy, for the year, free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly relies on the practical education and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Last Draft for Militia in England.

In 1831 William Lovett was with his devoted wife settled in a pleasant home; they had taken some pride in making their environment as beautiful as taste and skill with moderate means could secure for them. Mr. Lovett had with his own hand made the furniture of his home, according to the taste of himself and his young wife. One day he learned that a young man of his acquaintance had been drawn for service in the militia, and that though he had found an able-bodied substitute, it was refused, a money payment instead being demanded. His attention was thus drawn to the injustice by which young men were periodically fleeced or frightened in this way, and he wrote a letter to a publication known as Carpenter's Political Letters, advising the men so drawn to refuse either to serve or to pay, on the ground "that they had neither voice nor vote in making the laws; that as their labor, their only property, was not protected, they should not be called upon to arm for the protection of other property; and as they had no enemies but those who enslaved them, they were not disposed to take up arms against their friends and brothers." After giving this advice to his fellow-artisans, William Lovett was speedily supplied with an opportunity of showing whether he had the courage of his opinions. With suspicious promptness his own name was drawn for the militia, and with equal promptness he refused to serve, to pay, or to furnish a substitute. The constables at once entered his house—their plans had evidently been prearranged—and stripped it of its furniture, of everything. However, there was considerable excitement about the matter, and it was not deemed by the authorities prudent that the articles seized should be at once submitted for public sale in the usual way; so the little all of the Lovetts, including that prized furniture which he had made with his own hand, was stored away for some time in an auction mart, and then sold as "property seized for taxes." But he was more than repaid for this loss. He petitioned the House of Commons; a debate ensued, in which the militia system was strongly condemned by many eminent men; public opinion was fairly aroused, and did the rest; and so Lovett's was the only property that had to be seized to bring on an important reform, and no drawing for the militia has ever occurred from that day to this.—M. D. CONWAY, in Harper's for February.

A North Carolina Railroad Blockade.

Major W. W. Rollins, the President of the Western North Carolina R. R., arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, and gives a graphic account of his trip between Henry's, the head of his road, and Salisbury. The train left Henry's on Monday morning last about seven o'clock. Snow was falling at the time, with the thermometer registering eighteen degrees below zero. Soon after starting the track grew very heavy, but the train managed to reach Old Fort. The snow was falling at a terrific rate, and with each turn of the wheels progress became more and more difficult. Four miles below Old Fort the engine gave out of water and the train came to a dead stop. The locomotive was cut loose, and with Engineer Marsh, Route Agent Ramsay, and four negroes, started alone to the tank, which was three miles distant. About half way it ran into a snow drift, which stopped it entirely, and after repeated efforts to get through and as many failures, the engineer essayed to put back to the train and discovered to his utter consternation that he could neither go forward nor backward. Bound fast by the snow, the engineer and his party remained on the track the whole of that long, cold night, with no covering save their ordinary clothing, no shelter except what was afforded by the cab, and no fire except what they could keep in the furnace of the engine by burning such fence rails and other wood as they could dig out of the snow. Provisions were sent to them from the train, and the next morning water was carried in buckets for a distance of a quarter of a mile through snow thirty-six inches in depth on a level, reaching to the waists of the men, until enough was had to raise steam in the engine. Then by repeatedly running back, then under full headway striking the snow bank with the plough on the pilot, the locomotive finally made its way through this drift, to find the road filled with others almost immovable. Meantime a large force of convicts had been sent for, and these pushed the train back to Marion, where the passengers were provided with all necessary comforts. The bare engine proceeded down the road at a slow rate, the snow being shovelled out before it in many places, until about the third day it reached Icard, where it found the train from Salisbury. A special engine, the heaviest on the road, had been sent out from Salisbury, with the snowplough loaded down with castings, and three engines, distributed along the road cleared the track in five days, and the train which left Henry's Monday morning, reached Salisbuey, a distance of 117 miles, Friday night at 12 o'clock. Major Rollins states that in many places the snow had drifted to the depth of fifteen or twenty feet. The cuts of the railroad on top of the snow were filled with all kinds of birds, which had frozen to death and dropped down the banks. While waiting on the road a whole covey of patridges were seen all frozen to death, and some of the crowd reached them and broke off the heads of some, their necks snapping like corn stalks. At Catawba River a yearling was seen some little distance out in the stream, its hind legs having sunk through the ice, leaving its head and fore legs upright. It was frozen to death. The poor brute had no doubt gone out on the ice to try to get some water. The rivers and creeks all along the line of the road having first frozen over, and then been covered entirely by the snow, people and animals go over them as over the level earth. There is no sign anywhere of a running stream. With the apprehension of the people that they and their stock will freeze or starve to death before the snow melts is intermingled the dreadful fear that when the thaw does come it will deluge the whole face of the earth, carrying with it destruction and death.—Raleigh (N. C.) News.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Senatorial—District No. 1—At Court House, Portsmouth, Tuesday, Jan 30, at 11 A. M.

The Compromise Bill.

The plan proposed by the Congressional conference committee for counting the electoral vote, is the grand topic of discussion among political men and papers. Most of the extremists on both sides oppose it, asserting that it will assuredly elect the opposing candidates; some of the more temperate and cautious journals—notably the New York Tribune—object to it as being plainly and undeniably in defiance of the letter and spirit of the Constitution; while others see in it only a grab-bag scheme, in which the Presidency is put up to be won by the turn of a copper,—the latter class thinking it would more dignified to put the office up and let the most skillful gamblers on each side (say John Morrissey and Minister Schenck) play a little game to decide who shall have it. Senator Morton would not sign the compromise bill, he being the only member of the committee who refused; Henry Watterson, Salary-grab Randall and Honest Old Fernando Wood, denounce the compromise and bleat for "wah!" but the general belief, in and out of Congress, is that the bill will pass by a large majority, and that under its provisions the Presidential dispute will be settled if not satisfactorily at least peaceably.

No decision that may be reached will or can be satisfactory; no doubt a large proportion of the democrats as firmly believe Tilden and Hendricks were elected as the entire body of the republicans do that Hayes and Wheeler were; if Hayes is inaugurated the democrats will feel that they have been cheated out of the election; and if Tilden is inaugurated the republicans will know that he owes his elevation to fraud and murder before the voting day and on that day, and the corrupt use of the barrel of money since. But under the compromise we may feel assured that whatever the decision may be, the defeated party will peaceably acquiesce in it, and that the threats of the bloodthirsty Watterson and the warlike Fernando to Mexicanize the United States unless their pet plans are adopted will not be carried out.

As to the constitutionality of the compromise, opinions differ; but we feel safe in saying that if not opposed to, it is at least outside of, the Constitution. That document apparently gives the entire President-making power, in the first instance, to the States, and makes Congress merely the clerk to record the decision of the States; the compromise takes that power away from the States and vests it absolutely in Congress. But the framers of the Constitution did not foresee that two sets of electoral votes might be presented from a State, and consequently did not provide for such a contingency—they could not foresee that Samuel J. Tilden would ever be a candidate for President, so they did not provide safeguards enough against trickery and fraud. But Tilden has been a candidate; three States, of which the governors are republicans, have forwarded not only legal electoral votes for Hayes but bogus sets for Tilden; and Oregon, of which the governor is a democrat but in which the Hayes electors were chosen, has sent a double set of votes—one set thrown by electors certified by the governor, giving Hayes two votes and Tilden one, the other set giving three votes for Hayes. In view of this muddle some plan must be adopted to sift the legal from the illegal votes; if the votes of all electors certified by the governors of States are counted, then the votes of South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida will be counted for Hayes; but one of Oregon's votes will have to be counted for Tilden, which will give him the Presidency,—and demonstrate the power of money to buy the highest office in the Nation's gift, as it will hardly be questioned, even by the most pronounced "reformer," that the money which purchased the infamous action of Gov. Grover was from Tilden's barrel.

Whether the country would suffer more from the capsizing of the Constitution than from the elevation of a man to the Presidency by open bribery, we cannot say, nor whether the proposed compromise will elect the Tammany reformer in place of the man already elected by the people of the several States,—but at least we shall be spared the horrors of a war incited and led by Watterson the sober, Fernando the honest, Knott the funny, Randall the just, et als.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.

Mr. Thompson, Sergeant-at-arms of the House, and Mr. Watterson, promoted from his position as editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal to represent a Kentucky constituency in the House, as a reward for his arduous labors in Mr. Tilden's behalf at the St. Louis convention and prior thereto, have "jumped" many democratic veterans and find themselves much talked about as "leaders." There is no visible cause for this sudden popularity other than their exceptional devotion to the cause of political purification as personated by Mr. Tilden. It was currently reported and generally believed last week that their zeal had carried them so far as to quarrel with Mr. Hewitt, because that gentleman opposed the proposition to summon a democratic mob to meet in this city on the 12th proximo, to frighten members of Congress believing Governor Hayes to have been legally elected to succeed President Grant, into an abandonment of their honest conviction in the premises, and to so far intimidate as to deter them from making any opposition to the usurpation of the Presidential chair by Mr. Tilden. According to the same authority—common report—Hewitt found himself in a hopeless minority when the matter was submitted to those representatives of his party here who are recognized as its law-givers. He fled from the reproaches showered upon him to New York, only to meet the frowning face of his inexorable chief. He was in his seat yesterday with a back-load of democratic petitions from Vermont, but no opportunity was offered for reading them; and whether the report of his frigid reception is true or false has not yet transpired. Many suppose he returned thus burdened with party desires and aspirations, as a penance for presuming to question the policy and patriotism of the proposed invasion; and the apparent result of the quarrel is accepted as showing that the "Tilden or blood" element has an overshadowing influence in the party councils.

Mr. Barnes has been disciplined after a manner peculiarly gratifying to statesmen after the order of Mr. Proctor Knott. When last arraigned, and standing in the immediate and awful presence of the Speaker, he was constrained to promise compliance with Morrison's demands, provided he could lay his hands on the offending telegrams. Such an unreasonable reservation was regarded as trifling with the dignity of the august tribunal, and as only aggravating the original offense; and he was hurried away to a dark dungeon with all modern improvements. When all the circumstances are considered the conviction becomes very persistent that Mr. Barnes' punishment was predetermined from the first moment that he dared question the propriety of parading before the committee private dispatches of which he was the custodian, to gratify partizan malice. Mr. Orton, in his rejoinder to the charge of contempt, said that the condition of his health forbade the journey he was ordered to make to New Orleans; that he did not have the required telegrams in his possession, and that he had not designedly placed himself in contempt of the privileges of the House. His case was referred back to the Judiciary Committee, and he remanded to the parental surveillance of the Sargeant at Arms. The plea of ill-health and of not being in possession of the required papers will probably be regarded as wholly irrelevent and too preposterous to deserve much consideration; and it is agreed that he is doomed to expiate his obstinacy in company with his subordinate, Barnes.

Every development in the investigation of the Oregon conspiracy seems to prove that both Cronin and Grover were only "jumping-jacks," moved by wires in New York which were held in a hand invisible to the public; but the trick was so characteristic that all who express themselves are of one mind as to its author. Cronin's princely fee, considering the time consumed and the expense incurred, proved the desperation underlying the whole movement. Mr. Pelton, conductor of the Bureau of political information, has been satisfactorily (to republicans) connected with the sending of several thousand dollars to Oregon. The funds have also been shown to have been obtained of an officer of a bank of which Tilden is a director. Further revelations, totally incompatible with the pretension of "honesty and reform," will surprise no one here.

President Grant's action in the Lousiana case is gratifying to every one opposed to allowing the White Leaguers of that State to profit by their shocking barbarities during the late campaign; and the President's determination, expressed when Nicholls first set up his bogus government, to await a thorough understanding of every point in dispute before interfering, is generally approved and its wisdom acknowledged. Had Nicholls succeeded in his usurpation, organized republicanism, it is conceded here, would have disappeared from that State.

The theatres and hotels have thus far had a very discouraging season. Very few strangers are here. The Centennial and the general business prostration account for this falling off in the number of visitors. Almost every one who could raise the money "by hook or crook" went to Philadelphia; hence they have no money to come here now. The absence of our usual winter visitors has also contributed to the almost apathetic dullness prevailing in "society" circles. The contrast between the present and past seasons, is almost startling. However, as we get nearer the 4th of March we are likely to be reinforced by a crowd of office-seekers and place-hunters, whoever may be declared President.

Notwithstanding two severe rains and several days of soft weather, a long line of snow borders every sidewalk, the obstinate remnants of the great storm of the 1st inst., which covered far-off Texas, even, with a white mantle. The continued ice blockade of the Potomac has brought, with our other afflictions, an oyster famine. LOGAN.

News and Notes.

Senator Anthony, of Rhode Island, was stricken with paralysis on Saturday, but hopes of his recovery are entertained. His death would be a National loss.

Miss Bertha Von Hillern finished her walk of 86 miles in 24 hours at 10:48 P. M., on Saturday, in Boston Music Hall, having 12 minutes to spare. About 2000 people were present at the close, and the lady received a perfect ovation.

A notorious fellow, named Bud Blunt, was arrested at Webb City, Mo., for violating a city ordinance, and not being able to pay the fine assessed was lodged in the calaboose. Subsequently he was released, and in a spirit of revenge he, with his brother and a large number of followers, procured several guns and pistols and opened fire on the citizens promiscuously. Some 200 shots were fired, and seven persons were badly wounded, including two of the rioters. Several houses were fired into, two horses killed and two men severely beaten. The citizens rallied and ten rioters were arrested.

Communication between Trieste and Vienna has been interrupted three days by a tremendous landslip. Some 80,000 cubic metres of rock and earth fell on the Trieste railway track and into the river Sau, destroying the road and blocking up the river. Two houses containing families were overwhelmed and the inmates are still buried.

A man named E. Betts was arrested in Boston on Friday, for forging endorsements on a number of notes, for sums of a few hundred dollars each.

Schooner Lucy May, Freeman, of Haverhill, Mass., concerning whose safety much concern has been felt, has arrived at Jacksonville, Florida, thirty-seven days from Newburyport. She had a hard time of it on the passage, having had her boat carried away by a sea, her cabin set on fire by the capsizing of the stove, and other damage done.

Col. Harwood, light-house engineer, has received reports from steamers Heliotrope and Tulip, sent to the relief of Hooper's Straits light-house, carried from its station by the ice. The light-house was found adrift five miles from its location, where the steamers securely anchored it. A small boat was seen on the hard ice a mile from the station, with no one in it. Nothing has been heard of John S. Cornwell and Alex. S. Conway, keepers of the light, but it was believed and hoped they had succeeded in reaching the shore. How it would astonish the crew of a vessel to be run into by a lighthouse. It would be as much of a surprise as when a ship was run down by a church in Massachusetts Bay, long ago.

The practice of advertising the Centennial Exhibition awards in garbled forms has led to a lawsuit in Baltimore. One piano agent issued circulars claiming that his goods had been characterized as better than any other make, the truth being that no comparisons were made in any of the judges' reports. A rival agent sues for an injunction restraining the other from lying.

Schooner Annie B., from Boston Dec. 8, for Halifax, before reported overdue, arrived at St. John, N. B., safely, and subsequently sailed on her return to Boston.

It is announced that the owners of the late Brooklyn Theatre have resolved to rebuild it at a cost of $80,000. The new theatre will be provided with a fire-proof drop curtain, and will be constructed with special reference to facilities for egress in case of fire or panic.

Political.

The Western Union Telegraph Company having decided to give up all the political telegrams of both parties, on demand of the Congressional committees, "Scott" telegraphs the Traveller as follows: "Simultaneously with the announcement that the Western Union Telegraph Company have decided to surrender all political despatches, leading democrats admit that there will be found among the files of the company a number of very damaging despatches signed by Col. Pelton, Tilden's secretary. These despatches, the democrats admit, have a very ugly look and will create something of a sensation, but they claim that all were sent without Tilden's approval or knowledge, and that he was very indignant when he heard of the contents. It is the purpose to try and break the force of the disclosures, rendered certain by the production of these despatches, by endeavoring to show that Tilden was not aware of their character. It is not believed, however, that such explanation will satisfy the country, as Tilden made the same excuse when the Tilden circular was fastened upon him."

The Tennessee Legislature has succeeded in electing a United States Senator, James E. Bailey, on the seventy-second ballot.

New Hampshire Items.

Ex-Gov. Fred Smyth has presented to Frederick Smith Post, No. 10, G. A. R., of Newport, a check for $50, in aid of the Post's permanent charity fund.

The examination at Laconia of Dickey, charged with setting fire to the Unitarian church in that town, was concluded Friday. The evidence was confirmatory of previous witnesses in establishing Dickey's presence near the church when the alarm was given, and in an intoxicated condition. Hon. E. A. Hibbard, counsel for the prisoner, agreed to submit the case without argument. Dickey was held in $5000, $2500 on each complaint, and stands committed.

Samuel Miller of Exeter, upwards of 80 years old, committed suicide Friday by hanging.

The State Antiquarian Society has $75 above its liabilities, its 2905 books are being catalogued, and 2868 articles have been added to the museum within six months.

Happy Influence of a Great Specific.

For the preservation or recovery of health and strength, the diet should be wholesome and nutritious. When it happens that the alimentary processes are disturbed by improper or half masticated food, the best remedy for the evil results of abusing the digestive organs is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most agreeable, prompt and gentle remedy for dyspepsia, and for the bilious and evacuative irregularities which result from it. The liver and bowels, in common with the stomach, experience its beneficent influences. The refuse of the system is carried off through its natural outlet, a healthy flow and secretion of the bile is promoted, and a powerful impetus is given in assimilation in consequence of its use. It healthfully stimulates the bladder and kidneys when they are inactive, and by its tonic and regulating action fortifies the system against malaria.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Unequalled in its location, and unsurpassed in its arrangements, for the convenience and comfort of the travelling public, the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, holds the highest rank.

Why suffer from that cough when Adamson's Botanic Balsam will speedily and surely cure you? Children like it. Sold by druggists and dealers at 35 cents.

THE FAME OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP as a remedy for eruptions, sores, burns, pimples, blotches and rheumatic and gouty pains has spread far and wide. Physicians recommend it, and the demand for it constantly increases.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtp1277

A WITHDRAWAL.

To the Depositors of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank:

With all due appreciation of the act including my name in your committee, I will most respectfully state that the committee have performed all that to me seems incumbent upon them, and as I do not discover any way in which I can further be of essential service in that capacity I hereby decline acting as such any further, but shall hold myself individually ready in the future as in times past to serve my fellow citizens in any way within the compass of my ability.

ANDREW J. PENHALLOW.

STOCK SALES.

Col. William H. Hackett on Saturday sold at auction the following stocks:

Twenty-five shares National Mechanics & Traders' Bank, at $109;

Ten shares National Bank of New Hampshire, at $111;

Fifteen shares Rockingham National Bank at $67 (par $50), and ten shares at $65.75;

Three shares First National Bank at $154.75.

JOTTINGS.

Haverley's Ministrels will give a really good variety entertainment at Franklin Hall on Wednesday evening, and the troupe's reputation here will attract a good audience. Concerning this Company the Lowell Times says: "The entertainment of this veteran organization, at Music Hall, Wednesday evening, was among the best minstrel exhibitions we have ever attended. The band and orchestra were fine, the quartette was a good one, the jokes were new, and each performer seemed well fitted for the part he took. * * The farces were, like the jokes, new and original, and we do not hesitate to commend the entertainment, which we pronounce first-class, to the patronage of the amusement-loving public."

Capt. Thurlow, of the wrecked schooner Gen. Taylor, of Newburyport, judged himself off Whale's Back light, in a thick snow storm on Friday night, (the 12th). He hove to his vessel and listened to hear the bell. He says it can be only heard faintly at leeward, and if at leeward of Whale's Back in an easterly blow, the chances are that one hears the breakers on Odierne's Point, where fifteen vessels have been wrecked since the present nearest resident of the shore has occupied his home. The interest of commerce and the claims of humanity require some immediate action in regard to a steam whistle at Whale's Back, and we hope our Representative in Congress will see to it that a proper appropriation for this imperatively demanded necessity is at an early day granted.—Journal.

A dividend of two dollars per share on stock of the Kearsarge Mills will be paid on Thursday, the 25th, to those who held stock on the 19th inst. Portsmouth stockholders will be paid at the Agent's office, at the mills.

The suit of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, against the Eastern Railroad Company, entered in the State Court for this County, has been removed on the motion of the Eastern Railroad Company to the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire, where future proceedings will be had.

Schooner Ella M. Johnson, which arrived at Newburyport on the 15th, picked up in the bay one hundred and sixty boxes herrings, which floated out of schooner Gen. Taylor, wrecked on Odierne's point on the morning of the 13th.

Harper's Magazine for February has arrived at Moses Brothers' periodical depot. This number is fully up to the usual standard of the magazines which is all that need be said. The New England News Co., of Boston, are agents for furnishing eastern dealers.

With the close of 1876, Mrs. Daniel E. Leavitt resigned her position as organist at the Middle street Baptist Church, after a service of twenty-one years, the society at their annual meeting last week expressing their appreciation of her talents and services. The members of the society very much regretted her determination to resign. Mr. Cole of Boston has been engaged for the position.

The scheme of consolidating the Anglo-American and Direct Cable ocean telegraph companies, to the end that the tolls may be put back where they were in the good old days of the original monopoly, seems likely to fail. The Dominion Government has notified the Direct Cable Co. that such a flagrant disregard of the company's promises will be followed by the prompt withdrawal of the concessions granted by that government; and Secretary Fish, in a letter to President Eckert of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, after reciting the assurances given by the Direct Cable Company that their articles of organization prevented any amalgamation with another company, or any combination to raise rates—assurances necessary to obtain a landing place for their lines—expresses the official opinion, in the President's name, that "the control of the United States over its jurisdictional waters extends to the right of discontinuing and preventing their use by a cable whose proprietors may violate any of the conditions on which the Government has, by quiescence or silent permissission, allowed its landing, as well as to the resistance and prohibition of an original landing."

The Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad has declared a dividend of three per cent., now payable at the Eastern Railroad office in Boston.

Steamer Mabel Bird, from Boston, arrived in the lower harbor Friday evening, came up to the city on Saturday morning, and was loading ice on Saturday at Eastern Railroad wharf, for the Oceanic Hotel at the Shoals. She is to take out two cargoes. The ice comes in over the Great Falls & Conway Railroad.

The Masonic fraternity of Greenland will give their second annual dramatic entertainment at the Town Hall in Greenland on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, when they will present the new and popular drama, "One Hundred Years Ago." In addition there will be vocal and instrumental music, and tableaux; and after the entertainment, oysters and hot coffee will be served to those who wish, at a reasonable price.

Scarlet fever is so prevalent in Kittery as to be almost an epidemic among the children; and cases of scarlet fever among children and typhoid pneumonia among both children and adults, are alarmingly common in York.

The record for no corresponding year since Stratham was incorporated as a town shows a less number of deaths than the Centennial year 1876. Below is a list. Feb. 19, Hanson Caverly, aged 69 years, 11 months; April 8, James M. Bowley, 57 years; April 10, Mark F. Young, 59 years; April 28, Mrs. Hannah P. Folsom, 90 years, 6 months; Sept. 21, Benjamin F. Adams, 76 years; Nov. 2, Mrs. Mary G. Wingate, 40 years, 6 months; Dec. 15, John T. Smith, 56 years, 3 months. One of the above named, Benjamin F. Adams, was not a resident, but was stricken down while on a visit to relatives in that town.

Rev. J. E. Bell, of Providence, R. I., delivered a temperance lecture in Hampton Town Hall on Friday evening, and at its close a Reform Club was started with forty members, and officers as follows: President, Albert Snow; Vice Presidents, M. Wesley Cole, James E. Godfrey; Secretary, Walter Palmer; Treasurer, C. A. Weare; Chaplain, Rev. J. Knott; Marshal, Plummer Noyes.

The Exeter Gazette complains that the running of trains on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad is not such as to accommodate its patrons from that section. It says: "Considerable annoyance is occasioned to the people of this vicinity, coming from Concord, over the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad. The train arrives at Newmarket Junction about fifteen minutes after the train for Boston on the Boston & Maine Railroad has left, thus giving the passengers a chance to stop at the Junction over night, or hiring a team to get home with. The roads should make some arrangement whereby they can connect, if they desire to satisfy the public."

City Marshal Jasper G. Wallace, of Dover, died very suddenly on Saturday morning. He attended to his duties on Friday, and retired at midnight in apparent good health.

—A gentleman in a stage coach, passing through the city and observing a handsome edifice, inquired of the driver what building it was. The driver replied: "It is the Unitarian church." "Unitarian!" said the gentleman; "and what is that?" "I don't know," said Jehu; "but I believe it is in the opposition line."

The Code of Bosh.

Letters from one of the seconds in the duel have also been exhibited to us, which make the following facts clear: that May, as the challenged party, having the right to a choice of weapons, chose cavalry sabres; that Bennett's friends objected, on the ground that this gave May an advantage; May's friends yielded their choice, and assented to duelling pistols; that the distance was twelve paces; that no witnesses were present, even the surgeons remaining at a distance, and the only persons on, or in sight of, the duelling ground being the two principals and their two seconds; that the word was given thus—"Ready, fire, one, two, three, stop"—the parties not to move their pistols from the perpendicular until the word "Fire" was pronounced, and not to fire after the word "Stop" was pronounced, and the seconds having the right to shoot down either man who disobeyed this requirement; that Bennett and May fired almost simultaneously at the word "One;" that neither was touched; that Bennett's friends then professed themselves satisfied; that the parties straightway separated, the whole affair scarcely occupying ten minutes. These, we have reason to believe, are, so far as they go, the exact facts.—N. Y. Tribune.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has secured almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Heetic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION,

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG—My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweeney, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Sulphur for Scarlet Fever.

Dr. Henry Pigeon writes to the London Lancet, as follows: "The marvellous success which has attended my treatment of scarlet fever by sulphur induces me to let my medical brethren know of my plan, so that they may be able to apply the same remedy without delay. All the cases in which I used it were well marked, and the epidermis on the arms in each case came away like the skin of a snake. The following was the exact treatment followed in each case: Thoroughly anoint the patient twice daily with sulphur ointment; give five to ten grains of sulphur in a little jam three times a day. Sufficient sulphur was burned twice daily (on coals on a shovel), to fill the room with the fumes, and of course, was thoroughly inhaled by the patient. Under this mode of treatment each case improved immediately, and none were over eight days in making a complete recovery, and I firmly believe in each it was prevented from spreading by the treatment adopted. One case was in a large school. Having had a large experience in scarlet fever last year and this, I feel some confidence in my own judgment, and I am of the opinion that the very mildest cases I ever saw do not do half so well as bad cases do by the sulphur treatment, and as far as I can judge sulphur is as near a specific for scarlet fever as possible."

—Celia Logan denies that the women of New York are addicted, as a rule, to chewing opium, but charges that the consumption of arsenic by the fair sex is something alarming.

Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Samoan artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Cupids of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are thoughtful with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS GIRLS book, the price of VOLS. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $15. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sketches of Ancient Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been story "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation." "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Food Lane, Roughside," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Halfpenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A highly illustrated article will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American homesteads will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, historical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters from Literary authors, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more social and genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, so that I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have filled 4 shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another package. I have Rheumatism been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indvised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not come to town. He has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have. Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been subject to my neuralgia all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The long period here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas. Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind, and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 125 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent not beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading for the Best and Most Extensive Class. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive Serial Tale, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be found a good deal of the first half of the story. Subscribers may commence with the December part, will be found a good deal of the first half of the story. A Wet Blanket.

The Concord correspondent of the Mirror, writing on the evening of the day on which the democratic State convention renominated Hon. Daniel Marcy for Governor, talks as follows concerning the wet blanket thrown on the democracy by that action:

"Daniel Marcy is the democratic candidate. If you had told the delegates to the convention that this would be so yesterday morning, nine out of every ten would have scouted the idea. If you ask them to-night why this is thus, nine out of every ten will fly into a passion and tell you it's none of your business. The simple fact is the average delegate has gone home not only thoroughly mad, demoralized and disgusted, but totally unable to account satisfactorily for the day's performance. Of course it is understood that Marcy has been nominated because he would not take himself out of the way, and his opponents were not able to throw him overboard, but why he has insisted upon again commanding the ship which everybody believes he will wreck is not understood. One thinks Frank Jones is at the bottom of it, being willing to strengthen himself by sacrificing all the rest of the ticket; another declares that Marcy is the worst load Jones could have been called upon to carry, and that Jones knows it, and that Marcy has been induced to stick by a few Hessians who want a chance to handle and steal his money; and there are still others who see in the old man's perversity a disposition to punish and snub the young democracy and the Pearson wing, whose child McKean was known to be. Nearly all the delegates came here without the least suspicion that Marcy would be a candidate, and the surprise which followed their discovery of the facts in the case soon changed to an intense and unyielding opposition, which has grown more bitter and outspoken every hour since. If he had been here and could have seen this he probably would have got out of the way, but those who had him in training not only kept him out of the way but took care that no communication by telegraph or messenger should be opened with him, and when at a late hour last night it was proposed to send a special train to Portsmouth after him, they coolly announced that he had gone to sea for a four days' cruise and could not be found."

The Compromise.

The proposed compromise is the subject of infinite discussion just now, and it is supported by various papers and persons from widely different reasons, and opposed by others from reasons just as different. The New York Times opposes it because the power of counting and declaring the Electoral Vote is by the Constitution vested solely in the President of the Senate; the World opposes it because the power of counting the vote is vested solely in the House of Representatives. Watterson, Proctor Knott, the Chicago Times and other "Tilden or wah" institutions, oppose it because it will result in the inauguration of Hayes; extreme republicans oppose it because it will cheat Hayes of a fairly won election. All the Washington papers oppose it—the radical republican Republican and the radical democratic Union with equal bitterness. Some Tilden papers oppose it because Tilden is fairly elected and no one has any right to admit a question of that fact, and some Hayes papers oppose it because Hayes is fairly elected and no one has any right to admit a question of that fact. And the extremists on both sides oppose it because it is a concession to the infamous and unscrupulous opposition, who seek to set aside the expressed will of the people by violence, trickery and fraud, and if their schemes are allowed to succeed then farewell to a constitutional government.

But so far as we can judge from an extensive and varied course of reading—of newspapers—a large proportion of the people, and particularly the business classes, are pleased with it, believing it will ensure a peaceable settlement of the Presidential dispute, and one that will be as near satisfactory as any settlement can possibly be—for whichever candidate is declared elected the adherents of the other will be dissatisfied. To us the proposed tribunal seems as fair as could be hoped for. There is no use in saying the Constitution in so many words gives one man or any body of men power to decide which of two conflicting returns are the genuine ones. The Constitution provides only for a count of the Electoral votes, and does not vest judicial powers concerning them anywhere. But somebody or some tribunal has got to exercise judicial powers in the premises now, to decide which of the sets of votes from Oregon, Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina are the legal ones; whether the vote of Arkansas, which was shockingly (to the democrats) informal, is to be counted; whether the democrat who organized himself into an Electoral College in Vermont was the genuine article or not; and other questions. An exigency not provided for in the Constitution having arisen, it must be provided for outside the Constitution, and the decision of the proposed tribunal will be less liable to impeachment than the decision of the republican Senate or the democratic House could possibly be. The members of that tribunal—men of National reputation and solemnly sworn to impartiality—will act with a full knowledge that the eyes of the country—and we might say of the whole civilized world—are upon them, and that their acts and their expressions of opinion will go down in history as long at least as this Nation shall exist; and under these circumstances we cannot believe any one of them will court lasting infamy for the sake of a momentary partisan triumph.

New Hampshire Items.

The boat-house of the Dartmouth navy was crushed by snow on Saturday night, and the eight boats in it, three of which were six-oared shells, were totally destroyed. Loss about $1500.

The Directors of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, of Manchester, propose to stop the manufacture of steam fire engines, partly because in connection with their extensive works in other departments they cannot produce at profit, and partly because they propose ultimately to reduce operations of their great machine shop to the necessary repairs of their mills, etc. They offer for sale to responsible parties the good-will of the steam fire engine department, with special tools and patterns for carrying on the business.

Joseph G. Wallace, City Marshal of Dover, who was found dead in his room at the American House in that city, Saturday morning, died of heart disease. He was Colonel of the First Regiment New Hampshire State Militia. He was a gallant soldier and during the war was Lieutenant in the First New Hampshire Volunteers and Captain of Company C, Fourth New Hampshire Volunteers. He was wounded at Pocotaligo, October, 1862, and Drury Bluff, May 15, 1864. He was in the battles of Pocotaligo, Morris Island, siege of Wagner, Sumter, Drury Bluff, Bermuda Hundred and Mine Run, and was in service from April, 1861, to September, 1864.

John Willis, Deputy Sheriff and a prominent citizen of Gorham, was run over and instantly killed Saturday while walking on the Grand Trunk Railroad near Milan Station.

News and Notes.

The sum total of the losses to the Gloucester fishing fleet for the year 1876, with the addition of the ten vessels lost in the December gale, gives the terrible aggregate of 212 men and 27 vessels. Of the lost fishermen of 1876 it is known that 54 left widows, and that 112 children were made fatherless. Of the total number of men lost, 167 went down with their vessels, 21 were lost overboard, and 24 were lost in dories while attending to their trawls. The nearest approximation to the losses of 1876 were in 1873, when 174 lives were lost, and 31 vessels, valued, with their outfits, at $118,700.

Charles Collins, chief engineer of the Lake Shore Railroad, has committed suicide. Apprehension that he might be blamed by the public, if not by the judiciary, for the Ashtabula disaster, unsettled his mind.

Mr. Harrison E. Maynard, of the firm of Maynard & Sons, flour merchants, of Boston, was taken with apoplexy in St. Paul's church on Sunday and died in fifteen minutes. His wife and daughter were in the church at the time, but knew nothing of the matter until they reached home.

Schooner Jennie A. Crocker, Capt. Brown, of Bath, Me., left New York for Providence Dec. 5th and has not since been heard of. Supposed lost with all hands.

The American schooner Francis Lewy was sunk by a collison with a steamship in Formosa Channel. Six lives were lost, including two Americans, mate and steward. Property lost, $30,000.

Charles Walever was buried under thirty feet of earth by a forty-foot well caving in upon him at Ilion, N. Y., at noon Saturday, was rescued alive at midnight the same night, but lived only about an hour and a half.

Barque Nancy Bryson, from Pernambuco for New York with sugar, has foundered off Hatteras. Crew saved.

Herbert H. Young was killed on the Maine Central Railroad at Bangor, and R. W. Jackman was killed on the Grand Trunk Railroad near Portland, on Saturday.

Two colored politicians in South Carolina have fought a duel which commands admiration when compared with the Bennett-May farce. They meant business and exchanged four shots. Both were wounded, one of them three times.

Senator Anthony, of Rhode Island, is rapidly recovering. His complaint was not paralysis, but a case of poisoning from eating a partridge which had been feeding on laurel buds.

Political.

Advices from Washington, Sunday, say the principal opposition to the compromise scheme in Congress comes from the republicans in the Senate and the democrats in the House.

The republicans did a wise thing last week, in nominating Benj. F. Prescott of Epping for Governor. Mr. Prescott was a graduate of Dartmouth, is a fine scholar, a polished gentleman, with a commanding form and feature, a temperance and a progressive man. He has been Secretary of State for several years, and was so courteous to all parties, and so ably filled his position as to win the respect of his political opponents. His occupation is that of a tiller of the soil, and the old homestead under his labor and guidance has been very productive, and he has the honor of being called an excellent farmer.—Rochester Courier.

Gov. Kellogg found the debt of Louisiana on taking the gubernatorial chair four years ago to be $24,093,407, with further contingent liabilities amounting to $21,500,000. The total interest bearing debt is now $11,500,000. Fraudulent claims have been rejected, made as much by native democratic thieves as by republican carpet baggers. He found taxation for State purposes at the rate of 21 1-2 mills on the dollar, and for parish purposes even greater in many sections. He is guilty of reducing taxation for State and school purposes to 14 1-2 mills on the dollar, and has secured the enactment of a law by the provisions of which parish taxes cannot exceed the State taxes.

"Webb" telegraphs the Boston Journal from Washington that the democrats in Congress will support the compromise bill "as a party measure," and that democrats there say Tilden has sent word directing them to favor it.

The attempt to frighten the republicans into conceding Tilden's election is pretty generally confessed to be a failure. The few sensible leaders among the democrats have seen the folly of the movement from the start, but there is a small faction of blusterers who still persist in keeping up a hubbub. Why their uproar hurts no one except themselves is fairly explained by Harper's Weekly: "The republicans who are disposed to regard the situation as patriots and not as partisans are the very last people in the country to be frightened by threats, or 'committees of safety,' or mass conventions to overawe Congress. They have seen service in the field, and they have the reticence of courage. The entire performance of the 8th of January, so far as they are concerned, totally defeats its own purpose, and makes a reasonable and just settlement more difficult, because it confirms the suspicion that the dominant desire with many of the democratic leaders is not a lawful adjustment, but a partisan advantage at all costs and by any means."

The disintegration of the democratic majority which has begun in Georgia is already foreshadowed in Tennessee. The election of Isham G. Harris to the United States Senate has created such dissatisfaction that the republicans are claiming a sure success at the next election. An ex-Confederate at Nashville said to the correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial last week: "The democracy have played the old scratch, as usual. They have hurt the party more than they dream. Wait until next election and you will see changes that will nearly pat the republicans in possession of the Legislature. Then the effect in the North will be bad. I was here at the beginning of the war, and know that Isham G. Harris, more than any other man, took Tennessee out of the Union. He fairly 'bulldozed' her out. He did all that a man could do to fire the Southern heart. Had Andrew Johnson been Governor instead of Harris, Tennessee never would have seceded. I went with the South myself, though I always doubted the wisdom of secession. I have acted with the democratic party since, and may continue to act with it; but I tell you frankly there will be a shaking up of dry bones in this State if the old secession element, as represented by Harris, undertakes to ride the party and crush opposition."

Confederate Bonds in London.

It is a significant fact that immediately after the election, when it was thought in England that Mr. Tilden was elected President, the old Confederate bonds were quoted in the London money market. This was indignantly denied by the democrats when it was first reported, but that it is true is proved by a copy of the London Observer, recently received at the Treasury Department. In the money article in that paper reviewing the transactions of the week ending Nov. 11, the following statement appears: "As a curious incident it may be mentioned that some dealings took place in the Confederate loan, in view of Mr. Tilden's election, the quotations being 2 1-2 to 3 1-2." This is conclusive evidence that it was believed in England that with the accession to power of the democrats the rebel debt would be assumed and the Confederate bonds paid. The democrats may deny any such purpose, but it is evident that the English must have had some ground for their belief, or they would not have acted so promptly.

—A citizen of North Indianapolis thought he would play it on the public. So he got his marriage licence, and the bride got her wedding garments, but they kept it quiet. A few people were invited, under the pretence o its being simply a little gathering, and the preacher was requested to come over after he got through his sermon that night. He did so, when the bridegroom took him aside, showed his marriage license, and said he wanted to be spliced right then and there. "My dear sir," said the preacher, "I can't marry you; I'm not a licensed preacher, only an exhorter." A faint suspicion stole over the groom that somebody had been sold, and it wasn't the public, either. The wedding was postponed till the next night.

—The French papers are full of anecdotes of M. Chaix d'Est Ange, the famous advocate. It is recalled that in 1810, while defending a murderer upon whom was found a poniard, he declared the instrument was a Masonic emblem, and showed that he carried one himself. Whereupon the advocate for prosecution had him fined for carrying murderous weapons.

The British Exploring Expedition to the North Pole has returned, but made no special discoveries. They simply re-travelled the territory so thoroughly explored by Drs. Kane and Hayes. How much more useful the discoveries made by Dr. Pierce! With their announcement, dates a new epoch in curing diseases. His Golden Medical Discovery cures the most malignant scrofulous affections, restores digestion, removes all impurities from the blood, and cures like it. If the liver be sluggish, bowels constipated, with headache or dizziness use his Pleasant Purgative Pellets. These remedies are standard.

Happy Influence of a Great Specific.

For the preservation or recovery of health and strength, the diet should be wholesome and nutritious. When it happens that the alimentary processes are disturbed by improper or half masticated food, the best remedy for the evil results of abusing the digestive organs is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most agreeable, prompt and gentle remedy for dyspepsia, and for the bilious and evacuative irregularities which result from it. The liver and bowels, in common with the stomach, experience its beneficent influences. The refuse of the system is carried off through its natural outlet, a healthy flow and secretion of the bile is promoted, and a powerful impetus is given in assimilation in consequence of its use. It healthfully stimulates the bladder and kidneys when they are inactive, and by its tonic and regulating action fortifies the system against malaria.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Unequalled in its location, and unsurpassed in its arrangements, for the convenience and comfort of the travelling public, the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, holds the highest rank.

THE FAME OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP as a remedy for eruptions, sores, burns, pimples, blotches and rheumatic and gouty pains has spread far and wide. Physicians recommend it, and the demand for it constantly increases.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawlyr1277

JOTTINGS.

The Cincinnati Enquirer compliments Haverly's Minstrels in the following language: "In the first place, the company is large and expensive, with every member picked from the best men of their peculiar line of business. In the second place, ladies can go and enjoy their performance without the fear of being made to blush on account of the use of vulgarity or obscenity, as it too often the case with combinations of this kind."

There will be gospel meetings every evening this week in the chapel at Faith Home. Services at 7:30. Scripture reading by Miss Hutchins (blind). Friends are invited. It is expected Rev. John A. Goss will preach Wednesday evening.

The American Journal of the Medical Sciences for the first quarter of the year 1877, is issued; edited by Isaac Hays, M. D., assisted by I. Minis Hays, M. D.; Henry C. Lea, publisher, 706 and 708 Sansom street, Philadelphia; $5 per year, —or the Journal, with the "Monthly Abstract of Medical Science," subscription to which alone is $2.50, and the "Medical News and Library," subscription to which is $1, will all three be sent for a year to one address for six dollars, in advance.

The Tribune Almanac and Political Register for 1877, edited by Edward McPherson, can be procured at Foster's bookstore at twenty-five cents per copy, and is a book no one interested in politics can afford to be without. It contains an immense amount of statistical matter, including full election returns from each State and Territory; the Constitution of the United States, and the Amendments; the political platforms of all the parties; in short, there is hardly a question can be asked respecting the past political history of the United States that is not answered in this book.

A mare belonging to Mr. Clarence B. Mason dropped dead on the South Millpond trotting track, Monday afternoon. So far as we can learn the animal had not been overdriven, and was going at only a moderate pace when she fell dead.

There will be preaching every evening this week at the Methodist vestry on Daniel street. The pastor, Rev. James Noyes, will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Strout of Eliot, Maine. There is considerable interest manifested, and the meetings thus far have been well attended. All are invited.

Workmen have commenced repairing the roof of the iron building used as a boiler-shop in the navy yard, which was crushed in recently by the snow.

SEABROOK.

Seabrook (reckless of the fact that Henry Watterson and Proctor Knott have decided on "wah" in this country, and that Russia and Turkey propose to make things lively in Europe,) has engaged in a little war on its own account, on the school question. It seems that in school district number five, which includes a great part of South Seabrook, there are one hundred and thirty children of suitable age to attend school; the town allows the district so much money per scholar, and last year there were two schools; but this year the Prudential Committee, against the protest of many of the residents, has given all the money to a single teacher, paying her at the rate of forty dollars a month. For the first term of thirteen weeks one hundred scholars reported, and the average attendance was sixty-nine; for the second term sixty-nine reported and the average attendance was forty-eight. The School Committee of the town was petitioned by fifty-two voters to divide the scholars into two schools, but owing to some technical question he has been unable to act until recently, and now the Prudential Committee refuses to submit. The teacher complains of "persecution," and writes: "no doubt the entire district would favor a division of the scholars, but the majority of the people have too much honor to attempt it under present circumstances;" considering that as she came to the town from Maine expecting to receive all the school money, it would not be honorable to now divide it. A protest against the way the money has been spent has been handed the selectmen of the town; and the State Superintendent of Education, who recently visited the town, counselled a division of the school. Possibly the conference committees of Congress, after they get through "overthrowing the Constitution of the United States by resolution," may find a job to attend to in Seabrook.

SCARLET FEVER.

The Boston Board of Health has issued the following circular, a copy of which has been sent to every householder in that city; and in view of the fact that the disease is alarmingly prevalent in many parts of the country, and in towns in this immediate vicinity, we reproduce it in the hope that it may be of service in assisting to prevent the scourge from becoming general in this city:

"The Board of Health issues the following circular of recommendation with the hope that those not familiar with the care of scarlet fever may be benefitted thereby. Scarlet fever is like small-pox in its power to spread readily from person to person. It is highly contagious. The disease shows its first signs in about one week after exposure, as a general rule, and persons who escape the illness during a fortnight after exposure may feel themselves safe from attack. Scarlet fever, scarlatina, canker rash and rash fever are names of one and the same dangerous disease. When a case of scarlet fever occurs in any family the sick person should be placed in a room apart from the other inmates of the house, and should be nursed as far as possible by one person only. The sick chamber should be well warmed, exposed to sunlight and well aired. Its furniture should be such as will permit of cleansing without injury, and all extra articles, such as window drapery and woollen carpets, should be removed from the room during the sickness. The family should not mingle with other people. Visitors to an infected house should be warned of the presence of a dangerous disease therein, and children especially should not be admitted. On recovery the sick person should not mingle with the well until the roughness of the skin, due to the disease, shall have disappeared. A month is considered an average period during which isolation is needed. The clothing, before being worn or used by the patient or the nurse, should be cleansed by boiling for at least one hour, or if that cannot be done, by free and prolonged exposure to out-door air and sunlight. The walls of the room should be dry-rubbed, and the cloths used for the purpose should be burned without previous shaking. The ceiling should be scraped and whitened; the floor should be washed with soap and water, and carbolic acid may be added to the water (one pint to three or four gallons). The infected clothing should be cleansed by itself and not sent to the laundry. In case of death from scarlet fever the funeral services should be strictly private, and the corpse should not be exposed to view. Because children are especially liable to take and to spread scarlet fever, and because schools afford free opportunity for this, the Board of Health has excluded from school every child from any family in which a case of the disease has occurred, and has decreed that the absence shall continu four weeks from the beginning of the attack, except in cases subject of the discretion of the board, and that the scholar to be re-admitted to his school-room, must have the certificate of a physician that the required time has passed."

—The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal writes: "Those who are familiar with society in Washington cannot avoid observing that all the girls have attenuated forms. We, who are accustomed to the fine development of Western and Southern women, look with astonishment at the thin arms and scraggy necks that are exposed to view. To render the attenuation more apparent, young ladies have adopted the close-clinging skirts and corset waists laced down the back. Thus attired our girls can be likened to nothing but an exclamation point. There is as much symmetry of form in one as the other. When these girls dance the German humane persons are inclined to petition the gentlemen to handle them with them care, lest they break in two at the fifteen-inch waist."

—James Wright was a few days ago, by the merest chance, saved from being carried over the American Fall at Niagara. He was clearing the ice from the tail-race, below Witmer's Mill, when the ice on which he was standing suddenly gave way, precipitating him into the rapids. The current in an instant swept the bewildered man far below the mill; but, fortunately, he was thrown against some stationary shore ice, to which he clung with desperate tenacity, and called lustily for help. Assistance was at hand, and his rescuers, by joining hands, reached him, and by tying a rope around his body finally rescued him from his perilous position. He was found to have suffered a dislocation of his shoulder.

—The Providence Press relates the following story of a gallant colonel of a Rhode Island Regiment during the earlier portion of his military life. The regiment being at "order arms," our colonel desired to put the column in motion. He therefore gave the order "forward, march!" and rode off without looking behind him. No man moved in the ranks, and after riding a short distance Col. —— discovered the fact. He turned, saying, "What have I done now?" and was informed that it was impossible, from a military standpoint, for a column to move when at "order arms." "Oh, well," rejoined the matter-of-fact colonel, "pick up them things and come along." They came.

—One of Commodore Vanderbilt's associates in his various railway enterprises is Sam. Berger, a wag as well as a director. At one of the meetings the Commodore said he did not see how it was that Jay Gould got at all the facts and figures about the New York Central. "I'll tell you how you can prevent his knowing anything about your roads," said Sam. "How?" asked the Commodore. "Elect him a director," was the reply. The autocratic fashion in which the old man managed the road is well known.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember, that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG—My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract sorenesss, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes: "For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Masonville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lameness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol, and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and is is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Second East River Bridge.

The projectors of this proposed bridge over the East River, between New York and Brooklyn at 77th street, by way of Blackwell's Island, have, in response to the invitation sent out, received ten separate designs and estimates from as many engineers. Ground will be broken as soon as a plan shall be decided upon. The preliminary specifications call for an approach on the New York side of 4,580 feet, 1,000 feet of which is to be in form of a tunnel extending from Fourth to Lexington avenues. From the end of the tunnel, an iron superstructure, carring to the center of the blocks between 76th and 77th streets, and thence direct, leads to the river. From the pier on the brink of the river, Blackwell's Island will be reached by a single span of 734 feet. An iron structure 700 feet long will then lead over Blackwell's Island, and the channel between the island and the Long Island shore will be spanned by a single arch of 618 feet. The shore approach on the Long Island side will be 3,900 feet in length. This will give in all a total length of 10,532 feet, or nearly two miles. A single track tramway will run across the bridge. There will be, in addition to the main approaches, two auxiliary ones, one from Avenue A on the New York side and the other from Vernon avenue, Long Island city. The spans are to be 135 feet above mean tide water. Double passenger elevators are to be placed at the piers on each side.—Scientific American.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred and illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gill, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnes, splendidly illustrated; "The Cow in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Kerstkindl Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Christmas," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, Wit and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gill, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivalled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of about fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntérings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Messina," by Eugene Lawrence; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on lies, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by various popular writers.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Food Lads, Bookbinder," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Efficiency a Work for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Wilkins.

We seem to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all Diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, and two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effects. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-four, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk, and every day I am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him I do not know. DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I have telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried almost everything, but gave the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure one, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after; dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. Meredith, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Müller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

"I regard Mr. Eddy one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Mind in our Iowa country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science generally.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all Industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

In connection with the Scientific AMERICAN, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be found a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE striking!y distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its most attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation; and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, with the first chapters of the Marquis, and will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MOTIVES,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated, descriptive articles on Land Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS ALWAYS WISE, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and generally to those golden doctrines of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the most enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the enterprise and persevering course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and close means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

As its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, Sir Lepel Griffin, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Leary Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring one centre of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or Scribner's, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send the numbers for the last half of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and uniquely powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction in those who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak this in the matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLACE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE CULPIMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the whole system. This medicine will quickly give tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it is the best and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE, if you follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will consist of four pages of a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or thirty-two columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and will send to a person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the excellence of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

COMBINED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of a Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of all Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and Canada.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate the improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Horse yard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

"It's An Ill Wind," Etc.

I never until this fall realized the debt we owe the press, and I never appreciated the advantages of living in a country that elects its own rulers. My husband is a democrat, and my father, who boards who us, is a republican. On the 7th of November I took down my last winter's cloak, and I couldn't keep back the tears. That cloak cost $25, but it was short, and of course I couldn't wear it this season. It didn't seem as if I could wear my double Paisley shawl all winter, but I thought of the sufferings of the poor, our heavy church debt, and of the many obligations William had to meet the 1st of January, and I concluded I would not say a word about it. I might be a dowdy, but I would go calmly forward—up the church aisle—supported by the smiles of an approving conscience.

When William came home that night he said New York had gone for Tilden, and there was a glow upon his brow and a light within his eye I hadn't seen there for years. The biscuits were light as a feather, and said I, "William, what do you think I had better do about a cloak, this winter? You know they don't wear short cloaks. I suppose you don't feel as if you could afford a new one?"

"See about it," said William, scraping the last drop of peach juice from his preserve plate. That's a dreadful vulgar habit, and I told William so over and over again, and I do wonder, that being a genuine, elegant democrat, he will persist in it.

The next morning, when I passed through the sitting-room, William sat shivering over a closed register in his stocking-feet, his hair uncombed, but he cried out from the top of his paper, "Democratic victories everywhere!" "Intense excitement and rejoicing!" We had waffles and maple molasses for breakfast, and I made the coffee myself. William had made one earnest dab at his head with the hair-brush, but had evidently missed. Father called for toast, and said he had neuralgic pains all down the left side of his face. William read aloud soothing morsels from the democratic paper, such as "Indiana gives Tilden 10,000 majority!"

"What do you think, this morning, about my having a new cloak, William?"

"Of course you can have a new cloak, if you need one. 'Full returns not yet received from Oregon, Nevada, Florida and Louisiana, but they are undoubtedly ours!"

"Um!" said father.

I felt a good deal of anxiety about family prayers, Williamism't a professor. Father leads devotions, and I was afraid he would be too supplicatory; but he prayed mostly for the heathen, Jews, and such like, but didn't refer to the democrats, and only once—just after the heathen—alluded to our suffering country.

When William came up to dinner, he said returns of democratic majorities were pouring in from all quarters, and said I: "William, I've been thinking the matter over, and I do believe it would be the best economy to buy a fur cloak. Everybody is wearing fur. It might cost more at first, but it would be the cheapest in the end—fur is so durable."

"How much will it cost?"

"Mrs. Colonel Tucker's sealskin sacque was $200, last winter, but I don't feel as if, in our circumstances, we can afford that. Furs are cheaper than last Fall, and I think I could get a good desirable article, not so rich as some, but still good enough for people in our circumstances, for $150."

"Hm!" said father.

William had taken out a blank check, and was reflecting, when in whisked the President of the democratic club, and said Florida and South Carolina had gone for Tilden, and William was wanted down to the club-room to see about the illumination. He filled out the check, and I immediately went down street and selected the cloak.

That evening a shade of anxiety—a scarcely perceptible tinge of melancholy—had settled on William's countenance, while father's neuralgia was better. William asked if I had done anything about my cloak, and, if I hadn't he should suggest waiting awhile; furs might be cheaper. He said, when I asked him about it, the illumination had been postponed.

The next morning I heard the boys in the streets screaming that Hayes was elected, and when I went down father was sitting on the front stairs, coatless, and with his vest on one shoulder, while William balanced himself on the edge of the hat stand. Both patriots were stocking-footed. They had just taken in the morning papers. Very little conversation was made at the breakfast table, but father was extremely polite to William, and said he didn't know when he had eaten buckwheat cakes that tasted so much as they did when he was a boy.

At noon, William didn't stay to dessert, but father, having eaten his own pudding, drew William's untasted plate to himself.

The tears were welling to my eyes, and father kindly inquired why I wept.

"I've been thinking my old hat fixed over won't look at all suitable with my new cloak, but William is so blue I can't bear to ask him for money.'

"Mercy on me!" said father, "don't cry over a bonnet. Go down and get what you want and bring the bill to me."

My hat was to be of seal-brown. "Two feathers or three?" asked the milliner. I thought of the hundreds out of employment, of the destitution and want the winter would behold, of the vanity and pride of dress, but while I hesitated a newsboy, just out with the afternoon papers, yelled: "Florida and Louisiana both sure for Hayes!" I knew how father would feel, and said: "O, three, certainly."

For two or three days there was a look, not so much of pure melancholy as of gloom, wrath and vengeance commingled in William's countenance, and he sprinkled pepper on his beefsteak fearfully. Father said that he awaited the action of the Louisiana Returning Board with confidence in their integrity, and sipped his tea with a spoon. I never knew father to sip his tea before with a spoon in my life.

By and by it was reported that electors' names had been omitted from republican votes in Louisiana, and father said there was a chill in these November days that struck to the very marrow, and William said he intended to arrange his business so that he could spend two or three weeks of winter in some Southern clime, say in Georgia or Louisiana. That afternoon I went shopping, and at tea-time laid on the cloth four or five samples of seal-brown merino.

"William," said I, "which of those do you call the best piece of goods?"

His opinion coincided with mine. I held two bits off at a distance. "Ever so many women that I know have dresses off that piece," said I. I laid the bits down, and sighed. Then I held them off again, and said; "How dreadful it is to be poor!"

"If you want a dress so badly, get it, Mary Ann," said William.

"I really don't know as in our circumstances I ought, William."

"If there's anything I hate to see, it is a shabbily-dressed woman; get it." So, in order to satisfy William, I had to get the merino.

Since that time Hayes has been sometimes elected and sometimes Tilden. All disguises have fallen off in our family, and though my father and William treat each other with forced politeness, such words as "corruption," "nigger," "bulldozed," has become familiar language in what I once hoped would be a refined Christian household.

"William," said I, as I rang for more baked potatoes one morning, "I never allowed myself to read the Beecher scandal—much as I wanted to—and if it was worse than this I'm glad I didn't."

One day, when Louisiana went for Hayes, father promised me a new parlor carpet. If the question isn't settled soon, I think I can easily get the house refurnished, and, perhaps, have a new China set and a silver dessert service. I am sorry the Centennial is closed, for I know I could just as well spend another fortnight in Philadelphia, and I do believe I could have that lovely pink coral set I wanted so badly.

I don't understand politics, but I am so glad I live under a republican form of Government, and I do feel sure, if any one makes good resolutions and tries to be economical, and really means to be a good wife and daughter, a way will open out of difficulties.—Lancaster (Penn.) Examiner.

Reform.

State Senator Nash, of South Carolina, on Monday testified before Sayler's committee in Washington, that he was chosen as Elector on the republican ticket in November, and was afterward approached by Mr. Childs, President of the Carolina National Bank, with an offer of $18,000 down and $40,000 contingent if he would vote for Tilden. The democrats say "Childs is a high-toned man and an invalid, who will hardly be able to appear before the committee," but "will probably squelch Nash with a deposition." Let's see; what was it the democrats said about "a very convenient illness" at the time Hon. James G Blaine was stricken down by disease and lying at the point of death?

The Telegraph War.

Saturday morning information was received at the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Office in Pittsburg, Pa., that the Western Union Telegraph Company had organized a large force of men in the oil region for the purpose of destroying the wires of the Merchants' National Telegraph Company, which were being operated by the Western Union under a lease acquired by consolidation of an old line in 1874. This lease being about to expire, and knowing that the wires which extend through the oil regions would revert to the control of the Atlantic & Pacific Company, which has lately purchased a controlling interest in the stock of the Merchants' National Company, the Western Union Company, it is said, preferred a suit for damages rather than allow these important connections to fall into the hands of their opponents, and proposed taking advantage of the adjournment of the Court and the absence of the Judges on Saturday to complete the work of destruction before an injunction could be issued to restrain them. In this, however, they were baffled, as the Atlantic & Pacific Company employed eminent counsel in Pittsburg, and had an injunction issued in chambers through Judge Ewing at 6 P. M., and served the same on all the officers that could be found, at once, and telegraphed copies of the same to all points in the oil regions, special messengers being sent out by train to get off at different points and take the road with horses in search of the gang. Armed with this injunction they followed their trail by the marks of destruction, one party having cut down the poles and destroyed the wire for seven miles before the messenger on horseback overtook them and stopped the outrageous work. All the wires between Franklin and Oil City were also destroyed, and probably in other points not yet heard from. The Superintendent of the Western Union Company having absented himself from the office in Pittsburg, could not be personally served with the papers, though the subordinates, wherever found, were supplied with copies before 8 P. M., and as the work of destruction began at 1 A. M., there seems likely to be serious litigation over the affair, which must result finally to the advantage of the plaintiffs in the eye of the law, and the public will no doubt see in the outrage the object of the monopoly to crush out the opposition telegraph company, even by such bold proceedings as the employment of gangs of men at midnight to cut down and destroy property not their own, rather than it should legitimately fall into the hands of its owners.

President's Message.

In reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives, passed early in December, 1876, requesting the President to transmit to that body copies of all orders or directions from him, or from either of the Executive Departments, to any military commander or civil officer, relating to the service of the army in Virginia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida, since the first of August last, together with all reports from any said military or civil officers, the President on Monday sent to the House of Representatives the following message. After stating that the House resolution reached him on the 9th of December, the President says:

"It was immediately, or soon thereafter, referred to the Secretary of War and the Attorney-General, the custodians of all retained copies of orders or directions given by the Executive Department of the Government covered by the above inquiry, together with all the information upon which such orders or directions were given. The information, it will be observed, is voluminous, and, with the limited clerical force in the Department of Justice, has consumed the time up to the present. Some of the communications accompanying this have been already made public, in connection with messages heretofore sent to Congress. It is a class of information which includes the important documents received from the Governor of South Carolina and sent to Congress with my message on the subject of the Hamburg massacre; also the documents accompanying my response to the resolution of the House of Representatives in regard to the soldiers stationed at Petersburg; there have also come to me, and to the Department of Justice, from time to time, other earnestly written communications from persons residing in the South, some of which I append hereto, as bearing upon the precarious condition of the public peace in those States. These communications I have reason to regard as made by respectable and responsible men. Many of them deprecate the publication of their names as involving danger to them personally. The reports heretofore made by the committees of Congress of the result of their inquiries in Mississippi and in Louisiana, and the newspapers of the several States recommending the Mississippi plan, have also furnished important data for estimating the danger to the public peace and order in those States. It is enough to say that these different kinds and sources of evidence have left no doubt whatever, in my mind, that intimidation has been used and actual violence to an extent requiring the aid of the United States where it was practicable to furnish such aid.

In South Carolina and Florida, and in Louisiana as well as in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, the troops of the United States have been but sparingly used, and in no case so as to interfere with the free exercise of the right of suffrage. Very few troops were available for the purpose of preventing or suppressing the violence and intimidation in the States above mentioned. In no case except that of South Carolina was the number of soldiers in any State increased in anticipation of the election, saving that twenty-four men and an officer were sent from Fort Foote to Petersburg, Va., where disturbances were threatened prior to the election. No troops were stationed at the voting places in Florida and Louisiana, respectively; the small number of soldiers in the said States were stationed at such points in each State as were most threatened with violence, where they might be available as a posse for the officer whose duty it was to preserve the peace and prevent the intimidation of voters. Such a disposition of the troops seemed to me reasonable and justified by law and precedent, while its omission would have been inconsistent with the constitutional duty of the President of the United States, to take care that the laws be faithfully executed. The statute expressly forbids the bringing of troops to the polls, except where it is necessary to keep the peace, implying that to keep the peace it may be done, but this even, so far as I am advised, has not in any case been done. The stationing of a company, or part of a company, in the vicinity where they would be available to prevent riot, has been the only use made of troops. Prior to, or at the time of the election, they were so stationed that they could be called in an emergency requiring it by a Marshal or Deputy Marshal as a posse to aid in suppressing unlawful violence.

The evidence which has come to me has left no ground to doubt that if there had been more military force available it would have been my duty to have disposed of in several States, with a view to the prevention of the violence and intimidation which have undoubtedly contributed to the defeat of the election law in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, as well as in South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida. By article 4, section 5, of the Constitution, "the United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a republican form of government, and on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence." By act of Congress, Revised Statutes of the United States, sections 1034-5, the President, in case of an insurrection in any State, or of unlawful obstruction to the enforcement of the laws of the United States by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, or whenever domestic violence in any State so obstructs the execution of the laws thereof, and of the United States, as to deprive any portion of the people of such State of their civil or political rights, the President is authorized to employ such parts of the land and naval forces as he may deem necessary to enforce the execution of the laws, preserve the peace and sustain the authority of the State and of the United States. Acting under title 69 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, I accompanied the sending of troops to South Carolina with a proclamation such as is therein prescribed.

The President is also authorized by act of Congress to employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States as shall be necessary to prevent violation and to enforce the due execution of the provisions of title 24 of the Revised Statutes of the United States for the protection of the civil rights of citizens, among which is the provision against conspiracies to prevent by force, intimidation or threat, any citizen who is lawfully entitled to vote, from giving his support or advocacy in a legal manner toward, or in favor of, the election of any lawfully-qualified person as an Elector for President or Vice President, or as a member of the Congress of the United States. Revised Statutes, 1989: In a case falling under this title, I have not considered it necessary to issue a proclamation to precede or accompany the employment of such part of the army as seemed to be necessary. In case of insurrection against a State Government, or against the United States, a proclamation is appropriate, but in keeping the peace of the United States at an election at which members of Congress are elected, no such call from the State or proclamation by the President is prescribed by the statute, or required by precedent.

In the case of South Carolina insurrection and domestic violence against the State Government were clearly shown, and the application of the Governor thereon was duly presented, and I could not deny his constitutional request without abandoning my duty as the Executive of the National Government. The companies stationed in other States have been employed to secure the better execution of the laws of the United States and to preserve the peace of the United States. After the election had been held, and where violence was apprehended by which the returns from the counties and precincts might be destroyed, troops were ordered to the State of Florida and those already in Louisiana were ordered to the points of greatest danger of violence.

I have not employed troops on slight occasions, nor in any case where it has not been necessary to the enforcement of the laws of the United States: In this I have been guided by the Constitution and the laws which have been enacted and the precedents which have been formed under it. It has been necessary to employ troops occasionally to overcome resistance to the internal revenue laws, from the time of resistance to the collection of the whiskey tax in Pennsylvania under Washington to the present time.

In 1854, when it was apprehended that resistance would be made in Boston to the seizure and return to his master of a fugitive slave, the troops there stationed were employed to enforce the master's right under the Constitution, and troops stationed at New York were ordered to be in readiness to go to Boston if it should prove to be necessary. In 1859, when John Brown, with a small number of men, made an attack upon Harper's Ferry, the President ordered United States troops to assist in the apprehension and suppression of him and his party, without a formal call of the legislature or Governor of Virginia, and without the proclamation of the President. Without citing further instances in which the Executive has exercised his powers as commander of the army and navy to prevent or suppress resistance to the laws of the United States, or where he has exercised like authority in obedience to a call from a State to suppress insurrection, I desire to assure both Congress and the country that it has been my purpose to administer the Executive powers of the Government fairly, and in no instance to disregard or transcend the limits of the Constitution.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

Executive Mansion, January 22, 1877.

News and Notes.

A suit has been commenced in capias, in the United States District Court of New York, against Samuel J. Tilden to recover $150,000, the alleged balance due of income tax. Monday afternoon a capias was issued and served on Mr. Tilden, returnable on the 6th of February.

The London Standard says it is now beyond doubt that the American ship George Green, Capt. Wilcox, has been lost, with all on board. An inquest was held at Kingston, Devonshire, on a body identified as the captain's wife.

On Monday evening, in Providence, a coasting party on a "double runner" ran into a sleigh, and a number of persons were thrown under the horse. Martin Boyle, aged 44, was instantly killed; Mrs. Boyle was severely injured, and several others slightly. No one of the sleighing party was hurt.

A story comes from Missouri to the effect that Philip Ames, with the assistance of his wife's sister, murdered his wife and child, and then attempted to escape with his paramour, but a mob attacked them, shot the woman dead, hung the man and then burned the bodies of the two to ashes.

Happy Influence of a Great Specific.

For the preservation or recovery of health and strength, the diet should be wholesome and nutritious. When it happens that the alimentary processes are disturbed by improper or half masticated food, the best remedy for the evil results of abusing the digestive organs is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most agreeable, prompt and gentle remedy for dyspepsia, and for the bilious and evacuative irregularities which result from it. The liver and bowels, in common with the stomach, experience its beneficent influences. The refuse of the system is carried off through its natural outlet, a healthy flow and secretion of the bile is promoted, and a powerful impetus is given in assimilation in consequence of its use. It healthfully stimulates the bladder and kidneys when they are inactive, and by its tonic and regulating action fortifies the system against malaria.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Unequalled in its location, and unsurpassed in its arrangements, for the convenience and comfort of the travelling public, the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, holds the highest rank.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, notwithstanding its unsurpassed location and elegance of appointment, to meet the views of the travelling public, has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

THE FAME OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP as a remedy for eruptions, sores, burns, pimples, blotches and rheumatic and gouty pains has spread far and wide. Physicians recommend it, and the demand for it constantly increases.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

Sagamore Lodge, No. 258, Knights of Honor, are to dedicate their new Hall on Market street, formerly known as "Washington Hall," on next Monday evening, Jan. 29th. The Grand Officers of the State are expected to be present and perform the dedication exercises, and also to install the officers for the coming year.

Haverly's Minstrels appear this evening in Franklin Hall; see advertisement.

The young people of the Universalist Sunday School are to give an Old Folks' Concert in costume at the Universalist church tomorrow evening, commencing at a quarter to eight o'clock. See advertisement.

The Boston Post says of Haverley's Minstrels: "This troupe has brought by far the ripest and yet the freshest fun of its kind that has been enjoyed here for a long time. There is novelty in the jokes and originality in the way of presenting them. * * * The entertainments presented by this troupe are so new that they are like a refreshing wave of original fun, but at the same time they are such as the most fastidious cannot object to. They are intended for the best audiences the city can furnish."

Eds. Chronicle: I would again call the attention of the Eastern Railroad managers to the fact, that by night a light of some kind at or near the junction of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth and Portsmouth & Dover railroads, near the toll-house, is absolutely necessary and is what the public really demands. That junction is truly a dangerous place, especially "when darkness prevails." Now would it not be cheaper for the Company to thus provide a suitable light, than in some future—and perhaps not far distant,—day to pay for somebody's life for the lack of such provision? P.

Lt. Col. Jasper G. Wallace, of Dover, is to be buried this afternoon at two o'clock, with military honors. In accordance with the regulations, six companies will act as escort. The Portsmouth Light Artillery and Portsmouth Cavalry have been invited to take part, and will do so.

The Rink was flooded with fresh water on Tuesday, so there will probably be good skating there to-day.

Some time Monday night the house of Mr. Jacob Haddock, at No. 83 Islington street, was entered through a window and an overcoat, hat and pair of boots stolen. The thief rifled the pockets of a vest, taking therefrom some change.

Schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, Capt. Raymond, arrived at Newburyport from Boston on Monday, having in tow the fishing schooner Lone Star of Portsmouth, which was sunk at the Isle of Shoals and taken to Boston for repairs. [Probably Laighton Brothers' schooner yacht Lone Star is the vessel referred to.] The E. M. Smith will take on board the spars of the wrecked schooner J. B. McCarthy and proceed to Portsmouth. The schooner is manned usually by the Captain's own family, consisting of himself, three daughters and a young son, but in the absence of one of his daughters he was obliged to ship a man to perform her duty. They are perfectly at home on board. They can cook, hand, reef and steer, and make themselves as useful as menfolks.

Hickey and McCarthy, of the Portsmouth Light Artillery, will have a competitive drill with two others in Newburyport on the night of Jan. 31st, for the champion medal, now held by Hickey and McCarthy.

In our report of the republican County Convention an error occurred, our reporter having stated that Mr. Cyrus L. Brown of this city, one of the candidates for County Commissioner, withdrew after his vote had fallen off to three. The fact in the case was that Mr. Brown withdrew (in favor of Mr. Newton Johnston, who was finally nominated,) at the close of the fourth ballot, when his vote was seventeen, the same as it was on the first formal ballot. But for this action of Mr. Brown's the nomination of Mr. Johnston could not probably have been effected and Portsmouth would have had no member in the board of County Commissioners.

About one in five of the school children of Newington have the measles.

YORK.

Our worthy and much esteemed citizen, Capt. Joseph Weare, at Cape Neddick, lies dangerously ill of pneumonia. He has the best of care in the family, and, of course, the best medical aid that can be procured—and this is in the persons of Dr. J. J. Hazen of York, and Dr. F. E. Potter of Portsmouth. Should Capt. Weare do other than well, he would be very much missed in the community, as he has been Postmaster at Cape Neddick for the past twenty years, and is a very useful, kind and obliging citizen, respected by all. P.

NORTH HAMPTON.

Things have been very dull in this place this winter so far, but signs of life have shown themselves of late. Mr. Thomas Chase, of Seabrook, on Jan. 22d opened a singing school in Centennial Hall, which is well attended.

The ladies of the Christian Society projected a Fair to be held in the church on the evenings of Jan. 23 and 24.

The ladies of the Centre will hold a Fair and Festival in Centennial Hall on the evenings of Jan. 30 and 31. The entertainment will consist of dialogues, songs, instrumental music, etc., and Mr. Chase will lead a quartette of male voices. Refreshments will be furnished in abundance. Admission—adults 25 cents; children under 15 years of age, 15 cents. If stormy, the festival will be held the first fair evening. J. W. B.

New Hampshire Items.

All the woollen mills (flannels) of Harrisville have shut down on account of low water. Nearly all the factories in Western New Hampshire are obliged to run part of the time only.

The police of Manchester were engaged Monday in making a large number of raids on beer saloons in Ward Five.

Frank Twist, of Hudson, froze both feet a few days since while running on a bet, and it was found necessary to amputate them.

In the Supreme Court at Manchester, Monday, Allen Williams was arraigned for trial on an indictment for arson, committed in Peterboro last August. The property burned was mortgaged by the respondent to the Peterboro Bank and Albert Scott, the latter having foreclosed and taken possession.

The Directors of the New Hampshire General Hospital have accepted the proposition of Ex-Gov. Straw for the free use of the Amoskeag Company's old farm buildings at the lower end of Elm street in Manchester for temporary hospital purposes. The property will soon be put in condition, and thus a need long felt in the community will be supplied. A long list of members at $10 each has been received to supply funds for immediate uses. The subscription for life membership is $100. Local physicians will render service gratuitously.

The Supreme Court met at Exeter, on Monday morning, and adjourned over until Wednesday, when the case of Charles U. Bell of Boston vs. John S. Lamprey was to be taken up.

James Emmons has been appointed Clerk of the Manchester Police Court, vice Thos. D. Luce, resigned.

Frank Sherborn was arrested at Great Falls, Monday, and bound over in $500. He is charged with knocking down Eben Randall, on High street, on Saturday last, and taking his pocket-book. Sherborn has just been released from a three years' term at Concord for highway robbery. He was committed to Dover jail.

At Plymouth, Tuesday, a box shop, dry house, and several cars at Whitefield, owned by Browns Lumber Company, were burned. Loss from $15,000 to $20,000. No insurance.

The main and outbuildings of James Varnum, of Candia, together with the household furniture, were consumed by fire Monday. It is supposed to have been an incendiary fire. Loss $800; insured for $300.

Rev. G. E. Lovejoy of Candia has resigned his pastoral charge.

Rev. Thomas Goodwin of the Baptist society at Suncook has resigned, his resignation to take effect the first of April.

Political.

When the Confederate House asks President Grant questions, his answer is always more than satisfactory to that body. In his message on the use of troops in the South, sent to the House on Monday, he says if he had had more troops at his disposal it would have been his duty to have placed them in the South, "with a view to the prevention of the violence and intimidation which have undoubtedly contributed to the defeat of the election laws in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, as well as in South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida." He also reminds the democrats that the last democratic President, James Buchanan, ordered United States troops to Virginia to assist in suppressing John Brown and his party, without receiving a formal request from the Legislature or Governor of that State and without himself issuing any proclamation.

John R. Macpherson, democrat, was elected U. S. Senator from New Jersey, Tuesday, by a majority of one.

—In the Superior Court at Boston, recently, a stable keeper was on the witness stand, being cross-examined as to the identity of a certain hack, and was asked where he had seen it. "At the depot, on the street, at the stable, in my own yard and at funerals," was the answer. "Well, you don't have many funerals out there, do you?" was asked. "Yes, considerable many; but I can't say we have as many as we would wish," was the very ingenuous reply.

—General Fisk tells with great effect the story of the colored color-bearer, who when the command of the captain of his company rung out the order for the men to fall back, thinking their exposure too serious, kept on alone in advance. When again personally ordered to fall back, lest the colors might be lost, he shouted to his captain, "Dese colors never fall back! You jess bring up the men to them, and they won't be lost."

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extensive reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst Cases. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG—My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving me relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweeney, Ringbone and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,

Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—which of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

Rockingham Quarterly Meeting.

In the Free Baptist denomination a convenient number of churches are united in a Quarterly Meeting. At the quarterly sessions, each church is expected to furnish a written report of its condition, and be represented by delegates, of which the pastor usually is one. Females are sometimes delegates and there is a growing interest to have them more active in church matters than formerly. By the report from Danville it appeared that Mrs. Colby is now clerk of the church, in place of her late husband, who was long in that capacity. The reports in general indicated considerable activity and prosperity. The meeting at at Newmarket, as usual, continued two days, and the time was well filled up with the business sessions, prayer meetings and preaching services. The opening sermon was by Rev. P. W. Perry of Great Falls, he having been appointed at the preceding session. Others, who preached, were Revs. Hall of Manchester, Moulton of South Berwick and Lowell of Danville. Truths as old as the Bible, yet seemingly new, were presented, which fell on willing ears and were considered by ready minds. Next session at Manchester. J. P.

—Rev. R. F. Parshall of Vallejo, Cal., tried to kiss a sister in his church. She indignantly repulsed him, whereupon he wrote to her, "My dear sister, I wish you could see this matter as I do, and believe God will yet bring you to see it." As he and she were both married, his logic did not convince her, and when he again tried to kiss her she exposed him.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877.

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, the Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Fairchild Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any articles on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift-book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivalled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by the ablest of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will run on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a plot and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mr. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," a Scottish "Lost Factory," etc., in the November number, and "Total Loss, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hi'penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Game by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The critical department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from Boston, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine somewhat more lighter and cheerier, more genial and generous in all its influences and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS' FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir.—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you this testimonial. My brother has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. A friend advised him to use the Pills, he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to try one of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package. I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. Rheumatism, no pain, he had helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines, but with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have no doubt of your success for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., JAN. 19, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after; dosen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, et c..

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $8; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for me in obtaining hundreds of patents, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only widely paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentees. Patents are sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its most attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no introduction, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which, however, for the benefit of part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated articles, descriptive of Adventure, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with courses of policy, with leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article sought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. All the leading publications, both in Industrial, Mercantile, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent the most enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the industrious and efficient specialty course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and is constantly receiving from old and new readers words of encouragement.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-acknowledged reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled upon its late and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness also essays and reviews, political and social and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographies, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In all cases where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will assuredly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA, for CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—if you follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be much as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 columns in all. The weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for mere pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue to the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. COMMED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers and Fruit Growers of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a great degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Hackett Boys.

The following recorded incidents are interesting in themselves, and illustrate the process constantly going on by which so many of the middle classes in England are transplanting themselves and their families in the new as well as the older parts of our country:

"We were taken by storm on last Wednesday by the Hackett boys. Ten of them, with their mother and sisters-in-law, paid us a friendly call at our sanctum, and we can truthfully assert that it was by far the largest family call we ever received. The mother is a well-preserved old lady of seventy-five years. The oldest son is fifty-one and the youngest twenty-six years old. The combined ages of the ten boys are 396 years; their weight is 1,669 1-2 pounds, and their length 58 feet 1 1-2 inches. They are hearty, robust men, and are all married but the two youngest.

Four of the Hackett family emigrated from Liverpool, England, on the 28th of July, 1850, to-wit: James, Thomas, Timothy and Pierce. The remainder of the family, including the parents, eight in number, sailed from the same port in the month of October, 1851. The family subsequently settled on the now Simmons farm, on Mound Branch, in this county, in the month of December, 1852, when the present town of Butler contained but two log houses, erected by John E. Morgan, the founder of the town. The head of the family, Pierce Hackett, Sr., died in the month of August, 1858, and was buried in the cemetery on Mulburry Creek, in this county.

In 1861, when the national trouble broke out, the family became scattered, and all excepting two of the boys, who were then too young, took part in the war on one side or the other. At the close of the war, when the olive branch appeared, each settled down to his respective business or trade, and for the first time in the history of the family since their landing in America, and on the twenty-sixth birthday of the youngest of the family, there was a "grand union" of the family at the residence of Pierce Hackett, Jr., on Monday, December 25, 1876, they coming from the four points of the compass, and consisting of the mother and ten sons. After a fraternal greeting and congratulations, beginning with the oldest, fifty-one years old, and closing with the youngest, then the aged mother, in the most solemn and impressive manner, offered up praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of all good gifts for the enjoyment of so happy a meeting, after which all sat down to a sumptuous Christmas dinner, the mother doing the honors of the table as she was wont to do in their boyhood days. The following day the whole family visited the grave of the father, which is only a short distance from the place of meeting.

They assembled at Butler Tuesday to take pictures in a group; after which came the separation to their respective residences and callings. The eldest, John J., to Kansas City, Mo., where he is proprietor of the Kaw Valley Hotel; James, to Joplin, Mo., where he is proprietor of a blacksmith shop; Thomas, to Sedalia, Mo., where he has been long and favorably known as a merchant tailor; Timothy, to Fulton, Bourbon County, Kas., where he had been a student of Blackstone, and is ready to get litigants either in or out of trouble, according to the length of their purse; Pierce and Richard, who are farmers, living on Mulberry Creek, in this county; Samuel and William, who are proprietors of a blacksmith shop in Nevada, Mo.; George, to Utah Territory, where he has long resided and been favorably known as a master millwright; last, but not least, Christopher, who is an expert tailor and a resident of Sedalia, Mo.

The family originally consisted of thirteen children, all boys, three of whom died in England.—Bates County (Mo.) Record.

How Pate de Foie Gras is Made.

We enter one of the most famous factories in Strasburg. A cool yard greets us, and a bland Frenchman, who has become Germanized, like his geese, by the force of circumstances, points to some hundred feathered bipeds huddled together in a corner. Their proprietor explains that they are all nine months old, and have cost him, lean as they are, about 2 francs 50 centimes apiece; he then makes a sign to half a dozen bare-armed girls, and six geese are collared and marched away to a cellar, half underground, where wide and sloping stone tables are arranged in tiers. In the murky light, it becomes apparent that hundreds of geese are already lying strapped on their backs and gasping on the upper tiers. Our business being for the moment at the lower tables, the six girls take each their goose, lay him gently but firmly on the stone, and then tie down his wings, body and legs tight with plaited whipcord, the legs and wings being well spread out. The bird's neck is left free, and it seems that during the first three days he makes a violent use of it; but afterward he may be trusted to lie still for the next seven weeks; that is, till the hour of release and killing. On the upper tiers are birds who have been lying for three, five or six weeks, respectively, waiting to be fed by half-a-dozen other girls laden with wooden bowls. Each of these bowls is filled with a thick white paste, made of parboiled maize, chestnuts and buckwheat; and the mode of administering the dinner is for the girl to catch the goose by the neck, open his bill with a little squeeze, and then put three or four balls of the paste down his throat with the middle finger. This is done six times per day. But now we have done with the women, for a man climbs upon the topmost tier of all, and proceeds to examine the birds who may be "ripe." He has an eye as judicious as that of a gardener inspecting melons; and his is the responsible task of pronouncing what birds would die of a natural death within twenty-four hours if not despatched beforehand. If a goose dies of natural death he is good for nothing. He must be unstrapped and executed at the precise psychological moment when nature is growing tired of supporting him, and the knack of detecting that moment can only come of long practice. This inspector has not been a minute on the table before he certifies four geese ready for the slaughter. All four of them have stomachs of the size of pumpkins, and it is a sincere relief to these when a couple of men climb up, loose their bonds and bear them out of the cellar to a pent-house across the yard, full of knives and chopping-blocks. A click with the chopper on the neck of each, a rip with the knife, and in less than five minutes after their transfer from the cellar the carcasses of the four victims are lying in a heap, while their livers are being conveyed with all respect and care to the truffling-house. The carcasses, shrivelled out of all knowledge, are sold for about eightpence apiece to peasants, who make soup of them; the livers are first cleaned, then put to scale, and our four geese are declared fine birds, for their livers weigh from two and a half to three pounds each. The next step is to take each liver and lard it with truffles in the proportion of one-half pound of truffles to one pound of liver, and then to convey it to an ice-house, where it remains on a marble slab for a week, that the truffle perfume may thoroughly permeate it. At the end of a week, each liver being removed, is cut into the size required for the pot which it is to fill, and introduced into that pot between two thin layers of mince-meat made of the finest veal and bacon fat, both truffled like the liver itself; and one inch depth of the whitish lard is then spread over the whole, that none of the savor may escape in baking. When the cooking is over, it is packed and shipped to the four points of the compass.—Pall Mall Gazette.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.

Probably Col. Pelton has the most treacherous memory of any man in the United States. It appears to be almost a complete blank relative to the disposition of the $3000 fund which he sent to Oregon with a view to purifying the politics of that distant State, it is supposed. Mr. Morton's committee has ascertained that that amount of money was forwarded there about the time of Cronin's startling achievement; that it was sent by a gentleman holding a confidential position in a bank of which Mr. Tilden is director; that no record of the transaction was made on the books of the bank, although the money sent was a part of its funds, and that the remittance was made at the instance of Colonel Pelton, Mr. Tilden's nephew, and chief director of the "Bureau of Nincompoops."

The investigation of the late election in Mississippi is in progress and shows that the same system of terrorism prevailed that was made available to wrest the State from republican control in 1875, and which only failed of success in the last election in Louisiana, by the legal interposition of the Returning Board. It is sufficient to say that the atrocious rules of procedure were observed in Mississippi that have characterized the White League rule where they have determined to succeed in other States of the South.

Secretary Chandler's testimony before the democratic committee has not helped them out of their Oregon dilemma as they hoped it would, by convicting the National Committee of villainies that would offset their own. Nothing was elicited that would not endure the severest scrutiny.

Something of a sensation was created in the Senate on Friday by Senator Bogy, who disgraced the position he holds by his low abuse of Governor Packard. The coarse vituperation to which he resorted was characteristically Bourbon. No such display has been made in the Senate before this session. It was good democratic work, entirely gratuitous, and coming from any other man would have been grossly insulting. Senators Sherman and Morton attempted to pierce his thick hide, but its powers of resistance would shame a rhinoceros, and he was not sensibly affected.

The ninth annual session of the Woman Suffrage Convention was held at Lincoln Hall, this city, on the 16th and 17th insts. The large hall was crowded both evenings, although the attendance during the first day was not large. The usual amount of talking was done; and among the resolutions was one, calling for the appointment of a committee of five women to count and declare the electoral vote, and to engage a hundred thousand women to take care of General Watterson's army of democrats which he proposed to encamp in this city on the 14th of February to bull-doze members of Congress, not kindly disposed toward Mr. Tilden's pretensions. Formidable petitions were presented for transmission to Congress, from almost every State and Territory, demanding the enfranchisement of women. To those who regard the wonderful revolution of public sentiment wrought by these tenacious agitators within the past twenty-five years, their final victory seems near at hand. Mrs. Stanton and Miss Anthony appear as determined as in more youthful days; and the little army of devoted adherents were, as usual, full of enthusiasm. They have many warm friends in Congress, who are enlisted for the war, and the cause is now treated with the utmost respect in both houses of Congress.

REP.

The Mountain Labored, and Brought Forth a Mouse.

After all the democratic blather about impeaching Secretary Robeson, and the action of the democratic House in referring the question to Proctor Knott's judiciary committee and having it shelved there, so that "the prospective impeachment of a Cabinet officer for high crimes and misdemeanors" could be used as a political weapon during the Tilden and reform campaign, nothing has come of the partisan crusade against him but the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by the judiciary committee on Tuesday, to be submitted to the House as their report:

Resolved, That the articles of impeachment ought not to be preferred against George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, for the violations of law which have occurred in his department, because there is therein no criminal intent or corrupt motive on his part which would constitute such violations high crimes or misdemeanors under the meaning of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the Judiciary Commitee be discharged from any further consideration of this subject.

Tilden, Cronin & Co.

On Tuesday, before the Senate committee on the Oregon election, J. W. Lazwell, one of the Oregon democratic candidates for Presidential elector, testified that he was present at the meeting of the Oregon Electoral College in December last. He went to the meeting of the college because he understood that the republican electors were going to take electoral certificates from Cronin by force. Witness understood Secretary of State Chadwick to say, as he handed the envelope containing certificates of electors, "Gentlemen, here are your certificates." Heard republican electors ask Cronin for their certificates and Cronin replied, "I will see hell froze over before I will give them up." At this point witness was dismissed for the day.

The democrats have had much to say about the "conspiracy to defraud Mr. Tilden of the electoral vote" of certain States; the testimony of this Tilden electoral candidate proves beyond question that there was a "conspiracy" to deprive Mr. Hayes of the vote of Oregon. Lazwell was not elected, and does not pretend that he had any idea that he was, or that he was to have a chance to vote, yet he "went to the meeting of the College"—and why? Because he "understood that the republican electors were going to take electoral certificates from Cronin by force." From this it is evident that he must have been previously notified of Grover's intention to give to Cronin, who was not elected, the certificates of the two republicans whose election was acknowledged even by the shameless partisan Grover, and instructed to be on hand to assist in preventing the republican electors from getting their certificates from the fiery-nosed hero, should they attempt it. Tilden's "conspiracy" to secure an electoral vote for himself was well planned, and it was not his fault that his tools, Grover and Cronin, botched the job so badly. Had Grover given Cronin his own certificate and the two republicans theirs, or had he given one of the republicans all three certificates and Cronin then insisted on voting in the College, Tilden would have had his one needed vote, for there is no provision in the laws of any State empowering its Electoral College to expel a member duly certified by the Governor, and present. The trouble was that Cronin was altogether too unanimous.

Mr. Tilden most be satisfied that his investment in Oregon electoral votes—for no one can doubt that the money sent to Oregon by Col. Pelton (who is "the nephew of his uncle" as well as his private secretary and manager of the "Bureau of nincompoops,") came from Tilden's barrel—would have yielded a better return, at least in reputation, had it been devoted to the payment of his income tax.

News and Notes.

William Duff, of Saco, on Tuesday night broke into the house of William H. Deering in that place, and stole all he could lay his hands on. He was arrested Wednesday, and confessed the crime.

The screw-pile light-house, forty-five feet in height, on Thomas's Point Shoals, in the Chesapeake, one mile from the shore, was abandoned by the keepers on Thursday, Jan. 18th. The tenants were Mr. Burchinal, the keeper; Capt. Miller, his assistant, wife and son. Mr. Burchinal reported to the lighthouse engineer's office at Baltimore that for days the heavy drift ice had plunged against the lighthouse, causing it to vibrate with such violence that the lens, weighing 500 pounds, was broken, the oil butts overturned, and the structure canted to such an extent that the fog bell could not be rung; and the other machinery was all disarranged. On Wednesday night no other light could be shown except one in the window, and next day it was decided to abandon the lighthouse and use the old one on the shore, about a mile distant, and which was lit on Thursday night. By means of a small boat and cutting a way through the ice, all hands were safely landed.

A man named Flanders set a barn on fire at Hyde Park, Vt., Sunday, and then attempted to shoot the owner as he came to the rescue of his horse, but being unsuccessful gave himself up. No cause is assigned for this action.

The University of Michigan had last year 101 female students, distributed as follows: Medicine, 37; law, 2; homeopathy, 2; literature 60. "The experience of the past year," writes the president of the university in his annual report, "confirms the opinion we have been led to form by the experience of former years, that women who come here in good health are able to complete our collegiate or professional course of study without detriment to their health."

Two valuable horses came into collision in Providence on the 23d, and each was penetrated by a shaft. One of the animals, valued at $2000, was instantly killed; the other, valued at $3000, was very badly injured.

Eugene Christ, who some time ago attempted to murder Mary Kelley in New York because she would not marry him, has been sent to State Prison for fourteen years.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue is informed by the Collector of Internal Revenue for South Carolina that the malt distiller Redmond, who recently wounded Deputy Collector Barton, and killed Hendricks, accompanied by an armed force of twenty roughs on the morning of the 20th inst. surrounded the house of Barton, near Eastby, and under penalty of instant death, compelled Barton to pay him $100. The party then took one of Barton's horses and rode off.

The British iron-screw steamer Lotus left New Haven Monday for Constantinople direct, bearing the most valuable cargo ever taken out of that port. It is composed of rifles and ammunition for the Turkish government, as follows: 70,000 Martini-Henry rifles, 70,000 bayonets and scabbards, 1000 Winchester guns, 10,000,000 cartridges, 15,000,002,400 Martini shells, 15,000,000 bullets and 50,000,000 gun wads. The Martini-Henry rifles are shipped by the Providence Tool Company of Providence, and the balance of cargo by the Winchester Repeating Arms Company of New Haven. The total value of the cargo is $1,769,100.

Political.

Senator Logan withdrew from the contest in the Illinois Legislature, Tuesday evening, and Charles B. Lawrence was unanimously nominated in his stead.

Representative Butts, of South Carolina, was seated on Tuesday.

The democratic party in Georgia is finding out that a party may become "too unanimous" to be tranquil. Having wiped out the republican party of their State so effectually that the democratic majority can be figured out to any required size, they are now fighting bitterly among themselves over the United States Senatorship. There are two leading candidates; William Schley, who is supported by the extreme fire-eating Bourborns, led by Herschel V. Johnson and Bob Toombs; and the "moderate" candidate—Ben Hill, no less!—who is the favorite of the young men of the party. A majority of eighty thousand in a single State is not an easy thing for a party to carry without getting ricketty under the load.

When the Senate committee was in New Orleans, a copy of the Morehouse Clarion was produced in evidence, containing the following editorial paragraph: "The radicals are making desperate efforts to organize in the parish. Democrats, now is the time to make your desperate struggle. Go to every meeting they may attempt to hold; break them up. Hunt every night meeting. Do not let them have a single one secretly, and you will soon strangle the life out of radicalism in Morehouse." This advice was so well followed, and backed up so vigorously by the whipping or killing of every prominent republican leader, that good order and a sweeping democratic victory prevailed in that parish on election day, though the republicans had always carried it before by heavy majorities. It is pleasing to add that there was no intimidation in that parish,—the democrats say so themselves,—and its vote should be counted for Tilden and Nicholls.

Secretary Chandler denounces as a deliberate forgery the dispatch purporting to advise Gov. Stearns of Florida to hold that State for Hayes and Wheeler, and assuring him that money and troops would be sent him for that purpose. Now let us see if those democratic organs that have paraded the dispatch as genuine will have the fairness to expose it as a forgery.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

THE FAME OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP as a remedy for eruptions, sores, burns, pimples, blotches and rheumatic and gouty pains has spread far and wide. Physicians recommend it, and the demand for it constantly increases.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

Fifty thousand pounds of cod were landed at Tredick's wharf on Tuesday. Schooner Rover's Bride landed 13,150 lbs., the largest fare landed there this winter.

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of New Hampshire commenced a two-days' session at Sons of Temperance Hall in this city on Wednesday forenoon, the attendance being large. A dinner was given at the Methodist vestry at noon. Speeches were made by Rev. James Noyes, Rev. William H. Alden, and Rev. Joseph W. White of this city, Geo. Fox Guppy of Dover, Rev. A. C. Hardy and J. D. Fife of Fisherville, and Rev. J. D. Waldron of North Sutton.

The Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Portsmouth Light Artillery, and City Guards went to Dover on a special train at one o'clock on Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late Col. Jasper C. Wallace.

The Old Folks' Concert by the young people of the Universalist Sunday School, in the church this evening, is expected to be a very pleasant affair. See advertisement.

The Democratic Congressional Convention for the First District met on Wednesday at Dover City Hall. James R. Jackson was elected President, with the usual number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries. The Committee on Credentials reported two hundred and fifty-six delegates. Frank Jones was renominated by acclamation.

In another place in this paper will be found a description, taken from the Pall Mall Gazette of London, of the method of preparing the costly delicacy, pate de foie gras, from which it appears that the groundwork is a goose's liver, artificially diseased! If you are fond of the "delicacy" don't read the article referred to.

WILL HE "STICK?"

The question which is agitating the democratic mind in this State just now, next to "Who is to be the next President?" is "Will Mr. Marcy take himself out of the way and let us put up some man whose overwhelming defeat is not a foregone conclusion?" He has not yet accepted the nomination, and the democrats hope he will not.

As far as democratic success is concerned we do not imagine it will make much difference whether he accepts or not, for we are satisfied the republicans can elect Mr. Prescott over any candidate the democrats can put up; but the democrats would make a much better showing with almost any other candidate,—and they know it, and many of them privately acknowledge it.

But we cannot see why they should blame Mr. Marcy for sticking to the nomination, if he wants another defeat. The democrats bungled their gubernatorial nomination as badly as Tilden's tools in Oregon did his electoral-vote-stealing conspiracy. Capt. Marcy was by party usage entitled to a renomination, and it was their business to find out if he wanted it before trying to shelve him, instead of assuming—as they evidently did assume—that he would meekly stand aside to make room for another candidate. Possibly the cool way in which it was sought to shoulder him off the track by fostering and spreading the belief that he would not be a candidate this year, may have roused his antagonism—he is not a non-resistant, we believe—and determined him to "go for" a nomination he might have been induced to forego had he been treated with common courtesy by the leaders of the "young democracy" before the convention.

New Hampshire Items.

The Strafford County Democratic Convention resolved that "the present prohibitory law is partisan in its effect." That is but another way of saying that nearly all the liquor dealers are democrats, which is undoubtedly true.

The democratic County Convention of Strafford County pronounced against the prohibitory law and in favor of a licence liquor law.

The democracy of the Fifth District on the 23d nominated William J. Walker of Dover for Senator, he receiving twenty-eight of thirty-one votes. A motion to make the nomination unanimous was defeated by the vote of the temperance men, for Mr. Walker is landlord of the New Hampshire House, and has been complained of several times for violation of the liquor law. His chief recommendations are the wealth of his wife and the reputation of being a jolly good fellow.

C. W. Abbott, a well-known manufacturer of carriages and sleighs in Keene, has failed. His indebtedness amounts to about $4100; assets, $1300.

The committee appointed by the Governor and Council under a joint resolution passed at the last session of the Legislature to investigate the affairs of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane, held its first meeting in Concord on the 23d. It is the intention of the committee to make a thorough, just and impartial investigation, and to give all persons who desire a chance to appear and be heard.

Story of Cat and Dog Life.

In Beatrice, Gage County, Neb., lives a gentleman by the name of M—, who owns a very fine greyhound named Queen. Now, Queen is a great favorite in that part of the country, not only on account of her beauty and gentle disposition, but also from the fact that she and her pups are noted wolf-hunters. She has several times, unaided, run down and killed wolves, and one day this summer, with two of her full-grown sons, captured and killed three wolves. About two months ago Queen had a litter of little ones; and a few days after one of Queen's friends, a cat occupying the same stable, had a new family of little kittens. Shortly after the new arrival the order was given to "drown some of the pups," but the executioner finished the whole of them. Poor Queen was inconsolable, and went about crying and searching everywhere for the missing ones, looking up, in the most beseeching way, to each one of the family. After awhile she went back to the stable, and then her whining ceased. In the afternoon Mr. M— went to the stable, and found Queen in her nest with the old cat and her four kittens affectionately cuddled up in her "arms." Mother puss did not seem to like this after awhile, and evidently thought that the new mother was getting the most attention from her babies. So when Queen was out for a few minutes, she took the kittens one at a time and carried them to her own nest. Queen returned to find her home again desolate, and went immediately and took the kittens all back, the cat following. This performance went on for three or four days, the cat carrying the kittens one way and Queen taking them back, until mother puss changed her plan, and, while Queen was absent, carried one of the kittens up into the loft, to which Queen could not climb. Next day puss took another, and then a third, leaving Queen but one, which she tended most zealously.—Our Dumb Animals.

Was Farragut Lashed to the Rigging?

A writer in Scribner for February, who was an eye-witness of the battle in Mobile Bay, takes the negative of the above question as follows: When the fleet had crossed the bar and was inside of Sand Island, and had approached to within about one mile and a quarter of Fort Morgan, Admiral Farragut coolly and deliberately ascended the starboard main rigging and halted just beneath the top. Passing his arm up through the "lubber's hole," he seized the foot of the pilot, Martin Freeman by name, who was standing in the maintop, giving orders to the helmsman. The Signal Quartermaster, in obedience to the orders of Captain Drayton took up a hammock-lashing to secure the Admiral to the shrouds, so that in case he should be killed his body would not fall overboard or on deck, but by Freeman's advice the Admiral would not allow it to be passed around him. The Quartermaster returned with his lashing to the deck, and Farragut, the brave, passed the long line of torpedoes and the Confederate forts and fleet unscathed—while still clinging to the foot of his trusty old pilot, Martin Freeman. This is the truth which the historian should receive and record, if he chooses to make a note of what was but an incident in that terrible action. Many survivors of that day will vouch for the above account. As for Martin Freeman, he still lives in the immediate vicinity of the bay where the battle was fought—being the principal keeper of Horn island Lighthouse in Mississippi Sound. Should any one chance to question this writer's assertion in regard to the above matter, he is respectfully referred to Mr. Freeman, who was probably better acquainted at the time with the movements of Admiral Farragut than any other individual in the fleet—Captain Percival Drayton perhaps excepted—and he is known as the heroic and loyal son of South Carolina and Fleet-Captain of the West Gulf Squadron. The philosophy of Admiral Farragut's chosen position is easily explained. During the noise of the battle he naturally desired to be so stationed that no human voice could be heard aloft, should it be necessary for him to communicate with the pilot, by tightly grasping the foot of that person the signal would be noticed; and, as a fact, Mr. Freeman did respond, and by bending down lent his ear to the "lubber's hole" for such orders as the Admiral wished to give him.

—The Rjukan, a Norwegian ship, was recently wrecked in plain sight of land, off the New Jersey coast. The crew were saved by boats from the shore, under great difficulties. When Captain Hanson believed that all his crew were surely landed, he started for the shore. The Rjukan had nearly careened out of sight when he bade farewell to his vessel. As he reached land, he discovered that a man was missing. Everybody stared at the ship, and saw a man leaning over the bulwarks. He was waving a handkerchief. A boat was sent for him and he was saved. As he calmly strutted around the beach, he said that he had been below to find a box of paper collars. When the surf boat reached the ship he was in the cabin, eating preserves. There is a guardian angel whose business it is to take care of fools, otherwise there would be some hope of the race dying out.

—A little boy came to his mother recently and said, "Mamma, I should think if I was made of dust I should get muddy inside when I drink coffee."

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

Y IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-bone and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fellock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Masonville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

One Good Effect.

If this Presidential muddle has no effect but that of demolishing the old doctrine of State rights, it will have been a blessing after all. Only a few years ago, to hint that Congress had the right to interfere in any election in any of the States, was to throw the whole democratic party into a spasm of virtuous indignation. Now, how changed! Old Bourbon leaders grow red - the face, claiming that one-half of Congress can reject the vote of a State, even though that vote has been announced according to the forms of law prescribed by the State itself. A few years ago Congress had no right to extend protection to a citizen of a State; now, a single branch can set aside the vote of any State it chooses to question. This is slightly in advance of republican doctrine, and is so far ahead of any scheme of centralization, that we fear even democracy cannot stand it long. Still, it is a hopeful sign. Before long, the proposition to extend Federal protection to the ball-dozed victims of the South will be regarded as both constitutional and sound, for, surely, if the House of Representatives can set aside the expressed will of a State, the Government itself can have something to say about the manner in which that will is determined. It is a poor rule that won't work both ways, and if this effort to count Tilden in, not only counts him out, but prevents all possibility of his ever getting so close to the White House again, we shall have cause for public thanksgiving.—Republic.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not unprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Celia Thaxter, Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month,' which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ l this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $12), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc., etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-gables" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, and thrown on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of rural Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tom Lane, Stockbaker" in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hayseed; or, Work for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and where subscription begins with the present volume, i. e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another package. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Was helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I heard of your Pills in my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most unmercifully. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was ready to go to Florida, or Mexico, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find two dollars; send me five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two package more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE —!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration of their claims."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"BOSTON, October 10, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries; Useful Hints and Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science throughout the world.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all Industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS; In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading for the Best Class of Monthly public Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by selected and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,
"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"
by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.
To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.
2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of
SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,
by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.
3. A series of popular papers on
ART AND ART MATTERS,
by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.
4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled
PICTURES FROM SPAIN,
by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.
5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant
PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,
will be continued through the year.
6.
THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,
will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.
7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed.

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article brought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. Let farmers who are interested in wool, cotton, grain, provisions, cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a large, intelligent corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and is constantly receiving from old and new readers words of encouragement.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame what useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this publication (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages it represents such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, R. H. Hutton, J. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. M. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Lecky, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing hundreds of other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he period to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

"A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction."

Harper's Bazar.

Notices of the Press.

For strictly household matters and dress, Harper's Bazar is altogether the best thing published. To take it is a matter of economy. No lady can afford to be without it, for the information it gives will save her very much more money than the subscription price, besides giving the household an interesting literary visitor.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Bazar is profusely illustrated, and contains stories, poems, sketches, and essays of a most attractive character. * * * In its literary and artistic features, the Bazar is unquestionably the best journal of its kind in the country.—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Nor do we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In all cases, the instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will produce natural, healthy relief.

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA, IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your ABSOLUTELY SURE—relief. Follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same in character during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or twice the usual size; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions, and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for politics, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will constantly for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers each day new not for from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to be plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the splendid character and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the farming interest of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a great degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Dorchester, near Boston, was settled the same year, 1630, that Boston was. A company came from England, a church having already been organized, and two ministers, Warham and Maverick came with them. In 1633 quite a portion of the settlers moved to Windsor, Connecticut, Mr. Warham and the larger part of the church going thither. Soon Mr. Maverick died. In 1636 a new church was gathered and Rev. Richard Mather chosen preacher. He came from England not long before, was about 40 years of age, probably had preached in the old country, and he was the progenitor of the celebrated ministers of the name, that followed in Boston and vicinity. It is written of him that he was an "able divine," excelling, it seems, most others then preaching in New England. In 1652, Rev. John Cotton of Boston, distinguished as a minister of ability and deep piety died. Mr. Mather had lost his wife and the mother of his children, and after a time he was married to Mrs. Cotton.

Mr. Mather was 73 years of age when he died. Whether he preached in his last years or not I do not know. He died April 22, 1669. He was buried in the old graveyard in the town, and the following is the epitaph put on his monument.

"Divinely rich and learned Richard Mather,
Sons like him, prophets great, rejoiced this father;
Short time his sleeping dust's here's covered down,
Not so his ascended spirit or renown."

The name "Increase" Mather, it is said, was not given to his son, who was born in Dorchester in 1639, especially from the increase of the family of children, although that was considerable, and might have entered into it, but increase in other forms of prosperity. He (Increase) graduated at Harvard College in 1656, then under 18 yerrs of age. He became minister of the North Church in Boston, the second constituted in the place, May 27, 1669. For a time he was colleague with Rev. John Mayo, the first minister of the church. After 11 years there was a vacancy of the Presidency of Harvard College, and Mr. Mather was chosen to the office. But the church in Boston would not consent to releasing him, so he did not accept. In 1685, after the death of President Rogers, he was again elected. He accepted on condition that he could continue to reside in Boston. Probably his pastorate continued, but his son Cotton Mather became colleague.

He continued President of the College 16 years, resigning in 1701. He was a noble friend of the College and did much for the promotion of its interests. Four sons were graduated there. He had the degree of D. D. conferred on him. He had popular preaching talents and this was a great benefit to the College, as it was then understood that the institution was designed chiefly to prepare young men, designed for the ministry, for that calling. Besides this, Dr. Mather was a good scholar and urged education as essential to the church and civil affairs. After resigning the Presidency, he lived 22 years, and died Aug. 23, 1728, aged 84. His pen was prolific and a variety of his works were published. They were on religion, politics, history and philosophy. Some time in his later years he was in England to obtain a new charter for the Provincial Colony, the former one having been annulled by the arbitrary Governor Andros.

Rev. Cotton Mather was son of the above, and his name "Cotton" was undoubtedly given him in honor of his step-grandmother, the widow of Rev. John Cotton. It would require great space to give any just account of this learned and excellent man. Suffice it that he was born in Boston in 1663. Such was his scholarship, that at 12 he entered Harvard College and graduated in 1678, when under 16 years of age. May 13, 1684 he became preacher in the North Church. The degree of D. D. was conferred on him by a college in Glasgow, Scotland. He gave evidence of being a man of deep-toned piety. It is said his very thoughts were pure and in communion with God, and his constant study was to be useful. How can I do most good to my flock and the world, was a question constant with him. Few ministers were ever more laborious particularly in literary labors. He published in his life time 382 books. Some of them to be sure were small, but some large volumes. To one of them, "The Way to do Good," Dr. Franklin acknowledges himself much indebted. The only shadow over Dr. Mather, we now think of, is, he was a believer in the reality of the New England witchcraft delusion. This appeared in his writings. Dr. Mather died in much peace Feb. 13, 1728, aged 65 years.

—Kate Henderson, one of the contestants in a pedestrian match in Lansing, Mich., was whipped several times by her husband to compel her to continue walking. At length she informed the spectators and they had the husband arrested.

—Mr. Theodore Thomas' unavoidable failure to give his promised concert at Watertown, on Saturday, has caused a poet of that town to burst into this pathetic strain: "Oh, Thomas, oh, Thomas, Why did you stay from us, And not keep your promus?"

—In the village of Harbottle, Northumberland, Eng., no child has died during the last twenty years; a farmer and his three shepherds have between them forty-seven children, and during the past thirty years not a death has occurred in their families.

The Compromise Bill.

The compromise bill was discussed by the Senate on Wednesday. Conkling, Thurman, Bayard, Edmunds and others spoke in its favor; Morton, Sargent, Blaine and others against it. The debate continued well through the night, and at a quarter past one o'clock Thursday morning a motion to adjourn was defeated by a vote of 25 to 41.

At about six o'clock Thursday morning, after an all-night session, voting commenced on the offered amendments to the bill. The first amendment made it the duty of the commission to go behind the returning boards of the States, and received only one vote; a second, prohibiting the commission from going behind the returning boards, was defeated, 18 to 47; a third, providing that the commission shall sit with open doors, was also voted down, 13 to 47. At a quarter before seven o'clock the final vote on the bill was reached, and resulted in its passage, as follows:

Ayes—Messrs. Alcorn, Allison, Barnum, Bayard, Bogy, Booth, Boutwell, Burnside, Chaffee, Christiancy, Cockrell, Conkling, Cooper, Cragin, Davis, Dawes, Dennis, Edmunds, Ferry, Frelinghuysen, Goldthwaite, Gordon, Home, Johnston, Jones of Florida, Jones of Nevada, Kelley, Kernan, McCreary, McDonald, McMillan, Maxey, Merrimon, Morrill, Price, Randolph, Ransom, Robertston, Saulsbury, Sharon, Stevenson, Teller, Thurman, Wallace, Whyte, Wyndom and Withers—47.

Nays—Messrs. Blaine, Bruce, Cameron of Pennsylvania, Cameron of Wisconsin, Clayton, Conover, Dorsey, Eaton, Hamilton, Hamlin, Ingalls, Mitchell, Morton, Patterson, Sargent, Sherman and West—17.

Absent, or not voting—Messrs. Anthony, Harvey, Hitchcock, Logan, Norwood, Oglesby, Paddock, Spencer, Wadleigh and Wright—10.

There are two vacant seats—Louisiana and Tennessee. Sixteen republican Senators and one independent republican voted for the bill, while fifteen republican Senators and an independent republican voted against it. Senator Eaton of Connecticut was the only democrat who voted nay.

The bill was sent to the House at half-past 12 o'clock, P. M., and the House agreed to take a final vote on it at four o'clock Friday afternoon.

Political.

Judge David Davis, of the United States Supreme Court, was on Thursday elected United States Senator from Illinois, by the democrats, to succeed John A. Logan.

Thomas Jefferson, when President of the Senate, counted the vote which made him President of the United States, and decided to admit the informal vote of Georgia, which secured his election. Had the vote of that State been thrown out Aaron Burr would have been the successful candidate.

J. G. Thompson, the Ohio democratic bugle master and Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, has neglected to summon the Ohio witnesses called for by the republicans to tell what they know about the distribution of the Tilden funds in that State. There have been several indications of late that this fellow Thompson is running the House. At any rate his action indicates that there is something hidden which won't look well.

The democrats on the House committee for overhauling telegrams seem to think the thing has been carried quite as far as is proper; those Oregon telegrams from Tilden's nephew, transferring money, have satisfied them that prying into other people's affairs in that way is infamous business.

Sunset Cox's committee unanimously reports that there is not a shadow of evidence in support of Abe. Hewitt's charge that his letters were tampered with in the New York post-office during the Presidential campaign.

The democratic criticism on the newly elected Senator in New Jersey, Mr. MacPherson, leads one to believe that he is a Reformer who believes in putting money where it will do the most good. His nomination was a surprise, but may be accounted for from the fact that his opponent, Mr. Green, refused a tender of six votes in consideration of $10,000. One Jersey democratic paper innocently claimed the nomination for him because he gave $50,000 to carry the State for the democrats.

The Indianapolis Journal remarks that the latest specimen of democratic reform is the catching of the democratic Attorney-General of that State in a gambling saloon, and his giving the name of Smith at the station house. Reform seems to be necessary in Indiana.

Tennessee has evidently made up her mind to try a little experiment in repudiation. Mr. Redfield writes to the Cincinnati Commercial from Chattanooga: "So far as we may judge from appearances, the Legislature will scale the debt. It is an outrage that all the citizens of the State should be brought into disgrace, but I fear the debt-paying portion are in a minority. If the holders of the State's obligations can get off without a deeper shave than 40 per cent., they may consider themselves fortunate. This would reduce the debt to about $14,000,000. The present rate of taxation—four mills—will easily pay interest on this and administer the Government. But there is a pressure in the Legislature for decreased taxation. It is even proposed to make the tax lower than four mills. Think of the infamy of this, when but three or four States in the Union, whether North or South, in debt or out, have a lower tax than four mills. That amount of taxation is insignificant. Nobody feels it unless he is immensely rich, and then, of course, he is proportionately able to pay. A farmer, say with $2,000 worth of land, has only to pay $8 State tax. With the State owing an honest debt for her public buildings and internal improvements, to think of lowering the rate of taxation below four mills is nothing better than downright repudiation."

News and Notes.

Charles Wright and nine others, seamen on the American bark C. A. Whitmore, have arrived at San Francisco by the steamer Alaska from Hong Kong. They were sent home by the United States Consul at Hong Kong as witnesses against the captain and officers of the bark for killing J. N. Elwood, the second mate, by brutal cruelty. The accused left the bark in Hong Kong and secreted themselves, as previously reported.

Albert Potter, foreman of the Union Ice Company of Providence, died while eating at a restaurant in Woonsocket, on the evening of Jan. 24. He was probably choked by a piece of steak. He leaves a wife and three children.

Prof. Richard Somers Smith, aged 63, chief of the department of drawing at the Naval Academy, died suddenly at Annapolis, Jan 22d. He was a graduate of West Point and formerly President of Girard College, Philadelphia.

Two half sisters of Eugene Sue, twin daughters of his mother and Dr. Nathaniel Niles, who was secretary of legation at Paris during a part of Jackson's Administration, have brought suit at New York against the executor of their father's estate for a larger share than they are now getting of the $1,000,000 which he left. One of these ladies is the wife of George Adam Badeau, formerly Consul-General at London, and the other had for her first husband a nephew of Martin Van Buren, and for her second and present one a Belgian gentleman. Sue's half sisters were the original of his Rose and Blanch in his Wandering Jew.

A fire broke out in the Stonehill Colliery, near Bolton, England, while the miners were at work, and is still burning. Fifteen miners are known to have perished. It is impossible to recover the bodies.

Ex-Secretary of War Belknap, who was indicted ten months ago, has got tired of waiting for a trial, and on Jan. 24th notified District Attorney Wells that he should apply to the Court on the 29th for an immediate trial of his case.

British brig Tycoon has had a hard time of it in getting from Demarara to Boston. She arrived at Vineyard Haven Dec. 31st, and sailed next day for Boston with a Vineyard pilot on board, expecting to round Cape Cod and anchor in Boston harbor in a few hours. Instead of this she was blown off the coast and battered about until she was compelled to run for the West Indies, and arrived at Bermuda on the 15th of January with her sails blown away, vessel leaking badly and crew worn out.

P. Culhane's house in Hamilton, Ontario, was burned Tuesday night, Jan. 23. Two children were suffocated and one fatally burned.

Prof. Benjamin Silliman of New Haven is dangerously ill.

New Hampshire Items.

At a few minutes past one o'clock Wednesday afternoon, a French boy, named Elmer Michaud, aged eleven years, was crushed to death by being caught in the pit by the elevator at the No. 1 mill of the Nashua Corporation at Nashua. He was found with the elevator resting on his back. The boy had probably hid himself in this place, and the elevator coming down, caught him as he attempted to make his escape, in which condition he was found by another boy who shifted the rod, sending the elevator up, but the French boy died in a few moments after being released. He was not employed at the mill, but had run away from school and thus lost his life.

John S. Sargent of Sutton has been arrested on suspicion of having set fire to the store of McAllister & Johnson at South Sutton, which was burned November 23. Part of the goods taken from the store were found secreted in a cider barrel in Sargent's house. He has made a partial confession and implicates another party. Sargent was committed to await trial before the April term of the Supreme Court.

The members of the Granges in New Hampshire held a meeting at Concord, Wednesday, Jan. 24, when it was voted to form a Grangers' Aid Association and a Grangers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company. The meeting was fully attended.

David Ewing of Claremont, overseer of the Monadnock Mills Company, was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon, being caught in the shafting while engaged in putting a belt on the same, completely tearing him to pieces. He was 25 years old, and leaves a wife and child.

"Will Daniel Marcy withdraw?" is the question now said to be agitating the bosoms of the young democracy of this State. Notwithstanding the threat of hundreds to bolt, "Old White-Oak" is not likely to be frightened off the track by the bulldozing of the "indiscreet young gentlemen" of the party, as the Patriot gingerly calls them.—Telegraph.

E. M. Topliff, of Manchester, has been chosen chairman of the Republican State Committee, and George E. Jenks, of Concord, secretary; advisory committee, Daniel Hall of Dover, William E. Chandler of Concord, A. W. Quint of Manchester, C. H. Roberts of Concord, A. A. Woolsen of Lisbon.

A few days since as a freight train on the Concord railroad was passing the "land slide" below Hooksett, the engineer discovered a fox on the track ahead. Immediately detaching the engine from the train, "Old Zach," as he is called, gave chase to the animal. Knowing the snow banks on either side were so high that he must keep to the track, "Zack" armed himself with a few sticks of wood, and perched on the front of the engine prepared to dispatch his foxship. But on nearing the animal it proved to be a small yellow dog. That engineer looked mad and swore a little as he returned to his train, and since that time it hasn't been safe for any of the boys to say "fox" to him when in reach of the wood in his tender.

The democratic Councillor Convention for the First District met at Dover on Wednesday, and nominated William Rand of Rochester by acclamation.

All Meat, No Cat.

The skeleton of a cat walked into Ryan's store. Ryan, seeing her bawled out:

"Mickey, didn't I tell ye a month ago to fade that cat a pound of mate a day until ye had her fat?"

"You did, and I'm just after fading her a pound."

"Has that cat ate a pound this morning?"

"Yes sir."

"Shure, I think it's a lie ye're telling. Bring me that scales. Now bring me that cat."

The cat turned the scale at exactly one pound.

"There, didn't I tell ye she had eaten a pound of mate this morning?"

"All right, my boy; there's yer pound of mate, but where the divil's the cat?"

Champion Yarns.

A number of men were gathered about a stove last night in the rear of a saloon, discussing the present cold snap as compared with various other cold snaps within their recollection or experience.

"When I lived in Maine," remarked a man who had been born on the Pacific coast and never lived anywhere else, "when I was in Maine in '54 it was the coldest winter I ever heard of. The snow was sixteen feet on a dead level, and you never saw so many sun-dogs in your life. The nails started out of the timbers, making explosions like a gun. Vegetables froze so solid that they could not be boiled, and trees contracted so with the cold that they shrunk up inside the bark."

"Speaking of sun-dogs," chipped in a man from the other side of the stove; "Sun-dogs is a sign of cold weather. When I was in British Columbia I saw flocks and flocks of 'em and was chased several miles by over fifty." At this point it was quite evident the man was slightly off his track and he was fired out.

"Boys," chimed in Kettle-Belly Brown, "when I was on the Arctic expedition with Dr. Hayes, I saw some devilish cold weather." Everybody bent to listen, for they knew that a master hand was at the keys. Pausing for a moment to gather inspiration for the effort, the sublime artist continued his voluntary. "When we struck the Arctic ice belt we took to the floes and pushed ahead on foot. I was one of the advanced scouts about a hundred miles ahead of the main gang. Each man carried a red-hot stove on his back to keep warm. Sometimes a fog would come up in the afternoon and a cold current of air sweeping down on us at night would freeze us all up in the fog-bank, so we had to clear a space with hatchets and wait for the thaw. I never saw ice get so solid. You could hold a chunk in the flame of a candle for two hours before it would begin to melt. It was just like metal, so help me Davy Jones. Talk about this being cold! Why, it's regular tropical weather."

Here Brown began to stir up the fire and stuff wood into the stove, while none of his auditors spoke a word for the next minute, but sat wrapped in silence and meditation. Pulling out vox humana stop, Brown dashed his hands over the keys again—"They all froze to death but me, and I kept right on to the North Pole. Here's a chip I cut off of it just to show I was there. Anybody who's ever seen the Pole will recognize it. I see you all recognize it. I like that country."

"What made you leave it then?" asked somebody.

"The whiskey froze up, and I had to come further south;" and the tears welled up as he recollected how much he had missed during his ten long years in the Arctic regions.—Virginia (Nevada) Chronicle.

—One of our clergymen was a little surprised, three months after he had married a couple, by receiving a call from them. They brought their marriage certificate and wished it torn up. Upon questioning a little, the worthy gentleman wormed out the secret that the man wished to free himself from his present yoke, so that he could marry a younger woman. The parties thought that the simple destruction of the certificate by the clergyman who performed the ceremony, would be a sufficient divorce.—Woonsocket Patriot.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disease, or irregular habits of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

POLICE COURT.

On Thursday Judge Batchelder was regaled by the story of the misdoings of James and John Lee. These two individuals, though fishermen, are not to be confounded with the James and John who once fished in the Sea of Galilee, being men of quite another sort. It was brought out in evidence that James and John, accompanied by a third person, one evening between the hours of seven and nine o'clock entered the house of Mrs. Phebe A. Hanscom, (who resides somewhere at the South End,) blew out the only light in the room, and then while the third person held Mrs. Hanscom the Lees made a mainsail haul of everything they could lay their hands on, and carried off a mirror, eight pictures and frames, mantel ornaments, thermometer, table cloth, childrens' shoes, work-basket, etc. Judge Batchelder ordered them to appear before the Supreme Court at Exeter on the second Tuesday of April to explain away any suspicious circumstances connected with their exploit, and to make sure that they would obey his order bound them over in the sum of $200 each.

JOTTINGS.

The New Hampshire State Board of Agriculture will hold meetings at Academy Hall, Greenland, on Tuesday, Jan. 30, in the forenoon, afternoon and evening; all who take an interest in Agriculture are invited to attend.

The hull of the wrecked ship Simla, of this port, ashore on the Jersey coast seven miles below Barnegat, was sold on Tuesday, Jan 23d, together with her sails and rigging, for $2475. The sale was made by J. S. Smith, agent of the Boston underwriters, and the largest purchasers were James Powers & Co., of Boston.

Thursday being the day when the assignee of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank commenced paying the first dividend of twenty-five per cent. to depositors, there was quite a run on the institution.

The North church clock sprung a leak Wednesday night, soon after midnight, and struck ever so many o'clock for about five minutes; at the end of that time, finding its efforts to get up a false alarm of fire unavailing, it stopped its clanging and for the rest of the night behaved as a clock of respectability and good moral character is expected to do.

The public schools at Kittery Foreside were closed on Thursday, to remain closed for an indefinite period, owing to the alarming prevalence of scarlet fever in the town.

Mr. Thomas J. Sheehan, of Water street, slipped on the ice while crossing the street in front of his place of business on Tuesday, and in falling struck his face against an awning host. Being a tall, stout man he struck very heavily, and his face was so badly cut as to need the services of a surgeon to dress it.

Messrs. Hayes & Son brought into market this week 2500 lbs. of superior pork, which was fatted on corn raised on their farm.

The Times says all the shares in a ship of about 1300 tons has been taken up here by B. F. Jacobs, Charles H. Mendum and others, and work will be commenced on the vessel immediately. She is to be commanded by Capt. Jacobs, formerly of the ship Grandee.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Odd Fellows Mutual Relief Association was held on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 24th, at Odd Fellows' Hall. The reports of the officers were presented, showing the Association to be in a prosperous condition. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, William W. Cotton; Vice President, William Livingstone; Secretary, Robert G. Archibald; Treasurer, Isaac Dow; Directors, James F. Hartshorn, Isaac Dow and Allen P. Rand of Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, John H. Rose, Leshe Whitehouse and Charles Hein of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, and Charles W. Gardner, William S. Hazel and Charles N. Merrill of Osgood Lodge, No. 48.

Mrs. Emma Malloy, the eloquent temperance advocate, is to speak at the anniversary of the Woman's Temperance League, which takes place on Friday, February second.

The dwelling house and outbuildings belonging to the heirs of Nathan Norton of Greenland were burned on the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 24th. The fire took in the floor, probably from a defect in the chimney. Most of the furniture was saved. Loss about $2500.

The Directors of the Young People's Union are doing a good work in the evening school which they have established for adults, and which is held twice a week at their rooms. This room is open to any one over fifteen years of age, who is unable to attend the public schools. Calling in on a recent evening we found about thirty men and women, white and colored, studying in a way that proved they meant to make the most of their time. The teachers seemed as much interested and as earnest as the scholars. We understand that funds are needed to pay the expenses of the school; and we hope the citizens will respond liberally to any call which may be made upon them, as there can be no doubt that the school is doing a real good.

The New Hampshire Bull-Dozers.

The desperate attempt of the democrats, begun before the State Convention and still continued, to bull-doze Daniel Marcy off the ticket, deserves the severest reprobation from all lovers of fair play and decency. Mr. Marcy is one of the last men we would ever vote for as Governor of New Hampshire, but he is, at least, entitled to honorable treatment at the hands of his party friends, and the usages of civilized war from his political enemies. He is an honest, an honorable and a liberal man, a good neighbor and a politician of more positive convictions and courageous independence than any of the young bucksters who are aching to step into his shoes. He has his weak points, but they are largely the fault of others. He was born a great many years ago, but he can hardly be held accountable for that. He is an intense copperhead, but that is doubtless largely due to his prosperous business connection with the Southern slave trade before the war. He made, when in Congress, a very treasonable and exceedingly foolish speech, but it was written for him by a New Hampshire editor, and it faithfully spoke the sentiments of the New Hampshire democracy. He was disastrously beaten last year, but it was not by his consent, and though he may not come within 5,000 votes of an election in March, it is by no means certain that any other candidate of his party could do any better. He is certainly a larger, a more independent, and a better-known man than Frank McKean, and a much better representative of the party. Furthermore, the nomination belongs to him. He has bought and paid for it. It is his by purchase, by immemorial custom, and by the decree of Frank Jones. He is just as good and strong a candidate as he was a year ago, when the whole party went wild with joy over his nomination, and when the whole State, from Strawberry Bank to Canada, resounded with his praises. And yet a whole State Convention spent two days and a night in yelping at his heels to frighten him off the track, and after all his competitors were shamed out of the way, gave him barely 385 out of 725 votes, and refused to endorse his nomination in its platform. And since the convention adjourned, there has been no tempering of the abuse which is heaped upon the old man, and no cessation in the efforts to make him give up his place to another.—Mirror.

A True Mule Story.

This mule fell hind-feet backward into an old dry well sixty feet deep; it is supposed that the edge of the well caved in with him. All efforts to rescue him were fruitless, as he was completely wedged in. Finally, the owner of the mule, supposing that the poor creature was severely injured by the fall, decided that it would be more merciful to have him killed than to allow him to starve to death. Not knowing any other way of despatching him, he had a cart load of dirt thrown in upon him. But, instead of allowing himself to be buried alive, his muleship quietly shook off the dirt and pressed it down with his feet, thus raising himfelf several inches above his original position. Another load was thrown in, with the same result; and then some one said that if the mule would continue trampling down the dirt, it was possible that he might be extricated; it would be no harm to try, any way. Acting on this suggestion, all the farm-hands went to work filling the well, carefully pouring the dirt in on the sides, so as not to hurt the mule. It was slow work filling that deep well, but a hearty interest was awakened by the perseverance with which the poor animal trampled down the dirt, and all worked with willing hands. Slowly but surely, inch by inch, did he ascend, until the great well was filled within a few feet of the top; then, as complacently as if nothing had happened, his muleship stepped out safe and sound.—St. Nicholas.

—A few years ago Australia imported a cargo of rabbits for the purpose of freeing the pastures from noxious weeds, and frightening mischievous animals from the grain fields. It is now importing weasels for the discussion of the rabbits, with a tolerably fair hope of having some day to import rattlesnakes to exhort the weasels.

—"Is this your wife?" asked Justice Morgan of John Rowell, a Morrisania fisherman, in the Harlem Police Court, as he pointed to a modest looking woman, who had charged Rowell with assaulting her. "She's one of them, your Honor," replied the prisoner. "What! have you more?" "Only one more, judge; and when one don't behave I send for the other." "And you have children by both?" "I have, judge." "And does your plan work?" "Pretty fair, judge; pretty fair."

—Woman's distress in these hardest of hard times is a touching thing. Martha B—— of San Francisco, hearing how much the manager of the Benevolent Society was doing for the poor, appealed to him for a few things. She said she would like half a pint of cream every day for her tea and coffee, one gallon of the best port wine, and a little change, so that whenever she returned from a theatre she could have a few plates of nice Eastern oysters. She was also in need of a few pairs of twelve-button gloves and some perfumery, a nice bronze drop-light, and a piano.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Hoarseness, for which all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract sorenesses, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

HILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

French Invention.

French ingenuity has invented a method of controlling the most fractious horses without any exertion on the part of the driver. The horse of the future is not to be driven by ordinary reins, but by electricity combined with them. The coachman is to have under his seat an electro-magnetic apparatus, which he works by means of a little handle. One wire is carried through the rein to the bit, and another to the crupper, so that a current once set up goes the entire length of the animal along the spine. A sudden shock will, we are gravely assured, stop the most violent runaway, or cure the obstinate jibber. The creature, however strong and however vicious, is "at once transformed into a sort of inoffensive horse of wood, with the feet firmly nailed to the ground." Curiously enough, the very opposite result may be produced by a succession of small shocks. Under the influence of these the veriest screw can be suddenly endowed with a vigor and fire indescribable. What the effect upon the condition of the horse is not stated, but the Siecle congratulates M. Fancher upon "an invention equally original and salutary," and one which places in the hands even of an infant a power over the horse which is as sovereign as it is invincible.—Home Journal.

—Brother Moody finds it necessary to brace up a couple of weeks before attacking the hardened sinners of Boston. It was only play for him to cope with the mild forms of iniquity he found in Chicago. —Chicago Times.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Publicans' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Sky" of Each Month, which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as here before, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young, and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ l this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throughout with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Summer Afloat Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron-strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, and adrift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in the present number, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mr. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Stone Exports," "Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's House," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hayseys; a Work for the Child," etc.

A carefully illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make this magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 21, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel it my duty to give my testimony; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his foot to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What I proposed him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know of, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial, and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been about to give up, my room most all the time for eight or ten weeks, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. My physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was about to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find one and three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England,

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent, there is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage in which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. In addition to the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to the great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

UPHOLSTERY!

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; it is the oldest, the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Illustrations, of New and Useful Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of the discovery, invention, and progress; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, and New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Model of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Constitution of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be regarded as a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in most features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its marked features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and its reputation is sufficient to secure for it a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which was issued, with the December issue, and will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to provide voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party, but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The morality of the Bible is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallit ble accuracy. Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the indomitable and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and is constantly received from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages it represents such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, Right Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. Macdonald, Wm. Black, Mathew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weekly issue, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. CHILDREN TEETHING

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the system, and the child rests, sleeps, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We have but to say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—if you follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, honesty, and truth for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue to be the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and by the counting of votes at the point of military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and will send any person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that, taken all in consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Review, which they send free of postage, in addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are well known men of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," which are, of course, the life of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of all Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate the Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Sea Serpent.

Captain Drewar, of the bark Pauline, of London, at Cork, Ireland, from a long voyage, favors the public with the following extract from his log:

Bark Pauline, July 8, 1875, latitude 5 degrees 13 minutes north, longitude 34 degrees west, Cape San Roque, northeast coast of Brazil, distant twenty miles, at 11 A. M., the weather fine and clear, wind and sea moderate, observed some black spots on the water, and a whitish pillar some thirty feet high above them. At the first sight I took all to be breakers, as the sea was splashing up fountain-like about them, and the pillar a pinnacle rock, bleached with the sun, but the pillar fell with a splash and a similar one rose. They rose and fell alternately in quick succession, and good glasses showed me it was a monster seaserpent coiled twice round a large sperm whale. The head and tail parts, each about thirty feet long, were acting as levers, twisting itself and its victim round with great velocity. They sank out of sight every two minutes, coming to the surface still revolving; and the struggles of the whale and two other whales that were near, frantic with excitement, made the sea in their vicinity like a boiling cauldron; and a loud confused noise was distinctly heard. This strange occurrence lasted some fifteen minutes, and finished with the tail portion of the whale being elevated straight in the air, then waving backward and forward, and lashing the water furiously in the last death struggle, when the whole body disappeared from our view, going down head foremost to the bottom, where, no doubt, it was gorged at the serpent's leisure; and that monster of monsters may have been many months in a state of coma, digesting the huge mouthful. Then, two of the largest sperm whales that I have ever seen, moved slowly thence toward the vessel, their bodies more than usually elevated out of the water, and not spouting or making the least noise, but seeming quite paralyzed with fear; indeed, a cold shiver went through my own frame on beholding the last agonizing struggle of the poor whale that had seemed as helpless in the coils of the vicious monster as a bird in the talons of a hawk. Allowing for two coils round the whale, I think the serpent was about 160 or 170 feet long, and 7 or 8 feet in girth. It was in color much like a conger eel; and the head, from the mouth being always open, appeared the largest part of its body. It is curious that the whale, that lives on the smallest food of any fish in the ocean, should itself be but a meal for another monster; for I think it as feasible that the serpent swallowed the whale as that a boa-constructor can consume a whole bullock.

I am aware that few believe in the existence of the great sea-serpent. People think that as so many vessels are constantly on the ocean, it would be seen oftener. But the northeast coast of Brazil, noted for its monster reptiles, is peculiarly adapted for the growth of sea monsters. The temperature of the air and water is seldom below 81 degrees, the shore for a thousand miles is bordered by a coral wall or reef, and numerous banks and reefs extend for a considerable distance from the land, while there are strong and various currents and no ports; so that ships, for business or pleasure, seldom go near it. Unexpected circumstances led me to the home of the sea serpent, and I think it may be allowed that the serpent retains some portion of that cunning mentioned in Scripture. At least it has wit enough not to leave a good feeding ground and secure home, to go wandering about the ocean like a fish, and be tortured and captured for man's pleasure or profit. I think Cape San Roque is a landmark for whales leaving the South for the North Atlantic. The warm water is also good for its breeding; and if the Crystal Palace Company, or some enterprising Barnum, offered a suitable reward for the serpent's capture, I am sure a steam whaler, with suitable hooks baited with some animal and steel wire lines, would effect its capture while following a profitable whaling business.

I wrote thus far little thinking I would ever see the serpent again; but at 7 A. M., July 13, in the same latitude and some eighty miles east of San Roque, I was astonished to see the same or a similar monster. It was throwing its head and about forty feet of its body in a horizontal position out of the water as it passed onwards by the stern of our vessel. I began musing why we were so much favored with such a strange visitor, and concluded that the ship's band of white paint, two feet wide above the copper, might have looked like a fellow-serpent to it, and no doubt attracted its attention. It was put on to keep the vessel's side clear and free from barnacles, which it does remarkably well; and if the agitators about the deep load line gain their wish, it would be both useful and practical to mark the vessel thus, in place of disfiguring it with plague spots that would be constantly rubbed off. If the shipowners, with two competent surveyors, so decided, much misery, uncertainty and perpetual lawsuits would be avoided. While thus thinking, I was startled by the cry of "There it is again!" and a short distance to leeward, elevated some sixty feet in the air, was the great leviathan, grimly looking towards the vessel. As I was not sure it was only our freeboard it was viewing, we had all our axes ready, and were fully determined, should the brute embrace the Pauline, to chop away for its backbone with all our might; and the wretch might have found for once in its life that it had caught a Tartar. This statement is strictly true, and the occurrence was witnessed by my officers, half the crew and myself; and we are ready at any time to testify on oath that it is so, and that we are not in the least mistaken.

News and Notes.

Two schoolboys at Lawrence, Mass., Willie Rose, aged eight years, and Fred Dow, aged nine, had a fight Thursday afternoon. The Dow boy took from his pocket a knife, opened it, and holding the Rose boy with his left hand, deliberately plunged it full length into the latter's neck with such force that he was unable to withdraw it. Becoming frightened, he ran away, and a gentleman who was driving by in a sleigh carried the wounded boy to the Central Police Station. A doctor was called, and with difficulty removed the blade, which had entered the flesh two inches, the point being imbedded in a bone. The wound, strange to say, is not of a dangerous nature. The Dow boy will be tried by the Juvenile Court.

The past season has been a dull one with many of the first-class hotels, but that old and standard favorite, the American of Boston, has evinced its enterprise and success by making many alterations and improvements, not the least of which is the introduction of wash fonts and running water in one hundred and fifty of its rooms that were not so supplied before.

A terrible double murder was committed Tuesday night in Gentry settlement, Saline county, Ark. Two women named Taylor and Slaner, wives of esteemed planters, were both murdered in cold blood. They were stopping at the same house, their husbands being gone to Little Rock with produce. The murders were committed for the purpose of robbery.

The partial mobilization of the Russian army has brought to light a whole list of frauds perpetrated by surveyers of magazines and leading members of the Commissariat. Millions of cartridges were discovered void of powder, and many barrels supposed to contain munitions were filled with sand and stones.

Consequent upon the confession of Miles Ogle, the counterfeiter, the detectives at Cincinnati captured over one hundred finely executed plates. Among them were plates for the manufacture of $10 notes on the banks of Richmond, Lafayette, and Muncie, Indiana. They also recovered 40,000 counterfeit fifty cent pieces found buried near Brighton, in the suburbs of Cincinnati. These pieces so closely resembled the genuine, that none but experts could distinguish the difference between them.

Free trade in ships has been proposed again this Winter. It was hoped by American shipbuilders that the suggestion would bring on a discussion of the whole subject of the comparative cost of shipbuilding in this and other countries, and the needs of the industry here. The builders are ready for it; they court it and would value it. At the present time they are building iron vessels every cent as cheap as the English, and in many respects better; and in New England it is claimed that were the duty on copper plates removed, wooden ships could be built as cheap as they are constructed in Canada, as they are, in fact, already made better and stronger. The subject, however, seems to arouse very little attention. There have been a momentary stir in New England and an exchange of shots through the press in California, lively but brief, and that is all. It is to be feared the matter will rest here for this Winter. The people at Washington are too busy saving the country to give shipping interests much of a hearing now.—Tribune.

At the same time that remarkable shipments of muskets and munitions of war are being made from this country to Turkey, the news comes from Birmingham in England, whose principal industry is the manufacture of rifles, that never before at a time of impending war was business so dull. In the United States the facilities for producing arms have been much improved and developed, and the arms are made so cleverly and cheap, that a serious blow has been given to this branch of England's commerce.

Political.

The status quo still rages in New Orleans.

The Wade Hampton tax installments do not come forward promptly in South Carolina. The patriots prefer signing petitions to paying taxes.

Some people do not know the difference between a statesman and a mere politician. The former is one who acts in all things so as to please the Boston Globe; the latter is one who acts according to his own convictions, without consulting the Globe man.

The White Liners in New Orleans were jubilant when they heard that the Senate had passed the compromise bill. They regarded it as more of a Tilden victory than the Oregon purchase was.

It is fortunate for the Republic that the democratic ballot-box stuffer who can vote forty times can shoulder but one musket.

One of the kid-glove fire-eaters of the South in a revolutionary speech delivered at the 8th of January pow-wow in Washington, tried to belittle Vice-President Ferry by calling him a "lumberman from Michigan." It would be well for these high-toned gentlemen who despise honest labor to remember that the American people are willing to have the constitutional functions of the Vice President exercised by a "lumberman from Michigan" as any one else. All the people ask is that the duties of the office be honestly and faithfully performed.

Fernando Wood is talking impeachment again. This reminds us that he has not returned the book which he stole from the Congressional Library. — Washington Republican.

The Grand Tribunal, constituted by the new electoral plan, is to have "the same power, if any, possessed by Congress." In plain English, Congress has empowered the committee to determine whether Congress was empowered to empower the committee.—Cincinnati Times.

Ben Hill was on Friday elected U. S. Senator from Georgia.

Frank Hereford was on Friday elected to fill the vacancy made by the death of Senator Caperton, and H. G. Davis was chosen for the long term, by the democrats of the West Virginia legislature.

The Washington Republican calls "the plan" the "dice-box compromise," and the Manchester Mirror alludes to it as "the Presidency in a grab-bag."

The American people want to know what the democratic House is going to do with the rebel claims. The Judiciary Committee have had an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the payment of these claims under consideration. Their duty was to report the matter within twenty days. Twice twenty days have expired, but not a word has been heard from the committee on the subject. Every time a resolution is presented in the House demanding them to report on the matter it is slaughtered by a strict party vote. The Northern democrats deceived the public by passing the original resolution. They did it with bluster and pomp and much exhibition of sincerity. That sincerity was a fraud and a deception. They were not in earnest. They dare not report an amendment favorable to the resolution. They are kneeling to their Southern allies like a bastinadoed elephant to his rider. They have been cowed by their Southern friends.

New Hampshire Items.

At Columbia, on the 19th inst., when R. W. Jordan and deputy sheriff Leavitt went to the house of Patrick Toland to attach some property, Toland's wife made for Jordan with a dipper of hot water, which she threw in his face, severely scalding his face, neck and breast, and injuring, if not ruining the sight one eye.

The thermometer marked 32 degrees below zero at Concord, Friday morning, 20 below at Lancaster, 22 below at Claremont, 20 below at Exeter and 22 below at Newton.

The LaPage trial has been postponed till Feb. 26.

In the Supreme Court at Exeter the jury in the case of Dumas vs. the town of Hampton, for injury to his horse on the highway, rendered a verdict of $184 damages. In the case of Bell vs. John S. Lamprey, the verdict was for Bell for the amount of the note, some $3000.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association was held at the Phenix Hotel, Concord, on Thursday. It was voted to make the annual excursion to Mount Mansfield, Vt., in June. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, George E. Jenks of Concord; Vice Presidents, E. C. Bailey of Contoocookville, Charles Marseiles of Exeter, George C. Ide of Claremont; Recording Secretary, P. B. Cogswell of Concord; Corresponding Secretary, Howard F. Hill of Concord; Treasurer, Thomas W. Lane of Manchester; Executive Committee, Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth, William E. Moore of Manchester, F. P. Whittemore of Nashua; Auditors, William H. Gilmore of Concord, J. C. French of Manchester.

Mr. Laren Grover, of Concord, was frozen to death Wednesday night while returning to his home from Pittsfield in a sleigh. He was sixty-eight years old, and leaves a wife and son.

There have been only four mornings at Colebrook since the 14th of December when the mercury has not been from three to 28 degrees below zero.

Charles W. Gray's jewelry store at Farmington was closed a few days since, but as he expected to fix up matters it was kept quiet until Wednesday, when it was learned that his liabilities are about $4000; assets amount to about $1500.

George, eldest son of Rev. George M. Rice of Dublin, was seriously, if not fatally injured Tuesday afternoon, while coasting in the streets of that place.

Mr. Frank Robbe, of West Peterborough, treated a sick hen recently, successfully. He cut open the crop, extracted a bunch of sweet hay and sewed up the opening. The hen was immediately relieved, and on the third day after laid an egg.

Mrs. Agnes Ewing of Claremont recently dropped dead while stepping from her house to the wood-shed.

Amateur Fishermen in the Woods.

In the February number of Scribner, Mr. Edward Seymour describes "Trout-Fishing in the Rangeley Lakes," which are famous for brook trout (not lake trout,) weighing as much as eight or ten pounds. "The Oquossoc Angling Association," composed of New Yorkers, Jerseymen and "Down-Easters," has a permanent camp there, some of whose characteristics are thus described:

There are some peculiar features in the arrangement of the camp buildings which will be of interest to those who are not familiar with such institutions. The main camp is a substantial board structure one hundred feet long by thirty feet wide. At its extreme Westerly end is a well equipped kitchen, and adjoining it is a large dining-room. Then comes the main apartment, which is occupied as a sleeping and sitting-room. This room takes the full width of the main building (thirty feet,) is about sixty feet in length, and from the floor to the gable is thirty feet in the clear, giving it a most spacious appearance and securing thorough ventilation. There are no partitions in this apartment, but twenty-five or thirty beds are ranged along its sides, and at its extreme easterly end is a large open fire-place, around which the weary anglers gather after their long day's sport, and entertain each other with the rehearsal of their experiences and exploits. As one huge log after another blazes up,—for the nights are seldom so warm that a fire is oppressive,—story after story passes around. It rarely happens that some one of the circle has not captured a six or eight pound trout during the day, and the one who has been so fortunate is of course the hero of the hour. With what kind of fly the fish was captured, how long it took to land him, the narrow escape which the lucky angler had from losing his prize just as the guide was netting him, are points which must be rehearsed over and over again. Could one-tenth of the fish stories which have thus been rehearsed around this famous old fire-place in Camp Kennebago be put on record, they would make a book which would throw far into the shade any volume of piscatorial experience that has ever yet seen the light. Before eleven o'clock the weary anglers are all in their beds, and the camp sinks into a silence which is undisturbed save by some obstreperous snorer, at least until daylight the next morning, when some fisherman who has had poor luck the previous day starts out with a desperate determination to retrieve his fortunes by testing the virtue of early fishing.

Wild Beasts in New York.

The Central Park Menagerie is enlivened in winter by the presence of animals from the travelling shows whose season is over; there are at present there, among this class, three elephants and a rhinoceros. The latter is the second largest one in captivity in this country, weighing about three tons. He is perfectly docile and extremely lazy. The elephants, which belong to Mr. Barnum, are also good specimens. One of them had some trouble with one of his tusks the other day, and, being angered by the pain, seized it with his trunk and pulled it from his head. Since then he has been rather ugly. Four weeks ago the lion Canada's mate gave birth to a pair of cubs, male and female. They are not yet on exhibition, but Mr. W. A. Conklin, the zoologist in charge, kindly showed them to the World reporter. They are kept with their mother, in the quietest corner of the Menagerie building, in a cage covered with canvass. The cage is divided in the middle by the ordinary bars, and there is a gate leading from one side to the other. The old lioness usually stays in the same apartment with her cubs, but when the keepers wish to look at them it is necessary to get her in the other side of the cage. To do this a keeper places a large piece of raw beef in the corner of the unoccupied side. Then he draws the bolt of the gate with a long iron hook, and the lioness catching sight of the meat, jumps for it, and when she turns again the gate is shut. A piece of canvas is then drawn between her and the cubs, so that she cannot see any one is near them, for when she does so she immediately becomes enraged. Mr. Conklin put his hand through the bars and tried to play with them, but they drew back and hissed at him. They are about fourteen inches long, and are great pets with Mr. Conklin. There are also two young panthers about a week old, but they are not yet large enough to be very interesting. There is a sick lion about a year old. He was once very ugly, but is now extremely docile.—World.

Sails Superseding Steam.

A remarkable change in the character of the ship building on the Clyde has for some time been going on, and during last year it reached very large proportions. This is the substitution of iron sailing vessels for iron steamers, and the change is ascribed in some measure to the increase of late years in the price of coal, an increase which makes it difficult to run steamships at a profit. In 1873 there were built on the Clyde 115 iron screw-steamers of 218,000 tons, and only twelve iron sailing ships of 19,000 tons were launched. But in 1876 only eighty-three iron screw-steamers were built, while ninety-seven iron sailing ships of 96,000 tons were constructed. This is an increase of more than eight-fold in three years. The change is one which will be welcomed by sail makers and sailors, who generally dislike steamers for reasons of their own.

Oysters and Charity.

The Vermont Chronicle (Congregationalist) looks at some things from a peculiar standpoint. For example, speaking of giving, it remarks:

Among others, there is the hot oyster way of charity. The benevolent people of a church or community come together once a week, while the inclement season lasts, and eat oysters for the poor. The comfortable and well-to-do classes get the oysters, and the poor people get the profits. The oysters cost eighty cents on the dollar, and the poor get twenty cents on the dollar. We sometimes wonder whether poor people have any taste for oysters, and whether this kind of charitable goodness is not more profitable for this life than it is for the life to come. But of this bivalvular beneficence it may be safely said that, so long as oysters last, charity never faileth.

—Money is powerful, but gold has hard times trying to keep up!

—An eccentric Englishman some time ago left his daughters by will their weight in one-pound bank notes. The eldest received $256,000, and the youngest $286,720.

"Old Reliable."

There are many reputed remedies for that very prevalent disease, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, but none which have given general satisfaction and become acknowledged standard preparations, except Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It continues to enjoy an unprecedented popularity. This reputation has been earned through the permanent cures which it has wrought, having proved itself a specific in the worst forms of the disease. Pierce's Pocket Memorandum Books are given away at drug-stores.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as a model establishment, will be an exception hereafter to the general complaint of high prices.

If you have a cold take Adamson's Botanic Balsam. A sure cure for coughs, sore throat and pulmonary complaints. To the afflicted we recommend a trial of this superior remedy. — Boston Saturday Evening Express.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, notwithstanding its unsurpassed location and elegance of appointment, to meet the views of the travelling public, has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

This (Saturday) evening there will be a special prayer meeting in the chapel at Faith Home. Friends are invited. Service at 7:30.

Subject at Bow Mission, Sunday: "The Pearl of Great Price." Through the kindness of the Reform Club, sixty more seats have been supplied to accommodate the congregation.

The old folks' concert given by the young folks in the Universalist church, Thursday evening, was so satisfactory to the large audience that the performers were urgently requested to repeat the entertainment on Friday evening, which was done. The choruses were especially well given, and the trio and quartette singing was very good,

Charles W. Gardner, Esq., of this city, delivered a lecture on the "Treatment of Dumb Animals," in the Town Hall at Rochester, Thursday evening, and notwithstanding the zero weather there was a good audience in attendance. Mr. Gardner was followed by Hon. Thomas E. O. Marvin, President of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in a short address. Several of the prominent citizens of Rochester also spoke earnestly in behalf of the humane work of the S. P. A. C. After the conclusion of the addresses, Joseph Swasey, Esq., was elected chairman of the meeting and a permanent organization was effected, by the choice of Dr. B. W. Sargent, President; Joseph A. White, Treasurer; Joseph Swasey, Secretary. The meeting adjourned to meet again next Friday evening, for the choice of a board of directors and other officers.

The Nashua Telegraph and Concord Patriot say the "schooner Rover's Bride, owned in Portsmouth, came in on Wednesday with 13,150 barrels of prime cod, the largest catch of cod this winter." How pleased that schooner's crew and owners would be if that story were only true. They would even be glad to compromise on one thousand barrels, but they wouldn't like to have all their fare on board at once, in a sea-way.

It is said in the shipping columns of the Boston papers, of the ship Simla, recently sold as a wreck on the Jersey coast, that "the purchasers intend to get the vessel off on the first spring tides." If they do they will make a good thing of their purchase, for they only gave $2750 for the wreck, and before the ship went ashore she was valued high enough to carry an insurance of $54,000. But if the prospect of getting her off had been brilliant the underwriters would hardly have given her up so cheaply.

Schooner Mary E. Caswell started for the Shoals, Friday morning, but did not go far, the current sweeping her on shore on Peirce's island, where she stuck for that tide. Oscar Laighton, Esq., of Appledore, one of the schooner's owners, was on board, and as he would not be balked in his proposed trip to his rocky kingdom by such a trifle as a vessel going ashore, he chartered the steamer Clara Bateman, to take him out and went in style, notwithstanding the lack of wind.

Friday morning was the coldest one of the season in this vicinity, the thermometer standing at from thirteen to seventeen degrees below zero, the former being the temperature near the river and the latter at the Plains. As there was no wind the weather was not very uncomfortable, and the mercury rose rapidly as the day advanced.

The engine of the extra freight train on the Eastern Railroad went off the track in Biddeford Thursday evening. With the aid of a wrecking crew it was got on after five hours' hard work. Two freight trains were delayed. Damage slight.

The recent death of ex-Chief Justice Shepley leaves Hon. Mark Dennett of Kittery as the only surviving member from York County of the Maine Constitutional Convention of 1820. The latter is now 92 years of age and still in the enjoyment of excellent health.

A FINE SHIP.

The Boston Advertiser gives the following particulars concerning the new ship "Gov. Goodwin," now on the stocks at East Boston, more than one-half of which vessel is owned by Portsmouth parties:

"We would call attention to the ship now being built by Messrs. Campbell & Brooks, at their yard in East Boston, for the house of M. F. Pickering & Co. It is said by competent judges that she promises to be one of the best specimens of the mercantile marine ever built in East Boston. The model is similar to that of the ship Champlain, noted for her quick passages and carrying capacity. The frame from which she is being built is of white oak that has been in dock two years, and was originally cut for a 2000-ton ship. The surveyor of the timber pronounces it to be one of the best frames ever brought to Boston. Her dimensions are 207 feet on keel 218 feet on deck, 24 feet hold, and 42 feet extreme beam, to register about 1600 tons. She will be through treenailed with locust, square fastened, butt and bilge bolted with yellow metal up to 22 feet. Her poop will extend to the mainmast and her cabins will be finished in the best East Boston manner. She will be fitted with patent windlass and all the latest improvements. She will be named the Gov. Goodwin, and be commanded by Capt. William Lester of Stratnam, N. H., formerly of the clipper ship, Invincible. Messrs. Campbell & Brooks' reputation as shipbuilders is second to none in East Boston, and they will spare no pains to make this ship one of the staunchest afloat."

Capt. Lester's reputation in this city, of which he is a native and where he is well-known, is A 1, he having commanded some of the finest clipper ships out of New England and proved himself, by his success, a thoroughly capable shipmaster. Portsmouth has been almost as famous for producing first-class masters as for building first-class ships, and Capt. Lester has done—and will no doubt continue to do—his part toward keeping up the city's old-time reputation in this respect.

HE WILL STICK.

The Concord correspondent of the Globe, in his report of a meeting of the democratic State Committee at Concord on the 25th, says: "Among the prominent gentlemen present was Hon. Daniel Marcy of Portsmouth, gubernatorial nominee. He talked quite freely regarding his nomination and said that had he been aware of the feeling among the younger members of the party he would not have been a candidate under any consideration whatever. He says he instructed Mr. H. Wendell of Portsmouth, a delegate of the State Convention, not to let his name go before the convention unless it was the unanimous wish of the convention, and he did not understand that there was any feeling against him until some time after the nomination was made. The report that he will not accept the nomination, and that another convention will be called to nominate a younger man, and a man without a record, is pronounced by prominent members of the Committee to be without foundation. Mr. Butterfield, Secretary of the Committee, says it would not be policy to swap horses while crossing a stream, and that the young men will harmonize the differences of opinion that may exist, and support the regular ticket on the second Tuesday of March."

CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, William H. Kenniston was appoined special police without pay at Franklin Hall.

The use of the South Ward Room was granted to Professor Edwards for Sunday evening for a sacred concert, he to provide a police officer.

The application of John Smith for use of South Ward Room on the evening of Jan. 30th for a party, was granted on condition that he have a police officer present.

The committee on claims, to whom was refered the claims of Melvin P. Welch and Henry B. Colson, reported that said parties have leave to withdraw. The report was adopted.

Committee on bills on second reading, to whom was referred a bill entitled "An ordinance relating to publishing the city ordinances," reported the same without amendment. Said bill was read a second time and passed in concurrence.

The committee on police, to whom was referred the City Marshal's quarterly report of fines and costs, and his bill of $89, reported that the amount and bill were correct. The report was accepted and the bill ordered to be paid.

Stephen W. Weeks appeared by counsel in support of his claim for damages to his horse; and after hearing Mr. Weeks' statement the claim was referred to the committee on streets.

James M. Locke's bill for painting stable, $93.18 was approved.

The subject of printing the city accounts was referred to the committee on printing, with power.

Adjourned for two weeks.

—Cannibals, not of the genus exhibited by Barnum, but real eaters of human flesh, are reported to have been discovered by missionaries on the islands of New Britain and New Guinea, on the north-eastern coast of Australia. These natives are nude savages of the oriental negro type, who live more like beasts than human beings. Rev. George Brown, a Wesleyan missionary, reports that he saw women roasting the leg and thigh of a man who had been killed in a fight. In another hut smoke-dried human flesh was hanging. In another he counted thirty-five jaw bones of men and women. Cannibalism seemed to be common throughout the islands, not as a religious rite, but as an ordinary means of subsistence. The natives assured the missionary that the accounts heretofore published of a race of tailed human beings were true, and they were certain that these strange creatures were not monkeys.

—"Why laws, honey, is you here yet; ain't done gone for and died?" "No, ma'am, I'se here fur sure, but I'se had an orful time." "Did yer hab de yellum fever?" "No, wuss dan dat." "What dat? Wuss dan de yellum fever? Wat did you hab?" "Why, I hab de carbolics," said the other, with a lugubrious look and a sniff of the nose. She had been disinfected out of her house.—Savannah News.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it,

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representative in the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of fleshy, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing; Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Contracted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Maryville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Spavined, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS, Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES, FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents fevers, sours, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—There was a convention of stove manufacturers in New York this week, but they failed to invent any substitute for profanity in putting up a stove pipe.

—Gail Hamilton says gayly that her experience with free passes has been of the the most short, slender, and spasmodic kind, but so far as it has extended it has been one of unalloyed delight. "It has always seemed a waste," she says candidly, pay money for going from place to nce, because you want all your money to end when you get there. I have never refused a railroad pass, and, Heaven elping me, I never will!"

—The multiplication of 987654321 by 45 gives 4,444,444,445. Reversing the order of digits and multiplying 123456789 by 45 we get a result equally curious, 5,555,555,-505. If we take 123456789 as the multiplicand, and interchanging the figures of 45, to 54 as the multiplier, we obtain another remarkable product, 6,666,666,666. Returning to the multiplicand first used, 987654-321, and taking 54 as the multiplier again, we get 53,333,333,334—all threes except the first and last figures, which read together 54, the multiplier. Taking the same multiplicand and using 27, the half of 54 as the multiplier, we get a product of 26,666,-666,667—all sixes except the first and last figures, which read together give 27, the multiplier. Next interchanging the figures in the number 27, and using 72 as the multiplier, with 987654321 as the multiplicand, we obtain a product of 71,111,111,112—all ones except the first and last figures, which read together give 72, the multiplier.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surpassingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Chinese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS will be superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Chick in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Pelerkins' Curiosmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science ever published in the pages of Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal in this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literary and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-teks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, and adrift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Traf-ton, will turn on the complications of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

ino, practical suggestions as to town and country fe, village improvements, etc., by well-known spe-ialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of rest Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shop-keepers," "Ha'penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A series of illustrated articles will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (when requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.25.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-two, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism, and twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not fit his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatism for twenty for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time forsight or ten months, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the influence of Dr. H. M. Mobbs, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that pills will never cure, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and send one to Mrs. Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Carative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the harrassing climate of New England

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the choice of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, the choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dean Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, on all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Mechanics, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. Munn & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are dated from the grant of the whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 140 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George MacDonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story, by the author of the distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and beautiful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Paradise," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of national faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMERS PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost unlimited accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are recognized standards.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The tastes of its long-ago-attained population has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Annibel Jenkins, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while (or those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and any one of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he period to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an article of such distinction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its wonderful effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS, by millions of mothers and their children, during the years of their infancy. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest, health and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arise from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will at will be found. ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four quarto pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions as those of THE SUN that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for idiotic prevalence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as contrasted with government by frauds at the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who derive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing will barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheets and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest of newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Departments continuous varieties of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Heroic Treatment.

There is a curious story told of the manner in which Frederick the Great could deal, where other men had failed, with a prima donna of the period who was inclined to set too little store by the public. This great artist seemed to catch a cold, which had the effect of rendering her hoarse and consequently unable to sing, whenever anybody or thing had displeased her.

One day a certain opera was to be performed at Berlin before the King himself. At the appointed hour the manager came forward and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, we grieve to inform you that our prima donna has a sore throat, and that the representation announced cannot therefore take place." The stolid Teutonic audience seemed no whit surprised, and was moving out tranquilly, when the King rose and commanded the musicians to keep their places. The audience sat down again and waited patiently on events.

In less than a quarter of an hour the manager reappeared and spoke as follows: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the most unfeigned pleasure in informing you that our prima donna is completely cured of her sore throat and will have the honor to sing before you to-night." Surely enough the famous singer soon appeared, and never had she sung better. Her triumph was complete.

The King's prescription had been a very simple one. The prima donna, having dismissed the unhappy manager, was sitting comfortably before the fire in her own room and rather pleased at the idea of having spoiled the pleasure of several hundreds of persons, when the door was violently thrown open, and there entered an officer followed by four dragoons. "Mademoiselle," quoth the officer, "the King, my master, has sent me to ask after your health." "The King is very good; I have a bad sore throat." "His Majesty knows it, and has charged me to take you at once to the military hospital, where you will be cured in a few days." Mademoiselle turned pale. "You are jesting," she simpered; but Prussian officers, she was informed, never jested. The lieutenant gave the order to his men, who seized Mademoiselle and carried her out of the theatre.

A coach was in attendance; the lady was deposited therein; the officer took his place beside, after shouting his address to the driver, "The military hospital," and off they went, the dragoons riding alongside. In a few seconds, "stay," said the lady; "I think I feel better." "The king is anxious, Mademoiselle, that you should be quite restored, and even that you should sing to-night." "I will try," murmured the prisoner. "Back to the theatre," cried the officer to the coachman. Arrived there, Mademoiselle began to think she had yielded too easily. "I will sing, since His Majesty commands me," she said, "but God knows how." "You will sing," replied the officer, "like the great artist you are." "I shall sing like an artist with a bad cold." "I think not." "And why!" "Because a couple of dragoons will be in attendance behind the scenes, and at the least couac they have orders to arrest you and carry you off again to the military hospital." The hoarseness was now completely gone.

Prevention of Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria.

The Chicago Tribune publishes a very interesting paper written by Dr. G. D. Beebe of that city, upon scarlet fever and diphtheria, with some interesting observations on the entire class of contagious diseases. The Tribune has an editorial on the subject, in which it is stated that Dr. Beebe stands in the front rank of his school (homeopathy). That paper also asserts that the physician named is simply actuated by a desire to contribute to the general good, in announcing that he has found a remedy in the treatment of the two diseases named, which have spread throughout the country in a very malignant type during the past few weeks. Dr. Beebe began his search, as long as ten years ago in the case of diphtheria and more recently in scarlet fever, for an agency that would attack and defeat the reproductive parasites which he believes to be destroying the essentials of the blood in those diseases. He first found that carbolic acid, administered internally, was effective as an antiseptic, but the objection to it was that it could not be diffused in sufficient quantities to insure success without risking its poisonous effects. Sulphite of soda was found to be diffusive enough, but to lack energy. It was finally in a combination of the two—sulpho-carbonate of soda—that the desired agency was discovered, and its use during the present epidemic this winter of scarlet fever and diphtheria has abundantly demonstrated its efficiency. Dr. Beebe cites a large number of cases where in towns or neighborhoods visited with the scourge the use of this antiseptic has saved families from attack, while all those not using it were seized with disease. He freely communicates to physicians all that his own experience has taught him as to the manner of administering it and the quantity to be given.

—"I hear your rich uncle is dead," remarked a Chicago sport to a brother swell. "Yes," solemnly replied the party addressed, "he's dead." "Did he leave you anything?" asked the friend. "Well, I should think so!" said the mourner. "What?" "He left me—out!" And the procession moved sadly on.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.

Possibly it has never occurred to a class of Washington correspondents who have united to stigmatize as unpatriotic every member of Congress who cannot see his way clear to support the compromise measure of the Joint Committee, that other than partizan considerations may have had some weight and influence upon dissenters. Since we have all been reared in the faith that the superstructure of our Republic is based upon the individual right of every American citizen from least to greatest to the ballot; and that such right is absolute and inviolable; and that any attempt to restrict or compromise it is, in their view, essentially revolutionary, the proposition on the part of the Committee for Congress to ignore the verdict of the 7th of November, and to delegate its powers in the premises to a party unknown to the laws or the constitution in such a connection, appears sufficiently startling to account for their hesitancy and to shield them from the imputation of excessive partisanship. This may be said: Although there is a wide-spread conviction—in the case of some States amounting to a certainty—that the fear of personal violence deterred tens of thousands of republicans from voting, the ultimate result reached by the electors of the several States on the 6th of December was in strict conformity to law; that however arbitrary the methods of Returning Boards may have appeared, their necessity was recognized by both parties and they existed under laws which were passed by a union of republicans and democrats. The certificates in the custody of the President of the Senate shows Hayes to have 185 of the 369 electoral votes, his one majority being just as conclusive of his election as one hundred would have been. The failure of the constitution to explicitly designate who should count and declare the vote was the only loop-hole through which it was sought to thrust Mr. Tilden into the Presidential chair. But inasmuch as it is expressly provided that "the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates," it is submitted that the republicans have not unreasonably maintained that the presumptions are all in favor of the President of the Senate as the party intended by the framers of the Constitution to count and declare the vote. This position is reinforced by the precedents; and yet it is sought, apparently, to drive dissenting republicans into the advocacy and support of a "compromise" which they believe to be unconstitutional, inexpedient, unwise and at open variance with the spirit and intent of the fundamental law. But it is generally conceded that the "plan" will be adopted; and the patriotism and devotion of the republican supporters will not be generally questioned.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has forfeited about all the esteem remaining to its officials among honorable men, for its cowardly surrender, after its pompous, grandiloquent announcement that it was determined to stand between its patrons and the rapacity of partizan Congressional committees. It is alleged that fears of unfavorable legislation incited the disgraceful capitulation.

Poor Colonel Pelton, who challenged the admiration of the New York Sun to such an extent that its pirate editor, in a burst of enthusiasm, dubbed him a nincompoop, finds his party ungrateful. He was so indiscreet as to put his foot into the Oregon business so decidedly that the sending of money to the conspirators was readily traced to him, and but for his "defective memory" might have caused him trouble. But with the announcement of the purpose of the telegraph company to deliver up to the enemy the dispatches of members of the Democratic National Committee, a tremor seized certain prominent democrats, shaking them almost out of their boots; and as if to anticipate the unearthing of damaging telegrams, the statement was at once put out that Pelton had sent several telegrams unauthorized as Secretary of the Committee, and that his Uncle Tilden had threatened to send him adrift if the offence was repeated. There is evident a purpose to cast upon him all the sins and iniquities of the party, as a vicarious atonement; and they have promptly notified all whom it may concern that they disavow all responsibilities. LOGAN.

Public Opinion.

The whole thing, then, looks like a joint high circumlocution instituted for the purpose of getting the opinion of one of the supreme judges—name at present unknown. Should the scheme be adopted, that judge will be a truly Great Unknown, and when he is selected will be equivalent to a majority of 40,000,000 of people and 369 electoral voters.—New Orleans Times.

We do not see that either party is in a position to defeat the scheme of arbitration. If either party accepts the responsibility of defeating it under the circumstances, that party will be placed at a disadvantage before the country.—Cincinnati Commercial (ind.)

That Congress should propose to remit the settlement of the Presidential controversy to a tribunal unknown to the Constitution, and possessing not the slightest shadow or suspicion of constitutional power or authority, is virtually a confession by Congress that the executive part of the Constitution was an experiment which at last has utterly broken down.—Chicago Times, (dem.)

Men of America! consider this proposal calmly. Is this the ripe fruit and crowning glory of self-government? Shall we select one man, and empower him to throw out the votes of any State or States if he thinks fit? When such a plan has been adopted, will it not be wise to avoid the disgrace and peril of quadrennial disputed elections by abolishing the empty form of elections by the people?—New York Tribune, (ind.)

A lot of republican Congressmen quail before the disgraced fillibusters, and, in the name of compromise, consent to set aside the constitution, to take away from the people the elections of President in the future, and to throw the election of Hayes into a lottery.—Cincinnati Gazette, (rep.)

We are not yet prepared to accept the conclusion that the Constitution is a patent India rubber pedestal which can be contracted or elongated at pleasure.—Toledo (O.) Commercial.

If one man is to decide the dispute, why should it not be the officer designated by the Constitution to perform important duties in connection with it rather than a judge picked from the Supreme Court bench? New York Times, (rep.)

If this does not hold out the promise of a fair and impartial solution, we should like to know in what respect it fails, and what other method must be accepted as a substitute.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, (rep.)

Among the grandest results to be anticipated from the passage of the electoral bill is that it will vindicate the cardinal principle of republicanism—the sovereignty of the people.—Richmond Enquirer, (dem.)

The established method of counting the electoral vote is the only equitable mode, no matter what Congress may do, and we had better abide by the constitutional method, which is settled by precedents from Washington down to Grant.—Dayton (O.) Journal.

Respect for the Constitution is endangered after the assuption by Congress of power to set it aside. As Hayes is legally elected and Tilden is legally defeated, the latter can afford to agree to any kind of a plan which gives him a new shuffle and cut. Cincinnati Gazette, (rep.)

It is about the same as submitting the whole case to Justice Davis or Justice Bradley, one of whom is certain to pronounce in favor of Tilden and the other most likely to do so.—New Orleans Times,

While there was no distinct proposition which could be acted upon as a basis of adjustment, the people stood back. They have now come to the front, thrust aside the politicians, and insist upon compromise. Their will is irresistible.—New York Sun, (copperhead.)

The chances of Hayes becoming the President backed by the consent and with the approval of both branches of Congress and of the whole people, are infinitely better under this compromise bill than without it.—Chicago Tribune, (rep.)

We believe that Mr. Hayes is fairly elected, and that this commission will so decide; but if this bill becomes a law, and the commission acts, it will be the duty of all good citizens to acquiesce in whatever is done. Knoxville (Tenn.) Chronicle.

The plan may be adopted. It is barely possible that it is the best that can be done; though we don't believe it. It may be best that it should be adopted; though we don't believe that.—Detroit Post.

The Compromise Bill.

The Electoral count bill passed the House, Friday afternoon, after a brisk debate, by a vote of 191 ayes to 86 noes.

The grand totals were, for Senate and House together,—democrats voting aye, 159; republicans voting aye, 32; democrats voting nay, 18; republicans voting nay, 68. The democrats were largely in favor of the bill, but over two-thirds of the republicans were opposed to it.

Bull-Dozing Pays.

When the Oregon Secretary of State Chadwick handed the package through the door to Cronin he said: "Gentlemen, here are your certificates;" but when the republican electors demanded the certificates from Cronin, he said, "I'll see hell freeze over first." The spirit of this remark is the same that has actuated the democratic party through the Presidential campaign up to the present moment. When Mr. Tilden received the news of his nomination he took a few friends into his library and, crowding them snugly into a corner, said, in a whisper, "Boys, the people did it; now let us have an aggressive campaign." Orders were immediately forwarded to Southern politicians urging them to adopt the system of intimidation, and prosecute it at all hazards. After a close calculation it was determined that with Indiana, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut in the North, and all the Southern States, except Florida and South Carolina, the democracy would fight a successful campaign. The plan of intimidation was adopted and prosecuted with a merciless force which made the constitutional rights of the black race a nullity and the liberties and privileges of American citizenship a farce. When the election battle was over and they discovered the result to be close, the spirit which had actuated them in their lawlessness continued, and they sought refuge in Cronin, who cried to the republican electors, "I'll see hell freeze over before I will give to you your rights." They have kept alive this wanton spirit of menace and bluster ever since, and at last the ends for which it was created have been secured. By it they have bull-dozed the Senate of the United States into the compromise of a victory won by republican votes at the ballot-box. With the democracy bull-dozing pays.—Washington Republican.

Rumored Peace for Cuba.

For days a report has been current in Havana, and it is credited by many Spaniards, that an arrangement has been entered into between the Spaniards and Cubans, as follows: Peace is to be declared and autonomy is granted to the island. A Spanish Captain-General is to remain for five years, after which the governing power is to be elected by the people; also, that Martinez Campos would visit Cuba, accompanied by Maximo Gomez, the latter to receive the position of Mariscal de Campo in the Spanish army. Similar reports, or reports hinting at such an arrangement, have been whispered about for weeks. These reports may be mere fabrications, but many prominent persons give credence to them. Jovellar is away from Havana, and the object of his trip is stated to be an interview with Campos at Las Cruces to consummate the above mentioned arrangement.

A Diabolical Plot.

A plot to destroy the hoisting works in the "C" and "C" shaft at Virginia city, Nev., was discovered on Monday morning, the 22d. Just as the engineers had changed shifts, the man who had just come on tried the water corks and was astonished to find no water in the lower one. He turned on the pumps at once, but was still unable to fill the boilers. It was then discovered that the blow-off cocks of the small boilers had all been turned open, so that the water was blown out as fast as the pumps forced the steam and water from the blow-offs. The pipes are carried a long distance down hill from the works, so that the engineer could not tell at first what the trouble was. A few minutes later there would have been a terrible explosion, resulting in the destruction of the works and great loss of life. On the previous Friday night an attempt was made to fire the hoisting works of the Consolidated Virginia mine, which was discovered and frustrated by the watchman. The incendiary escaped. The force of watchmen around all the works of the Bonanza mines has been increased, and all are supplied with shot-guns. The belief here is that both these attempts have been made by scoundrels in the employ of "bear" operators in San Francisco.

News and Notes.

Eaton Logwood, one of the colored men who received such horrible treatment at the hands of the Ouachita bulldozers at the time they took the life of Primus Johnson, and whose testimony before the Returning Board and the Senate Investigating Committee created such a profound sensation, has finally succumbed to the force of the injuries he received. He died in this city, of the wounds inflicted, and, at his request, his body has been forwarded to Ouachita for interment.—N. O. Repub.

Mr. Henn, the conductor who was in charge of the train wrecked at Ashtabula, returned to his duty last week. As his neared the new bridge he grew so agitated that he grasped a seat nervously for support, and as it passed off the bridge said: "Thank God I'm over, and now I'm not afraid to go over it a thousand times."

Concerning the statement that Senator Christiancy's family has lately been increased by an infantile integer, the Washington Star says that neither the Senator nor Mrs. Christiancy, who ought to be posted in the matter, believe the report.

Stephen Jenney & Co.'s oil works in South Boston were blown up and destroyed, Friday evening, through a tank of naptha taking fire. A large quantity of kerosene, amounting to several thousand barrels, was burned. John Corliss, an employe, was crushed to death by the falling walls when the building blew up, and his body was recovered. A girl nineteen years old was drowned while crossing a dock on the ice, on her way to the fire. A fireman was badly injured by the blowing up of a pipe leading from an oil tank.

The "Bishop expose" of Spiritualism in Boston Music Hall in aid of the Old South Fund drew about $1100 gross. The memorial fund received only about $80. The "expenses," as certified to the Committee, were about $800, the largest item of which was a month's board for Mr. Bishop and his assistant at the Parker House, amounting to about $400. There was incidentals, rides, entertainments, etc. Of the $320 left as the net proceeds, the "expositeur" received three-fourths, as by previous arrangement he could claim.

American barque Oliver Thurlow, from Liverpool for Sandy Hook, ran down and sunk Dutch barque Njaal, and put back to Liverpool with the crew of the latter.

—Col. Ellis Spear, recently appointed Commissioner of Patents, is a native of Warren, Maine, and is about forty-four years of age. He is a graduate of Bowdoin College. He enlisted in the early part of the war as a private, but was speedily promoted to the rank of Colonel, and served to the end of the war. Col. Spear received his first appointment in the Patent Office as clerk, and has gradually worked his way up to his present position of Commissioner.

Beware of Fruit Tree Peddlers.

For the past two years various gangs of men have canvassed different portions of the country with samples of fruit in glass jars, and large numbers of people have become victims to their fraudulent practices. These men do not grow their stock themselves, nor is it grown in Ohio, as represented, but is picked up in different parts of the country wherever they can buy the cheapest trees. The fruit shown by them in their glass jars is seldom of the variety represented by them, but consists of the largest variety they can obtain; it is named to suit the purchaser when it is real, but is often wax, and being in liquid the deception is not perceived by the purchaser. The trees sold by them are shipped hundreds of miles without being boxed to protect them, and without moss sufficient to keep the roots moist. That this fraud may be entirely successful, customers are warned by these imposters not to open their trees, as exposure would injure them; and the victim is generally home before he discovers the fraud. The prices obtained by these parties are simply fabulous, and are often for plants that do not exist. For instance, they sell a "strawberry plant" which they call "The Alpine Tree Strawberry" (a "thing" unknown to nurserymen) at an enormous price, and deliver a plant of some common variety.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as a model establishment, will be an exception hereafter to the general complaint of high prices.

If you have a cold take Adamson's Botanic Balsam. A sure cure for coughs, sore throat and pulmonary complaints. To the afflicted we recommend a trial of this superior remedy.—Boston Saturday Evening Express.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, notwithstanding its unsurpassed location and elegance of appointment, to meet the views of the travelling public, has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 250 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

The annual benefit ball of Mr. John Smith will be given at the South Ward Room on next Tuesday evening, Jan. 30th.

Gen. Gilman Marston, our nominee for Congress from this District, deserves a rousing majority, and we doubt not will receive it. We should have been pleased had the Convention seen proper to bestow the nomination upon our own distinguished townsman, but next to him Gen. Marston would have been our individual choice. A brave soldier, his military career, commencing with the first Bull Run and only ending at the fall of Richmond, is a matter of State pride. Honorable scars received in the service of one's country constitute a far better claim to public confidence than dollars accumulated in the manufacture of ale. Gen. Marston's acknowledged ability and legislative experience are a full guaranty that the First New Hampshire District will not be the cypher in the next National House that it is in the present. Now, boys, for Gil. Marston and victory! —Lake Village Times.

The discussions at the State Farmers' meeting in Greenland on Tuesday will be the raising of corn, milk and grass. The Board will have a session at Epping on Wednesday, and on Friday at Londonderry.

The South Millpond was the scene of much sport and considerable excitement, Saturday afternoon. The fast nags were out in large numbers, and trials of speed were numerous; slow nags, too, were not scarce, and many of them exhibited their slowness to the admiring crowds, which were very large, the pleasant weather tempting people out for an airing. One driver was thrown out by the capsizing of his sleigh, but he hung on to one rein and ran with the frightened horse for awhile, then tripped and fell in the snow, and was dragged some distance before the horse stopped. No damage was done, except to the driver's temper.

The "independent" Boston Herald, in warmly advocating the re-election of Congressman Frank Jones, says he "never has been disagreeably partisan." We do not suppose his partisanship ever has been "disagreeable" to the Herald, but no more bitter and unscrupulous a partisan than he was ever sent to Congress from the First Congressional District of New Hampshire, or any other, by any party.

At sunrise on Friday morning, when the thermometer marked from thirteen to eighteen degrees below zero in and about Portsmouth, the temperature at the Appledore House, at the Shoals, was twelve degrees above zero.

The following named persons are the petit jurors from this city for the second and third weeks of the Supreme Court, in session at Exeter: Charles E. Boynton, Michael E. Long, James Junkins, William H. Gardiner, Frank E. Dearborn, Frank W. Miller, Albert W. Parsons, Nathan W. Tarlton.

In the equity suit brought by the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire against the Eastern Railroad Company, the defendants have filed a motion before the United States Court to have the ex parte order in the case appointing a Receiver of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire and its earnings, rescinded, and that the Receiver be enjoined and restrained from taking any action under the order of appointment until the further order of the Circuit Court. Upon this motion a hearing will be had at the United States Court-house in Boston on Tuesday forenoon.

The navy department has ordered the Enterprise to be ready for sea by the 1st of March.

Did the public but know the character of Mr. Albee's lectures, the neat little chapel on Court street would not accommodate half his audience. Scholarly, interesting, instructive, we expected; but hardly that they would be so entertaining, amusing, "popular," so to speak. We have never had any lyceum course to equal it. The fourth of the course will be given this evening. Tickets 35 cents., or $2.50 for the series.

An accident that might easily have been serious occurred on the South Millpond, Saturday afternoon, Mr. Nathaniel Hanscom, an elderly gentleman, being struck by a team which was racing with another, and knocked senseless. Mr. Hanscom was taken to his home in a hack.

Political.

The Supreme Court of South Carolina has dismissed the case against the Hayes Electors in that State. As the Supreme Court referred to is the "infamous Moses" concern which has been so persistently run in the interests of Hampton and Tilden since the election, the democrats will hardly claim the electoral vote of that State any longer.

The New York Commercial calls attention to the fact that Gen. Woodford, who was legally elected Governor of New York in 1870 and was squarely counted through the instrumentality of Samuel J. Tilden, then chairman of the democratic State Committee, is now, as United States District Attorney, the chosen means of prosecuting Gov. Tilden on the charge of defrauding the Government of his income tax.

The Hartford Post says that Ex-Gov. Jewell of Connecticut, supports the electoral compromise. At an informal meeting of republican members of the Legislature he stated that while he believed Hayes and Wheeler were fairly and legally elected, and honestly entitled to their respective offices, he feared the course proposed might result adversely to the republican candidates; but he nevertheless deemed it the duty of the republicans in Congress to accept the bill, and of members of the Legislature, if they said anything, to endorse the measure, and trust to the fairness of men and the justice of the republican cause.

Sheriff W. P. Wallace (reformer) was arrested in Cincinnati, Friday, on a United States warrant charging him with fraudulently and corruptly procuring the escape of C. W. Young, under indictment for illegal voting at the October election, and an important witness in contested election cases now on trial.

New Hampshire Items.

The election of Judge Davis by the Illinois Legislature, as Logan's successor, will leave one vacancy in the United States Supreme Court, and the friends of Charles Doe of Rollinsford, Chief Justice of the New Hampshire Supreme Court, suggest his name for that position. Judge Doe is an eminent jurist of broad and liberal views, who would fill the position with honor to himself and credit to the State. Levi Woodbury, who died in 1851, was the only man ever appointed to the Supreme Bench from this State.

Col. Daniel Hall of Dover was married at Rochester, on Thursday, by Rev. George B. Spaulding, to Miss Sophia Dodge of the latter place.

Edward T. Wight of Contocookville, was found lying beside the Northern Railroad track in Concord, Thursday evening, insensible. He was injured so badly that he must die. His skull was fractured, his head badly cut, and his right arm broken. It is supposed he fell from a passing train, but it is not known how the accident happened.

The revival meetings in Dover are increasing in interest and attendance. The Franklin Street Baptist Church was filled each evening last week.

John L. Bowers, an old and esteemed citizen of Nashua, died there Friday morning of diphtheria at the age of sixty-five, after a two days' sickness.

—M. Brillat-Savarin, travelling in the country, stopped at an inn, where he found four turkeys being roasted; he demanded one for his dinner, and was told that they had all been prepared for a gentleman. "For one gentleman?" asked the famous epicure incredulously. "Yes, Monsieur." "He has doubtless a large party with him." "On the contrary, he is alone." "Do you happen to know his name?" "I think it is a M. Brillat-Savarin." "It must be my son," exclaimed the astonished father, and asked to be shown into the room where the young fellow was dreaming of coming pleasures. The father demanded an explanation of the turkeys. "The fact is, Sir," said the son, "there is a particular slice of the turkey of which I am extremely fond, and which, whenever I am in your company, you eat. Being alone I determined to regale myself on my favorite morsel without stint." The epicure forgave him instantly.

—The Boston & Albany Railroad made a trial, a few months since, of the recent recommendation of a prominent railroad man to run engines without wiping. An engine was run on the Boston & Worcester division about four months without rubbing down, and at the end of that time it was a sorry looking sight. In fact, the train men used to say that the machine looked so bad the road was ashamed to run it in the daytime, and it always run nights until it was cleaned, since when the experiment has not been repeated.

—There is a story about Miss Broughton, author of "Joan," which whether it be true or not, might so easily have been true that it is worth telling. It is that she had her first novel cladestinely published and handed it to her father (a dissenting minister, we believe,) asking him casually what he thought of it, and that after looking it over he prohibited her from reading such books on the ground that she was not old enough to be uninfluenced by their morbid character.

—Rev. Dr. E. G. Taylor says that while visiting a colored school in the South, he asked a tiny darkey what he studied for and what was his object in attending school. Hesitating a moment, the little fellow answered, "to git offis."

—An Englishman, lately imprisoned for beating his wife, said, as he was locked up, "I've one comfort, anyhow; and that is, that I'm not sent to jail for doing a mean thing."

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing phys cian, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be entirely relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My fa r sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Spranned Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment so is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Method of Killing Fowls.

There are three modes of killing fowls. Some advocate suffocation, clever men among them. Others cut the throats. A third party breaks the neck. It is said suffocation is the best, as the bird loses no part of its properties; but when death is caused by this process there is a dark color which is displeasant and suggestive. When the throats are cut the flesh is beautifully white, if the meat is dry and suggestive of dead wdust. When the neck is broken, the dislocation being perfect, if the fowl is held by the legs, the head being downward, all the blood runs to the disjunction of the vertebræ, none remains in the body, and the juiciness of the flesh is retained.—London Cottage Gardener.

Chickens in Orchards.

The amount of good done by the chickens among fruit trees can hardly be estimated. We completely conquered the canker-worm in an orchard of one hundred years in two years' time by colonizing a flock of fifty chickens or so in the midst of the lot, not to mention the ceaseless missionary work undertaken by the biddies in the surrounding garden and fields. We always preserve all the birds, too, not begrudging them a few cherries and berries. And now the busy allies build close to the house, and amply reward us for occasional kindness shown them.—Scientific Farmer.

—Every young man needs to learn how to drive a horse with one hand. If he can't do this, he might as well give up sleighriding with the girls.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cook in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkin Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be late reading papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusements and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ l this choice production of Scribner's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with substance. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Law of Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

lar, practical suggestions as to town and country fe, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of rest Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Half-penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more practical and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Law of Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS! The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaints, Nervousness, Sick Headache, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood

☞ No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and ninety pounds; now I weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. Finally he made up his mind that he could not hit his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a sick man from the Rheumatism since. Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for several ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most extremely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mabile, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and adviser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home science.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. MacDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Frofs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Müller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Variegata.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that present body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

MENDUM, WHIDDEN & CO. FURNITURE Nos. 1 & 9 WASHINGTON ST. —BOSTON.—

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Illustrations of Hundreds of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cleanest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, 50 persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 143 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Embatable Guise. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, but his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It will begin in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated articles, descriptive of Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of the republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil and rice reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Sto and Reviews from the most talented and pop writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST HOME'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in country. Quotations are given daily and weekly, almost every article bought and sold in the marketplace of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. As Cattle, Butter and Cheese, other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded its independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and consequently receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented the most eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other writers in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the event of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send the issues gratis of the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other work in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we hear an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifty minutes or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS by

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; and the semi-weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substantion of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for honest patriotism, impartiality, and fruit in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—as body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and to every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the excellence and variety of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country; and continues to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, and throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

A Guileless Jeweller

Not long since a very gentlemanly-looking man, accompanied by his daughter, a good-looking young lady, of about eighteen summers, alighted at the chief hotel of Milan. They gave themselves out to be English, and had among other luggage, four large boxes, containing two complete sets of drawers, like those used by officers in camp. They chose a saloon and two bedrooms, one of which opened into the saloon. As soon as they were settled those drawers were unpacked, and one set was placed against the door in the saloon, the other on the other side of the door in the gentleman's bed-chamber, the door in question being (like most of those in Continental notes) very thin. For some time all went on very satisfactorily. The gentleman was not extravagant, but liberal, and was most particular in calling for his bill every week and paying it to the moment. Before he had been many days in the town he paid a visit to the principal jeweler, and made some small purchases—in each case paying cash and showing that he was well provided with bank-notes. The jeweler was most anxious to press his new customer, and brought out all kinds of beautiful articles to tempt him, but at first, his purchases were moderate though liberally paid for.

At the end of a month the gentleman paid a visit alone, and, after making another purchase, observed that his daughter was about to be married, and that he thought of sending to Paris for a set of diamonds. The jeweler could not allow such a chance to slip through his fingers. He had the most beautiful set in Europe, the property of a princess; he was sure that only a Milord Inglese could buy them, and begged his customer just to inspect them. The price was only 400,000 francs. The inspection was made, but no decision come to that day. The next day another inspection was made and Milord agreed to take them. The jeweler was delighted. He thought it would be best to ask if he should send them round that evening, but he received a perfectly straightforward answer. "I do not keep so much money about me. I must draw upon my bankers in London. I will give you 500 francs to close the business, and the jewels you can deliver against cash in the course of next week." The deposit was paid, and the jeweler satisfied beyond a doubt that he was dealing with a most perfect gentleman.

Eight days after he was requested to call the same morning at 11 o'clock and bring the diamonds, for which he would be paid. He arrived at the moment and found his customer in his dressing-gown, sitting alone at the set of drawers referred to, a front flap of which turned down so as to form a writing table. The jeweler advanced respectfully, and laid the casket open on the flap in question. "Milord" just examine the jewels remarked that of course he did not wish his daughter to know anything of the transaction at present, and then proceeded to take out a large handful of beautiful crisp notes.

At that moment the door opened, and in bounded the young lady in question, as the jeweler afterward said, "just like a golden fawn." Nothing was more natural than that Milord should close up the flap, and ask the young lady to go away, and he wished to be alone.

But she was a spoiled child and would have her own way. She had come to tell "papa" that the tailor was waiting for him in the next room and that he must go, and that she was quite sure the jeweler would like her company better than his; besides she had a locket she could not open and the jeweler must help her. The jeweler was not proof against the playful charms of the young lady; he saw his goods safe, not exactly under his eyes, but next door to it. So he begged her father to go and he would wait. "Milord" left the room and the poor dupe enjoyed half an hour of delightful flirtation with the young lady. There was something very winning in her ways, and then she was a young bride. The time passed like a dream, and at last the young lady passed off to go and hurry her father.

The jeweler sat in silent meditation; his thoughts were engrossed with the sweet girl who had just left. Then he began to wonder how long his customer would be. Then he went and tried the flap of the drawer. It was "all right;" It was locked. So he sat down and mused again. After some three hours he began to think that he must be forgotten. So he rang the bell and requested the waiter to just remind "Milord" that he was waiting, but to do it very politely. The waiter replied that Milord and the Signorina had gone out an hour ago. There was nothing to do but to wait, and wait he did. Neither returned. Table d' hote passed, and, although the poor man began to have a presentiment that something was wrong, the landlord was consulted, but was sure that his guest was a real gentleman, whose only fault was forgetfulness. So again he waited until past the small hours of the night.

At early morning the landlord again returned, and he also began to think the case suspicious. The jeweler was furious. He made a dash at the drawers, and with the aid of a poker broke open the flap. His next move was to take the casket. He thrust his head into the compartment, and sank back into the arm-chair. He saw nothing before him but a square open void leading into the set of drawers in the next room The landlord did likewise, and so did the waiters. Then they sat and looked at each other, and at last ordered restoratives for the jeweler, who had fainted.

"Bull Run" Russell Again.

The Nawab of Nizam has been for some time in London, living in gorgeous style and pressing a heavy claim against the British government. Very favorable notices of the justice of this claim appeared from time to time in the British papers, and public opinion was powerfully worked up in favor of paying it. But the Nawab lived too fast, and his estate and his accounts got into the courts, and among the items of expenditures were found sums that have spread consternation in many well-regulated printing offices. Checks were drawn for various sums ranging from $1000 to $5000 for literary services, and opposite them were the names of newspaper editors and writers to papers, including also that of a member of Parliament. Americans, who remember with some soreness the insults of Dr. Bull Run Russell, at the commencement of our civil war, will not profess surprise to find that he was the recipient of one of the largest payments for writing up the Nizam with disinterested fervor. Mr. "Bull Run" was one of the British journalists who were most unutterably shocked at the corruption of the American people, as shown up in the Belknap scandal; he knew how it was himself.

News and Notes.

President Grant signed the compromise bill on Monday forenoon.

The injunction suit of the Merchants National Telegraph Company vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company, to restrain the latter company from removing or interfering with the poles, wires and fixtures of the former company, was decided in favor of the plaintiffs, the injunction being continued until further notice. The lines of the Merchants National Telegraph Company are now in possession of the Western Union Company, under a lease, which expires March 1, 1877, at which time they will fall into the hands of the Atlantic & Pacific Company, under a working arrangement recently entered into. To prevent the control of the lines passing to its competitors, the Western Union Company attempted to tear down the lines, leaving the Atlantic & Pacific Company to bring suit for damages as their remedy.

Schooner Island Belle, of Rockland, Me., was abandoned at sea Jan. 24th, the captain and three men being taken off by steamer Celtic. The mate and three seamen had previously died from exposure and freezing. The captain's wife and child were taken off the schooner by steamer California on the 5th of January, but the captain and crew would not then abandon the vessel, hoping to save her. She sailed from St. John, Newfoundland, for Boston, on the 7th of December.

Newton Havers is under arrest at Hudson, N. Y., for conspiracy with roughs to murder a man named Post, and his family, and then burn the bodies in Post's dwelling, Havers' object being to burn up notes and other evidence of his indebtedness to Post, who is his uncle.

The loss by the destruction of the South Boston oil refinery is estimated at $50,000; insurance, $25,500.

On Sunday afternoon and evening Moody and Sankey commenced their work in Boston, the Tabernacle being crowded, and "overflow meetings" held at the Berkeley street and Clarendon street churches.

Prince Gortschakoff, Russia's prime minister, is dangerously ill. Russia has issued a circular letter to the powers repudiating the treaty of Paris.

Servia has decided to treat for peace with the Porte, independently of Russia.

The following is the general order issued by Brig. Gen. Crook, announcing the close of the Powder River expedition: "The Brigadier General Commanding announces the close of the Powder River Expedition, and avails himself of the opportunity to thank the officers and men composing it, for the ability, courage, endurance and zeal exhibited by them during its progress. With the mercury indicating such extreme degrees of cold as to make life well nigh unbearable, even when surrounded by the comforts of civilization, you have endured, with uncomplaining fortitude, the rigors of the weather from which you had less to protect you than the Indian is usually provided with. The disintegration of many of the hostile bands of savages against whom you have been operating, attests the success of the brilliant fight made by the Cavalry with the Cheyennes on the North Fork, and your toilsome marches along the Powder River and Belle Fourche. The uniform good conduct of the Command has rendered it difficult to distinguish one above another. It is a matter for solemn regret that you have to mourn the loss of the distinguished and brilliant young Cavalry officer, First Lieutenant John A. McKinney, 4th Cavalry, and the gallant enlisted men who fell with him in the lonely gorges of the Big Horn Mountains. May the fostering care, by a grateful country, of those who are personal sufferers in their deaths, prove Republics are not ungrateful."

Steamer Newport, aground for several weeks in New Haven harbor, was hauled off on Sunday.

Antonio Blitz, better know as "Signor Blitz," years ago famous as a sleight-of-hand performer, died in Philadelphia on Sunday, aged 67 years.

British ship Ada was burned in the Pacific on the 14th of October, and the captain and crew made the voyage to the Marquesas Islands, 2400 miles, in open boats. One man was drowned by the upsetting of a boat, and all hands endured great suffering.

The gold mining machinery of the Dublin gold mine has been shipped to Mexico.

The ship "City of Montreal," which arrived at Liverpool recently, reports a sad story of the sea. She sailed from New York for Liverpool, and on the 9th of December sighted a vessel waterlogged and dismasted. She proved to be the "Maria," of Belfast, and although the "City of Montreal" was so near, yet she was unable to relieve her, owing to the terrific gale. Thirteen of the crew were observed on the quarter deck, and the "City of Montreal" was compelled to sail away, leaving them to their fate. The same vessel also passed on the 18th ult., a vessel bottom upwards, and apparently about 300 tons burden.

"We find that he came to his death from trying to cut out Joe Willet in courting Susie Jackson," was the verdict recently of a coroner's jury in Arkansas.

New Hampshire Items.

Dr. J. G. Graves of Nashua authorizes the statement that he will sell any part of his real estate at fifteen per cent less than the appraised value.

The Stratford House at Stratford Hollow, a store and several barns, were burned on Monday. Loss $12,000.

The Nashua Telegraph says the explosion of the South Boston oil works, Friday evening, was distinctly heard in Nashua, the distance between the two places being forty-five miles.

Zabastian Norrington (colored) of Claremont was badly hurt Saturday by being jammed between the platform and cars at the Concord and Claremont station.

In the Supreme Court at Manchester Lucy Garland vs. Nancy Towns was on trial before a jury all last week. The action was brought to recover damages for injuries caused by the falling of large icicles from defendant's block on Elm street upon plaintiff's head, Feb. 4, 1873. The case has excited considerable local interest, and the jury returned a verdict Saturday afternoon of $4708.33 for plaintiff. The damages were laid in the writ at $10,000.

Political.

An article from the Cleveland Leader, throws a good deal of light upon the attempt of Mr. Tilden to buy an electoral vote in Louisiana. The editor of the Leader vouches for the high character of Judge Levisee, and says the Judge is prepared to establish the truth of his statement (namely, that he was, on the 5th of December, 1876, offered one hundred thousand dollars to cast his vote for Samuel J. Tilden for President), by conclusive proof, whenever it shall be thought desirable to do so.

The following telegram from Abe Hewitt to Senator Kelly of Oregon, giving instructions to Gov. Grover how to do what he did do in Tilden's interest, has been put in evidence before the House Committee: "Upon careful investigation, the legal opinion is that votes cast for a Federal office-holder as elector are void, and that the person receiving the next highest number of votes should receive the certificate of appointment. The canvassing officer should act on this rule, and the Governor's certificate of appointment be given to the elector accordingly, and the subsequent certificates of the votes of the electors be duly made, specifying how they voted. This will force Congress to go behind the certificates, and open the way to go into the merits in all cases, which is not only right, but will relieve the embarrassment of the situation."

"I prefer that Hayes should be counted in, and let the republican party take the responsibility of a fraudulent count, than that Congress should stultify itself by delegating any of its powers to any one." That was the way Impromptu Tarbox, of Massachusetts, talked about the electoral count bill before it passed the Senate; and then when the question of its passage came before the House, he voted for it like a little man.

Another Duel.

The abominable form of duello, known as shooting on sight—a relic of bloodthirsty and barbarous age—appears to be revived in our community. Mr. Albert Nicholson, for many years head book-keeper with Christiansen, Frerichs & Co., on Front street, had a difficulty with Mr. Evarts Pendleton, a young stockbroker, concerning the indiscreet use of a lady's name. The bitter feeling never died out, and they recently came to blows, after a party, at which they were both guests. Mr. Nicholson drew a pistol, but was persuaded to put it up again on learning that his antagonist was unarmed. In the excitement of the moment, while the muzzle of the weapon was pointed upward, it was accidentally discharged in the air, of course without injury to any one. Mr. Pendleton, being excessively agitated, imagined his enemy had fired at him, and he swore a fearful oath that, after daylight, he would shoot Mr. Nicholson "on sight," whenever he met him. The latter, nothing loath, walked up to his antagonist, having first surrendered his revolver to a friend, and warned him that he should hold him to his threat, and bade him keep well heeled and his eyes open, as he accepted his challenge and would put a hole through Mr. Pendleton wherever he found him. The entreaties of their mutual friends were in vain, and the parties separated, vowing vengeance. Under the circumstances, it was thought best by gentlemen who witnessed the scene to lodge a complaint against the principals at once, and have them bound over to keep the peace. Officers, accordingly, were dispatched early on the following morning to make the arrests, and prevent the impending bloodshed. The disgust of the parties who interfered can be better imagined than described, when they learned that Mr. Nicholson had left that morning for Los Angeles and the southern counties, after asking leave of absence for four weeks to recuperate his health, while Mr. Pendleton had received a telegram which compelled him to go North and visit Portland, Oregon, where an aged relative was lying sick. However, Mr. Pendleton is hunting for Mr. Nicholson in Oregon all the time, and Mr. Nicholson lies in wait all day for Mr. Pendleton behind an orange tree in San Diego. San Francisco News Letter.

American Processions.

I never ventured out to witness a London demonstration without leaving my watch and purse at home, and even—if I meant to go into the thick of the crowd—substituting a wide-awake for my chimney-pot hat, which would seem to be as irritating to a certain class of London roughs as a red rag to a bull. I well recollect congratulating myself on having taken these precautions when, on the second meeting after the Hyde Park riot, I saw in Trafalgar Square respectable people bonneted and violently robbed in full view of the police. Here I wandered about through the crowd along the whole line of the procession with a perfect sense of security. I do not mean to say that there were not plenty of thieves against whom it was advisable to keep one's coat well buttoned; New York has her full share of them. But I nowhere ran the slightest risk—not, at least, that I could detect—of being violently robbed.

At some points along the route the crowd, consisting impartially of men, women and children, lined the pavement four or five deep; yet I saw no jostling or scuffling for places, or any unseemly horse-play—none of those dangerous "charges," by which the London rough creates a panic, endangering limb and life. The respect with which each party treated the other's procession was also very remarkable, all the more so considering that they were on the eve of a most exciting election; but on this feature of American politics I have already commented in my letter from Indianapolis.—New York letter to London Times.

—A chap who had, perhaps, read a newspaper item about how a street car was cleared of passengers in short order when a man in the centre of the car announced that he had the smallpox, tried the game on. Getting aboard the car, he sat down beside a big-fisted man and remarked, "I don't suppose you object to riding beside a smallpox patient, do you?" "Not in the least," replied the big man, "but as some of the other passengers may, I shall heave you out!" Thereupon he took the joker by the collar and leg, carried him to the platform, and shot him far out into a big snow-drift.

—The census takers of the Young Men's Christian association of Jersey City report that there are "thirty-five saloons to each church in that city." Whereupon, the Norristown Herald says: "Why a church should have so many saloons we can't understand. We should think that ten would suffice for the largest church in the city."

—There is money enough spent for bread in this city every day to give every man a paper of tobacco and a pipe.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise fleeful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

PATRONS' RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

At the recent meeting of the New Hampshire State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, a Patrons' Aid or Relief Association was formed, similar to those existing among other Orders, and the following officers elected for the year: President, Dudley T. Chase of Claremont; Vice President, Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth; Secretary, George L. Stearns of Manchester; Treasurer, John J. Bell of Exeter; Directors, Isaac Story of Hopkinton, F. L. Taylor of Danbury, Wm. Childs of Bath, George A. Wason of New Boston, and Louis T. Sanborn of Hampton Falls.

The number of members is to be limited to one thousand, and the assessment at the death of any of them will be one dollar. These fraternal Relief Associations are coming to be very popular, and many claim that they are the cheapest and safest form of life insurance.

It was also voted to organize a Patrons' State Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and the following directors were chosen: Kimball Webster, Hudson; J. D. Lyman, Exeter; Isaac Story, Hopkinton; Ora Smith, W. Chesterfield; C. C. Shaw, Milford; A. S. Wilkins, Amherst; L. F. Webster, Enfield; John E. Hall, Landaff; Jacob B. Smith, Strafford Corner; H. E. Felch, Bradford.

SERVICES AT THE CITY FARM.

A very interesting service of praise was enjoyed Sabbath afternoon at the City Farm, the old people and inmates generally participating. Remarks were made appropriate to the occasion. Much praise is due the Superintendent and family for the interest taken in religious services at the house; few services are more interesting than those held here from week to week, and it is purposed to have a service of praise monthly in the future. On this occasion a number of friends were present from the city, which added much to its interest. Miss Julia Hutchins sang very appropriate pieces, and presided at the organ with grace and acceptance. Friends and neighbors are cordially invited to attend the services which are held at the Farm every Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. May we not expect good results from Christian labor in this as well as in other parts of mission work? A WORKER.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING

At Franklin Hall on Sunday evening was unusually interesting. The attendance was large, and the audience comparatively quiet, although the galleries were more or less disturbing during the evening, as is customary in this Hall. The address of the evening (the author of which we regret that we did not learn, as it was really an ably written essay,) was read by Mr. James Marden, a reformed man, and an earnest worker in the Club. Mr. Marden's voice was clear and loud, and accompanied with an earnestness of manner that would have been extremely satisfactory to the writer of the discourse could he have been present and heard it.

But what gave the meeting a peculiar degree of enthusiasm and life was the singing of the White Family, who kindly volunteered for the occasion. The singers are four in number, father, mother and two daughters, forming as fine a quartette as it has been our good fortune to listen to for some time. Their singing is pure and full of harmony, and free from mannerisms and that foolish affectation so common now-a-days. Misses Ella and Josephine, soprano and alto, have remarkably strong and flexible voices that cannot fail to delight the ear.

We learn that Mr. White will give a concert in Franklin Hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, and as the admission has been fixed at the low price of 25 cents, the hall should be well filled. They gave a concert in Trefethren's Hall, Kittery Foreside, last Saturday evening, where they were well received and gave entire satisfaction. G.

"BUMMING."

Eds. Chronicle: "Professor" Edwards, as he is pleased to style himself, gave a concert at the South Ward Room on Sunday evening to an audience of a dozen or so. Is it just fair to our tax payers to be obliged to pay for the heating and lighting of a Hall for any bummer that desires to howl for an hour or two in any of our city buildings? We would suggest to our aldermen that they use a little more caution in relation to the granting of such privileges, and if these favors are to be bestowed, that they should be given to those who intend, at least, to pay their bills. A TAX-PAYER.

JOTTINGS.

Miss Hattie L. Hill, teacher at the Academy, slipped on the icy sidewalk adjoining that building, corner of Middle and Islington streets, Monday morning, and fell on her left arm, causing a bad fracture of the radius bone.

At a recent meeting of the city government it was decided to purchase two thousand feet of hose, the matter being referred to the committee on fire department, with the Mayor and Chief Engineer Marston added, to decide on what kind of hose is best and to procure the same. We learn that the contract for the whole amount has been awarded to Messrs. Samuel Eastman & Co., of Concord, for their best oak leather hose. The committee we believe were unanimous in their opinion that this firm's goods were far superior in quality to the manufacture of any of their many competitors, and their hose has been too well known for its good work in our own city during the past few years to need any commendation from us. Leathern hose is fast superceding other makes on account of its greater durability, which makes it very much more economical in the long run than hose which may cost less in the first instance but which has to be soon replaced.

Superintendent Batchelder and other officials of the Eastern Railway were at Dover, on Saturday, completing arrangements for the speedy erection of a large passenger and freight depot for the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

The "cutest" little patent in cutlery on exhibition at the Centennial was the invention of a Dover man, Dr. A. J. Young. The article is a folding pocket scissors, which when "condensed" is but two inches long and can be carried in the pocket handily and without risk of puncturing holes in garments or corpus. Marx Bros., 430 Broadway, New York, are the sole proprietors, and such has been the demand for the scissors that the supply has been inadequate. Marx Bros. (well known merchants, formerly of Dover) are making arrangements to enter into the extensive manufacture of these very necessary articles, and will send a sample on application by mail or express for one dollar. Their terms to agents are liberal.

The Hall of Sagamore Lodge, Knights of Honor, was dedicated Monday evening, and the officers of the Lodge installed, by the officers of the Grand Lodge of the State.

Revenue Cutter Hamilton, at Fortress Monroe, Jan. 29, reports schooner George L. Treadwell,, of this port, ashore on Chincateague shoals, and bilged. She was boarded by the cutter on Saturday afternoon at which time wreckers were stripping the vessel and removing the cargo. The George L. Treadwell was a fine vessel, one of Valentine Doane & Co.'s fishing fleet, and had been on a trip to the West Indies.

The "Two Orphans" will appear at Franklin Hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 1st. See advertisement.

The Grand Lodge of the Knight of Pythias of New Hampshire will hold their annual session at Pythian Hall, in this city, on Thursday.

—A loving woman writes from St. Louis to her husband, and the Western papers publish the letter as follows: "We ben marrage 18 munth; My Dear hus ben; I resieve your let and I was so glade to here from you my darling I cry all night jest to think that you was sick and i was not ther to wate on you but how some ever my dear i hope that you put your trust in god my darling you said you would be home in a few days, but my dear darling it seems as two munth sent you write in to me that you wood be home. I often wonder how long before my darling walter will come home, come home, there is no place like home, don't fuill to come home. My Dear Darling when you come home please to bring me an alpacker dress 19 yords." That is just the sort of woman this country needs more of. Hers is the spirit of devotion that makes nations rich, virtuous and strong. Her orthography is not first-chop, perhaps, but her domestic status could scarcely be improved. Such a letter is not to be derided. Better is economical spelling where love is than a soul who soars after the infinite, wears a four-story bustle, and has one eye on another man. And the despicable biped who could receive such a letter from any woman and exhibit it on account of its writing ought to be drowned in a sack and his clothes be disinfected in a bonfire.—Graphic.

—There is a little boy in South Norwalk who has watched with envious eyes his comrades slide down hill, while he, having no sled was compelled to take up with an old chair or a barrel stave. His foster-mother finally told him to pray for one. He took his mother's advice, and one evening prayed as follows: "Now I lay me down to sleep, I want a sled; I pray the Lord my soul to keep, I want a cutter." The grandfather of the little fellow was informed of the prayer, and was so pleased that he bought a sled, and a few mornings after it was left by his bed, so that he could see it as soon as he awoke. As his eyes firt rested upon it, the good lady behind the door was both surprised and shocked to hear him say, "Well, now, where the devil did that come from?"

—People are feeling a good deal more tenderly toward Adam just now. The fact that he fell and fell badly, has led to the belief that they must have had a city government in Eden and an ordinance directing that the ice should be removed from the sidewalk, and that the other residents never paid any attention to it.—Norwich Bulletin.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it. WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

"The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extinct soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a longer range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extinct the poison of Bites and Stings, and the tortures from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. PERRIS, Manorville, Scholarie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P ease send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Crup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

How to Meet Hard Times.

Many an agricultural laborer in England, (where the wages are higher than in some other countries,) and where, moreover families of seven, eight and ten children are not uncommon, has to get along on three dollars a week. His house costs him at least $25 a year; even inferior parts of meat he cannot get at less than twelve cents a pound, bread is somewhat dearer than ere, the garden where he can raise vegetables does not average one-eighth of an acre, and fuel costs him at least $25. Yet he lives, and rears children. The French and Belgian peasant lives, and lives better in some respects, and yet actually saves, because better skilled in economy, and knowing how to turn every atom of food to account. The people of this country have been so wasteful in times of plenty that a hard time finds them ignorant how to meet it. One would be astonished were he to taste the nourishing, savory broth which a French peasant can make out of bones, a morsel of meat, vegetables, herbs, and such dry scraps of bread as an American housewife would throw away. A very large proportion of the distress in the country regions arises from ignorance of that domestic economy which hard times taught the people of some other countries.

—Morrissey was a strikingly beautiful man in his young days.

—There are hundreds of theories concerning the Ashtabula disaster, but none so conclusive as the homely suggestion that the bridge was not strong.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Scotsman (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. It has its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Chinese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hour," a Story of Horses, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "Santa Claus Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Orne Jewett, Kathleen Kelley, Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science, recently issued from the press.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wise and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their friends a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-ties" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Ice, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tool Land, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Holyoaky a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills are a Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, and I send you another testimonial. My health has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do a work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills, believed nothing in them, but I gave him a package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What I say to him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember, I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

[DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I used to get relief from some physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with no good result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been trying and visiting medical springs, and still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathews my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have few applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LAGONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind, and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four editorial departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more competent to prepare them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New inventions, New Implements, or Processes in the various departments of industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and home will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to add diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The general object and controlling aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," the mere announcement of the distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Wilhelm Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and the Swedes from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Apollo," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Graphic Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are also recognized authorities.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the universe—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country—those who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a vast and growing corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with readiness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers offer a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age, and one of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and promptly as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the Syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it is THE BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays is about of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, patriotism, and sagacity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to keep its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. A ten dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing being nearly paid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country, and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its agricultural pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Roessle of the "Arlington."

Roessle, of the Arlington, is happy, because Alexis will be his guest, and that reminds me of a story I heard last winter, that is quite too good to keep.

Mr. Roessle is certainly a strikingly handsome man, and no one appreciates the fact more fully than himself. He seems to labor under a conviction that he is, by birth, a prince at least, if not a grand duke; his occupation as a hotel keeper he considers far beneath him, but since he must pursue it, he will never abate a jot of his personal dignity to please a guest, and the consequence is that the elegant Theodore loses many a customer through his arrogance. To royalty alone does he bow his haughty head, and then he does lower it conclusively, be it to Kalakaua or Prince Arthur. When Kalakaua was coming great was the rivalry among the hotels, for they all desired the swarthy potentate's ducats, and were ready to indorse the Civil Rights bill in his person, for Kalakaua's capillaries have a decidedly African kink. Roessle supposed the king was secured for the Arlington, but a day before his arrival somebody whispered that Wormley's was after all the preferred place. Roessle was in a state of frenzy. He grew cream-colored directly (white he could not be with the Spanish skin of his); he ordered a carriage and drove headlong to the State Department. It was a day when the Secretary was especially occupied, when his minutes were precious beyond all estimate and Mr. Roessle could not be admitted. He considered a minute; he remembered Iago's advice; he put money in a palm of the janitor, and unannounced presented himself. Mr. Fish was astonished at the audacious intrusion, and said so, but Theodore had a mission, and he would do it or die, so he stormily stated his grievance, declaring Kalakaua already promised to him, and demanded that Mr. Fish should see that promise kept. The Secretary concentrated all the scorn he possibly could, and discharged it at Theodore with the withering question: "What do you suppose I care about the quarrels of you boarding-house keepers?" It is said that Mr. Roessle gasped just once, and sought his carriage like a man who has viewed the wine when it was red. The driver heard him mutter feebly: "You boarding-house-keepers!" and when he once more stood within the halls of the Arlington the dreadful words once more left his lips. Then Theodore was himself again, and the way bell-boys, porters, clerks and cooks caught it for the next twenty-four hours made them deem that an earthquake would be amusing as a change.—Wash. Cor. Cleveland Plaindealer.

Was Napoleon III. an Ass.

How Sumner first met Louis Napoleon he used thus to relate. Said Sumner:—"I was then (in 1838) young, enthusiastic, determined—a thorough Yankee—and had been a good deal petted and caressed in Lady Blessington's circle. One evening Louis Napoleon arrived unexpectedly, and she called Count d'Orsay and told him we must be made known to each other. So it was Count d'Orsay, that prince of dandies, a man who, if he had lived in antiquity, would have been worshipped as a sort of demi-god of fashion, who gave a charm to everything he did by his consummate grace, and who converted dandyism into a fine art. It was this man who brought together the representative Republican and the representative of the Napoleons. I have always regarded my conversation with the prince as memorable. I spoke with enthusiasm of the prodigious resources, the immense wealth of our country. When I was silent he replied: 'Eh bien!—What will you do with it?—this immense wealth. Voulez vous vous battre?' (Will you fight each other?) I replied, 'I hope we shall find something better to do than that.' But he replied, 'Voulez vous vous battre.' That night I said to myself, this evening has not been thrown away, for it has given me the measure of that man. A few days later I chanced to be standing by Lord Lyndhurst at a party, when he was joined by Brougham. 'By the way,' said Lyndhurst, 'this is the first time I have seen you since we met the prince at Lady Blessington's.' 'Yes,' said Lord Brougham, 'a d—— ass!' 'A d—— ass!' re-echoed Lord Lyndhurst. I congratulated myself upon having myself confirmed, although I had not expressed my opinion in quite so epigrammatic language as the two ex-chancellors. In after years, soon after Napoleon's escapade at Rouen, I met Bancroft, who had just returned from Europe, and asked him what he thought of the prisoner of Ham. 'He is an ass,' was the sententious reply."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27.

Except President Grant, no man has been the target of more democratic filth than the Secretary of the navy. Nearly every organ, led by the unscrupulous renegade of the New York Sun, has boiled over with it and with threats of his ultimate punishment. A committee of the House subjected him and his administration of naval affairs to a microscropic examination for eight months. His private affairs were pounced upon as a bird of prey would seize its victim, and turned up to the gaze of gossips and news mongers. Consistently with their bull-dozing propensities, their report and thousands of pages of testimony were ostensibly referred to the Judiciary Committee for its opinion as to his liability to impeachment, but, as is believed, to secure what benefit they could derive during the last campaign from keeping his innocence in doubt. The report finally made a few days ago, admits that there exists no ground for impeachment.

Mr. Field, Tweed's right bower in his effort to retain the millions stolen from the city of New York, produced a precious specimen of a witness Thursday. He testified to being a telegraph operator in Florida in November and to reading a dispatch, which, if true, would convict Secretary Chandler of a guilty purpose and of being an idiot, which the democrats don't believe. He (the witness) gave ample evidence of having been properly instructed, refusing to answer questions that would at once have revealed the truth or falsity of his testimony, on the ground that it would criminate him, in which he was probably correct. Mr. Chandler pronounces his statements unqualifiedly false, which so far as I am informed, democrats believe.

Much indignation was excited by the cowardly surrender of the telegraph companies through fear of democratic menaces. But now that the telegrams of the Democratic National Committee are likely to be examined, they (the democrats) have suddenly and suspiciously ceased their importunities for having all the telegrams made public, of both committees, for which they were too anxious when it seemed probable that the companies would resist such a purpose. Indeed, according to the Star, the story has already been put out that Colonel Pelton, Secretary of the Committee, chief "nincompoop" and Tilden's nephew, sent several unauthorized dispatches, for which the reformer threatened to discharge him, should he again be guilty of a like indiscretion. Suspicious people regard this as an attempt to explain away, in advance, any damaging revelations—getting an anchor out to windward, so to speak. Poor Mr. Pelton appears to have been the scape-goat of the campaign.

Mr. Hewitt is not very enthusiastic over Cox's report, in the little matter between himself and Postmaster James. In fact, he regards it as the dullest and most uninteresting kind of reading wherewith to beguile melancholy hours between sessions.

LOGAN.

News and Notes.

The steamer Nankin, at Baltimore from Cardiff, picked up at sea the captain, crew and passengers of the Portuguese bark Amizade, from St. Michaels for New York, which was dismasted and in a sinking condition. The Amizade had on board Captain Tripp, Mate Rogers and Supercargo Braley of a New Bedford whaler, which had been condemned at St. Michaels, and who were bound home.

B. O. Halloway, a trial justice at Tamassville, Darlington county, S. C., was fatally shot near his own house Saturday morning. The negroes were terribly excited by the murder, and the whites organized a strong patrol for protection. Sunday morning the patrol was fired on, and two men slightly wounded. Both parties are reported to be on a war footing, and a bloody encounter may occur at any moment.

Four rogues, each with burglars' tools, were arrested in Newark, N. J., on Saturday. They had been inquiring of a janitor's child about his habits, and one of them tore up a forged check on being arrested. One of them was James Spalding of Boston.

Steamer Perit, ashore on Cape Cod, has broken up.

The grasshoppers were kinder to the Minnesota farmers than their creditors are now. The destruction of their crops left them without means to pay the interest on their mortgages, and the money-lenders of several counties have been so heartless as to bring foreclosure suits and dispose of many of the farms. The epithets which are discharged by the farmers' conventions at their common enemies have a sharp edge. For instance: "Prairie wolves," and "money sharks," "heartless Shylocks." This double-barreled resolution appears rather formidable when it is borne in mind how the Missouri night-riders were run to earth in the swamps not long ago: "Resolved, That we are willing to pay our creditors every dollar we owe them as fast as lies in our power, but to have our property taken from us, leaving our families destitute, a charge upon the county or State, is an outrage that we will no longer submit to, and before the God of heaven and our fellow-men, we will resist all further attempts to beggar ourselves and our neighbors."

The steamer Newport, which was ashore at the mouth of New Haven Harbor, and was got off on Sunday, sustained not the slightest damage, not a bolt in her hull having started. In order to float her, it was necessary to dredge out an artificial channel 700 feet long and from six to fifteen feet deep. After she went ashore a violent gale came on, which, with the accumulated mass of ice in the vicinity, drove her up into a farmer's oyster bed, and it was a work of considerable difficulty to extricate her. Captain Moses B. Tower, who superintended the job, was assisted by the officers of the United States cutters Grant, Mosswood and Dexter.

The Boston Globe displays commendable enterprise in reporting the Moody and Sankey revival meetings in the new Tabernacle. Now if only Moody might convert the editor of that sheet wouldn't old Satan howl over the loss of his most trusted lieutenant?—Concord Monitor.

No tidings have yet been heard of the ocean steamer Colombo, nor of the Halifax and Newfoundland packet steamers George Cromwell and George Washington. All are long overdue, and no hope is entertained that they will ever be heard of again.

Peter Wintermute, who shot and killed Gen. McCook, at Yankton, Dakota Territory, two years ago, died of consumption at his father's home in Horseheads, Chemung county, N. Y., on Saturday.

Charles V. Hand, who initiated the mustang-racing business at Fleetwood, is alleged to have been robbed, Saturday, of $25,000 worth of diamonds, and one of the alleged robbers, W. F. C. McCarthy, has been arrested, and his confederate escaped with the jewels.

The white whale in the New York Aquarium died on Saturday.

Adams Block, at Biddeford, Me., was burned Sunday. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $7,000.

J. B. Ford & Co., New York publishers, having failed to meet their obligations in their first compromise with their creditors, approved a year ago, have gone into bankruptcy again, and now offer thirty cents on the dollar, payable in sixteen monthly installments. Their nominal assets are $34,000. Included in the assets is the contract with Henry Ward Beecher to write a life of Christ, which is indorsed "value uncertain."

Taken in was Chief-of-Police Whitney of Bayonne, N. J., the other day. He found a pretty girl at the railroad depot, who told him tearfully that she had run away from her home in Boston with a man, under promise of marriage, but had repented and got off the train at Bayonne, when he was asleep; she was so ashamed of what she had done, though, that she wouldn't tell her name. Whitney's heart was melted, and he took her home. She borrowed $10 of him to buy some much needed underclothing, promising to be gone but two hours, and hasn't been seen since.

A young bank clerk of Toronto, named Barber, has been paid $100,000 by a number of men of high position to plead guilty to charges of embezzlement preferred against him and accept the penalty of five years' imprisonment, rather than stand a trial which might expose them as his accomplices.

The schooner Lottie Ames, Nash, of and from Rockland, Me., for Port Royal, with granite, ran on the Bantam Ledge, six miles East of Sequin Light, in a thick snow storm, Sunday night, and will be a total loss. The crew were saved and landed at Boothbay.

Ship Dakota, of Bath, Me., 1370 tons register, bound from New Orleans for Liverpool with cotton, was struck by lightning 400 miles off the Azores, and burned, on the 17th of January. The crew, twenty-three in all, laid by the burning vessel in boats for three days, and were then picked up by German brig Lidwig.

Political.

Senators Edmunds, Morton and Frelinghuysen, republicans, and Thurman and Bayard, democrats, and Representatives Payne, Abbott and Hunton, democrats, and Garfield and Hoar, republicans, are the Congressional members of the compromise committee.

The report of the Senate Florida investigating committee declares that the count was legal and constitutional; that the Hayes Electors had 45 majority on the face of the returns, and that the decision of contests resulted in a majority of 940 for Hayes.

The South Carolina courts hold that the gubernatorial election in that State is still undecided, and that Governor Chamberlain consequently holds over until a decision is reached, and his authority must be recognized and respected.

The voice of the bull-dozer is silent in the land; the democratic editor will not henceforth have to write "conspirators" in every other line all over his editorial page, and the paper mills which were started to furnish petitions for Mr. Watterson's army will have to suspend. These are some of the results of the adoption of the Conference bill. The removal of these obstructions will leave a clear field for Mr. Fernando Wood to impeach the President, the whole Cabinet, and a portion of the Circuit Judges, and will give Proctor Knott unrestricted leisure to sit down and contemplate the unbroken line of superb and picturesque blunders he has made since he ceased to be a great American humorist.—Tribune.

Tilden and Reform.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald says: "The sub-committee of the Senate committee on privileges and elections appointed to examine political telegrams turned over to them by the Western Union Company, have got hold of about forty telegrams relating to Oregon election affairs. This morning in the Senate, Mr. Mitchell, a member of the committee, called Mr. Morton to his desk and the two ran over the dispatches together, and with evident satisfaction. They claim that the telegrams will show that the man Patrick, of Omaha, who has figured in the Oregon investigation, was sent to Oregon by Colonel Pelton; that a sum of $8000 was sent from New York and deposited in a San Francisco bank to the order of Patrick, and that Patrick drew the money from the bank. The committee refuse to disclose the text of the telegrams. Several of them are signed by Colonel Pelton. The statement of the transaction abovee referred to is in direct contradiction to certain parts of Pelton's testimony before the committee. Morton and Mitchell say they have got him in a bad scrape and they propose to make it warm for him."

The correspondent of the Providence Journal on Saturday wrote: "The testimony in the Oregon case, taken yesterday, in connection with that given by Cronin, places Tilden, Pelton, his nephew, and Hewitt, and through them the democratic party, in a position which cannot fail to fasten the attention of the whole country. It will be remembered that Cronin testified that one Patrick claimed to be acting at Salem (Oregon) for Tilden, and promised Cronin any office or about anything else he wanted. The telegrams produced yesterday showed that the eight thousand dollors deposited under Pelton's manipulation in New York was not wanted by telegraph, as the same amount reached San Francisco in time by express. Pelton was telegraphing to Senator Kelley to save one vote in Oregon, and promised all the money needed. Patrick was found to have been in direct communication from Salem, Oregon, with Tilden, and while these dispatches were in cypher, they were so far interpreted by some other evidence as to show that the telegrams referred to corrupt transactions in Oregon. The signatures were fictitious, but identified as Patrick's. About twenty-two telegrams between the various parties named are in the possession of the committee, and some are resting till certain traces of evidence which they disclose have been followed further."

Onions for Sleeplessness.

I now wish to suggest a new, but simple remedy for want of sleep. Opiates in any form, even the liquor opii, sedat and chloronyne, will leave traces of their influence the next morning; I therefore prescribe for myself—and have frequently done so for others, onions, simply common onions, raw; but Spanish onions stewed will do. Everybody knows the taste of onions; this is due to a peculiar essential oil contained in this most valuable and healthful root. In my own case they never fail. If I am much pressed with work and feel I shall not sleep, I eat two or three small onions, and the effect is magical. Onions are also excellent things to eat when much exposed to intense cold. Mr. Parnaby, Troutdale fishery, Keswick, informs us that, while collecting trout and salmon eggs in the Winter, he finds common raw onions enable both him and his men to bear the icy cold semi-frozen water much better than spirits, beer, etc. Finally, if a person cannot sleep, it is because the blood is in the brain, not in the stomach; the remedy, therefore, is obvious; call the blood down from the brain to the stomach. This is to be done by eating a biscuit, a hard boiled egg, a bit of bread and cheese, or something of the kind. Follow this up with a glass of milk, or even water, and you will fall asleep, and will, I trust, bless the name of its author.—Anonymous.

A Dead Man's Order.

The New Orleans Republican tells this wicked story: A sugar maker, who might as well be called Onesimus Smith as anything else, died recently in one of our country parishes. He was not long ill, and the day before he died he had ordered a bill of goods through his commission merchant in New Orleans. The news of the man's death flew on the wings of wire, but the requisition for supplies came along in a slow steamboat way, and arrived two or three days afterward. A portion of the order was sent to a wholesale drug-house for an article used largely in sugar making. It was a well-managed drug-house and its order clerk below was in the habit of communicating through a speaking-tube with the book-keeper above before filling an order, the object of this shouting whispers back and forth through the tin communicator being to ascertain if the person ordering goods is entitled to credit. In the case we refer to, the order clerk shouted up, "How's accounts of Onesimus Smith?" And the information was slid down, "Accounts O K, but we've advices that Smith's dead." "That's all right," said the man below, "he's sent for ten barrels of sulphur."

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incipient rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as a model establishment, will be an exception hereafter to the general complaint of high prices.

If you have a cold take Adamson's Botanic Balsam. A sure cure for coughs, sore throat and pulmonary complaints. To the afflicted we recommend a trial of this superior remedy.—Boston Saturday Evening Express.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can fare better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtr12'77

JOTTINGS.

The concert this evening at Franklin Hall by the White Family quartette will be worth attending. Those who heard them at the Temperance meeting on Sunday night speak in the highest praise of their music. The two girls, Ella and Josephine, are especial public favorites, and justly so, as their voices are fine, and their manners winning. They will sing in character tonight, with change of costume at each representation.

Two young roughs, named Morrissey and Welch, had a prize-fight "for the honor of it," at about half-past seven o'clock Monday evening, on Church Hill. They had a squabble at noon of that day, and then arranged for a regular set-to in the evening, and at the time appointed were on hand with ropes and stakes and all the other paraphernalia necessary to the orderly and respectable conducting of a prize-fight. When all was ready they knocked each other about some, and Morrissey gave Welch a good thrashing, or else it was Welch whipped Morrissey—we are not sure which way the battle went, and don't care, either. We were told which was the victor, but have very carefully forgotten.

Schooner George L. Treadwell, of this port, before reported wrecked on Chincoteague Shoal, was bound from Portsmouth, Va., for New York, with a cargo of corn.

The American House, on Vaughan street, having been recently enlarged and put in thorough repair, is offered for rent at a reasonable figure to a responsible person. The recent improvements have made it a really fine house, and for a man who knows how to keep a hotel we should think the stand a most desirable one, as it is close to the business centre of the city and on the direct line of travel to and from the railroad stations.

The Portsmouth Light Artillery are perfecting arrangements for a grand military and civic ball, to be given in Franklin Hall on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 6th. Harlow's orchestra will furnish the music, and the management intend to get up a ball that will compare favorably with any given this winter.

The store of Messrs. Dow & Hobbs, at North Hampton depot, was broken into Monday night. The burglars effected an entrance by cutting out a pane of glass with a piece of a file, and then unfastening the window. The thieves got some eight or ten dollars, mostly in coppers, and also stole cigars, candy, herrings, overshoes and other articles, the owners estimating their loss at about $25. The thieves enjoyed a quiet lunch of crackers, cheese and herring, in the store, and then took the railroad track in the direction of this city, as was indicated by the finding of several small articles taken from the store, along the track. There is a suspicion that the outrage was not committed by tramps, but by some persons who knew all about the store, and "lost" the small articles along the track on purpose to lead suspicion in the wrong direction. The post-office is in the same building as the store, but nothing is missed from that. Messrs. Dow & Hobbs' store was burglarized about a year ago, on which occasion the thieves got about sixty dollars.

"The Two Orphans" will be produced at Franklin Hall on Thursday evening. It is an emotional play of a high order, abounding in thrilling situations, and possessing the power of holding the closest attention of audiences during its entire enactment. It has been put upon the stage hundreds of nights in Boston, New York and other large cities, and at each presentation has been witnessed by a large number of people. It is a play well worth seeing. The troupe that appears here to-morrow night has as its leading actor, Edwin Byron, the boy tragedian, who, a short time since, filled a very successful engagement at the Boston Theatre, and who is reported to be an extremely fine actor. The troupe brings scenery especially adapted to the play.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention meets at the Rockingham House in this city to-day, to nominate Marcellus Eldridge, Esq., of this city, it is understood.

At a special meeting of the Good Templars, held Monday evening, the following officers were installed by Grand Deputy Templar F. E. H. Marden, for the ensuing quarter: F. E. Vennard, W. C. T.; Mrs. R. Dixon, W. V. T.; C. F. Larrabee, W. S.; H. F. Grant, W. F. S.; Charles Humphries, W. T.; Mrs. A. Holbrook, W. Chap.; George S. Woods, W. M.; Horace Hanscom, W. I. G.; Frank Pierson, W. O. G.; Miss Lizzie Hanscom, W. D. M.; Percy I. Lowd, W. A. S.; Mrs. R. Smart, W. R. S.; Mrs. R. Dixon, W. L. S.

Prof. Bartlett, of the Congregational Theological Seminary of Chicago, was on Tuesday elected President of Dartmouth College. He is a nephew of the late Hon. Ichabod Bartlett of this city, and a brother of the late Judge W. H. Bartlett of Concord.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Republican Senatorial Convention for the First District was held at the Court House in this city on Tuesday, the convention being called to order at a quarter to twelve o'clock, and organizing by the choice of the following officers:

President, Joseph P. Morse, of Portsmouth;

Secretary, John A. Mathes, of Newmarket;

Committee on Credentials, Messrs. Collins of Seabrook, Hatch of Greenland, and Sides of Portsmouth;

Committee on Resolutions, Messrs. Hackett of Portsmouth, Weeks of Greenland, and Cole of Hampton.

The committee on Credentials reported forty-seven delegates present, and a vote for a candidate for Senator was taken, with the following result,—Messrs. Plumer D. Norton, of Portsmouth, and E. G. Hill, of South Newmarket, being appointed to assist in counting the votes:

Whole number of votes cast	47
Necessary for a choice	24
Nathaniel C. Smith of Newmarket had	2
William Sanborn of Seabrook	7
Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye	38

And EMMONS B. PHILBRICK was declared the nominee of the Convention, his nomination being made unanimous.

Messrs. Charles A. Shannon, Charles H. Sanborn and Wm. O. Sides were appointed a committee to inform Mr. Philbrick of his nomination, and he appeared before the Convention and accepted the nomination in a brief speech. The resolutions of the Republican State Convention were adopted as the resolutions of this Convention; and after earnestly commending the candidate selected to the voters of the district, the Convention adjourned sine die.

New Hampshire Items.

The receipts of the city of Manchester, for 1876, were $368,374.44, and the disbursements $367,152.97.

The body of Mr. Whittier, who was lost on Friday, Dec. 29, in the worst storm there of the season, in going from Munsonville to his home in Stoddard, has not been found, nor is there any prospect of finding it till after a thaw, if ever. A can of kerosene and a tin pail, with some other articles, which he had bought at Munsonville, were found placed between two large rocks, within about a mile of his home.

Josiah F. Twiss of Londonderry has not had his feet amputated, as reported a few days ago, but on the contrary there is a good prospect of his recovery with the loss of one or two toes.

A few weeks since, after a severe storm, Mr. William Upton discovered some partridges in his barn at Peterborough, and after closing all means of exit, captured seven fine birds alive.

George B. Davidson, who was badly mutilated by the premature discharge of a cannon at Franklin last October, has so far recovered as to be out. He is to have some wooden hands with which he will be able to feed himself.

Miss Elnora Major, sister of the man who was executed in this State, a short time since, has written a letter briefly reviewing her brother's trial, conviction and execution. She states her emphatic belief in his entire innocence of the murder of his wife, and gives evidence in the support of her belief. She says New Hampshire is red with the blood of her brother, whose life was wrongly taken.

The coroner's jury in the case of Sheriff Willis, killed at Stark by the cars the 20th inst., rendered a verdict that Willis came to his death by misfortune, not using ordinary care and prudence in going upon said railroad in front of a moving train.

Frank Ruddy, John Belford, Harry Carroll and James King were arrested at Laconia, on Saturday afternoon, for violation of the liquor law. The complainants' counsel refused to proceed without counsel fees in advance, which were furnished by Samuel W. Sanders. The examination was postponed until Monday.

Rev. Dr. John C. Lord, who died at Buffalo recently, was born at Washington, this State, in 1805, and received his education in the Plainfield and Meriden Academies and at Hamilton College. He labored in the pulpit of the Pearl street church thirty-eight years. He was the leading clergyman of the Old School Presbyterians in western New York.

How a Duel was Avoided at Baltimore.

A few evenings ago a scene occurred in the Mount Vernon Hotel, Baltimore, that would have resulted in an affair of the May-Bennett type had it not been for the punctilious propriety of one of the persons concerned. It seems that the son of a prominent Marylander was walking on Charles street in company with two ladies, and for some reason failed to bow in recognition to a young male acquaintance who passed him by. The young man is from Virginia, has a little money inherited from a relative, only lately returned from Europe, and is of the high-spirited Southern type. The next evening the two gentlemen met in the Mount Vernon Hotel, and the Marylander spoke to the fiery Southerner, who thereupon snubbed him in a decided manner, intimated that he was no gentleman, and remarked that he could name a friend and know where to find a pair of pistols. The Marylander gave no attention and turned on his heel, whereupon the fiery Southerner went up to him, and in the hearing of several persons said: "If there is anything else I can do to insult you, just mention it;" to which came the crushing reply: "There is nothing that you can do that will insult me." This seems to have settled the matter, with the exception that the two young men are sworn enemies.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgist Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweeneied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horses was lame for a year with a fellock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Monroville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

BILLY SICKLES,
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Teeter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach, and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

—I heard rather a good story the other day about Lord Redesdale, the Chairman of Committees in the House of Lords, who has recently been raised to the rank of an Earl. His lordship relates the story himself so it must be accepted as true. He dresses always in black no matter what the weather may be; it is sometimes a rusty black, and his neckties are not of the whitest nor his shoes of the neatest fashion, and his general appearance is not unlike that of a waiter or butler. Early one morning he called at the house of Lord C——, in James Square. He did not give his name, but simply asked if Lord C—— was at home. The footman, taking him for some gentleman's servant, suggested that he should wait awhile. He sat down in the hall, and presently another of the men servants produced a quart pot, and asked him to go to the nearest public house for some "half-and-half." Lord Redesdale took the pot and fetched the beer, and finding when he returned that Lord C—— was still not to be seen, he remarked to the astonished flunkey, "Tell Lord C—— that Lord Redesdale has been here, and will see him at Westminster."—London letter.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., it is beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for young and old ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Numbe.

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. White Geo. Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ i this choice production of SCRIBNER'S; every of the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings in Most Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moukow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-ties" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a force, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass of Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on ieo, practical suggestions as to town and country fe, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of rest Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's House," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Harpenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture."

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass of Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

☞No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the relief they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a sufferer from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them but wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise that they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians and spent only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time during the winters, and have been trying and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure one, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after, about years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England,

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and nothing in the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four critical departments, viz.: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows there are 2,897,000 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., by act of March 3, 1871, are authorized to prosecute. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply after examination, will be given free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded or ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties named, exclusively for that bureau. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We proceed to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Farmer, or Professional Man to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication. In fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents comprise the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science throughout.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost all of industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year half, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to justify all its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Kindly style. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and sounder views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this story from the pen of this popular and guished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Wilard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, that money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every large or small farmer in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with surprising and always reliable accuracy. As Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, in the welfare of education, in the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to what point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The history of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter per year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year), is cheap for the amount of reading furnished, while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one of other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine, NEVER HAS FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLACE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the system and makes the child healthy and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it is the best and surest remedy IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP,"

Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will as now, consist of a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages, of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of truth, economy, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most accurate, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that the cheapest weekly THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world. We trust also one of the very best. Address

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year, free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year, free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind throughout the country; and continues to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Hard Drinking in England.

A singular instance of the power of absorbing liquor was lately brought to light at a London police court. Three Britons and a son of France drank at a sitting two champagne cups, nine bottles of champagne, thirty large and thirty-seven small glasses of brandy, twenty-one bottles of soda, a single bottle of very old brandy, and they smoked twenty-five cigars. On the day following, the same jovial party again assembled and drank nineteen large and thirty-two small glasses of brandy, one bottle of old brandy, one bottle of chablis, six bottles of champagne and as many champagne cups. Numerous cigars were smoked on this occasion, but no inventory was taken thereof. The object of this joyous sacrifice to Bacchus, twice repeated, was asserted to have been a conspiracy on the part of three of the revelers to obtain the signature of the fourth to a bill of exchange for £500. The bill appears to have been signed and put into circulation, and hence the proceedings before the London police court. The signer of the bill, a certain Le Hunt Doyle, is the possessor of £3,000 per annum, and it came out in the evidence that one of the jubilant conspirators had declared his intention to suck it all out of the hard-drinking Doyle. The servant of Doyle stated that his master was never sober, and that as soon as he had slept off the effects of one drinking bout he called for "a split," that is soda-water and brandy, and commenced his bibulous practices. The circumstances is only worth remarking as testifying to the fact that the race of hard drinkers in Great Britain is not yet extinct.

Mastering Vicious Horses.

Yesterday afternoon an exhibition was given at the corner of Ninth and Howard streets of a new and very simple method of taming vicious horses, which is claimed to be superior to any in use. The first trial was with a kicking or bucking mare which, her owner says, has allowed no rider on her back for five years. She became tame and gentle in as many minutes, and allowed herself to be ridden about without a sign of her former wildness. The means by which this result was accomplished consists of a piece of light rope, which is passed around the front jaw of the mare, just above the upper teeth, crossed in her mouth, and then secured back of her neck. It is claimed that no horse will kick or jump when thus secured, and that a bucking horse, after receiving this treatment a few times, will abandon his vicious ways forever. A very simple method was also shown by which a kicking horse can be shod. It consists in connecting the animal's head and tail by means of a rope fastened to the tail and then to the bit, and drawn tightly enough to incline the horse's head to one side. It is claimed that it is absolutely impossible for the horse to kick on the side of the rope. At the trial yesterday a horse which for years had to be bound on the ground to be shod, suffered the blacksmith to operate upon him without attempting to kick while secured in the manner described.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The French Version.

"Monsieur Adam he wake up, he see une belle demoiselle asleep in ze garden. Viola de la chance! 'Bon jour, Madame Iv.' Madame Iv she she wake, she hold her fan before her face. Monsieur put up his eye glass to admire the tableau. Zey make one promenade. Madame Iv she feel hungry; she sos appel on ze arbre. Serpent ze promenade sur l'arqre, make one walk on ze tree. —An Irishman, on being told to grease the wagon, returned in an hour afterward, ane said "I've greased every part of the wagon but them sticks the wheel hang on!"

—One of the revenges brought about by Time's whirligig was seen in Fulton street recently when a celebrated patent medicine man whose wealth was once held to be as fabulous as Monte Cristo's was vainly soliciting a quarter in order to buy a drink.—N. Y. Tribune.

—Hens that have plenty of water, bone, oyster shells, lime, scraps, green feed, etc., will pull feathers as bad as any. Of course hens suitably fed are not so apt to learn the habit. The first experience I ever had was this winter. I did not want to experiment in diet, but pared her bill down so she could not hold on to a feather. It cured her. That is the only remedy I ever knew to be sure. If I had a common hen that pulled feathers, I would cut her head off to begin with, but a valuable hen can be managed so we can get the eggs for breeding.—Journal and Record.

Republican Nominations.

FOR GOVERNOR,
BENJAMIN F. PRESCOTT, OF EPPING.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER,
GRANVILLE P. CONN, OF CONCORD.

FOR CONGRESSMAN,
GILMAN MARSTON,
OF EXETER.

FOR COUNCILLOR,
JOSHUA B. SMITH, of Durham.

FOR SENATOR,
EMMONS B. PHILBRICK, of Rye.

For County Treasurer,
GEORGE E. LANE, of Exeter.
For Register of Deeds,
GEORGE W. WESTON, of Windham.
For County Commissioner,
NEWTON JOHNSTON, of Portsmouth.

The New Electoral College.

The trangular compromise committee to elect a President for the people of the United States is composed of men of high personal character and acknowledged ability, the membership being as follows:

On the part of the Senate: George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, Frederick F. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, Oliver P. Morton of Indiana, republicans; Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, democrats.

On the part of the House: James A. Garfield, of Ohio, George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, republicans; Henry B. Payne, of Ohio, Josiah G. Abbott, of Massachusetts, Eppa Hunton, of Virginia, democrats.

On the part of the Supreme Court: Nathan Clifford, of Maine, Stephen J. Field, of California, democrats; Samuel F. Miller, of Iowa, William Strong, of Penesylvania, Joseph P. Bradley, of New Jersey, republicans.

This gives the republicans eight members of the commission, and the democrats seven; but it is not likely that any question submitted to the commission will be decided by a party vote,—and if a question should be so decided it would be left exactly where it was before being considered, Congress still being the final judge. Whatever decision may be reached regarding the vote of any State, if the majority in favor of the decision is large it will doubtless be accepted by both branches of Congress as conclusive, if not satisfactory; and the question as to who is to be the next President now virtually depends on this tribunal. If not the best possible way out of the Presidential snarl, at least it is a way out, and a peaceful one; Field Marshal Henri Wattersohn has revoked his order for the assembling in Washington of one hundred thousand "unarmed" members of the democratic White Leagues and Rifle Clubs to bully Congress into declaring Tilden elected, and the shout of "wah" is no more heard in the land.

News and Notes.

St. John people are much excited over the release of Robbins, the murderer of Camp, on the schooner Annie B., and threats are freely made that the death of the St. John man will be avenged by his death. A party of men on the steamer New Brunswick, which stopped over at Scott's Landing one night recently, tramped eight miles to a singing school in Deer Isle, expecting to see Robbins, whom it is thought they would have lynched.

Richard Barke, a married man, aged twenty-five years, ate some clam chowder in a Westfield, Mass., saloon Saturday night, and after going home was taken with convulsions, and died in ten hours. Two other men who ate of the chowder also had convulsions, but will recover. Some think there was verdigris in the kettle, while others incline to the opinion that the trouble was in the clams.

Schooner Kate and Luella, Capt. Bonsell, from Baltimore for New York with coal, was spoked Dec. 16, and has not since been heard of. Another to add to the fearfully long list of "missing" vessels.

The discovery of an extensive conspiracy for swindling the United States government by means of fraudulent undervaluation of goods, and false invoices, is announced. It is said that several United States consuls in Europe, many European merchants, and firms of high standing in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities, are implicated.

Mayor Shelton of New Haven delivered his first message to the City Council on Friday evening. Although the city government has been for some years in the hands of the democratic reformers, he finds room for retrenchment. He finds the city with a debt of $120,050 in temporary loans, negotiated to pay the current expenses of the past five months. Resources all told amount to $79,654, with nothing in the treasury and no other resources except the tax payable next July, the bulk of which is not realized until September. The city debt proper is $1,751,981.

A nicely-arranged elopement has been successfully carried out in Newport. A youth of about nineteen, and a damsel two years his junior, hired a horse and sleigh to go to Fall River. The couple was a runaway one. They proceeded to Fall River and Providence, sent the sleigh back on the boat, and have remained away since. They are both respectably connected, and it is thought are married. The guardian of the girl went in search of her.

Clarance Sargent of Sutton, charged with arson and robbery, was committed to jail at Concord, Tuesday, in default of $2000 bail.

Political.

The democrats of the House of Representatives had a sharp eye upon the retention of the "Irish vote," when they passed a resolution of inquiry designed to haul the President over the coals for declining to receive, unless through Sir Edward Thornton, the congratulatory resolutions of the "Irish nation" on the centenary of American independence, which Mr. John O'Conor Power, M. P., asked to present. It seems the Secretary of State, at the request of the committee to whom the matter was referred, transmitted for its information the correspondence on the subject which passed between the department and Mr. Power. Mr. Power came before the committee and made his statement. The committee, after a full consideration of the matter, have come to the conclusion that it is a matter which does not call for any action on the part of Congress, but that all communications to this Government from aliens must come through the regularly accredited channels. This sustains the action of the President and the Secretary of State, which the democrats knew was right and proper when they passed the resolution to enquire into it; the whole thing was but a transparent partisan trick—a pandering to the prejudices of the Irish voter.

The democracy in accepting the tripartite covenant have utterly abandoned their old State sovereignty creed, the same men who once insisted that any State could overthrow the Union at will and that the general government had no powers except such as were expressly delegated to it by the Constitution, now insisting that a mere resolution of Congress—or one branch of it—is sufficient to take from a State the rights expressly reserved to it by the Constitution.

New Hampshire Items.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance Company, at Manchester, ex-Gov. E. A. Straw was re-elected President; ex-Gov. J. A. Weston Vice-President; George B. Chandler, Treasurer; John C. French, Secretary. The old Board of Directors was also re-elected.

There is a mystery surrounding the injuries to Edward T. Wright of Contoocook, found terribly bruised beside the railroad track recently, and fears of foul play, as his money and watch are missing.

E. M. Hixon and George H. Corey, hailing from Sharon, Mass., were arrested at Newmarket, Jan. 30th, on a charge of swindling. They have been going about the country pretending to establish agencies for the sale of a burglar alarm, but really to obtain promissory notes for the sale of worthless patent rights for burglar alarms.

John Shea, of Manchester, has been held in $1000 for forging the name of Patrick Shea to a pension voucher for $72.

The new Congregational Church just completed in Pittsfield cost, exclusive of the land, $15,275. It is to have a $1000 organ.

Riddle's block, Manchester, was partially burned on Wednesday. Loss $10,000, largely from water.

The New Hampshire State Board of Agriculture meetings held on Tuesday at Academy hall in Greenland,—forenoon, afternoon and evening,—were well attended and of great interest and profit. The discussions took a wide range, considerable time being devoted to the subject of preparing soil, and the culture of corn, grass-es, cereals, fruits, vegetables, and also stock raising and milk producing, which were participated in by a goodly number of prominent agriculturists from home and abroad. The evening session had reference to such topics as were adapted to the ladies and young people, at which time the hall was packed to its utmost capacity, some four hundred being present. Some of the members of the Board went to Stratham in the afternoon, where a very interesting meeting was held, at the conclusion of which the company adjourned to Greenland.

Nasby's Plan.

Nasby steps forward now with his plan for the settlement of the presidential dispute. Nothing but its late appearance could have prevented its adoption. He suggests that a representative republican and a representative democrat decide the question by a game of seven-up, and adds:

I wood sejest ez the representative republikin for this purpose Mr. Frelinghuysen of Noo Jersey. For the representative dimocrat ther ain't no need for my namin him at all. The entire dimocrisy in one voice wood exclaim, "Jonn Morrissey." Spoze it wuz agreed to have it seven-up and the best two in three. Think uv these reports from the Associated Press: "The Presidential Games!—Frelinghuysen two! Morrissy one!—Thanksgivin in the churches!—The Freedmen Jubilant! Later!—Morrissey turns Jack, and makes High, Low, and Game!—End uv the First Game—Morrissey shows out on high and low!—Frelinghuysen accuses him uv cheatin!—A day of fastin ordered, and the gin mills illuminate!" Then the second game: "The first game conceded to Morrissey!—The South jubilant!—Frelinghuysen deals! Morrissey begs!—Frelinghuysen gives him one, and Morrissey claims a misdeal, wich the umpire allows! Morrissey makes four! The niggers discurridged and the South jubilant! Second hand—Frelinghuysen makes high and low, and Morrissey jack and game!—and Morrissey one pint to go and his deal!—The Presidenshial question settled!—Morrissey turns jack, winnin the rub, and electin Tilden and Reform!—Congratulatory despatch from the President elect!—Chagrin uv the republikins!—Morrissey serenaded—"I simply did my dooty!" Morrissey to be secretary of the treasury."

Fools.

Rev. J. Benson Hamilton preached on Sunday evening from the text, "Thou fool." Fools he divided into two classes, "natural-born fool," and those who achieve foolishness by their own endeavors. To the second class he devoted his attention, dividing it into the following: "Social Fools," "Business Fools," "Pious Fools," and "Political Fools."

Social fools he said are the butterflies of fashion, who have no care for the realities of life, and no love for rational amusements, while business fools are those to whom life is all business, and who neither invite nor permit in their lives any of the recreations or gratifications which sensible people enjoy. Among political fools he classes the self-sufficient egotist who thinks the country will go to ruin unless he saves it; the accidental editor, who thinks the liberty of the country depends on his defending it with his scissors, and who calls slander argument; the loud-mouthed fool who talks about war while he hunts up his old certificate of disability or tries to think of some country relative out of whom he can spunge his board till the danger is over, and the party which prates about retrenchment and reform and never practices economy, or which pretends to be the friend of temperance and all the time caters to the liquor dealers. Pious fools, the speaker said, are those who live in the past, who in the age of gas are always mourning for tallow-dips, who wear the long and stupid sermons of the old time, who cling to the old time bigotry and superstition, and those who while professing to live for Jesus live really for pleasure, wealth, reputation, political fame, or ecclesiastical dignity.—Mirror.

—An honest blacksmith, when urged to start a libel suit, answered: "I can hammer out a better reputation on my anvil than all the lawyers in Christendom can give me."

—A Western paper, in describing an accident recently, says, with much candor: "Dr. Jones was called, and under his prompt and skillful treatment the young man died on Wednesday night."

—A colored individual in Terrebone, La., has been developing business qualifications. He got up a grand excursion to New Orleans, sold three hundred tickets at $3 each, went down to town in advance "to get everything in readiness," and stayed there, writing back that he anticipated trouble, and it would be dangerous for his victims to come to the city.

—On the night of October 10, 1859, the barns of Abram Baliss of Hicksville, L. I., were burned, the evidence being conclusive that the fire was the work of an incendiary. John Murphy, a neighbor, was suspected, but his family insisted that he was at his home from early in the evening until the fire broke out. His wife and he have recently quarrelled, and now she accuses him of having fired the premises.

What the Bilious Require.

Since torpidity of the liver is the chief cause of its disorder, it is evident that what the bilious require is an alterative stimulant which will arouse it to activity, an effect that is followed by the disappearance of the various symptoms indicative of its derangement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably achieve the primary result mentioned, besides removing the constipation, flatulence, heart-burn, yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder, nausea, vertigo and sick headache, to which bilious invalids are peculiarly subject. As a remedy for chronic dyspepsia, mental despondency and nervousness the Bitters are equally efficacious, and as a renovant of lost vigor, a means of arresting premature decay, and a source of relief from the infirmities to which the gentler sex is peculiarly subject, they may be thoroughly relied upon.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as a model establishment, will be an exception hereafter to the general complaint of high prices.

The large sale of Adamson's Botanic Balsam is the cause when once used it becomes a household remedy. Children like it, it cures their colds and prevents the croup. Sold everywhere at 35 cents.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

—The Constitution says that all States shall be equally represented in the Senate. Yet, in wanton violation of this Illinois sends a man weighing 360 pounds.—N. Y. Graphic.

"Wives as They Were."

Susan B. Anthony may appeal to women to insist upon having equal rights and privileges with men. Yet she must not become impatient, or forget that "large bodies move slowly." It is but a few years since wives were a little better than slaves, while to-day wealth and science vie with each other in doing woman's service and seeking to better her condition. Many diseases that have hitherto cursed her existence are by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription readily cured. Her property in most of the States is now secured to her against the debts of her husband. And as water never rests until it finds its level, so the rights of woman will, if necessary, agitate themselves until every point be gained, and every difference equitably adjusted.

MOTHERS' TEA PARTY.

It will be remembered what a good time the mothers had at our last tea party, and that we made a statement that we expected to meet again. We purpose thus to do next Monday evening. It is suprising what a wonderful effect a good cup of tea has upon our social natures; how it quiets, and prepares the way for a social service, which on this occasion will follow, in the Chapel, and consist of addresses and music. If our friends desire to aid by contributing anything for the table, we shall be happy to receive it. We expect about sixty to set down, and ask our friends to send in their gifts early, in order that we may know what is needed after all is sent in. Tea on the table at 6 o'clock P. M.

W. A. LOYNE, Missionary.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for the First District met at the Rockingham House on Wednesday. The Convention was called to order by Henry F. Wendell, Esq., of this city, a member of the Democratic State Committee, and permanent officers were chosen as follows:

President, Uri Lamprey, of Hampton;

Secretary, Frank W. Rand, of Portsmouth;

Committee on Credentials, Messrs. Whittier of Hampton, Rowe of Kensington, Spinney of Portsmouth, and Simpson of Greenland; Committee on Resolutions, Messrs. Miller of Portsmouth, Garland of North Hampton, Pease of South Newmarket, and Trefethen of Rye.

The Committee on Credentials reported forty-eight delegates present, and on motion an informal ballot was taken with the following result:

Whole number of votes cast	48
Necessary for a choice	25
Jerome C. Butler of Portsmouth had	6
Gilman H. Jenness of Rye	8
Marcellus Eldredge of Portsmouth	34

On motion of Harrison Burleigh, of Newmarket, Marcellus Eldredge was nominated by acclamation as the democratic candidate for State Senator from this district. The resolutions of the Democratic State Convention were adopted as the resolutions of this Convention, and after commending the candidate to the voters of the District the Convention adjourned without day.

ANCIENT RECORDS OF YORK.

The following extracts from the ancient court records of York County, Me., are given verbatim et literatim:

"At a Court boulden at York, July 4, 1659. Wee p'sent William Tompson for rebellion against his father and Mother In Law.

The Court fines Tompson for his offence 30s, and he is to pay 5s for ye officer's fees, wch 35s Capt. Raynes Ingageth to pay Into the Treasury In his behalfe.

William Tompson binds him selfe to this Court, In a bond of Twenty pounds unto the Treasur'r of this County, that he will be of good behaviour towards all men, especially towards his father and Mother, under which bond hee is to Caution untill the next County Court.

Wee p'sent John Barton, servant to William Ellingham, for being a Comon swearer and a Drunkard, which he acknowledged. The Court fines Barton for his offences either to pay Three pounds, or to receive 20 lashes on the bare skinne. William Ellingham, in the behalfe of his man Barton, Ingageth him selfe to pay or cause to be payed (3s) in the County Treasury.

Wee p'sent Elizabeth Stoner, the wife of Sylvester Stoner, for abusing her husband by many revilling and reproachful speeches, as calling of him Roge and Rascall."

A BEER CAMPAIGN.

It is evident that the democrats of this section intend to run the campaign on a beer basis—Frank Jones, brewer, for Congress, and Marcellus Eldredge, brewer, for State Senator. They no doubt hope to keep the political pot a brewing so fiercely as to lay the republican party on its bier. Temperance democrats will meet at the breweries on the morning of election day, sing "We'll drink no more" in chorus, and then form in line, march to the polls and vote the XXX ticket.

THE RAILROAD WAR.

On Tuesday, in Boston, in the United States Circuit Court, Judge Shepley sitting as for the circuit of New Hampshire, the clerk of the New Hampshire circuit, William H. Hackett, Esq., being present and officiating, a hearing was had on the motion of the Eastern Railroad that the action of the State court in appointing a receiver for the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire be rescinded by the Court now having jurisdiction, or that the receiver so appointed be enjoined from taking any action under the order of the State court. The grounds on which the motion was urged were that the proceedings before the State court were ex parte and were sedulously kept from the knowledge of defendants, and that equity requires that the whole matter should be reopened that defendants may have an equal opportunity to be heard. Judge Shepley announced that a decision would be rendered at the opening of Court on Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday the Court passed upon the motion, and "holds that when a case is removed as this was from a State Court to the Circuit Court, all orders issued by the court and upon which no action has been taken, become inoperative. So that, in this case, the receiver having been appointed by an order of the State Court, and having never acted under the same, cannot now act as such receiver. The court does not pass upon the question of the power of the Circuit Court over a case removed from the State court before the return day of the next law term, the decision of this point not being regarded as material to the case."

A BRILLIANT WEDDING

Took place on Wednesday at the Commodore's residence on the Navy Yard, the parties most interested being Lieut. Emery H. Taunt, U. S. N., son of Chaplain J. F. Taunt, U. S. N., and Miss Mary English, daughter of Capt. Earl English, U. S. N., the present Commandant of the Yard. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Taunt, assisted by Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, of this city, rector of St. John's church, and Rev. S. A. Hutchinson of Kittery. The house was darkened from the sunlight, and lighted with gas, and the parlors were beautifully decorated with flags, evergreens, smilax, and a profusion of flowers most tastefully arranged; from the ceiling of the parlor in which the wedding was solemnized depended a marriage bell of smilax and white rosebuds, beneath which the bride stood during the ceremony; and as the happy couple entered the room their path was strewed with flowers.

The bridesmaids were Misses Lena, Frank and Josie English, Miss Mamie Eastman and Miss Lulu Williamson; the groomsmen were Dr. Rixey, U. S. N., and Lieut. Arthur, U. S. N.

The ushers were Chief Engineer Williamson, U. S. N., and Lieut. Whipple, U. S. M. C.

The bride's dress was a heavy, white, corded silk, with train, and overskirt and vail of white tulle, looped with orange blossoms; her hair was decorated with a coronet of flowers, which fastened the vail. She wore a beautiful set of diamonds, and no other jewelry.

The bride's mother wore a black velvet dress, trimmed with very wide black thread lace, and diamond ornaments.

The groom's mother was dressed in a pearl-colored silk, trimmed with velvet of the same shade, and wore diamonds.

The bridesmaids were dressed mostly in white silk, beautifully trimmed with flowers. All the toilettes were in exquisite taste.

The wedding presents were numerous and elegant, among them being a very heavy necklace and locket, a tortoise shell and ostrich feather fan, a heavily embossed silver tea set, a large gold cross set with pearls, several sets of gold lined silver spoons, silver knives and forks, etc.

After the ceremony there was a reception of the immediate personal friends of the two families, and the officers of the navy; there was dancing, Harlow's orchestra furnishing the music; and a supper, elegant to look at and attractive enough to have tempted an anchorite.

Lieut. Taunt, with the fair prize he has captured, started on a brief cruise at an early hour in the evening, the young couple carrying with them the best wishes not only of their own personal friends and acquaintances, but of many others of whom neither of them ever heard.

JOTTINGS.

We are pleased to be able to announce that George W. Guppy, Esq., of the Times, has so far recovered from his dangerous illness as to be able to appear on the street.

The Byron Combination at Franklin Hall to-night, in the "Two Orphans." See advertisement. This company appeared in Manchester Monday evening, and the Union of that city says: Some of the characters were carried out with a degree of excellence seldom surpassed. Miss Annie Hayes as "La Frochard" was nearly perfection. "Louise and Henriette," the two orphans, could not have done better, and Pierre Frochard was excellent, especially in the closing act.

The second anniversary of the Woman's Temperance League will be celebrated at Franklin Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 2, at half-past seven o'clock. The exercises will consist of a brief anniversary address by a young lady, songs by a quartette of the best musical talent of the city, and an eloquent speech from Mrs. Emma Molloy, of Indiana, the foremost crusader of the West. If you would learn what the Woman's League has accomplished since it has been organized, attend the anniversary gathering. Ten cents will be charged for admission.

The Democratic Convention held on Wednesday at the Rockingham House was remarkably "full," and several of the delegates present appeared in high spirits.

The Prohibitory Convention met in Manchester on Wednesday, nominated the same candidates as last year for Governor and Railroad Commissioner, and decided to put a full ticket in the field. They probably hope to secure the election, in this district, of those "ramrod prohibitionists," Frank Jones and Marcellus Eldredge.

—An eighteen-year-old Osceola (Mo.) girl is more than Spartan. She had been sitting up with her fellow in the darkened kitchen, and went out to get some wood; stepping on what she thought to be a piece of rope, she stooped to pick it up, and was bitten on the thumb by a rattlesnake. Instead of fainting, she called the young man to kill the snake, and then cut off her thumb with a case-knife.

Centaur Liniments.
The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.
Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.
It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very offensive for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.
Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:
"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am improving rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.
C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:
"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."
What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.
The Yellow Centaur Liniment
is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.
This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.
We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:
"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.
REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Somerville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."
DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. It saved me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.
It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Foll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.
It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Teiter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.
Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. It relieves Teething by regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria, cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.
Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's
COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.
A Safe and Sure Remedy.
The Cough and Lung Syrup
Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.
It Will Cure a Common Cold
In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.
It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.
IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.
Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.
IT WILL CURE CATARRH
More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.
It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.
It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.
It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.
TRY IT.
IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.
For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.
Remember that it
CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.
DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:
For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.
WM. M. LADD, M. D.
CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.
DR. FLAGG MY DEAR SIR: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Daily Chronicle.

—Miss Emily Peyton has been a second time elected enrolling clerk of the Tennessee House of Representatives.

—A guide-book, which has been recently published in Paris for the benefit of Frenchmen who are condemned for a season to London life, recommends a bath every morning. The cleansing virtues of water are evidently not fully appreciated on the Continent. Germans are quite content with bathing once a month, and Frenchmen seem to think that water is useful mainly for purposes of navigation. The "Manuel du Bon Ton et de la Politesse Francaise" lays down this fundamental principle for the benefit of French ladies: "Cleanliness of the body consists in taking a bath once a month, and in washing one's face and hands every day."

—Parsians get good ideas of American matters from their papers. One announces that at the New York theaters, as well as opera glasses they keep on hand to rent patent hermetically fastening ear-muffs, so that if you don't care to listen to the music you needn't. On the next day the same paper described a common scene in an American court of justice. A judge is trying a prisoner for a political offence, when a telegram announcing a revolution is handed to him. Bowing profoundly to the prisoner, the judge descends into the dock, the prisoner mounts the bench and a new trial begins. Before it is concluded another telegram is received; the counter-revolution is triumphant; the judge and prisoner, bowing deeply, return to their former positions, and the first trial is resumed. Only the clerk remains unchanged.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Crook in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Petersham Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

To Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be late-evening papers or lows, by William Cullen Bryant, Jean G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Rose Terry Cooke, Josephine Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal it this classic production of Scribner's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. . . . The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in any periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS 25th Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive matter for less dollars worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window in Morocco," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, without impertinence, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tool Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "His Home a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports in Field and Field," by various writers, and each one on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Wilkins.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

☞ No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 29, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some little time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A neighbor ago advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had on you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What induced him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know of, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know of a dozen of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I was constantly in my room about all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; that I must go south and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure, they will cure anybody. I have live applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, TEXAS.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Lover Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. Please send another box to my wife, who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its fame.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Froude, Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments, Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—DEAR SIR: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have aided for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions, have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE

AND UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that relates to the best investigations and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of Mechanical Work and Science; Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice.

A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no effort will be spared to give diversity its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest results of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SPANISH SCENES AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Paris," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equality before the law and the ballot, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poetics, Science, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with universal and almost infallible accuracy. Is Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the intelligence and business ability of the country. Persons who are interested in more politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of editorial workers than any other journal in the world, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The history of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines readable matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is conclusive evidence of the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mark Pattison, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Hackländer, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never dared to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its magical effects and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA, in CHILDREN, whether arising from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and immediate relief. It will SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same in character as that year has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow professions, inhonesty, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by bands in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy account of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful for their kindness. To such persons who send us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a copy, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the paper and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every good bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock exchange business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or options on the right to buy or sell at a fixed price, which is a form of legitimate speculation. These are very valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All new Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and continues to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Juvenile Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Yak of Northern Thibet.

This handsome beast is of extraordinary size and beauty, measuring, when full grown, eleven feet in length, exclusive of its bushy tail, which is three feet long. Its height at the hump is six feet, and the head is adorned with ponderous horns. The body is covered with thick black hair, which in the old males assumes a chestnut color on the back and upper parts of the sides. It roams in unrestricted freedom among the inhospitable wastes of Northern Thibet; but is found also further north. Although endowed with an acute sense of smell, its sight and hearing are defective, and even on a clear day, and on very level ground, it cannot distinguish a man at any great distance; but it will scent him half a mile to windward. Wild yak shooting is a dangerous pastime, for when wounded it will often attack its pursuers. Such is the toughness or its hide and strength of its bone, that a bullet aimed at the body very seldom wounds mortally; and one fired from a first-rate rifle fails to penetrate the skull unless it hits the brain-pan. If it were not for its stupidity and indecision, Prejevalsky says that it would be a more formidable foe than a tiger. He describes his slaughter of one, at which he and M. Pyltseff and one of his Cossacks fired volley after volley with their rifles, and although he frequently fell, he rose and charged them until it was too dark to continue the fire. Next morning they found him dead, with thirteen bullets in his body and three in his head—one having fractured the skull. On examining the body of another yak which he killed, he found that seven bullets had lodged in his chest, and stuck there like a row of buttons. And yet the brute kept charging until he fell dead! The Mongols are terribly afraid of the wild yak, but their gluttony sometimes overcome, their fears, and for the sake of its beef they go out in parties of ten and deliver a volley from their rifles, and although he frequently fell, he rose and charged them until it was too dark to continue the fire. Next morning they found him dead, with thirteen bullets in his body and three in his head—one having fractured the skull. On examining the body of another yak which he killed, he found that seven bullets had lodged in his chest, and stuck there like a row of buttons. And yet the brute kept charging until he fell dead! The Mongols are terribly afraid of the wild yak, but their gluttony sometimes overcome, their fears, and for the sake of its beef they go out in parties of ten and deliver a volley from their rifles, while safe hidden in some ambush. We need not dwell upon the extreme usefulness of the yak when domesticated. Next to the camel, it is the "ship of the desert;" and, indeed, surpasses that animal as a beast of burden in high latitudes, for the camel cannot climb precipitous passes where the yak is quite at home.

How to do up Shirts.

A lady gives the following in the Ohio Farmer: "To three tablespoonfuls of common starch, well boiled in one quart of water, add a lump of lard the size of a pea, a tablespoonful of loaf sugar and a little salt. Let it cool until you can use it without burning your hands. When the clothes are thoroughly dry, dampen your shirts in a thin, cold starch, roll them up and let them lay an hour before ironing. When ready to iron have a bowl of clean, cold water at hand, dip a clean handkerchief into it and wring it out dry; then stretch the shirt on a shirt-board, and with the dampened handkerchief wipe off every particle of starch that appears on the surface, taking care always to wipe downward. Be careful not to have the iron too hot. The more pressure you use on the starched surface the finer polish you will have. I have done up shirts in this manner for many years, and know that it will produce a fine polish equal to any laundry work. I forgot to mention in its proper place that you should never boil the starch until the shirts are ready to hang up to dry. No shirt can be done up nicely without a shirt-board. The one I have is two feet long and one foot wide—an inch board planed smooth, and covered on one side with six thicknesses of flannel, the top one being soft, white flannel. The first five thicknesses are stretched over tightly and tacked securely on the edge of the board all round. The white flannel, outside, is stitched to the edges of the others, so that it can be easily removed for washing when necessary. Old blankets or shawls that have done their duty as such, can be used for this purpose to advantage."

—A pedlar called at the residence of S. S. Chalfaut, near Thornvill, Ohio, on Friday evening last and obtained permission to lodge over night. During the night he chloroformed the entire family and ransacked the house, carrying off $900 in money and $35,000 in drafts. The robber was traced to Lancaster, but not apprehended.

—At Woodstock, Vt., recently, a lady took her little one to a gallery for its picture, and while the artist was busy she was fixing up the child by wetting its face and hair with what she supposed was clear water, but was a solution of nitrate of silver. After exposure to the air a short time, the appearance of the child can be better imagined than described.

—"Sam" Barger got word one evening while at dinner that Commodore Vanderbilt would like to see him. Hastily partaking of a little food, he repaired to the old gentleman's residence, forgetting in his hurry to put a cigar in his pocket. After the business was finished Sam said: "Commodore, you brought me away from my dinner in such a hurry that I didn't get my smoke! I believe I would like to try a cigar." (The Commodore was smoking a delightfully fragrant Havana.) "All right, sam," he replied, "you will find a match on the mantelpiece." Sam smoked when he got home.

Counting The Vote.

The counting of the Electoral Vote commenced on Thursday, Feb. 1st, at one o'clock, in Representatives' Hall.

Speaker Randall appointed Cook of Georgia and Stone of Missouri tellers on the part of the House—both democrats. Kasson of Iowa protested that it was unusual and an invasion of the rights of the minority that no Representative of the minority should be appointed teller. Speaker Randall, to justify himself, said he had notified the President of the Senate and he would govern himself accordingly. Kasson: "Then it will appear that the President of the Senate did not do this till forced to do so by the Speaker." Fernando Wood: "That is an impertinence on the part of the gentleman from Iowa."

At five minutes before 12 the Secretary of the Senate appeared at the door of the House announcing that the President of the Senate had appointed Senators Ingalls and Allison tellers on the part of the Senate. As the minute-hand reached the hour of 1 o'clock the Senate in a body, preceded by the Sergeants-at-Arms of the two houses, appeared at the north door of the hall of Representatives, entered and took seats on the first four rows on the democratic side of the hall. The votes were brought in two square mahogany boxes and placed on the Speaker's table. The two boxes were carried by the Doorkeeper of the Senate, who was guarded by six special policemen. The boxes had something of a funeral look, and as they were brought into the hall a special solemnity seemed to fall upon that body.

At 1.05 Vice President Ferry said: "The Joint Convention for counting the votes will come to order; in obedience to the Constitution of the United States the two houses have met for the purpose of opening the certificates and counting and declaring the result of the election for President and Vice President of the United States for four years commencing March fourth next." The vote of Alabama was then taken from the box, the seals broken and the vote read by Teller Allison. The Arkansas certificate was next handed to the Tellers and ordered counted without objection

After the certificate of Alabama was read, there was a momentary pause. It had been reported that Representative Haralson and Senator Spencer would join a motion under the new law, objecting to the counting of Alabama, but they did not and the vote was ordered counted.

The votes of California, Colorado, Connecticut and Delaware were unobjected to and therefore counted.

When Florida was reached, three sets of votes were opened, all objected to and referred to the commission, and the Convention adjourned.

News and Notes.

The National Tube Works, of Boston, are in trouble, U. S. Treasury officials having discovered, as is alleged, large frauds upon the government, in obtaining large drawbacks on exported pipe, claimed to have been made from importedm aterial, while the material was really of American production, and not entitled to drawback.

Base ball rules have been amended for 1877. The national league have resumed the lively for the dead ball. Other important changes in the rules are: The home club in all cases goes first to the bat. A player not going to the bat within a minute after being called by the umpire is declared out, as also when he runs to the first base inside the foul line. When a runner is struck by a hit ball he is out. The object of this last would seem to be to allow every advantage to the "out," and it is further decreed that the runner must go around and back of a fielder who obstructs his path to capture a ball.

A dispatch from London announces the wreck of ship John H. Kimball, Capt. D. M. Humphreys, on the English coast. The officers and crew were saved. She was a ship of 1266 tons, built in 1873.

A St. Louis school-teacher in one of the city's poorer districts revealed to the committee recently that two-thirds of the children in school had scarcely anything to eat on account of the poverty of their parents, and were sent to school for the purpose of keeping warm, as in many cases the parents were not only destitute of food, but fuel to keep up a fire.

Four young men were swept over the falls at Louisville, Ky., by the capsizing of a skiff, and two of them, Thomas Peterson and Patrick Brophy were drowned.

President Garrett and other Baltimore capitalists are said to be organizing a new cable company, to lay a wire between that city and some point on the French coast. The bill for this purpose, in which they ask the requisite Congressional permission, provides that the cable shall be laid within three years, and the tariff about eight cents a word, and that there shall be no union or sale of the new line to any other cable company.

Mr. Gatchell, the new superintendent of the Washington police, reports that he has found seventeen suspected gambling-house, seventy-one houses of ill-fame, one hundred and seventy-six places where liquor is sold without a license, and twenty-five assignation houses. He has expressed a determination to rid the city of those places, and will commence movements in this direction immediately.

Political.

The democratic House, after refusing the State of Colorado representation for three months, on Wednesday graciously permitted Representative James B. Belford to take his seat.

The following is one of the dispatches sent from the Tilden managers in New York to Patrick, of Oregon, just before the meeting of the Oregon electoral college: "Secure your points at all hazards. Communicate with me immediately, giving prospects."

The New York Sun is unexpectedly behind the times. It has just discovered the existence of the Electoral bill and denounces it in a two-column "double-leader" as "an infraction of the Constitution and a most dangerous and alarming departure from the established usage of the Government."

Col. Pelton, Tilden's nephew and private secretary, is either wonderfully forgetful or a magnificent liar. Before the Senate investigating committee he testified, under oath, that he knew Patrick of Oregon, but on being asked to translate a cipher despatch alleged that he was unable to do so, and couldn't remember the meaning of any cipher words in a despatch sent to him by Patrick on the 27th of November!

The democrats of North Carolina, having got full control of the State government, are endeavoring to intrench themselves so that no possible adverse majority can ever oust them from power. A bill has been introduced in the legislature taking from the people the election of all county officers, sheriffs, commissioners, treasurers and coroners, and empowering the Governor to appoint them, and also all justices of the peace. This will give the democrats exclusive control of the election machinery in every county in the State, and when all their arrangements are completed they think they will be able to easily uphold the cause of reform against fifty thousand radical majority. The colored men of the State are holding meetings to consider a plan of wholesale emigration.

"Secure your point at all hazards," was the order of the Tilden plotters in New York to the Tilden conspirators in Oregon. Literally rendered the order would read: "Employ any knavery, break any law, and we will foot the bill." The order was literally carried out.

Clams.

The most productive land in the State is the clam flats upon the banks of the Merrimac. It costs nothing for fencing or top dressing; it is self-supporting and self-planting, and the more the soil is turned over the faster the crop matures and the greater its abundance. No land produces so much to an acre or so sure a crop. It is always reliable, and the products never glut the market. Every day in the year men are employed in these fields, and the products are sent in every direction. One hundred men are employed in this industry, and they have their money as soon as they deliver their clams. A hundred barrels a week go by rail into the interior. Then we have some thirty peddlers that supply the neighboring towns. Gillett's express takes every morning from fifty to one hundred gallons for Boston. This one express leaves from $25 to $50 a day in ward one alone. Lovett's and Woodwell's expresses also carry a large quantity each. The gross receipts for the year make many thousand dollars. The Merrimac River clams are considered the best in the country. They are good boiled, stewed, fried or pickled, or in chowder; they are tender and relishing, and upon the whole a valuable local product. Some dealers were in the habit of swelling their clams over night in cold water, but as soon as the trick was discovered they abandoned it.—Newburyport Herald.

Russia Leather Goods.

Russia leather pocket-books for fifty cents a piece, offered by street peddlers, of course excited the suspicion that they must be a mere imitation article, but the passer who, attracted by their appearance, halted for a moment for examination, was struck with the fact that they were not only soft, well-dressed leather, but stood the infallible test of smell by which the genuine "Russia" is distinguished. The conclusion reached, therefore, was that the stock offered by the vender must have been in some manner illegitimately obtained, or was part of somebody's failed stock. The real fact, however, is that the secret of the Russia leather perfume has been discovered by an American, and that we can make Russia leather goods now in America much cheaper than they can be imported. And ere long, owing to the superiority of our tannage, may export these goods to Russia and Austria; Vienna being the place where Russia leather is manufactured into the beautiful portmanteaus, handbags, pocket-books, card-cases and hundreds of other articles, all fragrant with the peculia and agreeable perfume.

The red hue of Russia leather is simply a staining process that is no secret, but the discovery of the scent is what we have to do with, and it is a wonder that some enterprising Yankee did not discover it before.

The Hon. Marshall Jewell, our late minister to the Court of St. Petersburg, was a practical tanner, having in his youth been apprenticed to and thoroughly learned the business, and like a practical man, besides attending to the diplomatic business of his office in the country into which he had been sent, instead of allowing that to be his sole occupation, made an examination, as far as practicable, into the system of government, finance, methods of business, and the position and progress of the manufactures of the country. Among other examinations he visited all the tanneries possible, and examined the different methods of curing and tanning hides. In this, many facts interesting to Americans were developed. One, that the Russians cannot make as good sole leather as is made in this country, the American sole leather now being the best used; and another, what he specially sought, the source of the Russia leather scent. This is owing to the presence of birch-bark tar, which is used in dressing the skins, in place of tallow and grease, the latter substances being so largely used as food among the lower classes. This tar, which is carefully saved as it exudes from the wood when burned, was first used as a substitute for wheel grease in Russia, as it is to this day, and then for the filling and dressing of skins.

By a system of careful inquiry, and literally following his nose during his visits to some of the great Russian tanneries and curriers' shops, Mr. Jewell found this compound in a great kettle ready for use, and thus the mystery was solved. It is not an expensive article, costing something like ten dollars a barrel, and he immediately ordered ten barrels and sent them to various leading leather manufacturers in this country with instructions, and the result is that genuine Russia leather goods are now made in America, and doubtless will soon be sold at prices fifty per cent. below former prices. Commercial Bulletin.

The Fearful Ride of a Tramp.

He boarded a train at Omaha, and after having been ejected from several trains, he reached Green river, in Wyoming. Here the train men became more vigilant, and the dead-head saw that he must find a very secure hiding place. Accordingly, while the train men were busy, he crawled into the fire box of a stationary engine that was standing on a flat car, and which was going through to San Francisco. Soon after the train started some one shut the engine door, and the man was a prisoner. He could not sit down, and could barely turn around, and in this way he rode for four days and nights, without a mouthful of food or drink, excepting a few crackers he had in his pockets. When the train arrived at Verdi, Nevada, a distance of nearly nine hundred miles from Green river, he attracted the attention of the conductor by scratching on the inside of the engine with his finger nails. He was liberated almost dead with cold and hunger.—Truckee Republican.

—In Texas quack doctors have to pass a rigid examination in medical science before they can collect their bills.

—One of the bills now pending in the Wisconsin Legislature abolishes sentences of imprisonment for specific periods in punishment of crime, and leaves convicts in prison until the warden believes they are "thoroughly reformed."

—The report that Senator Christiancy was rejoicing in an addition to his family is denied. The report has been the occasion of considerable annoyance, in the way of letters of congratulation and numerous gifts for the non-existent little stranger.

What the Bilious Require.

Sance torpidity of the liver is the chief cause of its disorder, it is evident that what the bilious require is an alterative stimulant which will arouse it to activity, an effect that is followed by the disappearance of the various symptoms indicative of its derangement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably achieve the primary result mentioned, besides removing the constipation, flatulence, heart-burn, yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder, nausea, vertigo and sick headache, to which bilious invalids are peculiarly subject. As a remedy for chronic indigestion, mental despondency and nervousness the Bitters are equally efficacious, and as a renovant of lost vigor, a means of arresting premature decay, and a source of relief from the infirmities to which the gentler sex is peculiarly subject, they may be thoroughly relied upon.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, February 1st.

Albert E. Chamberlain, for being a common drunkard, was sentenced to three months at Brentwood and to pay costs, $6.90.

John McCloskey, for being drunk, was fined $3, costs $6.90. The same fellow, for resisting the police in the execution of their duty, was bound over in $100 to appear at a higher court.

John Griffy and Jennie M. Hanscom were before the Court on cross complaints, Griffy being charged with breaking and entering the house of William M. Hanscom, and Mrs. Hanscom with assaulting Griffy. The evidence seemed to show that the man forced his way into Hanscom's house and assaulted him, and that Mrs. Hanscom remonstrated, with a tea-kettle. The complaint against the latter was dismissed, and Griffy was bound over for a higher court.

JOTTINGS.

Tickets for the remainder of Mr. Albee's course of lectures, $1.50. For sale at Foster's book store.

The Byron Combination gave a really good entertainment on Thursday evening, to a fair audience; the performance merited a large audience.

The White Family gave a good concert at Franklin Hall on Wednesday evening, although the audience was not so large as the performance merited. Misses Ella and Josephine looked charmingly in their various jaunty costumes, and sang in a manner that won for them the most unbounded applause. The quartette singing was also good, and the glass piano a novelty. We understand that Mr. White is meeting with rare success in the towns round about us, in some instances singing two nights successively in one place to good audiences.

A boy named Welch, while skating on the North mill-pond Wednesday evening, broke through the ice and would have been drowned had not a companion rushed to his rescue with a fence rail and hauled him out therewith.

Mr. Horace Lunt, of Boston, read in the town hall at Newington to a good audience, Wednesday evening. His selections were happily chosen from Twain, Carlton, Moreley, Bret Harte, and other noted authors.

Mr. Henry L. Garrett, of this city, died suddenly of heart disease Thursday morning, in Greenland. He was at his store on Market street, Wednesday.

The school in Newington has been closed, the number of scholars having fallen from fifty-four to eighteen on account of the prevalence of the measles.

The young people connected with the Universalist Sunday school, with assistants, will soon present a new cantata.

Messrs. N. F. Mathes & Co. advertise Teas, Coffees, Sugars, etc.,—a full line of groceries,—at prices to suit the times, for cash. See advertising columns.

Thirty-seven able-bodied men occupied the corner near the post-office, Thursday afternoon, while a man was shovelling snow and ice off the roof of Exchange Building, to see that he did not fall off and hurt himself.

Governor Cheney has issued an order on the draping of the armories of the Second Regiment, and the wearing of crape on the swords of the officers of that regiment, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Lieutenant Colonel Jasper G. Wallace, of Dover.

The Latest Rat Story.

It was in the summer of '57, on board the steamer Chester Ashley, that we were laid up on account of low water, on the Arkansas River. The boat had become so overrun with rats that we were in danger of having the whole freight list to pay for. Our cargo consisted almost entirely of bacon and flour, and they had perforated it in every direction. As a last experiment to get rid of them we had the entire load carried ashore, and then commenced a grand rat hunt. The animals all took to the hold, among our innumerable salt boxes, and under the dunnages found shelter, that but few could be dislodged and killed. It was in this emergency that the genius of the chief engineer shone forth with dazzling brilliancy.

"Let's," said he, "turn steam into the hold and run 'em out."

This being agreed upon, and while he was raising steam in the nigger boiler, the rest of us went around stopping them all except one hole which came through the deck a few feet from the ice-chest. This ice-chest was a favorite resort for the old rodents, for in it were kept the delicacies of the table. Pies, fruit and choice cake were in there. I suppose the rats looked upon this place as a sort of free Saratoga. At all events, they would put in a few hours of every night there, and this might represent their seasons.

The ice-chest was about eight feet square, with the opening on top, that is, our opening; the rats had theirs through the back, close down to the deck. This we also left open, and this arrangement left the rats only one hiding place on the main deck.

Steam now being ready, and a cook opened to let it into the hold, I took my station where I could see the "varmints" as they defiled from their unteasable cover to one they thought more promising, and it was a study for a saw mill man. As the steam filled the hold they commenced the line of march; first came a venerable old chap on whose head the frosts of many winters had settled. He passed along with a measured gait, slowly moving his head from side to side, as though he said, "Boys, I am afraid you've got us this time," and he seemed to be astonished that no missiles were hurled at him, but was allowed to enter the ice-chest unharmed. During his march, another—not a "sister"—kept his head out of the deck hold, watched his progress, and when he saw him safely housed, out he came too, and made the march unmolested. This seemed to be all they waited for, for they then poured out in an unbroken stream, and they were all there.

The wife whose babe first smiled that day;
The fair fond bride of yester eve;
The aged sire; the matron grey; and all the young bucks kept coming until I thought they had some way of getting from the chest to the hold again and were keeping up an unbroken circle. But at length there happened breaks in the procession, then these breaks became more frequent and of greater duration, and after a while they came in single individuals and in more of a hurry, for the holds were getting hot, and later they came slower and less hair on them, and the last one looked sick, didn't seem to care whether he got anywhere or not, as he passed me he cast a look of holy scorn and holy sadness, as if to say, "You fellows think you're smart; you ought to be ashamed," and, to tell the truth, I was. I felt the same impulse to save its life that actuated Pocahontas on a historical occasion, and from an association of ideas, I named this rat John Smith.

And now they were all in the chest and the hole plugged. We called a council of war as to the best way to finish them. The engineer wanted to carry out his design and turn the steam on them and cook them alive; but the old man wanted some fun; he had a couple of imported Scotch terriers, full of blood and long hair, and there was just such a chance to try their metal as he had long yearned for. So he raised the lid top, dropped them in, and closed the door with the remark, "Go for 'em, boys." Then he took out his watch.

They must have "went for 'em," for the sounds that followed were a mixture of yelps, howls and tiny squeaks, mingled with a rattling, surging sound, as though the life within was combined and trying to knock out first one end of the chest and then the other. The old man would sing out at intervals, "Go for 'em boys!" then he would wink at us, shut one eye, double himself half up, and raise his right leg as though he were in an ecstacy of enjoyment.

At length all inside became quiet, and he looked at his watch again. "Sixteen and a half minutes," said he. "Now, men let us turn the chest over and count the rats, for I think them pups have knocked the spots off all former records."

We turned it over, the lid flew open, and a whole flood of rats came pouring out like bees from an upturned hive.

We had to clear the track until they all escaped, and when we looked int he box, those dogs were in more small pieces than ever dogs, not made into sausage, were before. They looked as though they had been dead a month, and one solitary rat kept them company—and it was John Smith.

A Story About Vanderbilt.

"A Traveller" writes to the Cincinnati Times: An amusing thing came under my observation between Vanderbilt and Lloyd, the map man, in New York, in 1867. Lloyd wanted a pass over the Central Railroad for one of his agents, and Vanderbilt refused it. A week after this Lloyd completed his famous Relief Railroad Map of the United States, a shade larger than the New York Herald, printed on one sheet of strong banknote paper, on a lightning press, and sold it, like a newspaper, all over the country; the sale was tremendous, several news dealers ordering 100,000 copies at a single order. Lloyd had the railroads on this map about as broad as an ordinary penholder, very distinct and clear. To make old Vanderbilt angry he lifted out of the electrotype plate the New York Central Railroad from New York City to Buffalo, and the Lake Shore Railroad and its connections from Buffalo to Chicago, and issued the cheap ten-cent map without their lines on the map at all. There was a white, canal-like blank space in the map where these railroads had been leading from New York to Chicago, that looked curious enough. Well, Lloyd mailed copies of every edition, not only to Vanderbilt, but to all the stockholders, bondholders, ticket agents, freight agents, and all in any way connected with the Central Railroad. Old Vanderbilt swore and raved and threatened to sue Lloyd for damages, but every issue made, Lloyd would mail the Commodore and his crowd copies of the railroad map without his line and connections shown on it, until Vanderbilt yielded and sent passes by the wholesale to Lloyd, and to the day of his death he never refused Lloyd, the map man, all the passes he wanted. Vanderbilt would jump up and down every time he saw a copy of that map with the canal from New York to Chicago running along the course of his track, and his track invisible.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extensive reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many case of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvelous thing."

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. PERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS:—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING Co., Pa.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Foll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria coats the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—A New Brunswick exhibitor went back to Canada from the Centennial without an award for his shingle-making machine, and maliciously insists that the judge didn't know what shingles were till, after a painfully minute description, he recognized them as a "species of wooden slates."

—A Washington wag, who was converted at the late revival, met an old friend the other day, who invited him to take a drink. "Don't drink any more," was the response; "didn't you know that I was allied to the church?" "Allied to the devil!" exclaimed the friend with surprise. "Oh, no," said the other, "I was allied to him before—by marriage."

—Fifteen years ago, menhaden or "porgy" oil was scarcely known in the market. Since that time, the manufacture has steadily increased, and to-day it is an important branch of industry along the coast of New England, particularly in Maine. In quantity the production of this oil nearly equals that of whale oil, while in value the menhaden interest exceeds that of the whale, for, though the oil sells for less per gallon, the refuse obtained from the manufacture sells for $15 a ton for a fertilizer. The oil is used by painters in preference to linseed, and, by a new-discovered process of an eastern chemist, can be prepared for lubricating purposes. There are now seventy-five factories for the reduction of the oil, with an invested capital of $3,000,000, giving employment in the season to nearly 4,000 men, 250 sailing vessels, and thirty steamers. The product of 1876 is estimated at 3,000,000 gallons of oil and 40,000 tons of guano.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"DEAR NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers on boys by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of each Month," which will be likely to surpass in delicacy and beauty on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and instruction, in Science and Frolic, and, wisest of wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to cap it with equal profusion of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. . . . The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS still-book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty ordinary volumes of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of seven fifty pagers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Mary Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

"Social suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are. "The Reign of Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hints on a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports, Field and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Wilkins.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its influences and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number.

Specimen copy, 25 cents.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep, Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-two, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"the Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head. He can do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago, hearing of them, I got some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. You may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried Allen's celebrated Neuralgia Pills, but to no result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and yet suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, that I might be the only sufferer for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have spoken very highly of the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Rowland Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Müller, F. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and interesting without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it endeavors itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—DEAR SIR: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

FURNITURE — AND — UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Mechanics, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of the Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Factors, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, in connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws of the U. S., and 140 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of general interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributors now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and healthy story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. MRS. LUCY H. HOOPER'S Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that position which it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its longest established reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Prof. W. K. Clifford, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Miss Brightwen, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, and criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weekly, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send, gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best mind of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

Notices of the Press.

For strictly household matters and dress, Harper's Bazar is altogether the best thing published. To take it is a matter of economy. No lady can afford to be without it, for the information it gives will save her very much more money than the subscription price, besides giving the household an interesting literary visitor.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Bazar is purely illustrated, and contains stories, poems, sketches, and essays of a most attractive character. As to its literary and artistic features, the Bazar is unquestionably the best journal of its kind in the country.—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT PAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In all cases, except where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, cures sickness, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA, in CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—if you follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 columns in all; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers, not a body one not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 50 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

The reliable house of ALEX. PROTHINGHAM & Co., No. 12 Wall St., New York, offer to the public a humorous eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Review, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. PROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of long experience and proved integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Puts and Calls" on all the stocks, "now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

All new Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive this paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and special, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, so as to throw light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-filled review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Hat in Church.

Of all the various expedients by which ingenious church-goers have endeavored to safely dispose of their hats, there is not one that has not been proved to be fallacious. To hold one's hat continually in one's lap is practicable only in a Quaker meeting house, where the worshippers remain seated during the entire service, and never use any devotional implements, such as prayer-books and hymn-books. No man could successfully balance a hat in one hand and find the Epistle for the twenty-second Sunday after Trinity with the other hand; while to stand up in order to repeat the Creed or to sing a hymn with a hat under the left arm, would be the height of absurdity. The hat, then, must be laid entirely aside during divine service, and our churches, being constructed with exclusive reference to souls instead of hats, afford no resting-places for the latter.

The extreme danger of placing a hat in the aisle immediately outside the pew is universally known. The first lady that sweeps up the aisle carries with her a confused mass of defenceless hats, which are deposited in the shape of a terminal moraine in front of the pew which is her final goal. Of course the hats which have been subjected to this process are reduced by attrition to a rounded form and are covered with scratches, reminding one of the marks of glacial action on granite boulders. However interesting they may be to the geologist, they are of no further value as hats, and can rarely be bent into a shape that will allow their owners to wear them home. Next to the aisle, the pew seat is the most dangerous position in which a hat can be placed. Statistics show that out of every one hundred hats thus situated, sixty are sat upon by their owners, thirty-five are sat upon by other people, and only five escape uninjured. It is a curious fact that more men sit down on their hats after repeating the Creed than after reading the Psalms or performing any other perpendicular part of the service; and another curious fact is the attraction which a hat thus exposed upon a seat exerts upon a fat person. Neither of these facts has ever been satisfactorily explained, although they are matters of general notoriety. A man may enter a remote pew in a strange church, and place his hat on the seat in a position where it is impossible for a fat man to perceive it on entering the church. Nevertheless, experience has shown that in six cases out of ten the sexton will show a fat man into that precise pew within ten minutes after the hat is in position, while other and further fat men will, from time to time hover about the locality, with the evident desire of ascertaining if the hat is still susceptible of further smashing. There is clearly a law of nature at work here which needs to be definitely formulated, and it is discreditable to science that this has not yet been done.

As to putting one's hat on the floor underneath the seat, no one who follows this reckless course can expect anything but disaster. If there is a small boy in the pew, he will infallibly discover that hat, and kick it to the further end of the pew within the first thirty minutes of the service. If there is a lady in the pew, a surgical operation will be required to remove her boot from the interior of the hat; while in any event the hat is certain to absorb every particle of dust within a radius of eight feet, and to fasten itself to the floor with the aid of forgotten Sunday-school gum-drops. Neither under the seat, on the seat, nor in the aisle, can the worried hat find rest, and the plan of establishing a hat pound in the vestibule, where hats could be ticketed and kept during the service, would simply result in converting a church into a hat-exchange, where the sinners would secure all the good hats, and the saints would be compelled to content themselves with worn-out and worthless ones.—Home Journal.

Treatment of Horses.

1. Shoes—If horses are sharp-shod in icy weather they can pull large loads to greater advantage; it is poor economy to deglect the proper shoeing of horses, which may by such neglect be seriously injured.

2. Blankets, etc.—Horses should be protected by blankets or water-proof covers from rain or snow, while standing. The cost of a blanket is very small, and its use would repay the outlay very many times.

Any woollen or other protection placed under the pad or saddle, and extending back over the hips, will be found very useful, as protecting a weak part of the animal.

3. Clipping—The clipping of horses at this season is considered to be at least imprudent, and by this society, inhuman; owners are respectfully urged to allow the animals to retain the covering which nature has provided.

4. Check Reins—Work horses, if at all, should be checked very low; they can thus pull to greater advantage, protect their eyes from rain or snow, and are less liable to stumble or injure themselves. It will be noticed that the city railway companies have largely abandoned the use of check reins.

5. Bits—It is prudent to warm with the hands, or otherwise, bits before placing them in the horse's mouths.

—They have pretty little girls for pages in the Kansas Legislature, and the House won't adjourn till Christmas.

Tilden's Correspondence.

We venture to say there is not a man in the nation who believes such a dispatch as the following could be found in any telegraph office in the land, addressed to Governor Hayes:

"PORTLAND, OREGON, December 1.

Hon. S. J. Tilden, 15 Gramercy Park, New York: Heed scantiness cramp emerge peroration hot-house survivor bronze of pirmeter dottish hot-house exactness of services highest cunning dottish of a galvanic survivor by accordingly respectful merciless of Senator in consequence coalesce.

GOBBLE."

It would occasion the greatest surprise if any such dispatch had been sent to Governor Hayes. No one is astonished that it was sent to Tilden. It seems to be generally regarded as quite in form for him to be found engaged in all sorts of schemes and intrigues for the carrying on of which recourse had to be had to a thieves' dictionary.

The Rules of the Commission.

The Electoral Commission has adopted the following rules, under the authority of the recent act of Congress:

Rule 1.—The Commission shall appoint a Secretary, two Assistant Secretaries, a Marshal and two Deputy Marshals, a stenographer, and such messengers as shall be needful, to hold during the pleasure of the Commission.

Rule 2.—On every subject submitted to the Commission, a hearing shall be had, and a counsel shall be allowed to conduct the case on each side.

Rule 3.—Counsel not exceeding two in number on each side will be heard by the Commission on the merits of any case presented, not longer than two hours being allowed to each side, unless a longer time and additional counsel shall be specially authorized by the Commission, and in the hearing of interlocutory questions but one counsel shall be heard on each side, and he not longer than fifteen minutes, unless the Commission allow further time and additional counsel, and private arguments will be received.

Rule 4.—The objectors to any certificate or vote may select two of their number to support their objections in an oral argument; and in like manner the objectors to any other certificate may select two of their number for a like purpose, but under this rule not more than four persons shall speak, and neither shall occupy more than two hours.

Rule 5.—Applications for a process to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of written or documentary testimony may be made by the counsel on either side, and all processes shall be served and executed by the Marshal of the Commission or his deputies. Depositions hereafter taken for use before the Commission shall be sufficiently authenticated if taken before any Commissioners of the Circuit Courts of the United States or any clerk or deputy clerk of any court of the United States.

Rule 6.—Admission to the public sittings of the Commission shall be regulated in such manner as the President of the Commission shall direct.

Rule 7.—The Commission will sit, unless otherwise ordered, in the room of the Supreme Court of the United States, and with open doors excepting when in consultation.

After the rising of the Congressional Convention, Thursday, the three sets of electoral votes from Florida, with the objections made to the counting of each set, were laid before the three-cornered Commission.

On Friday, Field and Ran. Tucker argued the Florida case from the Tilden standpoint.

Democratic Mare's Nests.

David Dudley Field, the Tammany lawyer sent to Congress by Tilden to advance his interests, turns out to be adept in all the arts of the Tombs pettifogger, but entirely innocent of statesmanship, or even judicious shrewdness. He manages Tilden's affairs as he would a court case—before a Tammany jury. Recently he made a great splurge over "an altered return of the Louisiana Returning Board," presented by one Littlefield, an acknowledged forger and perjurer; all the democratic papers in the land hastened to shout, "That settles it! that gives Tilden the vote of Louisiana!" But it turns out that the same fellow (Littlefield) offered the same precious document to Congressman Morrison, when the latter was in New Orleans hunting up evidence to help Tilden, and that Mr. Morrison, bitter partisan though he is, refused to have anything to do with it or with its holder; further, that even if Littlefield's self-condemning story was true it would not interfere with the electoral vote; and finally, that his story is false in every partirular, and utterly without foundation, and proved so by the records. Also, it was brought out in examination—but not through the questioning of Mr. Field—that Littlefield had been mildly "coached" by Mr. Field before he was called before the committee. Whether or no he received a wholesome fee—for travelling and legal expenses—from Mr. Tilden, as Cronin did, is not stated.

Next Mr. Field trots out one Maddox, who testifies before the committee that he came to the North as a messenger from Ex-Governor Wells, of the Louisiana Returning Board, empowered to sell the electoral vote of Louisiana to Tilden in case the republicans would not pay the price asked. Maddox swears that he offered to sell the vote of Louisiana to John Morrissey for $550,000, but that eminent reformer was not willing to pay more than $100,000; also Mr. Maddox saw President Grant and the Secretary of War, but didn't manage to dispose of his wares. The story may be true, or have a basis of truth; but so far it has much more the appearance of being a desperate trick resorted to by the men who sought to buy an electoral vote in Louisiana and one in South Carolina, and who did buy Gov. Grover of Oregon and the ruby-nosed Cronin, in Tilden's interest. If the whole affair should turn out to be a job put up by the Tammany-Tilden counsel, David Dudley Field, no one would be surprised.

On Friday, Maddox was again before the committee, and testified that he is a man of the highest honor and "acted on broad moral grounds" in trying to get Tilden's friends to buy Louisiana.

Gen. Anderson, one of the Returning Board, was before the committee and gave the lie direct to all Maddox's statements, so far as he was concerned or knew. Gen. Anderson also testified that Dr. W. A. Robeson, a democratic State senator of Louisiana, offered him $200,000 to secure the State for Tilden.

The Eastern Muddle.

European dispatches says Russia does not care to encounter the Turkish troops in their present condition, nor does she wish to abandon the campaign altogether. She trusts that she can support the strain of a prolonged mobilization better than Turkey. She will therefore keep the troops on the frontier, thus compelling Turkey to do the same. If Turkey follows Russia's example, it is expected that before many months the people will demand peace at any price, because of the consequent financial collapse. If, however, Turkey in desperation decides to anticipate the Russian attack, the Russians are sufficiently confident of the result, as they would then fight in their own country. The Russians, in order to redouble their pressure on Turkey, will probably cross the Pruth, if not immediately, at least at a later stage. It is not likely that she will attempt the Danube until Turkey's fighting spirit is sensibly diminished by delay. With the view of these contingences the Russian army is continually being increased, while all the southern fortresses are being made ready for defence. It is because of these circumstances that Turkey thinks it is necessary to ask Servia for guarantees against participation in a possible resumption of hostilities. Russia is employing her time well. War preparations are continued with energy and on a larger scale than before. Nothing has been done hitherto which would indicate that the beginning of war is very close at hand, but the preparations leave no doubt of a determination to follow up war if it breaks out. The reserve observed hitherto and the feverish activity in arming may be taken as tolerably sure indications that Russia will not speak until she is quite prepared for any contingency which may follow.

The mobilization of the Russian Imperial Guard has been ordered to take place as soon as practicable.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.

The weight of opinion as heard in and about the House, Senate and hotel lobbies, relative to the final decision of the arbitration commission, is favorable to a victory for Hayes. Well-known democrats have expressed themselves in that direction since the final vote in the House Friday afternoon; and the feeling is almost universal among members of that party, that, even if Hayes is declared winner, a portion of the republican party has so committed itself to a conservative policy by the incoming administration, that they have gained much by the stubborn contest made in Tilden's behalf; and I believe a large majority of the dissenting republicans, content with their record in opposition, are rather glad than otherwise that a peaceful way out of what promised to be an almost interminable struggle, has been found by the compromise plan of the Joint Committee. It is argued that had either Hayes or Tilden been seated under the circumstances as they existed prior to its adoption, had there been no open revolt, the next four years must have been exceedingly stormy ones, deranging business and increasing the irritation already felt; but as now arranged, no impediment exists to the practical pacification of the country and to the dismission of war issues from national politics; and, indeed, the situation must be regarded as hopeful when we see such leaders as Conkling and Edmunds on the republican side of the "bloody chasm" extending clean hands to Thurman and Bayard upon the other.

The election of Benjamin Hill to the Senate from Georgia, is also received with much pleasure by moderate men of both parties, who are apparently waiting for the hallowed work of reconciliation. Mr. Hill has come to be better understood during the past year, and the cordial congratulation tendered him by Mr. Blaine is pointed to as a significant indication of our progress towards an era of good feeling and positive friendship between sectional constituencies.

Charity is to be popularized and society leaders and their followers are to be utilized in the good work of feeding and clothing the hundreds of perishing ones with which our city abounds. Organized efforts are also being made to actively interest every resident who is able to contribute an hour's time, a loaf of bread or a cast-off garment. Soup houses have been established and the butchers have responded very liberally. Invitations from the ladies of several of our leading hotels for "pound parties," charitable masquerades, hops, etc., are already out, filling up the evenings of the present week. Even the pupils of some of our schools are devising entertainments for the same commendable purpose.

The first fruits of the reorganization of our police department were plucked at two policy shops of the "Division," a very disreputable locality, which the police raided on Saturday night, capturing their keepers, quite a number of patrons and all the paraphanalia. Major Richards, Chief of Police, and several of his detectives, have been suspended from the active duties of office, pending their trial on charges preferred against them, and Mr. Gatchell, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is acting Chief of Police.

Moulton, the real estate man who absconded after victimizing some of our banks and many of our citizens to the estimated extent of $100,000, and who returned here with the view, evidently, of compromising on a small per centage, has been lodged in the District Jail. It is reported that he received a severe pommeling at the hands of some of his exasperated creditors. He waived an examination when arrested, and begged the reporters to remember mercy. He appeared haggard and utterly broken down. KNOX.

News and Notes.

Gold was down to 104 7-8 on Thursday, closing at 105. This is the lowest since March, 1862.

The commendations of those who have been its guests, is the best advertisement for the American House of Boston. This great hotel is centrally and most conveniently located, is supplied with all modern improvements, and is a most desirable home for the visitor to Boston.

The King of Sweden, the Crown Prince and Prince John of Glucksburg have been initiated in to free masonry.

The Senate committee on the election reports that Frost of Missouri, Halliday of Virginia and Williamson of New Jersey, Tilden electors in their several States, were all ineligible; that vacancies in each case were filled, which the remaining electors had legal power to do in New Jersey and Virginia, but not in Missouri. The committee further say that according to the Grover-Cronin rule three republicans were chosen in place of the three democrats named.

Consumption.

This dread disease, if allowed to have its own way, is sure to become incurable. The great trouble with persons afflicted is that they fail to procure proper remedies in season, forgetting that "A stitch in time saves nine," and that likewise diseases can be broken up or averted if persons will only give the matter attention, as soon as they discover that they are thus threatened. The inventor of the Cough and Lung Syrup, Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., claims for his remedy—and not without reason—if taken in the early stages of the disease, never failing cure, and even in the worst cases, relief will be attained, and life prolonged. This remedy is for sale by all druggists, at fifty cents per bottle.

The Gospel of Merit.

Where there is so much rivalry as in the manufacture of family medicines, he who would succeed must give positive and convincing proof of merit. This is an age of inquiry. People take nothing for granted. They must know the "whys" and "wherefores" before acknowledging the superiority of one article over another. Among the few preparations that have stood the test, those manufactured by R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., have for many years been foremost. The truth of any statement made concerning them can be easily ascertained, for Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are now prescribed by many physicians in curing obstinate cases of catarrh and incipient consumption. The Discovery has no equal in curing coughs, colds, bronchial and nervous affections. It allays all irritation of the mucous membrane, aids digestion, and when used with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets readily overcomes torpid liver and constipation, while the Favorite Prescription has no rival in the field of prepared medicine in curing diseases peculiar to females. If you wish to "know thyself" procure a copy of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," an illustrated book of nearly 1000 pages, adapted to the wants of everybody. Price $1.50, postage prepaid. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Patrons of a first-class hotel justly consider themselves entitled to comfortable room, a bountiful bill of fare, and courteous treatment in the office. All these, combined with a notable degree of elegance throughout, are to be found at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Charles Newell was arraigned for drunkenness, and the offence being proved, and it being shown that he was only two days out of the County House at Brentwood, he was sent to jail for thirty days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

JOTTINGS.

One of the city horses came near taking a cold bath on Thursday, in the dock at Pier wharf. The horse had drawn a sled-load of snow off the street to the wharf, whence it was dumped into the dock, and in turning around the sled went off the wharf and would have taken the horse with it had it (the sled) not landed on a pair of steps. As it was the horse's hind feet were within a foot of the edge when the sled brought up, and a couple of shovels went into the drink. One of the shovels was recovered.

Schooner George L. Treadwell, of this port, before reported ashore on Chincoteague Shoal, and stripped, lies in a very bad position. So the ship-news columns of the metropolitan papers say. Capt. Taylor, master of the schooner, telegraphed from Franklin, Accomac County, Virginia, dated Jan. 31, as follows: "The report made by revenue cutter Hamilton about this vessel, ashore on Chincoteague Shoals, is incorrect. The vessel at this date is in good condition, and could be saved if a steam pump and tug could only come to the rescue. The cargo is lost. The vessel is slightly hurt, but as yet not bilged."

Subject at Bow Mission, Sunday: "The Cross a Burden, or a Crown."

Mr. B. F. Thorndike will address the Reform Club at Franklin Hall, Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "Temperance, and its relation to politics,—the Church—and the Rum Traffic." The speaker will give his experience, and observations of an eight years' residence in Portsmouth. The Braxton family of Jubilee Singers have volunteered to furnish music for the occasion. The usual fee of five cents will be charged.

We don't wish to be considered oversanguine or sanguinary. But we venture to predict that if Frank Jones goes to Congress again from New Hampshire he will go on his beer.—Lowell Courier.

At the Prohibitory Convention, Rev. George M. Park said he had been an earnest prohibitionist for years, but his confidence in the party had somewhat abated lately. When he saw the party helping to send the most noted brewer in the State to Congress, and throwing up its hat, when this man's triumph was announced, he questioned somewhat about the sincerity of its members. He believed it was the duty of those present to help elect temperance men and defeat liquor men by whatever party nominated, and to prevent the brewer from going back to Congress.

Eastern Railroad meeting in Boston on Monday, February 5th. Stock certificates in great demand. A special train will leave here at seven o'clock A. M., and run to Boston fifteen minutes ahead of the regular train.

Work in the bureau of construction at the navy yard was entirely suspended on Thursday evening.

The new church of the Universalist society at South Berwick, Me., was dedicated on Thursday, nearly if not quite one hundred visitors from this city being present. Invocation by Rev. E. M. Grant of this city; sermon by Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston Highlands, formerly of this city; address by Rev. S. S. Davis, of Biddeford; prayer by Rev. G. W. Quimby, D. D.

The December number of the West Shore, an illustrated monthly paper published at Portland, Oregon, contains a portrait gallery of prominent citizens of Washington Territory, including a good likeness of one of the Sons of Portsmouth, of whom it says: "Oliver F. Gerrish, senior of the firm of O. F. Gerrish & Co., of Port Townsend, was born at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, in 1831. Receiving a liberal education, he early turned his attention to mercantile pursuits in his native city. In January, 1864, he came to the Pacific Coast and engaged in business the same year at Port Townsend, where he has continued to the present time. He has repeatedly been elected one of the Commissioners of his county without distinction of party, is President of the Puget Sound Telegraph Co., which position he has filled since the construction of the line, and has occupied other positions of trust and responsibility, all of which he has filled with marked ability—his business habits and training having made his influence felt in every position."

Messrs. Butler & Laighton advertise new Turkey prunes for sale very cheap; also Albany biscuit, which are equal if not superior to any imported biscuit.

On Friday morning two big black Newfoundland dogs—noble-looking fellows—took a notion that they would eat each other, at the corner of Market street and Market square, and proceeded to carry out their benevolent intentions in the most expeditious manner and with the least possible annoyance to the public. They chewed and shook, and mopped up the sidewalk with each other for a brief period, making no other noises than a few harsh growls; then one of them got a good grip and held on; a well-behaved crowd collected, including a man with a bucket of water which he poured on the dogs, and the owners of the two animals, who after choking them apart led them away to do penance in disgrace. It was the best-regulated and most decorous dog-fight for a long time.

REMARKABLE FORTITUDE.

On Friday morning Robert E. Rich, Esq., slipped upon an icy sidewalk, and in falling fractured his leg so badly as to preclude the possibility of its ever being made serviceable again, notwithstanding which he was navigating around town on crutches during the afternoon. There is no wonder that a man who can display such pluck and fortitude as that should win an enviable war record, as was done by Lieut. Rich.

SEABROOK.

The school war in South Seabrook still rages. The School Committee has ordered a division of the scholars into two schools, but the Prudential Committee has made no provision for carrying out the order; each committee has secured counsel, and lively times are anticipated. In 1866 the town paid to this district $170; the amount has been increased almost every year since, and this year the district receives over $400; but though the sum received is so large, only about half the children of the district can receive any benefit from it.

Mr. Charles Knowles, while splitting wood some weeks ago, had one of his eyes injured by a flying splinter; a cataract resulted, and on Monday, Jan. 29th, he went to Boston to have it removed.

Quite a religious interest is prevailing in South Seabrook; meetings are held every night. Since the visit of the Young Men's Christian Association in December some thirty persons have risen for prayers. On Sunday evening, Jan. 28th, the vestry was filled, it being the tenth anniversary of the first meeting held in the district schoolhouse, which resulted in the formation of a church society and the building of the Congregational church. Fifty children did the singing; and Rev. Wm. A. Rand gave an address, reviewing the past and giving the outlook for the future. Forty grown persons were present who were children when Mr. Rand commenced his work. Rev. Frank Winn was present from Amesbury, Mass., and gave an account of the revival now in progress there.

Mr. Sumner Beals met with a painful accident on Thursday. He runs a shoe express to Lynn, and was at the Seabrook freight station; he had drawn his box-sleigh up beside a car and was standing on the seat trying to unfasten the car-door, when his horse started and tumbled him over the back of the sleigh. He struck on his head on the ice, and received a cut extending from the top of his head to the centre of his forehead and thence to the right temple, the scalp being torn away from the skull so as to fall on the side of his head. He replaced the scalp as well as he could, drove to the passenger station and took the cars for Hampton, where a doctor was procured. ENO.

New Hampshire Items.

Thomas Gould, John M. Whon and G. W. Alden of New York, auctioneers, who have been selling a large bankrupt stock of dry goods, etc., at the auction rooms of Shattuck & Emerson, in Concord, were arrested Thursday evening for selling by auction without a license and arraigned before the Police Court. The hearing was postponed until Monday. The arrest occasioned no little excitement among the dry goods men, who claim that their trade has been materially injured by this auction sale.

The station agent of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad at West Epping had both legs cut off by the upward train, Wednesday.

—No two nations agree exactly with each other as to what constitutes female beauty. The Moors estimate women by their weight, as we do beef cattle, and purchase them at so much a hundred. The favorites of the Chinese have deformed feet, black teeth and long nails. A girl painted sky-blue, with a ring through her nose, is the acme of loveliness to a Tonga islander. The Venetians almost worship red hair; and so national tastes vary.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it]

CURES COLDS, COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations are true to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a follock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. BILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted — like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Cromp, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents fevers fever, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Sand on Wet Land

There can be no question as to the value of sand or gravel on muck meadow lands. This mixing of sand with the muck has been so long practiced, that nearly if not quite all say it is good. The best, if not the only time to attend to this work is in the winter, when the ground is frozen so as to bear up horses or oxen. Years ago we used sand on our meadow land, and found the work could in this way be done to great advantage. It was at a time when there was little else to do, and if there was some snow it was very easy getting round, and the land could be covered with sand at a moderate expense. There are many acres of valuable land that could and ought to be redeemed and made to yield grass. It needs to be drained and then treated to a good coating of sand or gravel. Manure will not be amiss, though good crops of grass will be produced year after year with little manure. It should be remembered that sand so applied is in the nature of a permanent improvement, once for all time.—J. F. O. Hyde.

—The immense cotton crop raised the past year in the South is valued at $300,000,000, and the greater portion of this sum has been left in the hands of the farmers, planters and laborers in the Southern States. The Southern cotton planter is more independent to-day than he has ever been. He has raised for the last two years nearly all his meat and bread, and has even sold off a surplus of such articles in many places.

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be the aim and purpose of ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ t the choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or verse, are fresh, and full of vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both admirable."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS 25th Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (many illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

"NICHOLAS MINTURN,"

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seventeen" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

ise, practical suggestions as to town and country fe, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," "In the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Penny-a-Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Specimen items on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL!

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

☞ No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23th their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and ninety-six. As I am daily in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel obliged to inform you of my success; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, so as to do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing of them, but I gave him the last package I had; so you, as I did not need them, and as has not been a return from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Which helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried it do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have spent thousands of dollars and all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and trying medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 22, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the unpleasantering climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proc. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers; for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements.- Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this periodical, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,
"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"
by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.
To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation. Of his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.
2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of
SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,
by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.
3. A series of popular papers on
ART AND ART MATTERS,
by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.
4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled
THE ROADS FROM SPAIN,
by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.
5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant
PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,
will be continued through the year.
6.
THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,
will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.
7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated articles, descriptive of Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

The New-York TRIBUNE.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation
AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, bound to no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in republican party, but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The Tribune never has been profaned by a thing which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article brought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets she has recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Its Sermons, Its Addresses, its pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-sustained publication has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness all the essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented, and in most cases, the best living authors, such as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year), is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the events of both home and foreign life, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or Scribner, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

"A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction."

Harper's Bazar.

Notices of the Press.

For strictly household matters and dress, Harper's Bazar is altogether the best thing published. To take it is a matter of economy. No lady can afford to be without it, for the information it gives will save her very much more money than the subscription price, besides giving the household an interesting literary visitor.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Bazar is profusely illustrated, and contains stories, poems, sketches, and essays of a most attractive character. * * * In its literary and artistic features, the Bazar is unquestionably the best journal of its kind in the country.—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a cheap, sure, most interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often corroborative arguments of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

CHILDREN TEETHING.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are lavish in its praise, and all speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS by

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest and health to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every parent who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yea, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns. The six-day weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for bolder pretension, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, and opposed to government by money, by ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body new not far from one million souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and will in that case, when sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a copy, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every prominent bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are recognized leaders of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "puts and calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All new Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country, and contributes to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Maine's State Prison.

In the first place, how came Thomaston to be fixed upon as the location of the prison? One reason is, it was at the time a central position and had an accessible harbor, quite a consideration before the advent of railroads. But there was another reason, and a young lady and a love affair were mixed up with it. Lord Finker, an English nobleman, but not at all in sympathy with the American cause, owned a vast tract of country, including that whereon the prison is now located. He lived in Boston, where Captain Knox (afterwards our own honored General Knox) had a company of picked men that he was in the habit of drilling daily. Their splendid evolutions and the personnel of their stalwart, handsome commander, attracted the attention of the nobleman's daughter, Lucy; in brief, she fell in love with our young American captain, sent for him, and told him frankly and plainly that if he wanted a wife, she was ready to fill that position. They were married, war broke out (not in consequence of the marriage, however), the nobleman fled to England, a portion of his estates were confiscated, but a vast area fell to Knox's wife, and Knox became the possessor of land in Thomaston and vicinity thirty miles square. There he built a magnificent mansion and exhibited a hospitality hitherto unparalleled. He made friends of the Indians, and would provide barbecues for them, slaughtering whole oxen and flocks of sheep, which his visitors would consume in and about his mansion, remaining for days at a time, and waking the echoes with songs, laughter and story-telling. But the mansion, which overlooked the sea and vast extent of country, was allowed to decay, and about six years ago the historic pile was taken down. Even the bones of Knox were not allowed to remain where they were originally laid at rest, but were dug up and carted to another place, and they tell the story now that in their new resting place they are mixed with the remains of another person; so that Knox & Company could with propriety be engraven upon the tombstone. William King, our first Governor, came into possession of the property. A commission was appointed in 1823 to locate the State House and State Prison; they made a tour of observation all over the United States, for the purpose of adopting the best plans, and as the Chairman of the Commission, Dr. Rose, lived in Thomaston, local pride, coupled with the influence of Governor King, owner of the land, had weight in locating the prison at Thomaston, and about six acres were bought for that purpose, the price paid being $8000. The report of Dr. Rose, in the light of the present plan of the prison management and discipline, is a literary curiosity. He would have the very appearance of the structure itself a terror to the trembling victim on whom the iron door is closed, and admit just enough light into the lonesome cell to allow the condemned man to read the New Testament.—Kennebec Journal.

A Very Singular Case.

A year ago a telegraph operator in Ohio was charged with the robbery of Adams Express Company, near Akron, but on being tried was finally acquitted. He then left the locality and went to Chicago. During the recent work of Moody and Sankey in that city he has experienced religious influence and in consequence made a confession of his guilt. He at once went back to Akron, gave himself up, and, as he could not be tried twice for the same offence, was put on trial for perjury and convicted. The perjury consisted of the false testimony which he gave on his own behalf on his former trial. For this he has just been sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. On pronouncing sentence, the judge manifested deep feeling and confessed that he discharged his duty reluctantly, remarking that the case was without a parallel in his experience. This is an instance of sincerity that puts at least one man's character on a solid footing before his fellow-men.

Solid Cider.

Who has not heard of hard cider? But who has ever heard of solid cider? Well, we have. It was on exhibition at Philadelphia. The water of the cider is all evaporated, leaving a substance looking something like dried glue. The solid residue of the cider is rolled around a wooden roller, like cloth, and is ready for transportation across the ocean or elsewhere. If liquid cider is wanted, a piece is cut off and water poured on, when it is dissolved, and ready to drink, and it is said to be equal to the cider just from the press.—Coleman's Rural World.

—A snow storm such as has not occurred in the memory of man began on the 19th of December in Schleswig, Jutland, the Danish Islands and Sweden and Norway, and continued until Christmas. During all this time travel by ordinary roads and by railways was greatly impeded, and finally at many places suspended, and the steamboats between Copenhegen and Stockholm were obliged to discontinue their trips for some days. On the Danish State railways the snow lay twelve feet deep between Fridericia and Aarhus, fourteen feet deep between Aarhus and Randers, and Randers and Alborg, and seventeen feet deep at Vendussel.

Another Lie Nailed.

An article appeared recently in the New York Sun, giving an account of a revival meeting in Waterbury, Conn., at which the subject of temperance was discussed. Mr. George H. Cowell, who was chief clerk under Postmaster General Jewell, was present, and the Sun stated that Mr. Cowell said that he had seen President Grant so drunk, within the past twelve months, that he was unable to attend to business. Also that in the middle of last August the President was drunk for ten days, etc. This infamous slander has been extensively circulated by democratic papers, with infinite relish, but we have failed to see one that has copied the following extract from the Sun, dated two days after the article containing the slander:

"To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: My attention has been called to a recent article in your columns giving an account of a temperance meeting held in the Methodist church in this city on the evening of the 28th ult. While some stirring remarks were made by two of the speakers upon the strength of the rum power and the prevalence of drinking in high places, it is a sufficient refutation of the statement that I saw the President under the influence of liquor last August, to say that at that date I was in Denver, Colorado, and did not return East until several weeks thereafter. Although not a political admirer of General Grant, I should hardly deem it either modest or patriotic to set myself up as a public censor of the personal and social habits of the head of the nation.

GEO. H. COWELL.

Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 4."

A Queer Case.

A queer lawsuit is now in progress in Putnam county, New York, the object being to decide who married Mary Knox. That she was married to somebody is certain, and by a Rev. Mr. Dean. Mary swears her husband is John A. Merritt; Mr. Merritt swears he is not her husband, and will not be bull-dozed into officiating in that capacity; Merritt's counsel insists that Mrs. Knox's brother personated Merritt at the wedding; the clergyman who officiated is confident that he married Miss Knox to a man who in some respects resembled Mr. Merritt and in other respects Mr. Knox, but he doesn't think it was either of them, though he cannot tell who the guilty party really is; the court can't tell either, and unless other evidence can be produced it seems likely that Miss Knox will be in the same predicament in which Massachusetts places a woman whose husband is granted a divorce on account of her marital infidelity—that of a married woman without a husband.

News and Notes.

Herr Barth, the German explorer, surveying possessions in Africa for the Government of Portugal, committed suicide in Loando while delirious with fever. Herr Mohr, another German explorer, of the expedition searching for the sources of the Congo River, is dead.

Rev. Phoebe A. Hannaford has been removed from the pastorship of the First Universalist church of Jersey City, the members having voted in favor of employing a male pastor. She will start a church of her own. Quite a number of the above church are going with her.

The London Board of Trade have received through the Foreign Office, a note from the United States Minister forwarding a gold watch and chain, which have been awarded by the President of the United States to Capt. Thompson, of the steamer England, for his services to the American schooner Middlesex, and the French steamer St. Germain. Capt. Thompson rescued the crew of the Middlesex on a dark night, and at considerable risk, and afterwards the St. Germain, many of the passengers being citizens of the United States.

John Seidler, while in a well at Middle Village, near Washington, D. C., on Friday, was buried forty-eight feet deep by the caving in of the earth. He was alive some hours after the accident, manifesting this by pulling on the well-rope.

The President, Secretary and Actuary of the defunct Security Life Insurance Company have been indicted for perjury, and the Vice President for grand larceny and embezzlement.

At Brownfield, Me., on Wednesday, Arthur Pendexter, a boy of twelve years old, attempted suicide by taking Paris green. After taking the poison he threw away the cup so the other children could not get it, and informed Mrs. Moore, his father's housekeeper, what he had done. Antidotes were administered and his life saved. It seems his father had been engaged in a series of lawsuits, and his father's troubles had so worked upon the child's feelings as to drive him to the desperate act.

Two women and a man are under arrest in Philadelphia. They comprise the "Charity Relief Association." They hired a house, put out a sign, collected money from benevolent persons, and pocketed the proceeds. They are said to have operated in the same manner in other cities. The man professes to be a clergyman and looks like one. The women are glib, pretty and accomplished in the trick of getting subscriptions out of susceptible men.

Ship John H. Kimball, of Bath, Me., previously reported totally wrecked in the North Sea on the voyage from Amsterdam to Cardiff, was a new ship, and insured to the amount of $64,000.

British ship British King left Shields, Eng., May 28, for San Francisco, was spoken July 2, but has not since been heard of and is supposed to have gone down with all on board.

Steamer Georgia, the new vessel of the Pacific Mail Co's fleet, which got ashore in the Straits of Magellan on her outward passage to California, has been floated off and will proceed to San Francisco.

Steamers George Cromwell and George Washington, of the Halifax and Newfoundland line of packets, are still missing and both probably lost. The Cromwell had thirty-eight passengers on board.

Will A. Woods, the Biddeford defaulter, writes a letter to the Star explaining the cause of his crime. He says he used the money intending to replace it, but couldn't. He had only $27 when he ran away.

Political.

The Electoral Commission devoted Saturday to hearing arguments of counsel on the course to be pursued in dealing with the Florida certificates.

Maddox, Congressman Field's great gun of a witness, on Saturday produced the two letters from Ex-Gov. Wells concerning which the democratic lawyer and witness have had so much to say. One of these letters asks Maddox to lay the situation in Louisiana before the President, and the other warns Senator West that immense sums of money have been sent to Louisiana to be used in Tilden's interest; and that is all.

On Thursday, Maddox swore that he talked with Gen. Anderson, of the Returning Board, about selling out the State to Tilden; on Friday he swore that he did not mention the matter to any member of the Board but Wells. On being confronted with his statement of the day before, he said the reporter must have misunderstood him.

Fernando Wood, the noble hearted patriot who recommended the secession of New York city from the Union in 1861, and whom patriotic Americans in London refused a seat at their banquet once on a time, and who now represents one of the slum districts of New York, is heading the movement to impeach the hero of Appomattox for sending troops into the Southern States during the last canvass.—Lake Village Times.

William P. Wallace, the newly-installed Sheriff, was Friday arrested by the United States Marshal, on the charge of conspiring and aiding the escape of Charles Young from the custody of the United States Court, by whom he was held on the charge of illegal voting. Young was under arrest, and had also been partially examined as a witness, when he was run off. It was believed that he was an agent and procurer for those higher up in the management of the conspiracy, and that he would expose them if himself left to suffer any penalty. The kind of aid he found at hand for his escape shows how well founded was his opinion. Young fled to Philadelphia, where he was arrested for the murder of a colored school teacher in 1871, the occasion being that the teacher had taken an active part in the election, it being the first time that colored men were allowed to vote in that State. The arrest and the probable consequences will make a vacancy in the office of Sheriff of this county; for the penalty is both fine and imprisonment, and the case shown by the ex parte testimony is a most heinous one. This is only an incident of the outrageous frauds by which this county was carried by the democrats last fall.—Cinn. Gazette.

That cipher dispatch to Gov. Tilden from Oregon is one of the hardest nuts his friends have had to crack. With that injudicious haste which is characteristic of them they have rushed in with various explanatiops, intended to show that it was an entirely harmless message, as if it were the most common thing in the world to conceal a straightforward piece of information in cipher. Mr. Tilden himself, it will be noticed, is silent, and no one has ever pretended to speak for him. There is an anecdote told of the late President Wayland of Brown University which seems to fit this case. The celebrated Doctor had frequently labored to impress the truth of Baptist doctrines upon a wayward and brilliant son of the university, and while he had sometimes effected silence he had not secured conviction. With a desire to help the Doctor on in his work, a good but not especially powerfully-minded deacon of Providence one day accosted the unregenerate person and besought him earnestly to pay heed to the Docter's teachings. The man listened patiently for a time, and then said: "Thank you, Deacon, thank you. I've no doubt you believe what you say, and I respect you for saying it; but there's Dr. Wayland, confound him! he knows better."—N. Y. Tribune.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. E. Livermore, Episcopal rector at St. Peter, Minn., has in his possession a portrait of his grandfather, Samuel Livermore, a delegate to the Continental Congress, and a number of old and interesting letters. In a letter written to Judge Livermore, in 1778, President Mesbock Weare (the Governor of New Hampshire was then called President) begs the New Hampshire Representatives at Washington to be very economical, "for we had great difficulty," he says, "in getting hard money for your last draft for $50. We tried in Boston and other places, and at length got it in Providence." In another letter President Weare requested Judge Livermore to return to New Hampshire, in order to be elected Chief Justice, "for," adds the good old President naively, "I think it is advisable that the Chief Justice should be a person educated to the law."

Charles R. Whittaker, an adopted son of Peter Whittaker, of Hancock, died Friday morning of hydrophobia. His death took place sixty-three days after being bitten. His struggles were very severe and his death a hard one.

The youngest daughter of Peter White of Orford, thirteen years old, coming in contact with the stove, her clothes took fire. She, all in flames, rushed to the bed of her mother who was dangerously ill. The cries of both brought the father to their assistance, and he tore the child's clothes off, in several instances taking the skin with them. Though barely escaping death, she is not now considered in danger.

The City Council of Dover on Thursday night voted to reduce the salary of the Marshal to $750, of the Assistant-Marshal to $650, and of policemen to $600. The Council voted to postpone the election of Marshal to some other time. John Bruce was elected Health Officer, vice Colonel Wallace, deceased.

Frank P. Holt of Munsonville lost his left hand by being caught in the machinery in Colony & Sons' mills at Keene, Thursday.

—The aversion of the lordly tramp to any form of manual labor receives fresh proof almost daily. Any ordinary able-bodied tramp will work harder, suffer greater privations, and expend more brain force, in an effort to beat somebody out of a nickel, than would be required of him to earn an honest living for a week. At Logan, Ohio, a few days since, a number of tramps were arrested and placed in the lock-up preparatory to being put to work on the roads, according to a pleasant custom in vogue among the miners. The haughty instincts of the tramps rebelled at the prospect of shovelling. It was for them a moment of awful trial, but ingenuity, born of desperation, triumphed. In their lonely prison cells the tramps carefully removed what clothing they had, and stuffed it in the roaring stove, and when the cruel task-masters came to marshal them forth with pick and shovel, it needed no arguments to convince them that the prisoners were in no fit condition to face the winds of winter. It is not stated whether these waggish vagrants are to be supplied with clothing at the expense of the citizens, or kept on indefinitely in their present state around the warm stove in the lock-up. It will occur at once, though, to all intelligent persons, that they have, by this happy discovery, virtually abolished involuntary servitude in cold climates, and for this they will no doubt receive the honest gratitude of their kind.

—The Jewish Gazette in New York says the Bennett-May duel was the culmination of a Jesuit plot to get Bennett out of the way, and then, Miss Bennett, his sister, having fulfilled her twice-postponed intention to enter a convent, not only her own property, but also the Herald itself (of which she would be heir in case of James Gordon's death,) would fall into the hands of the church.

—Mr. Walker of Augusta was shot at the other day, and the ball lodged in a plug of tobacco in his pocket. The moral is obvious.

What the Bilious Require.

Since torpidity of the liver is the chief cause of its disorder, it is evident that what the bilious require is an alterative stimulant which will arouse it to activity, an effect that is followed by the disappearance of the various symptoms indicative of its derangement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably achieve the primary result mentioned, besides removing the constipation, flatulence, heart-burn, yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder, nausea, vertigo and sick headache, to which bilious invalids are peculiarly subject. As a remedy for chronic indigestion, mental despondency and nervousness the Bitters are equally efficacious, and as a renovant of lost vigor, a means of arresting premature decay, and a source of relief from the infirmities to which the gentler sex is peculiarly subject, they may be thoroughly relied upon.

—"I have fully resolved," he said, at the breakfast table, "not to touch a single drop of the old thing this year, so help me gracious!" His wife looked pleased, and all his friends congratulated him when they heard of the new departure. Next night when he went home at twelve o'clock he was hurrahing for General Jackson, and calling on the Louisiana Returning Board to know him out if he ever touched a drop of the old thing in his life. Subsequent developments revealed the fact that the old thing was water.

—The Southern magnate generally makes the utmost of his brief authority. Judge Mackey, of South Carolina, wears a gown in court in the English fashion, and Mr. Redfield, of the Cincinnati Commercial, has been told that the judge, in the rural districts, has the sheriff, with a drawn sword, to escort him back and forth from the court house to his hotel, thus strongly impressing the natives.

—"When I die," said a Court street man, "I want to go where there is no snow to shovel." His wife said she presumed he would.—Rome Sentinel.

JOTTINGS.

The Light Artillery's military and civic ball at Franklin Hall to-morrow evening will be a fine affair. Harlow's orchestra will furnish the music, and the large and efficient corps of floor managers will include Lieut. W. O. Sides of the Light Artillery, Lieut. Shirley B. Cunningham of the Heavy Artillery, Capt. Jacob Haddock of the City Guard, Lieut. Wm. Y. Evans of the Veteran Artillery Association, Lieut. M. T. Betton of the Portsmouth Cavalry, and other well-known military men.

The young people attending the Middle street church have formed themselves into an organization to be called "The Young People's Society," for social and useful designs, and have elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Emma B. Wendell; Vice President, Miss Lucy A. Junkins; Secretary, Miss Anna M. Rand; Treasurer, Miss Williametta Conn; Committee on Work, Mrs. Horace E. Frye, Miss Lizzie Randall, Miss Ellen M. Rand, Miss Belle M. Parker, Miss Maggie Nutter.

The second Mothers' Tea Party at Faith Home will be given this evening at six o clock. Addresses and music will follow, in the chapel of the Home. Contributions for the table are solicited, and should be sent in as early as possible.

The house of Mr. Nehemiah Pickering, one of the oldest buildings in Newington, was burned on Thursday afternoon, with most of its contents and an adjoining shed. The fire caught in the shed, it is supposed from a barrel of ashes, the family being away from home when the fire broke out. Loss about $1000; insurance $600, in Farmers' Mutual.

Carpenter Joseph Cox is ordered to the navy yard, and Carpenter Leonard Hanscom is ordered from the navy yard to the Trenton.

Schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Capt. John Hontvet, of this port, caught 27,300 pounds of fish, and the Grace Choate 20,000, in two days, landing the same at Portland. The net profits to the former in two weeks fishing is $1600.

Mr. John R. Poor, the projector of the Oceanic Hotel at Star island, Isles of Shoals, has arrived home from Kingston, Jamaica, after an absence of several months.

At a meeting of the Direct United States Cable Company, in London, Friday afternoon, the amalgamation party's first resolution for a committee to consider the subject, was defeated on a division. A poll was taken, the result to be announced on Monday.

The Republican City Committee have secured the rooms in Frye's block, formerly the navy pay office, for the republican headquarters during the campaign. The rooms are being prepared for their occupancy as rapidly as possible.

H. P. Smith, the Boston express messenger who stole $6000 from the Eastern Railroad, writes that he committed the crime while drunk, the second time he was ever in that condition. He says he intended to leave a good share of the money with his wife, and promises to be a better man in the future.

Mr. John P. Sweetser is manufacturer's agent in this city for the "Patent Oxygenator" gas burner, which is claimed to give a better light than the common burner and to use one-third less gas. From a two-years' trial of a burner constructed on the same principle, though less convenient and ornamental than the "Patent Oxygenator," we are satisfied that a considerable saving in gas is effected, though we cannot say how much; and the light is certainly better and less trying to the eyes.

The second anniversary of the Woman's Temperance League was celebrated Friday evening at Franklin Hall. The exercises, which were largely attended, consisted of a brief anniversary address, quartette and instrumental music, and a speech by Mrs. Emma Molloy, the foremost crusader of the West. The League is doing very effective work.

NOT RECEIVED.

Among the disappointed ones this morning, is probably the young lady whose postal card was stuck up in the post office yesterday undelivered for want of proper direction. It ran thus:

"DEAR ——: Can you let me have a Certificate for Monday, and oblige

Your's truly,
ABBY."

How much happiness lost for want of a suitable direction. Abby must be more careful at the anniversary of the next free ride to Boston.

SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court at Exeter, the case of Thompson vs. Major, an action of trespass on land in Derry, occupied four days, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff (the jury being out all night) of $8.05, being nearly a dollar less than the amount confessed.

Lucy J. Lefavour vs. Smith and Healey, an action for trespass on land belonging to her in Chester and taking grass therefrom; verdict for the plaintiff.

Sanderson vs. Peabody; action to recover $12,000 due on account; jury unable to agree.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 146.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

The slight allusions that have been made to the excellencies of Rev. Richard Mather and wife indicate that their children would be likely to be good. There were six, all sons, four born in England, two in this country; four of them became ministers.

1, Rev. Samuel Mather. He was born at Murh Woolton, England, where his father resided when he preached at Taxteth, May 13, 1626. He came to this country at the age of 9, graduated at Harvard College, 1643. He began to preach first in Rawley, was invited to the North church in Boston, but was minded to go to his native country. He sailed in 1650, spent some time at Oxford, and a college there conferred on him the degree A. M. He went to Scotland and at Leith preached two years. Next to Dublin. He was ordained Dec. 5, 1656. The degree A. M. was conferred on him by Trinity College, Dublin. This was during the Protectorate of Cromwell. In 1661 the monarchy was restored, Charles II. being placed on the throne. Puritanism in the form of Congregationalism, had but little favor. Mr. Mather suffered arrest, a short imprisonment, but firmly maintained the right, doing good in all possible ways till his death Oct. 29, 1671, aged 45. He was buried in Dublin. The Mathers were famous as authors. Rev. Samuel began. Seven publications of his appeared from the press.

2, Rev. Nathaniel Mather. He was born at Murh Woolton, Eng., March 20, 1630, came to America five years later, graduated at Harvard College, 1647, some years later followed his brother to England, preached in Harborrnton, had the favor of Cromwell to preach in 1656 in Barnstable, where he continued six years. Next at Rotterdam in Holland. Then to Dublin as the successor of his brother Samuel. He finally took charge of a Congregational church in London, where he died July 26, 1697, aged 67. Dr. Isaac Watts prepared the epitaph for his tombstone. His publications were four.

3, Rev. Eleazar Mather. He was born in Dorchester, Mass., in 1637, graduated at Harvard 1656, and was ordained first pastor of the church in Northampton, Mass., in 1661. His ministery was short. His health declined and in the summer of 1669, about three months after the death of his father, Rev. Richard Mather, he died, aged 32. Fifty-seven years after Mr. Mather's death, the celebrated President Edwards began to preach in the church in Northampton.

4, Rev. Increase Mather. He married Maria, daughter of Rev. John Cotton, an early minister of Boston and pastor of the first church that existed there. He became minister of the North church in Boston, was President of Harvard College, and died August 23, 1723, aged 84. The celebrated Rev. Cotton Mather was his son.

Surprise an Indian.

The Indian has actual and common experience of many articles of civilized manufacture, the simplest of which is as entirely beyond his comprehension as the most complicated. He would be a simple exclamation point did he show surprise at everything new to him, or which he does not understand. He goes to the other extreme, nor feels surprise at anything. He visits the States, looks unmoved at the steamboat and locomotive. People call it stoicism. They forget that to his ignorance the production of a glass bottle is as inscrutable as the sound of the thunder. A piece of gaudy calico is a marvel; a common mirror a miracle. He knows nothing of the comparative difficulties of invention and manufacture, and to him the mechanism of a locomotive is not in any way more matter of surprise than that of a wheelbarrow. When things in their their own daily experience are performed in what to them is a remarkable way, they do express the most profound astonishment. I have seen several hundreds of Indians, eager and greatly excited, following from one telegraph pole to another a repairer, whose legs were encased in climbing boots. When he walked, easily, foot over foot, up the pole, their surprise and delight found vent in the most vociferous expressions of applause and admiration. A white lady mounted on a side-saddle, in what to the Indian women would be almost an impossible position, would excite more surprise and admiration than a Hoe printing press in full operation.—Ex.

—A man who looked like a countryman was lately walking in the street with a packet in his hand, sealed and addressed, with a memorandum that it contained a thousand dollars in bank notes. As the bearer appeared to be at loss, he was accosted by a man, who asked him what he was looking for. The simple countryman placed the packet in his inquirer's hands and requested that he would read the address, as he was unable to do so, and had forgotten it. The reply was made, as with agreeable surprise, "Why, this letter is for me! I have been expecting it for a long while." The messenger upon this demanded a dollar for the carriage of the package, which was readily paid. The new possessor of the packet hastened to an obscure corner to examine his prize; but on breaking the seal, he found nothing but a few sheets of paper, on which was written the simple word "Done!"

—"The sentence of the Court is," said Judge Porter, a popular Irish magistrate, to a notorious drunkard, "that you be confined in jail for the longest period the law will allow; and I hope you will spend the time in cursing whiskey." "Be jabers I will, and Porter, too," was the answer.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is it once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—Dr. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Velois's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Gulvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Livermen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Toller, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the receipt of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—The following is said to be a certain cure for diphtheria, and if so, is within the reach of all:—Take ordinary garden sage, make a strong tea, put it in an ordinary teapot and let the patient inhale the steam through the spout. By this process relief is soon obtained, and in a short time the patient is restored to health. So say those who have given it a fair trial. At the worst, it cannot do any harm.

—A young chamois has recently been made the subject of a lawsuit in the Swiss courts. The animal was caught by two residents of Diesbach, on a crag overhanging their property. The police contended that they had violated the feudal law in capturing a chamois under a year old. The hunters were fined by a court and condemned by a federal council, and the chamois was restored to the rocks and glaciers

—A New York broker, on his way home from the club, managed to occupy considerably more than two-thirds of the sidewalk. In this predicament he was met by two men, who first relieved him of his watch, and then tumbled him over into the snow. As he lay there shouting for help, two other fellows came along and inquired: "What's the matter?" "Why," said the broker, "here I've—hic—been robbed of my—hic—watch." "Didn't they take your money?" asked the strangers. "Don't know," said the broker, feeling in his breast pocket for his wallet. "No, here 'tis—hic—money's all right." "Well, we'll take that, then," said the strangers, as they seized the wallet and disappeared around the first corner.

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some admirable illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Dana; "A splendidly illustrated article, "Work in Clay," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be Stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusements and Instruction, with the most frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to cut in the choice production of SCRIBNER's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. . . . The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own publication limits."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS 5th Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty ordinary works of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for thirty years, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings About Constantinople," or Cigarettes Dans les Yeux; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Traflon, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scotish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Cotton Lands, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Housekeepers," "Haymow a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Game Fowl, Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia; and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and twenty-five, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for one month to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them; direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that he could hear of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed in them, but I gave him the last package I has of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Would you him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a trial trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever used. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before a was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE —!—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. MacDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $8; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information relative to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings, of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Mechanical and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this magazine and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its contents and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which has already left the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

FROM SPAIN TO FRANCE,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short papers descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in human suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, IT ALWAYS WAS, EMPHATICALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, which are the republican party's hold on faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstone of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets it is the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends now ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it still retains its pre-eminence as the cheapest means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages for reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness the essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented the best contributors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and contemporary wisdom, and wit in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz., to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to the remaining numbers of issues of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and a new life to your infants.

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who made trial of it. On the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and express a desire on the part of the mothers for the amelioration of the magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost invariably relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the painful complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—if you follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of honesty, intelligence, patriotism, and honor for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting-rooms, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. The reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 50 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expense of paper and printing will barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind, through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Blue-Glass Cure.

A New York correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes as follows of tests he has made of General Pleasonton's blue-glass cure: "A lady of my family, about six weeks ago, had a violent hemorrhage of the lungs, and for ten days raised more or less blood daily. She was very much weakened by the loss of blood, and considerably frightened withal. I obtained some blue glass and placed it in the window where she was in the habit of sitting, the blue glass constituting one-half of the lower sash of the window. The lady sat daily in the associated lights, allowing the blue rays especially to fall upon the nerves of the back of the neck for about an hour a day. The second day the sun's rays being unusually strong, she got "too much glass," and at night felt peculiar sensations in the back of the neck, among the nerves, and an unpleasant fulness in the head. The sensations wore off next day, and since then she has not remained so long at a time under the blue glass.

But from the first she began to grow stronger, her face soon gained its natural fulness, and in a week she was, to all appearance, as well as ever. Of course she was not cured of the trouble in her lungs in so short a time, but the soreness in her chest has passed away, and she begins to feel well again. After sitting in the associated light for a week a large number of red pimples came out on her neck and shoulders, an indication that the treatment was bringing out to the surface the humors of the blood. In a letter to me General Pleasonton says, 'I am satisfied that if this treatment shall be continued through the winter and spring any tuberculous development that may exist in the lungs will be arrested, its pus absorbed into the circulation, and then thrown off from the blood in the excretions (as has occurred already in the spots on the body), the wounds of the tubercles will be cicatrized and the lady restored to a condition of good health.'

In the same letter General Pleasonton relates an agreeable incident which occurred to him but a few weeks since. A lady and her daughter called to see him, and announced that they had come from Corning, N. Y., to Philadelphia, for the express purpose of thanking him for saving the daughter's life. Four years ago she was afflicted with a violent attack of spinal meningitis. Her sufferings were indescribable, but continuous. Every possible remedy had been resorted to during these four years, but the patient received no benefit. Her nervous system at last became so disorded that the slightest sound or the most gentle agitation of the air threw her into the most agonizing suffering. She was wasted away in flesh, could not sleep at night, had no appetite, and her life was despaired of. Hearing of General Pleasonton's discovery in associated lights, her parents determined to try it. A bay window was fitted with alternate panes of blue and plain glass, and the young lady sat daily in the light which streamed through them. Her physician, of course, laughed at the idea, pronounced the whole thing a humbug, etc., as is the habit of professional gentlemen whenever any new idea is broached. The physician was dismissed, and the young lady relied wholly on the blue-glass treatment for her restoration to health. The lady says that on entering the room thus lighted the pains from which she was suffering almost immediately ceased. They would return in a modified form on leaving the room, but grew less from day to day. Very soon her condition began to improve, her appetite returned, and with it her strength, she began to gain flesh, her sleeplessness disappeared, and, in short, she was speedily restored to health.

A singular feature of this young lady's case was that her hair all came out and she became bald as an egg. Her physician examined the scalp with a microscope, and declared that there were no roots of hair remaining, and that consequently, she would never again have a natural growth of hair. Under the blue-glass treatment, however, the hair did begin to grow, the young lady discarded her wig, and when she called upon General Pleasonton she showed him a luxuriant growth of hair which any young lady might envy."

—Dentists should not jaw each other.

The auctioneer takes an interest in what he sells.

—Years ago there was a very queer old clergyman in the diocese of Canterbury, England, named Patten, of whom a hundred anecdotes are told. Going one day to order a wig, the barber, young in business, readily accepted the order, and then ventured to ask his guest to dine. The invitation was accepted, a bowl of punch followed to which the divine did full justice. After it was over, the barber was beginning to measure, but Patten said: "No, no, you sha'n't make the wig." "Why not," exclaimed the astonished host, "have I done anything to offend you?" "Quite the contrary, you're such a good fellow that I haven't got the heart to take you in. I'll go to somebody else. You know if you'd made the wig you'd never have been paid for it." If report be true there are in New York just now divers milliners, tailors, hatters, and possibly wig makers, who had much rather have given their guests half a dozen dinners than taken their liberal orders for the last three years.

Reform Literature.

The following are some of the telegrams which passed between the "reform headquarters in New York and the reformers in Oregon, relative to stealing an electoral vote in that State. "Corse" telegraphed to "Col. N. T. Pelton, New York," as follows: "Glory to God; hold on to the electoral vote in Oregon. I have 100,000 men to back it up." Abs. Hewitt telegraphed Judge Strong, at Salem, Oregon: "Tilden has 185, including one from Oregon." Geo. L. Miller telegraphed from Omaha, Nebraska, to "Col. W. T. Pelton, 15 Gramercy Park, N. Y.," as follows: "Ignorant whole business; partner powerful motives to a Gould order; can it not be done through A. Kountze, twelve Wall, or myself or both? Kountze, Tildenish Republican; reliable beyond doubt. Last resort protect everybody and use Davis' answer." Had such despatches as these, and the famous cipher despatch to Tilden, been brought out against Gov. Hayes or any of the prominent republican managers, what a howl would have ascended from the democratic and "independent" papers, — some of which have published the telegrams in their news columns, but not one of which, so far as we have seen, has had a word to say editorially in denunciation of the evident corruption and trickery of Tilden and his tools.

Experts on Saturday testified before the Senate committee on the Oregon election that the dispatch addressed to "N. T. Pelton of New York" and signed "J. H. N. Patrick," and the cipher dispatch to "Sam. J. Tilden of New York," signed "Gobble," were written by the same person and in the same kind of ink.

A Democratic "Fair Count."

On Saturday, before the Senate committee on the election, J. T. Leicester of Hines County, Miss., testified that he had duplicate keys for all the ballot-boxes in the county, and about fifteen of them were given out to the Inspectors. He confessed that the object was to enable those men, if there were too many republican votes, to extract them and substitute democratic votes. He did not know that such had been done. He did not use his own key.

Political.

That slang dispatch sent to S. J. Tilden at Gramercy Park, is attracting general attention, as well as it might. What kind of a message must it have been to be so carefully covered up in thieves' slang? And what kind of business must the men have been engaged in, both the one who sent it and the one who received it? The signature to the dispatch is generally printed "Gebble." We notice the Indianapolis Journal maintains that it should be printed "Gabble." We think the Journal is in error. Men who send such dispatches do not gabble. They keep as shady and as dark as possible. They only talk when the necessity is vehement and pressing. On the other hand, there is a natural fitness in the signature "gobble." The man that sent the message and the man to whom it was sent were engaged in a desperate attempt to "gobble" the Oregon vote. The appropriateness of recognizing the infamy of the transaction they were busied in is sufficiently manifest to need no argument. Cinn. Times.

Col. Pickett, the Tilden witness who acknowledges himself to be an "honorable man" and to have "acted on broad moral grounds" in attempting "to negotiate, if possible," in New York, "money enough to pay Gov. Wells and his fellow-members of the Returning Board" of Louisiana to do "what was right and proper; that is to say, to determine the State for Tilden,"—this highly honorable and broadly moral patriot is the man who sold the rebel archives to the United States government for $75,000.

"Retrenchment and reform" were great words with the democrats in Congress before the election; but what was "retrenchment" then is "two-cent economy" now. Last week Mr. Holman introduced a bill to pay members of the House $4500 per year instead of $5000, but was overwhelmingly voted down in committee of the whole, and was taunted with having been left out in the cold by his constituents at the late election, and with having nearly destroyed the heavy democratic majority in the House by his "two-cent economy," which had disgusted the people. He retorted that such taunts came with poor grace from men who had spouted so loudly and persistently about "democratic retrenchment and economy," at the late session.

The Cincinnati Enquirer and New York Sun, Tilden-and-reform organs, were sweet enough on the compromise until Judge Bradley was selected as the fifth judge; now they snarl and howl about a "packed jury." Did they anticipate the commission would be a "packed jury" in Tilden's favor if Judge Davis was selected, and was that why they favored the plan until Bradley was chosen?

News and Notes.

Minnie F. Striley, aged five years, Annie M. Striley, aged eight, and Nellie Voorhuse, aged eleven, were drowned in Salem Saturday evening. They had been playing on the ice, and it is supposed walked off its edge, as the darkness came on.

Peace negotiations on the Turkish questidn have been stopped, and an early conflict between Turkey and Russia is anticipated.

A fire at Trenton, N. J., on Sunday evening, burned the sheds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and destroyed $200,000 worth of locomotives.

Mary Flood, formerly of Lynn, Mass., was fatally stabbed by her husband, James Flood, in New York on Saturday. Cause, jealousy.

Hon. Lucius H. Noyes, President of the Lamoille County (Vt.) Bank and editor of the Lamoille Newsdealer, died of paralysis at his residence in Hyde Park, Vt., Sunday morning. The deceased was sixty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and several children.

Guilford White, a Boston lawyer, has been found guilty of receiving $30,000 in United States bonds knowing them to have been stolen.

All the troops but two companies, which were sent to South Carolina prior to the election, have left, including two batteries for Boston and one for Portland. The two companies in South Carolina are still quartered at the State House.

The Lewister (Me.) Journal contains the following: "'An excellent year for bears,' State Treasurer Hatch reports, was year 1875, $2,745 having been allowed for bears killed during that period, or 549 bears, at $5 each. The town of Wesley, Washington County, bears off the palm, having received bounty for killing 32; Lowell, Penobscot County, comes next with 24; Princeton and Topsfield, Washington County, each 22; Carroll, Penobscot County, 15; and numerous towns for smaller numbers. Everybody understands that as a matter of fact a large number of the bears reported to be killed in Maine, are really killed in the provinces and brought here for the bounty."

Nebraska is a State possessing wisdom beyond its years. It pays male and female teachers exactly the same wages for the same work.

New Hampshire Items.

A mad dog ran through the streets of Suncook on Sunday, and before being killed bit some twenty others. Fifteen of the dogs that were bitten have been killed, but some alarm is felt lest the others that were bitten may cause trouble.

James Mahan, an inmate of the Reform School, was caught by the police of Manchester on Saturday night in the act of breaking into the cigar store of Ira P. Fellows, and a State prison sentence of five years for breaking into a jewelry store in 1875 will be enforced.

By a slight fire in the Medical College building at Dartmouth College, Monday, damage was done to the amount of about $700.

A Philanthropic Witness.

The estimable Col. Pickett, of the ex-confederate army, who, according to his own story, so kindly endeavored to negotiate the sale of the Louisiana Returning Board to Messrs. Hewitt and Morrissey, is certainly one of the most remarkable witnesses that ever responded to the persuasive tongue of Mr. David Dudley Field. A million of dollars was the extraordinary price which he wanted for the souls of Wells and Anderson. People not familiar with that sort of traffic might imagine that Col. Pickett would rather hesitate at such an avowal, and be at loss for a motive strictly agreeing with a sense of honor; but Col. Pickett is not as other men are. To be sure he was to receive a commission on the purchase amounting to $75,000, but it was for the high and noble purpose "of charity among the widows and orphans of the late confederate soldiers." When Col. Pickett made this remark, he was surprised to find that the committee laughed. Perhaps, also, Mr. Field muttered an objurgatory epithet under his mustache. There is really nothing to be done with a witness like that. The witness who offered to aid in robbing a bank in order to get means to distribute flannel pocket handkerchiefs among the brethren of Africa, would hardly create more consternation in a court of justice than this charitable confederate, who, according to his own account, was engaged in trying to perfect an infamous bargain. There must be some consistency about false testimony, or it destroys its own effect, and a witness who gives State's evidence can not be too careful of his own character, or he will not be believed when he tells even of his own crimes. If Col. Pickett had said he was trying to make the bargain for a "raise" for himself, his motives would have been consistent, and though very few would be likely to believe that Wells and Anderson were fools enough to trust such an instrument even if they were base and bold enough to desire such a bargain, we could have waited with some patience for the refutation of the story. As it is now, it must be the laughing stock even of democrats. Oh, much too charitable Pickett!—Providence Journal.

—The Fort Dodge (Iowa) Times chronicles the marriage of Dr. Nicholson and Miss Sherman, and adds: "The romance of this marriage is the fact that Dr. Nicholson's wife on her death bed, two years ago, selected the bride and named the wedding day."

Pedestrianism.

Miss Von Hillern's next walk at Music Hall is to be a hundred miles in twenty-eight hours instead of twenty-nine hours, as previously announced. The lady is training in Chicago, and her great improvement, she feels confident, justifies this change. She will come to Boston again this week. Mrs. M. C. Chester of North Chichester, N. H., thinks she can easily beat the little German lady's time, and as an evidence of her ability she will devote a day to walking around the Public Garden, with the intention of doing fifty miles in twelve hours. —Post.

—An Oil City boy was threatened with a whipping recently, when he called for a compromise. His argument was, that it had been stated that he must be whipped, but nothing could be found to show who should hold the whip. There were numerous precedents in favor of the father using the rod, but nothing could be found in the law which expressly stated that he should do the whipping. Therefore the boy called for a compromise bill, when disputed questions should be left to a committee composed of his sister and mother, they to choose a third disinterested party, to whom all objections should be left; and he wished as a beginning to file an objection to being whipped. But the president of the whip overruled the objection and proceeded to the count, while a variety of musical notes certified to the full receipt of all returns.—Oil City Derrick.

What the Bilious Require.

Since torpidity of the liver is the chief cause of its disorder, it is evident that what the bilious require is an alterative stimulant which will arouse it to activity, an effect that is followed by the disappearance of the various symptoms indicative of its derangement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably achieve the primary result mentioned, besides removing the constipation, flatulence, heart-burn, yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder, nausea, vertigo and sick headache, to which bilious invalids are peculiarly subject. As a remedy for chronic indigestion, mental despondency and nervousness the Bitters are equally efficacious, and as a renovant of lost vigor, a means of arresting premature decay, and a source of relief from the infirmities to which the gentler sex is peculiarly subject, they may be thoroughly relied upon.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Patrons of a first-class hotel justly consider themselves entitled to comfortable room, a bountiful bill of fare, and courteous treatment in the office. All these, combined with a notable degree of elegance throughout, are to be found at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

The large sale of Adamson's Botanic Balsam is be cause when once used it becomes a household remedy. Children like it; it cures their colds and prevents the croup. Sold everywhere at 35 cents.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.

The annual meeting of stockholders in the Eastern Railroad in Massacuesetts was held in the Melonson in Boston on Monday, the attendance being much smaller than on former occasions of the kind.

The Directors' report was received. It refers to the suit brought against the Massachusetts corporation by the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, and other matters, and says:

"A comparison of this financial report with the statement of the corresponding period of the previous year shows that—

The gross income has decreased $356,-319 72.

The operating expenses have decreased $282,495 65.

The net earnings have consequently decreased $73,824 07.

A further analysis shows that the earnings of the Passenger Department have decreased $266,671 98.

The expenses of the Passenger Department have decreased $174,366, 44.

The net earnings of the Passenger Department have decreased $92,505 54.

The earnings of the Freight Department have decreased $84,145 39.

The expenses of the Freight Department have decreased $108,128 21.

The net earnings of the Freight Department have increased $23,982 82.

It also appears that—

The total number of passengers has decreased 589,763.

The number of passengers carried one mile has decreased 5,748,055.

The passenger mileage to and from other roads has decreased 2,060,774.

The number of tons of freight carried has decreased 27,378.

The number of tons of freight carried one mile has decreased 1,462,980.

The freight mileage to and from other roads has decreased 961,634.

The miles run by passenger trains have increased 20,137.

The miles run by freight trains have increased 3,268."

The Directors reported the property of the corporation in generally good condition. During the past year five miles of track have been relaid with new steel rails, and nine miles with re-rolled iron rails, and 56,283 new ties have been used. For the coming year it is estimated that twenty miles of new steel rails will be needed, for renewal of track now laid with iron. It has been found necessary to replace the wooden bridge over the Saco river near North Conway, on the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, by a combination bridge of approved construction, which will be completed within a month. Insurance to the amount of $560,000—covering all the property of the Company which is liable to damage by fire—has been effected on satisfactory terms.

JOTTINGS.

Grand military and civic ball of the Portsmouth Light Artillery at Franklin Hall this evening. Music by Harlow's Orchestra. Supper furnished by Mr. John McIver, and set in Franklin Hall banquet room. Floor managers, Lieut. W. O. Sides of the Light Artillery, Lieut. David Urch of the Heavy Artillery, Capt. Jacob Hadlock of the City Guard, Orderly Sergeant Wm. Kennedy of the Veteran Artillery Association, Lieut. M. T. Betton of the Portsmouth Cavalry, and others.

Mr. E. H. Balch was thrown from his sleigh between this city and Rye, on Saturday, and seriously injured internally.

On and after to-day working hours at the navy yard will be as follows: from 8 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 1 o'clock to 5 P. M.

The special train from this city to Boston on Monday morning at seven o'clock, to convey certificate holders in the Eastern Railroad in Massachusetts, consisted of ten crowded cars. The regular train fifteen minutes later had seven cars.

A despatch from London, Monday, says the scheme to amalgamate the Direct Cable and Anglo-American telegraph companies has been defeated.

The Artistes' (ladies) Quartette, of Boston, will give a grand vocal and instrumental concert in Franklin Hall on Thursday evening, assisted by Mr. Walter Emerson, cornet soloist of Boston Cadet (formerly Gilmore's) Band, and Mr. J. P. Weston, pianist and director. The quartette is composed of Mrs. O. T. Kimball, first soprano, Mrs. G. H. Oakes, second soprano, Mrs. Flora E. Barry, first alto, and Miss Julia A. Welle, second alto. The Boston Transcript, speaking of one of their concerts, says they "again surprised and delighted their audience by the rare perfection of the union of the four voices, which seem to be as like each other in the shadings of quality and character as is possible for the voices of different individuals to be. An equally sympathetic blending of styles, all evidently based on similar and excellent training, adds to the accord, and as each lady is an accomplished vocalist, some exquisite effects are obtained. In Miss Wells the quartette possesses a phenomenal contralto which enriches the harmony with low notes surprisingly like those of a male voice. The quartette cannot fail to find great favor at concerts, lyceums, etc." Admission 35 cents; reserved seats 50 cents; for sale at Preston's. Doors open at 7 o'clock; concert to commence at 7:45.

Several persons have spoken to us concerning the annoying rowdyism of numbers of young men, and the equally improper if not quite so prominent hoydenism of certain young girls, at the temperance meeting in Franklin Hall on Sunday evening. Not a few of these silly young men, and young girls who it may be hoped are more silly than depraved, act as tho' they thought these meetings were gotten up solely to afford them an opportunity to flirt with each other in public, to show off their wit by making uncouth and disgusting noises, and to illustrate their good breeding by an exhibition of brazen immodesty. If they could manage to behave with common decency, or to make an approach thereto, the public would have quite as high an opinion of their good sense and virtue. At the Bow Mission meetings, too, we are informed, this class of "hoodlums" is becoming very aggressive. A few summary arrests, with Police Court comments next morning, would possibly have a good effect.

Oregon Weather.

The West Shore, of Portland, Oregon, of date December 30, 1876, has an editorial on "the weather." Under a representation of a small but very jubilant rooster, it says:

"Here we are, past Christmas, and hardly a sign of winter as yet. Whilst people east of the Rocky Mountains are at present suffering from severe weather, we of Oregon and Washington are still gathering roses and other flowers from shrubs in bloom in the open air. We have had a sufficiency of rain and enough pleasant weather to plow advantageously—a larger acreage has been plowed and sown this season than over before known in the history of this country—and the prospect for the next season's business is very flattering in all departments. California is still suffering from drought, which occurs every third year, but this season seems to be worse than ever before known there. So far, but very little plowing has been done, and the outlook for agriculturists there is very discouraging. Our rooster, therefore, still crows that Oregon and Washington is the land for immigrants. We have no grasshoppers, chinchbugs, drought or hard winters. Crops never fail here; live stock, of all kinds, thrive outdoors on native grasses at all seasons; four water-powers are unlimited. We challenge the world on flax and hops. Our gold, silver, copper, cinnabar, iron and coal mines are inexhaustible. Our timber, for ship-building, cannot be equalled anywhere. Our salmon fisheries add millions to the wealth of our country; but we want none but live and industrious men to help to build up our vast resources and occupy the yet vacant lands. No sluggards need apply. We need workers, no drones."

—The Coroner of Chicago, in an annual report, says that of fifty-five suicides in that city within a year only four were victims of love. He alludes to one of these as a man who "blew out what little brains he had on account of the tortures to which he was subjected by his mother-in-law." The Coroner also says: "Mothers-in-law have always been a great power of mischief to the world, and, alas, the plague is so universal and enduring that we must despair of ever seeing it overcome. The miseries caused by mothers-in-law is eternal, even as mothers-in-law themselves are immortal."

—A violin, just bought by a Russian for $2,000, has a curious history. It was sold by its maker, Stainer, to a certain count, who promised in exchange, to pay $250, to furnish Stainer a good dinner as long as he lived, $50 the first of each month, a complete outfit once a year, two barrels of beer, his lodgings, fire, lights, and in case that he married, as many hares as he required for his table, and two baskets of fruit for himself and two for his old nurse annually. These conditions were fulfilled for eighteen years, until Stainer died.

—Some sheep belonging to a farmer named Reed, having been stolen in the neighborhood of a colliery village in Durham, England, while the thief was still undiscovered a local preacher, having a collection to make, thought he would turn the event to a good account; so he said: "We have a collection to make, this morning, and for the glory of God, whichever of you stole Mr. Reed's sheep don't put anything on the plate!" Of course, everybody soon joined in the collection.

—Old Mr. Bledsoe, although he is a very profane, wicked man, looks very youthful for his years. One of his neighbors remarked to Mrs. Bledsoe recently, "The old man is wearing well, isn't he?" "Oh yes," replied the good woman, "he's swearing well enough as it goes, but considering the opportunities and practice he's had, he might put a little more polish into it."

—Sidney Smith wrote of a Miss Markham: "In carving a partridge, I splashed her with gravy from head to foot; and though I saw three distinct brown rills of animal juice trickling down her cheek, she had the complaisance to aver that not a drop had reached her. Such circumstances are the triumphs of civilized life."

—I have known folks who have never committed a blunder, whose hearts were as dry as dust; and others who have constantly transgressed, whose sympathies were as quick as those of an angel.—Celia Burleigh.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard, and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and inclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from my chair. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—"A fashionable church," says Brother Talmage, "is a place where, after a careful toilet, a few people come in, sit down, and what time they can get their mind off of their stores, or away from the new style of hat in the seat before them, listen in silence to the minister—warranted to hit no man's sins—and to the choir, who are agreed to sing tunes that nobody knows, and, having passed an hour in dreamy languishing, go home refreshed."

—A circus company, on their way to Australia, stopped to see one of the Fiji islands. While wandering about one of them turned a somersault, and the native spectators were astounded by the sight. Thereafter, the circus men, discerning the opportunity for fun, varied their walks by frequent somersaults and grotesque contortions, all the time maintaining sober faces and the utmost gravity of demeanor. Multitudes followed them, in the belief they were missionaries, sent to teach a religion in which somersaults were a part of the service.

—The famous "old masters," so much talked about, sometimes made awkward blunders. One of the most glaring is that of a Dutch artist, who painted the "Sacrifice of Abraham" represented as taking aim at his son with a musket, when an angel interposes and wets the priming. Another painted Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, representing them in the costume of the period before fig leaf toilettes were introduced, while in the background a man in full sportsman's rig was blazing away at a flock of ducks.

"The King of all publications lested for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4, in full gilt.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Crook in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Cactus of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Lillian Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to pass in interest and importance on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wise Wisdom, will be mingled in wonderful and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS 3th Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty letters' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

are have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country fr. village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of rural Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochester." Other Descriptive papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Halfpenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A family illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place while the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pains so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you 2 February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I have gained one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck, and I would I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with, and told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The expansion here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure any body. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed need one dollar and three, five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby erred himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proctor, Owen, W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in act it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Sanitary Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Receipts, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workm n and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial arts of our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS: In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are now sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading of the Best and Most Sympathetic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. William Mason, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS LIBERAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wise discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with certain Republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of free labor, free reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes and section, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes's admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a large and growing corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three or four thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented since present authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Miss Rhoda Broughton, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Dean Stanley, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders of science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism, and music.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and three one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at most cost be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no cheaper way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know of even a instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or twenty-four columns, while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, or by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—each body and soul for from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless: and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a copy, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

In addition to a large number of editorial on the money and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of gold, and government and security stocks at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience, and are considered the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "privileges," or "puts and calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All NEW Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, and throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions,—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

WIDDER GREEN'S LAST WORDS.

"I'm going to die," says Widder Greene;
"I'm going to quit this airthly scene;
It ain't no place for me to stay
In such a world as 'tis to-day.
Such works and ways is too much for me,
Nobody can't let nobody be.
The girls is flounced from top to toet
An' that's the hull of what they know.
The men is mad on bonds an' stocks,
Swearin' an' shootin' an' pickin' locks,
I'm real afraid I'll be hanged myself
Er I ain't laid on my final shelf.
There ain't a cesture but knows to-day
I never was lunatic, any way.
But since crazy folks all go free,
I'm dreadful afraid they'll hang up me!
There's another matter that's pesky hard!
I can't go into a neighbor's yard
To say 'How be you?' or borrow a pin,
But what the paper'll have it in.—
'We're pleased to say the Widder Green Took dinner on Tuesday with Mrs. Keene.'
Or, 'Our worthy friend Mrs. Green has gone
Down to Barkhamstead to see her son.'
Great Jerusalem! can't I stir
Without a raisin' some feller's fur?
There ain't no privacy, as I say,
No more than if they was the Judgment Day.
And as for meetin'—I want to swear
Whenever I put my head in there.
Why even Old Hundred's spoilt and done
Like everything else under the sun;
It used to be so solemn and slow,
Praise to the Lord from men below,—
Now it goes like a gallopin' steer,
High diddle diddle, there and here;
No respect to the Lord above,
No more'n of He was hand and glove
With all the creatures he ever made,
And all the jigs he ever was played.
Preachin' too—but here I'm dumb,—
But I tell you what! I'd like it some
If good old 'Parson Nathan Strong
Out o' his grave would come along,
An' give us a stirring taste o' fire—
Judgment an' justice is my desire.
'Tain't all love and sickish sweet
That makes this world not t'other complete.
But law! I'm old! I'd better be dead
When the world's a turnin' over my head;
Sperits talkin' like tarnal fools,
Biblical text—and Sunday schools,
Crazy creatures a murderin' round—
Honest folks better be under ground,
So fare-ye-well! this airthly scene
Won't no more be pestered by Widder Green."

A Volunteer Interpreter.

The regular Chinese interpreter was called down to the city criminal court one morning, so that when Ah Sing was placed on trial in the police court, and the examination of a Chinese witness became necessary, a call for a volunteer interpreter was in order. A queer-looking individual with a sun-burned nose, responded, stating that his name was Tim Dolan, and he could "shpake Chiny loike wan 'o the rail pigtails." He looked as though he had resided longer in the county Cork than in Hong Kong. He was evidently sadly in need of the $3 which would reward his services if satisfactory, but after a few questions he was allowed to proceed, and was stationed alongside the moon-eyed witness.

"What is his name?" said the clerk.

Throwing back his head and assuming a look of deep profundity, Mr. Dolan slowly and carefully queried: "Kow me san chung wah san foy?" and then hurriedly added, "John, ye divel, what's yer name?"

"No sabe, you no good?"

"He says his name is Sam You, and he's feeling purty well this morning," said Mr. Dolan, complacently.

"Well, gwon an' git the hull story," said Colonel Dudley, whose massive intellect was concentrated on the defensive side.

"Go ahead shpakin, an' give me a show, ye dirty baste," said Mr. Dolan sotto voce, and then apparently applied an opprobrious epithet to the witness, the meaning of which he had been here long enough to know. Sam You's indignation went up to 212 degrees, and in choice Chinese billingsgate he returned the compliment, villifying Mr. Dolan most outrageously; yet all that brass-bound individual did was to look sympathetic and remark here and there: "D'ye mond that now?" "The woorst I iver heerd." "Did he paste ye, poor fellur?" "Did iver I hear the loikes 'o that!" and like expressions of pity and sympathy. Then he began to translate:

"He says he wor goin' along Dupont shtreet wid a friend lasht evenin'——"

"What was his friend's name?"

"McCarthy, yer arn't," said he, unthinkingly.

"What, a Chinaman by the name of McCarthy?"

"Av coorse. I knowed a big family of Chinymin in Hong Kong be the name o' McCarthy. Ye cudn't tell 'em from any other only by offrin' 'em whisky. The name was the cause o' that."

"What was his first name?"

"Ah Tim."

"Well, go on."

He went. He thought he had been struck by a cyclone or run into by a locomotive, for the regular interpreter had come in and paid his respects to the impostor with his number ten, doubled soled.—San Francisco Post.

That Pomade.

A lady of thirty, a plump and jolly brunette, sees with some anxiety a dark, downy line pencilling itself on her superior lip. She does not care to compete with the bearded woman, and consults the advertisements. She finds just what she wants—a depilatory pomade, warranted to remove the most obnoxious moustache woman ever had in five applications. She obtains a box at a price of ten francs, and follows the directions on the label with care. The moustache thriveson the depilstory, and after a while madame yields to the inevitable, and consoles herself by reflecting that it might be worse. Three or four years roll by, and she sees with alarm that her hair is beginning to thin. A trifle of moustache can be borne, but a bald head never, and again she has recourse to the advertisements. She finds the article she needs—a miraculous pomade to increase the thickness and beauty of the hair. On visiting the shop she is stupefied. It is the same shop, the same attendant, the same bottle at the same price, the same pomade as far as she can judge from appearance. Only the label has been somewhat changed. The merchant, on being examined, admits that it is the same pomade. It failed so utterly to remove hair that he turned it into a hair invigorator. With great joy the customer buys a pot and applies it—and her hair goes on falling out faster than ever!—Paris Creme des Chroniques.

Correspondence.

Our Washington correspondent, under date of Feb. 2, gives an account of the opening of the Congressional vote-counting convention, and adds:

"Within the past few years members of Congress appear to have imbibed the erroneous impression that none except high and mighty officials, their families or personal favorites have any right to a seat in the galleries on extraordinary occasions. "Reserved for the families of members of Congress" has come to be a standing order, although no authority anywhere exists for granting special privileges to this order of nobility or patricians above the plebians to whose partiality and that of others of like view, Senators and Representatives are indebted for their more or less temporary elevation. It is self-evident that the capacities of the House galleries are limited. That was the pretext urged for the virtual prohibition against entering them yesterday directed against everybody save those provided with tickets. The whole seating capacity was apportioned to the different Representatives and Senators, each receiving three tickets. Of course their families if present, must go in, and if not, their outside favorites were sufficiently numerous to monopolize all the seats. There was another way of arranging the matter which would have been far more satisfactory to the thousands present at the Capital, if not as pleasing to the beneficiaries of the plan adopted. The doors should have been open to all well-behaved applicants till the seats were filled, and then inexorably closed to all comers. It is the boast of some of the favored few that they made a handsome speculation out of their tickets, which are said to have commanded in some instances as high as $20. Let us have peace, fair play and no snobbery.

Field is playing his last hand with a desperation and recklessness when the immense stake—the whole patronage of the Government for four years, — is considered, in strange contrast with the cool, cautious subtlety with which he fought the New York authorities in behalf of the avaricious old thief, Boss Tweed. But his witnesses prove altogether too much. Littlefield, if believed, is a scoundrel, deserving the penitentiary. If his story is untrue, such a tale as he has concocted should make him an outcast from the presence of honorable men. But his own testimony, according to the National Republican, convicts him of perjury. He swore he was instructed by Wells to change the 178 votes of Vernon parish so as to elect the republican candidates. Now one of these offices of Senator, Judge and District Attorney, was already democratic, and the other two republican, not needing the votes, as he testified. Certified affidavits are now on their way to Washington that will cook his goose. Pickett appears to have been a soldier of fortune—a sort of free-booter—serving where there was most to be made. While professing great regard for the "lost cause" he sold it out to the Federal Government for a consideration. Maddox, while nominally working to suppress Jeff Davis, appears to have been hob-nobbing with that patriot during the war, in Richmond. In short it appears to have been a scheme to buy the State of Louisiana for Tilden, reserving a good share of the purchase money as their percentage; and failing in which they put in an appearance in the interests of "reform." How far this attempt to bias the Arbitration Commission will be successful remains to be seen, but there is no doubt as to their deserts.

The low price of gold and our excellent financial standing abroad are being urged in favor of an immediate effort at a return to specie payment; and as soon as our Presidential succession is determined, it promises to become the most prominent topic until the happy consummation shall have been reached."

Counting the Votes.

On Monday the compromise committee heard Mr. Evarts on behalf of the republicans, and Mr. O'Conor on the other side. After the hearing of the arguments the commission took a recess, and after the recess held a brief secret session for consultation, at the close of which an announcement was authorized that there would be no public session on Tuesday.

The republican managers will object to the counting of the vote of Mississippi, on the ground that the present governor is no governor at all, being in fact merely a State senator, never having been legally chosen to the position he now holds.

Tammany Tactics.

David Dudley Field is up to his old tricks. He cannot get over his old habits, and has introduced all the tactics of the Tammany Ring lawyer into his management of Proctor Knott's committee, or what was Proctor Knott's committee until Tilden sent Field to Congress to take charge of it. He has had printed, privately, partisan, unfair and grossly partial compilations of evidence concerning the Louisiana and Florida cases taken in committee, and laid it before the electoral commission, without the authority of the committee and even without the knowledge of the republican members. The Tribune considers this tricky proceeding a gross violation of the privileges of the House; but whether that is so or not, it is a gross violation of decency and fair play, and the cause which needs bolstering up by such means and such a man cannot be a good one.

On Friday, at Field's instance, his committee in secret session decided not to comply with the demand of J. Madison Wells to be heard in answer to the "broadly moral" Maddox, and also passed a resolution to the effect that the refusal to give him a hearing should not be entered on the records of the committee! But the democratic partizans could not shut the mouths of the republican members, and Field was forced to grant Wells a hearing on Monday.

On Monday Governor Wells was examined, and squarely denied nearly every statement of Fields' witness Littlefield; and Senator West, without waiting for a summons, appeared and made a personal explanation in relation to a letter of Governor Wells addressed to him, which was read before the committee on Saturday. He said that about the time that the letter should have been delivered to him, he was informed by the Secretary of War that a man by the name of Maddox was in Washington attempting to trade off the vote of Louisiana. He (Mr. West) immediately denied that he had any such authority, and telegraphed to New Orleans to a friend, in substance as follows: "Tell Governor Wells that a man by the name of Maddox is here, professing to be authorized to speak for him and the Returning Board of Louisiana. What does this mean?" The answer came back as soon as the wire could bring it: "Mr. Maddox has no such authority."

Wells swore that Duncan F. Kenner, on behalf of the democrats, offered him $200,000 to have the State returned for Tilden; Field did not press cross-examination on that point. Wells convincingly disproved many of the most positive statements of Maddox, Littlefield and Pickett.

South Carolina.

By the count of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, the statement of which has heretofore been suppressed by the democrats, the republican candidates for all the State officers are elected by the following majorities: Secretary of State, 1719; Attorney General, 2160; Treasurer, 2145; Comptroller General, 2345; Superintendent of Education, 2133; Adjutant General, 2219.

News and Notes.

"Edinboro Bey," a very grand Turk indeed, who was a guest of Gen. Newton's at the blowing up of Hallett's Point reef, moved in the "best society" of New York, cashed a bogus draft on Brown Brothers for $800 gold, and swindled various other bankers, has gone to New Orleans, it is believed. The next grand Turk will be looked at sideways, before being worshipped to any great extent.

A despatch from St. Johns, Newfoundland, states that fourteen bodies, bedding, pork and flour have washed ashore at Mistaken Point, Cape Race. The bedding was marked "George Washington." The merchandise and bedding undoubtedly belonged to the steamer George Washington, which has been missing for some weeks, and was one of the New York, Halifax and Newfoundland line, to which also belonged the missing steamer George Cromwell. Eighty-five or more lives are supposed to have been lost in the two steamers, the Cromwell alone having taken out thirty-eight passengers.

The number of vessels belonging to, or bound to or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during the past month, is 84—of which 42 were wrecked, 17 abandoned, 2 burned, 4 sunk by collision, 2 foundered and 17 are missing. The list includes 3 steamers, 8 ships, 18 barques, 8 brigs and 47 schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $1,320,000.

The House of Representatives passed the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill on Saturday. It cuts down the salary of the President, and many other officials of high and low degree, and in the bill, as reported, the salaries of Congressmen were reduced from $5000 to $4500, but the economists struck off the reduction of their own pay, while the other reductions were made.

The many friends of Hon. Charles A. Shaw will learn with regret of his financial embarrassments. It is the direct result of recent failures and the unprecedented decline in real estate. Mr. Shaw acquired a large property by his own unaided exertions, through industry and sagacity. He is known throughout the country, and is respected for his many generous acts both of a public and private nature, as well as for his ability and integrity in business matters. He begins anew the battle with energy and pluck. Such men do not stay down long at a time.—Globe,

According to the New York Herald, Charles O'Conor recently asked Secretary Fish to accompany him on a visit to the President, and apologized to the latter for the intemperate and unjustifiable language of the letter written to a St. Louis "friend" some time ago, and published in the republican papers with comments not at all complimentary to Mr. O'Conor. The apology was received in a proper spirit, and the President and Mr. O'Conor conversed for some time.

John Longenecker, employed at a rolling mill at Lebanon, Pa., while stepping across the axle to which are attached the shears used in cutting iron, fell and had his head severed from his body. He was about 40 years old.

David Raggio, a Chicago burglar, was found in the street dying from a bullet wound. He refused to tell how he had been shot or where. Just before this, however, three masked men had entered a Mrs. Mitchell's residence, seized her, tried to rob her of diamonds, and one of them had been shot by her.

Quite a temperance reform is going on in Trenton, N. J., led by Mr. Osgood, a reformed drunkard, of Gardiner, Me. One hundred men marched in procession Sunday to the Methodist Church to hear a temperance address and sign the pledge. It is estimated that one thousand signed the pledge last week.

Mr. Josiah Bartlett, formerly editor of the Bangor Whig, and later Hon. James G. Blaine's private secretary, has assumed the chief editorship of the Boston Traveller.

The Moody and Sankey meetings in Boston are very largely attended, and "overflow" meetings are held each day and evening. A great deal of religious interest is being created.

The New York Herald says the schooner Bovine recently sailed from New Bedford and laid off Barnegat, where, from boats from the shore she was laden with 10,000 stand of arms, 40,000 cartridges and large quantities of knapsacks, medicines and army stores, which she afterward safely landed in Cuba for the patriots. Another vessel is said to be loading in another part of the country for the same destination.

In the District Court at Salem, Mass., on Monday, was tried the action brought by the Marblehead woman who was so unceremoniously subjected to a bath at the House of Correction in Ipswich a short time ago. It will be recalled that the woman, who was in reality a visitor, was mistaken for a prisoner, and was compelled to take a bath and to don a prison suit. The case was decided by a fine of $25 imposed on Miss Carrie Trussell, the matron of the institution. Though the matron actually committed the act, it is stated that the real fault lay with another prison official.

To keep moths out of old clothing it is recommended to give the clothing to the poor.

Political.

There are papers that assert a belief that Mr. Field was elected to Congress by Mr. Tilden to bring out Pickett and Maddox and was as much a part of the Tilden machinery as the Cronin conspiracy. The story of these men is brought out too late and covers too much surface.

There seems to be a tendency to overwork Mr. David Dudley Field. The dirty work of the democratic party is too mountainous a task to be put upon the shoulders of one man, even if he is used to it.—Tribune.

Col. Preston B. Plumb, the Senator-elect from Kansas, is said to have been successful as a printer, an editor, a lawyer, a soldier, a legislator, and a banker. He will be forty years old next October.

JOTTINGS.

Under the heading of "New Hampshire," the Boston Transcript of a recent date says: "For the past two days the harbor at Portsmouth has been filling with drift-ice. This morning it is packed solid and navigation is impossible. All the vessels have hauled into the wharves to avoid impending danger. The steamer Mabel Bird is trying to force a channel out, but is making little or no headway. The ice is very heavy and if the wind continues from the same quarter, the harbor may be closed for several weeks and the events of the winter of 1875 repeated." This harbor has never been closed to navigation by ice, and never will be while its tides keep up their present velocity. It was the harbor at Portsmouth, Virginia, probably, to which reference was intended.

The "Mothers' Tea Party" at Faith Home, Monday evening, was a complete success, in the number of poor people enjoying it and the pleasure furnished them. About sixty-five were entertained at bountifully supplied tables, waited upon by ladies moving in the best social circles. After tea about one hundred and seventy-five persons attended service in the chapel and parlor, Rev. John A. Goss being the chief speaker. There was some spirited singing, which was greatly enjoyed.

It is the republican ward committee of Ward One that has secured the room in Frye's block for headquarters, not the City Committee.

A horse belonging to Mr. Floron Barri was found dead in his stall Tuesday morning, having got "cast" sometime during Monday night.

MR. MARCY'S LETTER.

Hon. Daniel Marcy's acceptance of the democratic nomination for governor, in the shape of a column-long letter to the committee appointed to notify him of his nomination, is published. He says he does "not feel at liberty to decline the nomination"—rather a superfluous declaration; announces his certain conviction that Tilden carried Louisiana, and his astonishment that any person could imagine otherwise; and hopes (in this State) "to see the establishment of a judiciary which shall be alike impartial and permanent, according to the plain intention of the constitution; the appointment of good men to the subordinate civil offices of the State for the sake of the public service, and not as the reward of party zeal" —an excellent sentiment to be expressed by a man who, as a member of the legislature, worked and voted faithfully with his party in the schemes for gerrymandering the State and its cities for partisan reasons, for turning out all republican officials and putting in democrats "as the reward of party zeal" in the latter, and the re-organization of the courts in order to secure a democratic preponderance in the judiciary. Mr. Marcy "trusts men will be elected to office, or at least presented as our candidates, who do not seek personal profit or aggrandizement,"—but he trusts to a rotten reed in that matter, as the democrats in this State are not given to nominating such men. But the most important declaration in his letter is his re-affirmation of his adherence to the old Bourbon theory that a State is above the Union, that a State constitution is superior in binding force to the Constitution of the United States. He "regrets to know that any party in the State is willing * * to proclaim any allegiance paramount to that which their own constitution exacts." He says the democratic party of this State are thoroughly convinced that Tilden is elected, and "many of the better republicans" believe so too,—rather a more moderate way of putting it than was that of the democratic State central committee, who modestly announced that all men who disagreed with them on this matter were either dishonest or feeble-minded! He closes with a patriotic appeal to all good men to abide by and sustain the decision of the compromise committee, whatever opinion they may have held concerning the wisdom of appointing such a commission.

THE CABLE MONOPOLY.

The attempt of the would-be monopolists of ocean telegraphs to effect an amalgamation of the Direct and Anglo-American Cable Companies has failed in its first stage,—an attempt to appoint a committee to consider the matter. An adjourned meeting of the shareholders of the Direct Company was held in London on Monday, when the motion of Mr. Pender, manager of the Globe Trust Company, made at the meeting last Friday for the appointment of a committee to consider the subject of amalgamation, was defeated. Mr. Pender, Chairman of the Globe Company, had a majority of forty on the face of a poll, but objections were lodged with the company against the votes of the nominees of the Globe, and other large shareholders favorable to amalgamation, beyond the one hundred votes allowed to each of them, as being the highest number of votes which can be counted, under the Direct Cable Company's articles of association, for any one shareholder. The Chairman ruled that the objections were valid, and ruled out six hundred and forty-nine votes tendered by the Globe, and other large shareholders and clerks in their employ, on the ground of illegality. An amendment, proposing a vote of confidence in the directors and negativing Mr. Pender's resolution, was passed, and declared by the Chairman to be carried by a majority of five hundred and nine votes, and Mr. Pender's resolutions were thrown out by a majority of six hundred. The Globe Trust Company has resolved to test the question in courts, and protracted litigation is threatened. The meeting then adjourned until the 5th of March. Possibly the warning of the United States government that the connection of the Direct Cable with this country at Rye Beach would be severed if the monopoly was organized, and a similar notice by the Dominion government relative to the connections with its coast, may have influenced the vote of the Company.

New Hampshire Items.

The trial of Thomas Gould and others at Concord, for the violation of the statutes in selling a large stock of bankrupt goods at auction in that city, they being residents of New York, was decided in favor of the defendants.

William Weber, a hermit who lives on a small farm in the town of Thornton, on the side of the Welch mountain, about three-quarters of a mile from the main road and about the same distance from the inhabitants, was found a few days since in a pitiable condition at his house. He had frozen his feet so badly that he was unable to get out, but has been for weeks alone in his misery. He has four head of cattle which have had no water for several weeks. They have free access to the hay-mow for food, and the snow-bank for drink.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Company's free bath and reading room for their operatives at Dover was opened on Monday evening by an informal reception of prominent citizens and their wives.

The Rockingham Farmers' Insurance Company held its annual meeting at Exeter on Monday, electing William Conner, John S. Hobbs, George B. Webster, Porter Cram and Joseph Judkins directors.

—People can no more thrive on one idea than they can be nourished by one kind of food. Anything will pall after a season; "always partridges" is as sickening as perpetual salt pork. One-idea men are great nuisances.

What the Bilious Require.

Since torpidity of the liver is the chief cause of its disorder, it is evident that what the bilious require is an alterative stimulant which will arouse it to activity, an effect that is followed by the disappearance of the various symptoms indicative of its derangement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably achieve the primary result mentioned, besides removing the constipation, flatulence, heart-burn, yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder, nausea, vertigo and sick headache, to which bilious invalids are peculiarly subject. As a remedy for chronic indigestion, mental despondency and nervousness the Bitters are equally efficacious, and as a renovant of lost vigor, a means of arresting premature decay, and a source of relief from the infirmities to which the gentler sex is peculiarly subject, they may be thoroughly relied upon.

To Consumptives.

The advertiser, a retired physician, having providentially discovered, while a Medical Missionary in Southern Asia, a very simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and lung affections,—also a positive and radical specific for Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all Nervous Complaints, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) to all who desire it, the recipe for preparing, and full directions for successfully using, this providentially discovered remedy. Those who wish to avail themselves of the benefits of this discovery without cost, can do so by return mail, by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, DR. CHARLES P. The Cough and Lung Syrup

is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

—IN THE—

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and are desirous of their wills private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichole's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. Y. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Boils and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westlake of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P ease send me two dollar's worth, inclosing the money and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

—An English clergyman, having been rebuked by his bishop for not visiting his flock in the winter months, replied as follows: "My Lord—the devil himself cannot get at my parishoners in the winter and I promise your lordship to be before him in the spring."

—A minister was telling a young girl who was about to become a bride, that she must remember that the man and wife are one. "Lord!" said she, "if you were under my father and mother's window when they are quarrelling you'd think there were at least a dozen."

—Mrs. Louisa McCall of Canton, O., is chosen director of the bank of which her late husband was President, and is the second woman national bank director ever chosen, Mrs. J. M. Bradley of Peoria, Ill., chosen two years ago, being the first.

—A young man at Kemper's bluff, in this State, says a Texas paper, acquired the habit of tossing a cocked pistol in the air and catching it by the muzzle as it fell. The last time he caught it was just a moment before he died.

—How different a rooster scratches from a hen! He just gives one kick—out smart—and picks up what he's after. She makes ever so many little scrabbles, and half the time concludes it ain't there.—Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney.

—A traveler, accosting a little newsboy asked: "Sonny, what is the quickest way to get to the Central depot?" "Run!" he answered, and set the example by getting out of the way pretty fast.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Crook in the Stick," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Potsdam Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, Joseph Whitaker, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ l this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS gift-book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty lottery works of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

lor, practical suggestions as to town and country fo, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tool Land, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Lyndhurst, a Village for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each one a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms to bound volumes. Subscribe with the earliest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. Feel Time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and twenty days from that time I gained in flesh 22 lbs. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I hope to get back my flesh. During this summer, by the use of the Pills, I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains resulting from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE:—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS to those who go for them, I have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I have tried almost every remedy, many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room for at all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been raving and yelling, mad at times, and I have all suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. I was told that I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Texas, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost well. I have spoken of your pills here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed is Ten and three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia-Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 192 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1846, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond any other or any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions, and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world. Its pages teeming with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various trades, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS; American, Messrs. MUNN & CO., are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

"Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading of the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well-known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George MacDonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm" this story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters full, fair and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It was organized in the nation, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal rights to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable inaugural.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Sketches, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly, almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of its value to the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the intelligence and progressive spirit of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of editorial workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The fusty of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this publication (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the vast body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Lanfisch, Jean Ingelow, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading matter, and for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be period to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation. Mothers speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE, speedy, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year 1876 now just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that has already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the institution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for holding, protecting, maintaining, and administering the affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to the government of money, by ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy summaries of current events, and will strive for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them for their kindness, and will send to ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. Life in the Black Hills.

Yesterday afternoon the Chronicle office was visited by Harry Williams, an old Comstocker, who has for some months past been trying his luck in the Black Hills with good results. Mr. Williams is a keen observer of events, and does not require to be pumped to be induced to tell what he knows.

"Tell us all about Deadwood, Mr. Williams?"

"Deadwood may be considered a pretty lively town; that is, lively for a town of 2000 inhabitants. Of course, it's the central camp, where all the gambling, fighting and business is done. Everything goes on a grand rush night and day. There is no regularity about anything. A man opens a place of business and makes lots of money, then he gets the prospecting fever, starts for the gulches and shuts up his shebang. When a place is closed up it means that the owner is out digging, has been killed in a fight, or is off on a spree. We have no municipal government at all. Every once in a while the boys call a mass-meeting, draw up resolutions, etc., and decide to incorporate the town and have a Board of Aldermen; but at the end of the week nobody knows what has become of the resolutions or the Aldermen. We start a new city government every two weeks and bust one every week—if there is any. If a man brings his wife to the place he sends her back to civilization—that's Cheyenne—at any expense."

"How about the theatre?"

"Yes, we've got a little theatre there, not nearly as well fitted up as your cockpit. The orchestra chairs are stakes driven into the ground, with a round piece of board about the size of your hand nailed on top. Admission $2.50; reserved seats $5.00. They run a sort of variety show, and sling in the jokes and stage business as broad as possible. The can-can was danced for some time until the boys got tired of it, and they said, 'Give us some singin', or we'll clean out the place. We want somethin' elevatin',' and the manager had to import a female sentimental vocalist, at big expense to appease the patrons. She sung 'Sweet Spirit, Hear my Prayer,' 'Consider the Lilies,' 'I Know that My Redeemer Liveth,' and other high-toned music, and I thought that the boys would go crazy with delight. But they got tired of it in about a week. Fanny Garritson was the singer. I believe she used to be here."

"How about that shooting scrape?"

"Oh, yes; the papers here got that all wrong. The killing was done with an axe. The audience got to be so rough that the boys had to leave their side-arms in the box office and take a check for 'em. If a jig dancer didn't go fast enough the boys would pull out their barkers, draw a bead on him and yell, "Faster, you ——— ———!' and all such business, and sometimes they would order a man off the stage if they did not like his style of playing. Well, the man who did the killing that night had an axe in one hand and the helve in the other. He said he was a woodchopper, just coming from work, and he looked so innocent that they let him pass in with the axe and helve. He then put the two together, got up on the stage and cut the man clean in two. He was jealous of the man on Fannie's account."

"Many saloons there?"

"Saloons all over the place, and whiskey four bits a drink. They put two barrels up on end, half a board across for a bar, and deal it out. A miner who wants to treat pours some gold-dust on the barrel-head and says, "Set 'em up." They never weigh the dust. Sometimes a man won't put down enough dust, but they never say a word; and if he's a little tight and pours out ten or fifteen dollars worth they never mention it. They have three faro banks running all the while. They don't use checks for the boys; when they won a pile of checks they threw 'em all over the place, and some were too drunk to handle 'em. So the checks got played out. Now a man puts a little gold dust in a dollar greenback and it goes for two dollars. Ten dollars' worth of dust in a ten dollar greenback goes for twenty dollars, and so on. They never weigh dust at all, but guess the amount."

"Have you a daily paper?"

"Yes, sometimes it's daily, and then when the compositors get drunk it don't come out for several days. If a man wants gun wadding he goes and pays four bits for a paper. Whenever they start a new city government they print a lot of ordinances; then there's a grand rush for the paper. Sometimes it comes out twice a week and sometimes twice a day."

"Much shooting?"

"O, yes; the boys are all on the shoot. Every man carries about fourteen pounds of firearms hitched to his belt, and they never pass any words. The fellow that gets his gun out first is the best man, and they lug off the other fellow's body. Our graveyard is a big institution, and a growing one. Sometimes, however, the place is right quiet. I've known times when a man wasn't killed for twenty-four hours. Then again, perhaps, they'd lay out five or six a day. When a man gets too handy with his shootin' irons and kills five or six, they think he isn't safe, and pop him over to rid the place of him. They don't kill him for what he has done, but for what he's liable to do. I suppose that the average deaths amount to 100 a month; but the Indians kill some."—Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

Stray Notes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.

The Tribune notes a visible increase in the volume of business done in New York during the past week, as compared with the corresponding week of last year, notwithstanding the twelve months' shrinkage in values.

President Grant's plain, common-sense messsage on resumption is likely to fall flat on the irresponsive set of statesmen who were accidentally elevated to Congressional prominence though the machinations of the independent marplots whose mission in 1874 was to damage republican ascendency and make "a change" essentially for the worse.

Mardi Gras will be celebrated here for the first time on Easter Monday, and it is anticipated that 500,000 strangers will come to the city to witness the pageant, which will primarily represent the landing of Columbus.

The eminent statesmen of both parties who gave their earnest support to the bill erecting the Tribunal for settling the vexed question of the Presidency, have marred or made their fortunes. The compromise was a republican surrender, made necessary by the want of backbone on the part of a few republican Senators. The continued support these weak-backed representatives desire of the men to whom they owe their present positions, will be obtained only by the "succeed-fulness" of their curious bantling.

Ex-Gov. Wells of Louisiana appears to be more than a match for David Dudley Field, Mr. Tilden's "man Friday." The admirable manner in which the Louisianian offered to "protect" himself unless the House committee saw fit to do so, is decidedly refreshing to all persons who abominate the abuse of witnesses by pettifoggers dignified by the term "attorneys-at-law."

The streets of New York, which have for weeks been choked with ice and slush, are becoming more passable as Spring approaches.

The Elevated Railroad, a half-forgotten and exceedingly neglected convenience, has grown to a high degree of popularity this Winter. The great need of Gotham is rapid transit, and the horse railroad corporations oppose it as detrimental to their interests.

The St. Cloud Hotel, corner of Broadway and Forty-Second Street, has attained noted success through the management of the Rand Bros., (Thomas, John and George,) who are sons of Portsmouth, and hereditarily successful public caterers. The rooms are elegantly furnished and the cuisine, under the management of Mr. Brazil, is a temptation to the most critical of gourmands. The St. Cloud patronage is steady, and its guests cling to its associations with a tenacity that bespeaks the attention of any traveller afflicted with more time than he can well dispose of. The cheery presence of Mrs. Rand, who has a mother's genuine pride in the success and capabilities of "the boys," is no small element of attraction for the ladies to whom she has made the St. Cloud a veritable home. Portsmouth people will find always a warm welcome beneath the St. Cloud's sheltering tiles.

The plaint of the New Yorker, that "there are days when one cannot lay up a cent," is changed to a more hopeful strain, consequent upon the peaceful settlement of the Presidential controversey, which may bring a renewed confidence and increased activity of business.

The disease which has attacked some of the Life Insurance companies is an insidious one and liable to be contagious. Marble palaces for elegantly furnished offices are not always signs of thrift.

The New York dailies are running very close to the wind, financially. Advertising agents, however, think they observe evidencies of increased patronage in their line during the ensuing year.

The Brooklyn horror was ruinous to the interests of theatrical managers, here and hereabouts.

A Needed Reform.

While we believe all of the proposed amendments to the State constitution are judicious and should be adopted, there is one that is of more direct importance than all the rest put together, as a money-saving provision for the people. We refer to the amendment which proposes to provide for the settlement of civil cases in which the amount in dispute does not exceed one hundred dollars, (title to real estate not being in question), without the intervention of a jury. The wisdom of this amendment needs only to be made manifest to the people to insure its overwhelming endorsement; and nearly every paper in the State has advocated it in the strongest terms, not one having spoken against it. Many people, probably, are not aware of the immense cost to the public of settling the petty disputes which constantly occur, for petty reasons or from no reason at all; certainly we had no idea of it until a short time ago. Judge Foster, in recently charging a jury at the end of a two-days' trial, in a case where the amount in dispute was $24.25, said:

"Every jury trial costs the county $100 per day. This trial of a cause in which less than $25 is involved has probably cost the county of Cheshire $150, to say nothing of the cost to the parties. Experience has shown that on an average probably fifteen days a year have been spent in each county in the trial by jury of cases in which less than $100 was involved, thus entailing an expense on each county of $1500 per year and an expense to the State of $15,000 per year, and for the twenty years past a total of $300,000, and this is a very low estimate. I believe that most suitors would be better satisfied with equally just and equitable results, obtained by a cheaper method, while the tax-payers would be relieved of an enormous burden."

A few examples of lawsuits involving trifling amounts, in which the expenses to the people have many times exceeded the sums in dispute, will serve to illustrate the need of the proposed reform. The first of the following paragraphs was taken from the correspondence of a Boston paper:

"Some years ago two well-to-do farmers in Strafford county went to law to settle a dispute concerning a calf that had by his growth during the summer in the pasture lost his identity. The value in controversy did not exceed five dollars, and yet the expense to the county of trying the case over and over again was as many hundreds. Besides, it ruined the parties in litigation, they having spent every cent of their money and exhausted the entire value of their farms ere they obtained satisfaction! Another case of a like character (save that the amount contended for was much less) occurred in Grafton county a while since, where a suit was brought to recover thirteen cents! The trial lasted more than a day and cost the public more than one hundred dollars. A still more remarkable lawsuit took place not many years since, where two parties went to law to recover the value of three sour apples that had fallen from a tree of one of the parties contesting, rolled under the fence into the inclosure of the other and had been appropriated by the one against whom the suit was instituted. Three hundred dollars were added to the list of county charges by this silly contest, to say nothing of the money paid to the lawyers by the two parties who maintained the quarrel."

At the present term of the Supreme Court at Manchester, the first case tried was an action brought by a woman against the town of Candia to recover damages alleged to have been caused by a defective highway. It had been tried three or four times before. It occupied ten days of the present term, and as much time at each previous trial. The taxable costs were $2,000; attorneys' fees, $1,000; cost to county, $2500; total, $5,500. The verdict was one dollar. The town, which was the defendant, loses $2,000, the plaintiff owes her lawyers $1,000, the tax-payers of the county are victimized $2,500, and nobody except the lawyers is a cent better off. The next case was a dispute about a sheep, whether a man should pay $6 or more. The trial lasted a day and a half, at a cost to all parties, including the county, of $500 or thereabouts. The third case involved the value of an old sleigh, worth $10, and the trial cost all concerned about $300.

A case tried before the Supreme Court at Exeter, recently, was one in which a Mr. Thompson sued a man named Major for trespass in passing over a piece of land forty rods long by two rods wide, which had for more than a hundred years been used as a way to a farm now owned by the plaintiff. The plaintiff claimed that the land was an old highway which came off his land, and in 1865 he procured a vote of the town of Derry discontinuing the highway, which, as he claimed, caused the land to revert to him. The defendant confessed $4 damage. It took four days to try the case, a large number of witnesses being examined, the jury was out all night and then compromised on a verdict of $3.05. Cost to the county, $500; to the parties, $500 more.

We might cite hundreds of similar illustrations. And these are occurring at every session of our county courts. Yea, more; such cases, or cases of not much greater importance, are the rule rather than the exception; and it is this fact that aggravates the matter, and causes it to so greatly merit public attention. The cases mentioned above are fair samples of cases constantly arising in every country, and they show how the people are taxed to allow obstinate litigants the luxury of going to law. What is wanted, as the Manchester Mirror pithily observes, is "a one-horse, cheap town court, which will give us more lawsuits for the same money, and, without infringing upon our inalienable right to go to law when we please, save us a percentage of the present enormous expenses."

It rests with the people to say whether they will have a reform in the matter or not. If they prefer to pay a heavy tax for the privilege of allowing others to squable about trifles, they can so order it; but we can see no reason why any citizen should vote against the proposed amendment, and we hope to see it approved by a unanimous vote.

Gen. Miles' Fight.

Gen. Miles, in command of the Yellowstone expedition, reports to Gen. Terry under date of Jan. 20, as follows: "I have the honor to report that this command fought hostile tribes of the Cheyenne and Ogallala Sioux, under Crazy Horse, in skirmishes on the 1st, 3d and 7th of January, and in a five hours' engagement on the 8th inst. Their camp consisted of some 500 lodges, extending three miles along the valley of Tongue river, below Hanging Women's creek. They were driven through the canyons of the Wolf or Panther Mountains, in the direction of Big Horn Mountains. Their fighting strength outnumbered mine by two or three to one; but by taking advantage of the ground we had them at a disadvantage, and their loss is known to be very severe. Our loss is three killed and eight wounded. They fought entirely dismounted and charged on foot to within fifty yards of Capt. Casey's line, but were taken in front and flank by Capt. Butler's and Lieut. McDonald's companies. They were whipped at every point, driven from the field and pursued as far as my limited supplies and worn-down animals would carry my command. The Indians appear to have plenty of arms and ammunition, but otherwise are in a destitute condition. Some of the prisoners now in our hands were captured with frozen limbs and were living on horse meat. The weather has been very severe, and the snow is from one foot to three feet deep. The command is in good condition."

Counting the Votes.

The following came over the Western Union wires on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, and we give it for what it is worth: "Commission by one majority voted not to take any evidence about Florida election, but count certificates of Hayes and Wheeler electors, provided electors are all eligible."

—An epitaph on a negro baby at Savannah begins, "Sweet blighted lily."

—A Connecticut debating society is asking, "Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" Perhaps not, but it isn't customary.—Providence Press.

—"The singing of "Hold the Fort" and "Pull for the Shore" is to be interdicted in the public schools of Patterson, N. J., on the protest of a Jewish rabbi of that city. Nothing can prevent their use, however, by sleighing parties and quadrille bands.

—When the late Dr. Lord was wooing, the lady's friends having objected to the marriage, it was decided to wed without their permission. When her absence from home was noted, there was found addressed to her relatives a note from her chosen husband which explained matters briefly as follows: "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

A Wonder-Working Remedy.

No remedial agent has ever been offered to the sick and debilitated at all comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of remittent and intermittent fevers, constipation, nervous ailments, rheumatism and disorders involving constitutional weakness or physical decay. It literally "works wonders." The botanic ingredients which its spirituous basis holds in solution, act like a charm upon the brain, liver, bowels and nervous system. There is nothing in its composition that is not salubrious. It contains some of the most potent tonics of the vegetable kingdom and the juices of the best aperient and anti-bilious roots and herbs, combined with a perfectly pure stimulating element. The Bitters are peculiarly adapted to those engaged in exhausting or unhealthy occupations, as by its use strength is sustained and the ability of the system to resist atmospheric and other influences prejudicial to health largely increased.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Patrons of a first-class hotel justly consider themselves entitled to comfortable room, a bountiful bill of fare, and courteous treatment in the office. All these, combined with a notable degree of elegance throughout, are to be found at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, although the largest and finest hotel in the city, will be an exception, hereafter, to the general complaint of high prices. It has reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Why throw away so much money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

The concert by the "Artistes' Quartette" is to be given in Franklin Hall this evening. Each of the four ladies is an accomplished singer and well-known soloist. Mrs. Kimball is the soprano of King's Chapel, Boston; Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. Barry were employed as soloists in the famous Thomas' Concerts in Boston last season, and Mrs. Barry is the contralto in King's Chapel choir; Miss Wells is the contralto at Rev. Dr. Ware's church in Arlington street, Boston. We could easily fill a column with most flattering criticisms from the Boston papers, on the quartette as a whole, and its individual members; but we can see no need of doing anything of the kind, for the high reputation of the quartette will doubtless fill the hall with lovers of the highest order of vocal music.

The great success of the recent farmers' meeting at Greenland, under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture, has led the Board to appoint another meeting for the same place on Tuesday, Feb. 20th, at which time and place fruits, fertilizers, etc., will be the subjects of discussion. Prof. Stockbridge, of Amherst College, originator of the the "Stockbridge fertilizers" which are just now attracting so much attention from farmers, will probably be present.

The Times of Wednesday evening says:—"Butcher birds have made their appearance here, and are, it is said, driving the English sparrows off, which nobody will regret, we think, as they are a nuisance and never should have been introduced." The Times is not alone in its dislike of the pugnacious, noisy, aggressive little foreigners.

The ball given by the Light Artillery on Tuesday evening was in every way a success, being well managed and well attended. The floor was filled full enough for the convenience of the dancers, for whose pleasure a good order of dances (twenty-two in number) was provided, Harlow's orchestra making the music. A good and substantial lunch was very nicely served in the upper hall by Mr. McIvor, at a ridiculously low price per plate. The whole affair reflects credit on the managers.

Capt. Frank Williams, who resigned the command of the Heavy Artillery some weeks since, was on Tuesday evening unanimously re-elected by the company. Capt. Williams was presented with a handsome sum of money and a beautifully framed certificate of honorary membership, during the evening. He has not yet accepted the position to which he has been so flatteringly re-elected.

Mr. Thomas Moore, of North Hampton, last week started for his home from this city on the cars, with some $400 about him. At Greenland depot he was assaulted by two men who knocked him from the carplatform to the ground, evidently with the intention of robbing him; but they were seen by the conductor of the train and the station master, and fled on their approach without having succeeded in getting Mr. Moore's money.

MASONIC MUTUAL RELIEF ASSO'N.

At the annual meeting of the Masonic Mutual Relief Association, held last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William P. Walker.
Vice President, John R. Holbrook.
Secretary, John H. Cheever.
Treasurer, William H. Sise.
Trustees, Edmund M. Brown, Samuel C. Whittier, Joseph H. Gardiner, Charles W. Norton, Marcellus Eldredge, Charles W. Gardner.
Auditing Committee, William A. Ashe, John Lowd, William T. Betton.

The present membership of the Association is 320. Amount of funds at interest, $895; number of deaths, three; amount paid to families of deceased members, $894.

New Hampshire Items.

A New York paper recently stated that Henry M. Pollard, the republican Representative from the Tenth Missouri District, is the first Alumnus of Dartmouth that has been sent to Congress. The facts in the case are given as follows by the College paper: "There have been 63 members of Congress and 16 United States Senators among the graduates of Dartmouth, not including two Congressmen and one Senator-elect. The upper house of the Canadian Parliament has also contained one Dartmouth man, and the lower house three."

Mr. Madison Colby of West Henniker, who lost nine sheep in the first snow storm of the season, found them all alive and well on January 30, having been out in the cold and snow for forty-four days, and subsisted upon the bark and small limbs of a clump of witch-hazel bushes in which they were found.

News and Notes.

Dr. Beebe's remedy for scarlet fever and diphtheria, which is rather in the nature of a preventive—sulpho-carbolate of soda—attracts much notice and excellent reports are given of its efficacy. The dose of an adult is four grains, pulverized with an equal amount of sugar; and half that quantity for children under ten years of age. To prevent atmospheric contagion the dose should be taken morning and evening. When either disease is in a building with non-infected persons the latter should get four doses a day. In the treatment of either disease the dose may be repeated every two hours, in addition to other indicated remedies.

Rear-Admiral James Alden, U. S. N., died in San Francisco on the 6th. Admiral Alden was a native of Maine, and entered the service in 1828, since which time he has seen twenty-four years of sea service. His career in the late war was exceptionally brilliant, and he was one of the most popular officers in the navy.

Schooner Mary E. Oliver of Boothbay, Me., is ashore near Pensacola, Florida, and the captain, George E. Dunham, also of Boothbay, is dead. The vessel was about 150 tons and new. The cause of the captain's death is not stated.

Schooners Bessie Gardner, Helen and Engine, and new brigantines Clarence and Centennial, all belonging to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, are missing and supposed to be lost at sea with all hands.

Richard T. Taylor, cashier of the First National Bank of Franklin, Ind., has stolen $100,000 and run away.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Manchester, England, on the 6th, the President stated that the exports of Manchester goods to the United States were now nil, and there is a considerable trade in Manchester in cotton fabrics manufactured in America.

An English hardware agent who has been trying to drum up trade in Canada, sends to the Manchester Guardian a few doleful lines which may please Americans in the trade: "I have just returned from a trip through the lower provinces. I find that the whole country is overrun by American travellers soliciting orders for their manufactures at almost any price to secure a sale. I feel sure in my own mind that a very large proportion of the hardware trade is altogether lost to England. For instance, of Birmingham and Wolverhampton wares they have secured many of the leading lines, namely, door locks, mortise locks, chest and till locks, cupboard locks, butts and hinges, carriage bolts, gas and boiler tubes, scales, and to a great extent hollow-wares. From all I can learn they are in a position to retain the hold they have got."

A Boston correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette describes at much length and minuteness a boat ride which he enjoyed behind a couple of sperm whales off Lynn, the whales being harnessed and driven by a Yankee. The English seem to be much excited about it, but we assure them it is a very common thing. In Boston the severest punishment a father can inflict on his daughter is to prevent her from going out to drive her whales down the bay in the afternoon.—Graphic.

Political.

The latest trick of David Dudley Field's is the most discreditable yet. He had a lot of the Florida testimony taken by his committee which bore strongly against the republicans picked out from the whole mass, omitting the cross examinations and rebutting evidence, got it printed secretly and then put it before the Electoral Commission as part of the evidence the democrats submit.—Springfield Republican.

And now it has been discovered that one of the Tilden electors in West Virginia was ineligible, being an alien and never naturalized.

Even an able and commonly sensible man can "slop over" sometimes. Mr. Charles O'Conor some time ago wrote a letter in which he used the language of the blackguard rather than of the gentleman, in alluding to the President; and in his argument before the electoral commission, on the Florida case, he said: "There lives not a man, as far as I know, on the face of the earth, who, having the faculty of blushing, could look an honest man in the face and assert that the Hayes electors were truly elected." That was not merely twaddle; it was an insulting falsehood, for Mr. O'Conor knew when he said it that quite as honest and as able men as himself were firm in the conviction "that the Hayes electors were truly elected," and that but for democratic frauds and ruffianism their majority would have been overwhelming. The democrats' declaration that all who refuse to accept their statements as gospel are fools or swindlers, is insolence, not argument.

Those who read of Mr. David Dudley Field's piece of contemptible trickery, not to say crime—for it involved forgery and falsehood—in printing the garbled testimony of the Special Committee on Privileges of the House, will feel that the republicans treated that shameless attorney too leniently. They should have presented his offence to the House.

—In one sense to run in debt is to a man's credit.

—Many of the white men in California will not sit at a hotel table with a Chinaman, but will follow him two miles after dark to borrow money of him.

—A German looked up at the sky, and remarked: "I guess a leedle it vill rain somedime pooty queek." "Yees de, eh?" replied an Irishman; "What business have yees to purtend to know about Amerriken weather, ye furriner?"

Watterson of "Corse."

Some of the newspapers are puzzling themselves about the writer of this dispatch sent last December to Mr. Felton:

"Glory be to God. Hold on to one Electoral vote in Oregon. I have 100,000 men to back it up. CORSE."

How can there be any doubt as to who is the Commander-in-Chief of the "100,000 men"—"unarmed democrats?" Watterson is the writer of the dispatch of Corse.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing phys-cian, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG MY DEAR SIR: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

—IN THE—

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1853 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting by Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

They will not only heal broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Mannorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P' ease send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame neas of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol, and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

Home Life a Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred years ago not a pound of coal or a cubic foot of illuminating gas had been burned in the country. No iron stoves were used and no contrivances for economizing heat were employed until Dr. Franklin invented the iron-framed fireplace which still bears his name. All the cooking and warming in town as well as in the country were done by the aid of a fire kindled on the hearth or in the brick ovens. Fine knots or tallow candles furnished the light for the long winter nights, and sanded floors supplied the place of rugs and carpets. The water used for household purposes was drawn from deep wells by the creaking "sweep." No form of pump was used in this country, so far as can be learned, until after the commencement of the present century. There were no friction matches in those early days, by the aid of which a fire could be easily kindled, and if the fire "went out" upon the hearth over night and the tinder was damp, so that the spark would not catch, the alternative remained of wading through the snow a mile or so to borrow a brand of a neighbor. Only one room in any house was warm, unless some member of the house was ill; in all the rest the temperature was at zero during many nights in the winter. The men and women of a hundred years ago undressed and went to their beds in a temperature colder than that of our modern barns and woodsheds, and they never complained.

—Job wore his comforters in the warm weather.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Chapter on Boy Humors or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science ever given to an intelligent people.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wisdom and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Daily News says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS AND BOOK, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $12), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine!

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Home of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operative," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Text Lace, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Sydney a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographies and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volume. Subscribe with the nearest book-seller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat and I rest, and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith, if I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another package. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, you know, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. You may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I believe I do not know many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many medicines with but little or no result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. I write this for fear it seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have sent applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Lever Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

TROS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alexipharmic. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England.

AND PULMOCIRE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croupe, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Frederick Pollock, Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS

[ESTABLISHED 1865.]

GILMORE & CO., Successors to CHIPMAN HOMER & CO., Solicitors. Patents procured in all countries. NO FEES IN ADVANCE. No charge unless the patent is granted. No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, and Infringements of Patents, Different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. SEND NAME TO GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF 84 PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows there are 287,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and in a full reply after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, injured or diseased in the late war, however slight, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

GILMORE & CO.,

Washington, D. C.
